Government Accepts the Monument.

After the assemblage was called to or-der by James O. Smith, of the New Jersey Monument Commission, and an in-vocation had been pronounced by Rev. Dr. Fraser, of Newark, Mr. Smith reported to Governor Murphy the final work of the commission. On behalf of the State of New Jersey, Governor Murphy accepted ment, in a brief address, President Roosevelt, as he arose to accept the monument on behalf of the Federal Govrament, was accorded an ovation. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. William M. McCormack, of New Jersey, a veteran chaplain.

A greater part of the afternoon was spent by the President in an inspection of the points of historic interest on the battlefield.

When President Roosevelt was speaking rain began to fall in torrents. The stand had a canvas cover, but the water went through it as if it were a sieve. When a bystander offered to hold over him an umbrella the President waved it aside, remarking: "I don't care for it. If (indicating the ssemblage) they can stand it, I can." Turning to the crowd, he said laughingly:

"I dont' feel sorry for you old veter-ans. Tou will not melt. I do feel sorry for the ladies."

When he had nearly concluded his address the President, who expressed concern at the drenching his auditors were getting, said:

"Till not keep you long now." "Oh, go on," cried a voice." "Keep it up until tomorrow." After the benediction had been pronounced the President held an informal reception in the rain, shaking hands with several hundred ex-soldiers.

During the afternoon the rain ceased and the sun came out brilliantly. The President with Governor Murphy, Senators Kean and Dryden, and accompani by General Carmen, who commanded the Thirteenth New Jersey Volunteers in the battle, visited the various points of interest on the historic field. The President alighted from his carriage at Burn-side bridge, where some desperate fighting dent angated from his carriage at Burn-side bridge, where some desperate fighting occurred; at "Bloody Pine" a scene of frightful carnage; at the beautiful Na-tional cometery, in the center of which stands the colossal granite statue of an American soldier keeping guard over the dead lying there and at the quaint little Lutheran Memorial Church. ### PRICE OF LOGS HAS DROPPED.

Lower Columbia River Men Expect Winter to Restore Old Rates. ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 17.-(Special.)-The price of logs in the Lower Columbia River district has dropped several points dur-ing the past few weeks. Millmen say this is not caused by an oversupply of logs, but by a lessening in the demand for lum-ber for shipment. The ruling rate for first-class yellow fir, which has been as high as $8 per thousand, is now $7, al-though two of the most extensive loggers say they are still getting $8 from Port-land firms, who are anxious to control the output of their camps. The bestspruce logs are at present quoted at $8 per thousand feet, although yesterday a local millowner was offered over 1,000,090 feet at the rate of $7.50. While these prices are somewhat lower than have ruled for several months, no one, who is familiar with the situation, expects them to remain down for any length of time. When the bad weather of Winter sets in so that the smaller camps will be compelled to close down, a decided advance is looked for.
