LONDON, Sept. 19.—The newspapers this morning are crammed with discussions and speculations regarding the political situation brought about by the resignation of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton, Secretary to India, but no fresh developments, as yet, have been announced.

Both political parties have already commenced active preparations for the coming campaign, and the opinion is sought of every man of prominence at home and in the colonies whose ideas are likely to have influence.

Mr. Asquith, who is by many regarded as the future leader of the Liberal party, telegraphed yesterday.

"The situation in all its essentials is unchanged. The duties of the Liberals to defend free trade is plain and urgent as before."

The opinion of the colonies is anxiously canvassed as being the most important factor in the situation. Sir Edmund Barton, the Premier of the Australian Commonwealth, has declared in an interview that he is convinced that Mr. Chamberlain will ultimately triumph, and until that triumph is achieved, there will be no real union of the empire.

Balfour Urged to Make Clean Sweep. The Standard today anticipates that Mr. Balfour will have at least four Cabinet seats and two or more under-secretaryships at his disposal, and strongly urges him to make a clean sweep of the discredited Ministers and appoint men of real ability, even such men as Lord Cromer and Lord Milner, if the country would gain thereby.

The retirement of Chamberlain caused consternation and excitement among all classes in the United Kingdom. The great majority of the public only learned the news from the morning papers, and their astonishment in many cases was so great as to prevent the expression of any coherent opinion. The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon apparently sums up the general feeling by describing the present crisis as the most extraordinary in the whole history of constitutional government, adding that what will happen next no one can forecast with any degree of absolute certainty.

The Pall Mall Gazette states that Premier Balfour will fill up the vacancies and carry on the government until he meets Parliament in 1904. Mr. Chamberlain, also, does not look for an immediate general election, expecting at least a 12-months' propaganda before the electorate can decide upon his proposals. Other rumors are current that Mr. Balfour is unable to find men to fill the vacancies, and that he will be obliged to hand the King his own resignation. This, however, does not appear to be likely.

Milner Picked as Colonial Secretary. The Westminster Gazette and other papers forecast Lord Milner, the High Commissioner in South Africa, succeeding to the Colonial Office, and it is definitely announced that Lord Stanley, Financial Secretary to the War Office, and probably James Lowther, deputy speaker, will be among those promoted to the Cabinet, but the details of its reconstruction are not likely to be known until Mr. Balfour has seen the King.

Almost every paper has its own candidates for the various vacant offices, but few of the prophecies coincide. The attitude of the Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council, being unknown to the public, creates further uncertainty. Lord Rothchild's statement yesterday to the Associated Press, however, can safely be taken as an indication that the Duke intends to resign, at any rate until Parliament meets.

The prediction that the markets would be affected by the Cabinet crisis has been fulfilled; indeed, consols exhibited a firmer tone.

From all parts of the United Kingdom and the empire editorial expressions of opinion on the crisis are pouring in. The government organs frankly admit that Mr. Chamberlain's withdrawal came as a bombshell. The Liberal organs, though announcing the "wreck of the Tory party," which is described as being "Hamlet without the Prince," nearly all agree in saying that Mr. Chamberlain's resignation does not mean a victory for free trade.

"Though the man has gone," says the Star, "his policy remains. This Mr. Chamberlain's Elba. He has yet to meet his Waterloo."

This is borne out by reports from Birmingham, where the powerful feeling in favor of preferential tariffs is centered. There, though the resignation of the head and shoulders of the movement came as a great surprise, consols actively prevail, and it is announced that Mr. Chamberlain's previous arrangements for his campaign will all be carried out.

Brodrick May Get Indian Office. The Associated Press learns there is good reason to believe that the report that Mr. Brodrick will be transferred to the India office is correct. The new Cabinet is expected to meet within a fortnight.

The Associated Press is informed that Lord Lansdowne will remain Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

The persistency with which it is rumored that Alston Chamberlain, the Postmaster-General, will succeed Mr. Ritchie as Chancellor of the Exchequer, emphasizes the extraordinary nature of the relations which Mr. Balfour still maintains toward his colleagues.

The Liberal organs point out the futility of any supposed change of heart on the part of a government which includes Mr. Chamberlain's son, who has been almost as active as his father in organizing the preferential tariff agitation. Mr. Balfour's frank declaration in his letter accepting the Colonial Secretary's resignation that he shared Mr. Chamberlain's ideas of a closer fiscal union with the colonies also creates doubt as to how even moderate free traders, such as the Duke of Devonshire, can remain under Mr. Balfour's tutelage.

The criticism of the small effect upon the government policy caused by Mr. Chamberlain's withdrawal and of the resignation that he shared Mr. Chamberlain's opposition. The St. James Gazette, which warmly supports Mr. Chamberlain's programme declares that the result is that the Unionist party will face the electors disgraced and open to all the attacks of the free traders, as it will be perfectly clear to the electors that the return of Mr. Balfour involves sooner or later the resignation of Mr. Chamberlain and the triumph of his policy."

On the face of it Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour will continue to work together, but the former Colonial Secretary is free from governmental obligations and will be able to conduct his campaign along the line he has all along advocated.

THEIR TARIFF VIEWS COINCIDE. Chamberlain Writes Reform League That Time is at Hand to Strike.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Writing today from his home at Highbury, Birmingham, Mr. Chamberlain made his first official statement on his resignation. His letter is in reply to C. A. Parson, chairman of the executive council of the Tariff Reform League, who asked if Mr. Chamberlain coincides with his view that the examination of the tariff may be considered an incident advanced, and the league should now use its resources to advocate the employment of a tariff for the purpose of consolidating and defending the resources of the empire and defending the industries of the United Kingdom. Mr. Chamberlain says:

"I agree with your views that we have not sufficient time to devote to the tariff. We have now to state our conclusions and endeavor to get the people to adopt them."

Mr. Chamberlain then gives his understanding of the position of the Tariff Reform League under two heads as coinciding with his position. His objects, he says, are:

First, a closer union to endeavor to make a self-sufficing as regards its food supply; second, the employment of a tariff as a weapon to secure greater reciprocity with foreign nations, or falling short of that, to prevent the loss of the home industrial markets under the competition of protected countries by retaliating upon them the treatment they mete out to us.

"On this understanding as to our views," Mr. Chamberlain concludes, "I wish the league success and the support of every one desiring the union of the empire and the continued prosperity of British commerce."

INVITE HIM TO AMERICA. Manufacturers Are Anxious to Hear the Views of Chamberlain.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—An invitation to come to Chicago to deliver his views to the guest of the people of the United States has been forwarded through the Department of State at Washington from the Illinois Manufacturers' Association to Joseph Chamberlain. A reply is being eagerly awaited to a cable message, which was forwarded tonight by the association. The invitation, which was dated July 24, and was forwarded by the State Department to Ambassador Choate for delivery says:

"The Illinois Manufacturers' Association extends to you a cordial invitation to be its guest, and would respectfully ask that you address its members at Chicago at such time in this year as will best suit your convenience."

"The presentation of your views in Chicago will attract world-wide attention, and it is our hope that you will be able to do so."

Colored Men Show Their Loyalty to Roosevelt.

"EQUALITY" IS THEIR MOTTO

Badge Represents President and Booker T. Washington Enjoying a Luncheon Together—Big Demand for the Novelty.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Presidential campaign buttons have appeared, the first in the approaching Presidential contest. They are of unique design, representing President Roosevelt and Booker T. Washington enjoying a luncheon together. The single word "equality" in bold letters across the face of the badge is its most striking characteristic.

Colored men have been the first to wear the button, and many are to be seen with the badge adorning their coat lapels. This photographic button, which has arrived so early in the field, depicts the President and the negro leader at a small round dining table, presumably in the White House. The colored man is seated at Roosevelt's right with his hand resting upon the table. Both survey a coffee service, water carafe and two immaculate napkins, and are awaiting the arrival of the first course.

To Charles H. Thomas, of Chicago, is credited the origin of the button, which is in great demand, particularly among colored Republicans. Thomas anticipates a big boom for his political novelty. A number of organizations are expected to make the button their official campaign badge.

GERMANY BLOCKS THE MOVE. Convention to Revise the Rules of War Not Likely to Be Held.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Unofficial but reliable information has been received here to the effect that the proposed congress of the powers for the purpose of revising the Geneva Convention, establishing the rights and treatment of prisoners of war, neutrals, wounded, etc., which was to have taken place shortly, probably will be indefinitely postponed. France, Great Britain, Italy, Austria and Russia named delegates, but Germany has not named a delegate, as it is understood she does not desire any recognition of the status of prisoners of war, etc., during a state of belligerence. Therefore, in the absence of a general international acceptance of the proposal to revise the rules of war, the meeting of the congress has been practically given up.

WANTS NO DIAMOND BROOCH. Grand Duke Michael Sends Sister a Little Reminder of a Pleasant Acquaintance.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—A sparkling diamond brooch is now on its way back to Grand Duke Michael, of Russia, having been rejected by Mrs. Dennis Langhorne Shaw, the beautiful daughter of Chiswell D. Langhorne, of Albemarle County, who met and became friendly with the royal Russian while on a visit to London several months ago.

It is true that the brooch was sent to Mrs. Shaw, said Mrs. T. Moncreux Perkins, a sister of Mrs. Shaw, this evening, and it is also true that she sent it back. I know nothing further about the matter.

Mrs. Shaw is a sister of Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson. Not many months ago a decree was filed in Albemarle County giving her a divorce from Robert G. Shaw, Jr., of Boston, to whom she was wedded a few years previous. After the divorce Mrs. Shaw, accompanied by her mother, went on a foreign tour. They were shown attentions on every side, and, among other things, met Grand Duke Michael. He sent the jewel as a little reminder of a pleasant acquaintance.
