Drill of school children by Professor Krohn one night during the week.

The first week of Portlands big Fall carnival was a success in every particu-lar, and this promises to be much better The attendance was all that had been ex-pected, but now that everything is mov-ing nicely, and from the fact that several new features will be added, a big increase in the gate receipts is assured. On Tues-day and Friday there will be excursions into the city from every direction, and the low rates will bring many who have not already attended.

At a meeting of the carnival directors yesterday forenoon it was decided to allow confetti every night during the week instead of only Wednesday and Saturday nights, as formerly announced. "The reason for this action," said Director-General Bentley last evening, "was because the public demanded it. We did not arrive at the conclusion to allow it until after mature deliberation. Upon the nights that confetti-throwing was permitted the attendance was much larger, and those who ttended seemed to enjoy themselves bet-er. Confetti-throwing, however, will no doubt largely be confined to Industrial street, where the big battles will take place. This does not mean that it will not be thrown on Multnomah field, but that it will not be so generally indulged in there as in Industrial street.

This week will be full of entertainment. Every afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 5, there will be a concert by Brown's Band, which will also give a splendid programme every evening. On Tuesday and Friday evenings Mr. Hutchins beautiful spectacular production will be given, and several new features will be added. A dress rehearsal will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Multnomah gymnasiun cally to take care of the feafoom especially to take care or the rea-tures. This piece may be given another night during the week, owing to the fact that there has been such a demand for it. Mr. Jabour has announced his intention of giving several interesting parades during the week, in order that those who have not seen his show and a large number of artists selected from the best in Europe and America may be seen. He certainly has a wonderful aggregation. Miss Liltens, who makes the high firedive, ascends a platform 70 feet in the air, saturates her clothing with gasolino, ignites the fluid and makes a sensational and spectacular leap through the air into a tank of water. When it is known that it is necessary for her to hold her breath from the time the fluid is ignited until after she emerges from the water, some idea of the dangerousness of her feat can be had. Edwards, the Portland boy, will make his "ride for life" every afternoon and evening. In this act he performs the arkable and hair-raising feat of riding a bleycle down a high incline, leaping from his wheel at the end of the incline and diving through the air 100 feet into a tank of water. Schaar will perform the feat of all feats every afternoon and even-ing. In this act he rides around a small circle until he has attained great momentum, when he starts up the circle of perpendicular siats, never stopping until he has reached the top and down again. Mr Jabour's other big acts will be seen in all their glory.

The German village will be bigger and better than ever. The free vaudeville show will include Searles and Gross in their original skit, "The Morning After"; Carlton and Eldridge, singing and dancing soubrettes; Mulialy and Bannon, Irish comedians and dancers; little Eunice Gilman, the pocket edition of Mabel Gilman in charming singing and dancing turns the Melnotte Twins, in captivating dancing and singing acts; McKissock and Jones, "Two Real Coons"; Gazaro, equil-ibrist; the Fitzgerald sisters, Portland's favorites; the five Demontravilles and their trick-house; Mile. Slibor on the slack wire, and other artists.

A great many entries have been made for the baby prizes on Wednesday, and this promises to be full of interest. Two Rehearsnis Today.

Professor Robert Krohn will hold two special rehearsals for "When Knighthoo Was in Flower" today, at the Multnoma Club gymnasium. One for the young ladies will be held at 3:30 P. M. and another for the club members at 8 P. M.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Marcus W. Walker, second son of Rev. Elkanah and Mary R. Walker, died on Friday night, September 4, 1903, at Hoquiam, His remains were taken to Oakville, 12 miles southwest of Albany, Or and on the afternoon of the 7th inst., were placed beside those of his wife, who was interred in the Oakville cemetery in the Spring of sion to the country about the base of Mount St. Helens, tells rather a strange story of a cougar being worsted in an attack on a deer. He had been watching a trail frequented by deer, and the cougar had been doing the same thing. Suddenly the hills resounded with the screams of some wild beast in a rage or pain, and he made his way cautiously toward the place from which the sounds came. Seeing a large oak tree ahead, he crept up cautiously behind it and, on looking around the trunk, saw a large buck on the ground and on top of him a cougar, pierced through the belly by a sharp prong of the deer's antier and tearing up the ground in his agony. He put a bullet into the cougar's skull to fix him, and then proceeded to investigate. He found that the cougar had been lying on a large low bough of the oak, waiting to spring on any deer that might come along. The tree had been used for this purpose many times, judging from the marks of claws on the bark. On this occasion the cougar made a miscalculation or the buck had seen him as he sprang and turned his antiers on the defensive for an unusually long prong on one of them had pierced the cougar just back of the chest, and was stuck so tightly that it was with difficulty pulled out after both animals were dead. Had not Mr. Johnson found them they would both have lain there till devoured by other wild animals.

AGAIN IN HIS OLD CHURCH. Dr. Coates Preaches to His Former

Baptist Congregation. Rev. Dr. A. S. Coates, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Buffalo, N. Y., filled the pulpit of the First Baptist Church in this city yesterday at the morning and evening service. Dr. Coates was located in Portland from 1877 to 1881 as pastor of the First church and his return yesterday was in the nature of a home-coming. Large congregations were out to hear him, there being many of his old parishioners among the number present. The doctor is one of the leading Baptist clergymen in the country and has rendered distinguished service to his church both in the pastoral relation and as a professor in the Rochester Theolog-ical Seminary. He is a fluent and thoughtful preacher, whose strong personality and genius for organization have had much to do with his success. Dr. Coates will fill the pulpit of the First church for two ths, and there is a strong sentiment among the members in favor of extending him a call, provided he can be induced to

At the morning service Dr. Coates preached a forcible sermon from Ecclesi-astics xi, 6, which was in part as follows "In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand; for thou knowest not which shall prosper, whether this or that, or whether they both shall be nike good.'

Uncertainty as to the result, an incentive to constancy of endeavor. God urges us to work for him in season and out of season, since we cannot know what part of our work will prove the most useful. The word dropped by the wayside may really accomplish more than the word spoken to the thronging multitude. The incidental may accomplish more than the customary. The avocation may be more important than the Vocation. The voca-tion of rest more useful than all the pre-ceding months of labor. The Christian is to sow the good seed of truth at all seasons, in all hours, upon all waters. He may rest from his accustomed labors, but if he finds himself in need of rest from his religion, he knows nothing about the religion of him whose job is easy and whose burden is light.

'I find four thoughts in these words to which I invite your attention this morning:
"First, because it is seed we are sowing

The harvest, while it is unequal and

"The harvest, while it is unequal and delayed, is sure. It is also in kind. 'What-ever a man soweth, that shall be also reap.' That is, life's tomorrow is the natural, legitimate and necessary outcome of life's today. Nature is a stern logi-cian. Her facts follow one another in logical consistency. She seeks not through in thus maintaining as in the grip of fate the unvarying relationship of cause and effect; she wrecks not, though she crush the life out of these bodies of ours, and the hope and cheer out of these hearts of ours. "Death is a great mystery? A cruel ow from the strong hand of an unmerciful God? Nay, not so. Most usually, even to our short-sighted eyes, if we will but use them, death is no mystery whatever. It is simply the final term in the syllogism, the logical sequence of what has gone before, the reaping of what has been own, either by the man himself or his forefathers. One wearies of trying to justify the ways of God to men in death, of those who for months and years, perhaps, have boldly defled the well-known laws of health, and who have at last in the flesh reap corruption. Remember that, O young men, if you are engaged in that suprement folly, the sowing of wild oats. Thank God, it is also true that: 'He that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting." "There is a reaping of health and strength and long and useful and prosperous life from obedience to God's nat ural laws. There is a reaping of life everiasting from obedience to God's moral laws. Sow faith in God as revealed in Christ Jesus, and you reap purity of heart and the pure in heart shall see God. Sow faithfulness in God's service, and over and above life everlasting you reap a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. Sow love for God, and you reap love for man and loveableness of disposi-tion. 'He that shuts love out, in turn shall be shut out from love, and on her threshold lie howling in outer darkness.' Sow good habits, and you reap good repu-ration. Sow good thoughts and notions. tation. Sow good thoughts and notions, and you reap a good character. Sow a life laden with Christ-like deeds, and you life laden with Christ-like deeds, and you reap a powerful, triumphant death and the Master's 'well done," whose sweetness abides an eternity.

"Sow prayers, and tears, and labors, and anxieties for the salvation of others, and sooner or later you reap the inexpressible satisfaction of seeing them meekly bow-ing to receive the yoke that is easy and the burden that is light."

WEALTH OF ALASKA.

Coal and Oil in Abundance, and Agricultural Riches Also.

After spending the Summer in Alaska surveying and locating coal and oil lands and a couple of homesteads on Kachenak Bay, a railroad eight miles long across the head of this bay, and locations for fish salteries on Halibut Cove, John A. McQuinn has returned to Portland for the Winter. He is favorably impressed with that region, in which layers of sandstone and coal alternate to a considerable depth, below which it is supposed oil will be found. The beach is littered with coal, which has fallen from veins between the layers of sandstone on the bluff shores. It is considered quite certain that oil will be found by boring to some depth, and machinery for this will be on the ground next Spring.

The company of New York capitalists in whose employ Mr. McQuinn has been pro-poses to locate colonies of Finns and Swedes on the lands it has had surveyed and to establish fish salteries on a large scale. Fish of many kinds are abundant in the waters there. Mr. McQuinn says that when he left Alaska the last of Au-Cook's Inlet, some 50 miles long and about as wide, was covered with wild red-top grass nine feet in height. The Summer is short, but it is warmer than any other place in Alaska, and vegetation grows rapidly, radishes, lettuce, etc., being ready for use in four weeks from the time the seed is sown. The company is going about the development of this region cautiously and is bound to make a success of the scheme, Mr. McQuinn thinks. When the colonies of Finns and Swedes are located and the fisheries and mines fairly opened a vast amount of wealth will that's worth while. A Nashville man says: "For many years I was a perfect save to coffee, drinking it every day, and all the time I suffered with stomach trouble and such terrific nervousness that at times I was unable to attend to business, and life seemed hardly worth living. I attributed my troubles to other causes than coffee, and continued to drench my system with this drug. Finally I got so bad I could not sleep, my limbs were weak and trem bling, and I had a constant dread of som impending danger, and the many medi-cines I tried failed to help me at all.

"One day a friend told me what Postum had done for her husband and advised me to quit coffee and try it, but I would not do so. Finally another friend met me on the street one day and after talking about my health, he said, 'You try Postum Cereal Coffee and leave coffee alone,' adding that his nervous troubles had all dis-appeared when he gave up coffee and began to drink Postum

"This made such a great impression on me that I resolved to try it, although l confess I had little hopes. However, I started in, and, to my unbounded surprise, in less than two weeks I was like anothe person. All of my old troubles are now gone, and I am a strong, healthy, living example of the wonderful rebuilding power of Postum. It is a fine drink, as well as a delicious beverage, and I know it will correct all coffee ills; I know what a splendid effect it had on me to give up coffee and drink Postum."
