Municipal Association Is Trying to Find Means.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE MADE

Majority of Executive Board Opposed to Mayor's Policy-Committee to Consider the Best Legal Method of Closing Games.

At a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A suditorium last night the Municipal As sociation heard the report of the committee which was appointed to investigate gambling as now conducted in Portland and to interview the Mayor and Executive Board on the subject.

The association then appointed another committee with instructions to make a recommendation as to the legal method which the association should adopt in order to close gambling tight.
The first committee reported that the majority of the Executive Board was op-posed to the Mayor's policy and was in favor of suppressing the games at once

Two members of the Executive Board told the committee that they were induced to assent to the present system on the representation that the fines levied on the games would be raised each month until gambling would cesse, be-cause the size of the fines made the business unprofitable. member, the committee reported, told it that he considered the Mayor's statement that, if gambling were sup-pressed, it would result inevitably in the corruption of city officials, a gross slander. "Moreover," said this member, "if I be-lieved the Mayor meant it, I would resign from the Board."

Another member of the Mayor's offiial family told the committee that if he were Chief of Police he could suppress gambling entirely and there would be no The association, however, was not dissed to depend on the Executive Board for assistance. It was pointed out that the Board was appointed by the Mayor, presumably because its members were in accord with his policy, and that, were some member to antagonize the Mayor on some vital point, his resignation would certainly be seemly and expected. The Association realized that the members of the Executive Board were merely advisors and not partners of the Mayor. Some hopes were originally entertained by the Association that if it could demonstrate to Mayor Williams that the weight of public sentiment or the majority of the taxpayers was opposed to his system of controlling gambling he would abandon it for some more popular policy.

"These hopes," said an officer of the association last night, "were dashed to earth by the Mayor's candid statement that he didn't care what the majority of the taxpayers thought; that he thought he was right and would go ahead. Bar-ring some radical action by the Executive Board, which seems improbable, we will now have to resort to legal measures. What legal steps shall be taken is a matter upon which the association has no official idea at present. Its committee will Investigate the situation, consider the merits of the different processes of law under which the gamblers may be reached, and will make recommendations to the association at its next meeting, the date of which has not yet been fixed.

MORE RED HATS. Gibbons Says America Will Have Another Cardinal.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.-Cardinal Gibbons arrived here today on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. A delegation of priests and laymen from Baltimore went down the bay on a revenue cutter to greet him and welcome him home. Heading the delegation were Rev. Dr. J. D. Stafford, of will remain in this city a guest at the home of Mrs. Kelly, of Brooklyn, until Friday, when he will accompany the delegation to Baltimore.

When the welcoming party boarded the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse off quaran-tine, Mr. Tibbett made an address of wel-come, to which the Cardinal briefly re-Another reception awaited the Cardinal when he went ashore at Hoboken. The pier was crowded with eccleslastical friends from this city. This after-noon the cardinal went to Brooklyn. He had a pleasant voyage and said the ocean trip had recuperated his strength, which had been greatly taked by the severe spell of fever he suffered, due to intense heat in Rome during the

Asked about the possibility of another American cardinal being appointed, Cardinal Gibbons answered:

"There will be another cardinal. It would not surprise me to see the number of American cardinals augmented in the near future. But there is absolutely no truth in the cabled statement that the pope purposes to create a patriarchate for the Occident. The statement is ridicu-

Of the new Pontiff the Cardinal spoke in terms of greatest enthusiasm. He said that the choice of the conclave had been most happy from an American viewpoint, as Pius X was deeply interested in the development of the church in this country, and was singularly familiar with American institutions. The Cardinal had several lengthy interviews with the Pope regarding church affairs in this country.

The Cardinal was not inclined to discuss the probable policy of the new papal regime, but said that no radical changes in American church administration would ue. He said that one of the first taken by Pius X was to instruct his acting Secretary of State, Mgr. Merry Del Val, to provide for an extensive exhibit of the Vatican treasures at the St. Louis Exposition. He said the exhibit would probably comprise some of the magnificent jubilee gifts of the late Pontiff, and a number of rare historical manuscripts and maps from the Vatican library relating to the early settlement and mission work in the Louisiana purchase territory, most of which was penetrated by Catholic missionaries within a quarter of a century of the discovery of the continent.
Concerning the probable relations between the new pope and the Italian gov-ernment, Cardinal Gibbons said: "The pope, as patriarch of Venice, was on very friendly terms with the King, but what a man does when he is a mere private in the ranks, so to speak, and when he is elevated to power and re-sponsibility, are wholly different things. What Pius X will do in this matter is, of course, unknown. You may rely on it. however, there will be no sudden change. These things are not done in a way to attract attention. If a change does take place, it will be a gradual change. The friendliness between the Vatican and the Quirinal will grow. Plus X is not the patriarch of Venice, and while he may retain his friendly feelings for the King, retain his friendly feelings for the King, these feelings will cause no sudden change of the papal policy, but will probably, in the course of time, bring about improved relationship and a better state of things. The King, I believe, is influenced by very kindly feelings toward the pope."

To the Passionist Fathers the cardinal brought a special blessing from Pope Plus in response to the message of love and congratulation sent to the pope by them at the time of his election.

SCHOOL RUSH UNCHECKED

FOUR HUNDRED MORE PUPILS ARE ENROLLED.

Total Attendance Reaches 11,500-Board of Education Has Difficult Problem to Provide Room.

Monday's overcrowding of the public chools was not a freak of chance as was at first believed. The heavy influx of students continued yesterday, contrary to expectation, with the result that at least two of the schools are swamped in the matter of capacity. The situation is such that a special meeting of the Board of Education has been called for this morning to discuss plans for scating all the pupils. It is feared that it will be necessary to establish half-day classes at the Central and North Central schools.

Yesterday's increase in attendance over the enormous enrollment of Monday, the opening day, totaled nearly 400 pupils which brings the total number of children in school up to nearly 11,500 with one school of the city yet to be heard from, the Highland school. When the returns Monday showed the unexpected large at-tendance, City Superintendent Rigler was inclined to believe that the long vacation was responsible. However, when the at-tendance returns of yesterday showed an added increase of several hundred pupils tion were Rev. Dr. J. D. Stafford, of Washington, and Rev. B. Singleton, of Baltimore, and R. B. The Cardinal will remain in this city a guest at the home of Mrs. Kelly, of Brooklyn, until the middle of the year, as is customary, home of Mrs. Kelly, of Brooklyn, until there is little doubt but that several of the schools will be swamped. While there is plenty of schoolroom in the city, the crush is not evenly distributed, and empty seats in one school cannot be utilized to relieve an overcrowded condition in another part of the city.

"Had the contractors completed the annexes in time for the opening of school, as they promised, we would not have this difficulty to face," said Superintendent Rigier yesterday. "There is little doubt but that we will be forced to establish half-day classes in both the Central and North Central schools. In several of the rooms of each of these schools there are 50 pupils, which is more than one teacher can handle as well as being too many for the seating capacity of the rooms.

"If we could rent suitable rooms in these districts the difficulty would be solved, but I can learn of no available buildings or rooms, so there is no alternative to the forming of the half-day classes. These classes are very undesirable, as they tend to throw some of the students, behind in their work. We will aim, however, to arrange the classes so that the higher grades and those to whom the work means the most will not be dis-turbed. The harm would be least to those in their second and third years. It will be necessary to give beginners and higher grade students the preference and keep them in school all day if possible."

Just how heavy the attendance has been in the county schools has not yet been ascertained, and it is regarded as doubt-ful if the returns will be complete before the end of the week. County Superin tendent Robinson is at present making a tour of the 70 schools of the county looking after the details of opening week,

ALBANY COLLEGE OPENS. Attendance Exceeds That of Any

Previous Year. ALBANY, Or., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—Al-bany College today entered upon the 37th year of its useful life, under very auspiclous conditions. The work of registering students really began yesterday, but today is the day announced for the opening of college. Registration and matriculation of students has been progressing all day, and the number exceeds that of any opening day in the history of Albany College. Many students will not enter school for a week or so, owing to the late harvests and the large amount of work going on in all lines.

President Wallace Howe Lee said today that a pleasing feature of the opening was the fact that a great proportion of the students came from the state at large Every section of the state is represented, and the number of students coming from outside of Linn County is greater than ever before, while there is the usual quota of local students.

Professor W. M. Cox, the new head of the commercial department of the college, and Professor George B. Sikes, who assumes the chair of sociology and history, and Mrs. Sikes, who will have charge of the German and French courses, were all on the ground today becoming acquainted with the ararngement of the building and preparing to take up their work immediately in the organization of classes.

With hardly an exception the students of last year who were not in the senior class have either returned to school already or signified their intention of doing so. This is a matter of great encouragement to the students who have sithetics and debating work in charge, as well as to those who are directing the destinies of the college proper.

Financially the college occupies the best position it has held for many years. Never before since the panic of 1894 has the school been entirely out of debt. Now the institution is entirely free from debt, a new dormitory has been placed on the campus, and the citizens of Albany have but finished contributing $1000 as a fund for painting the buildings and meeting incidental expenses connected with the opening of school.

The dormitory which was placed on the campus last year will be fitted up for students this season. President Lee has moved his family into the dormitory and will personally look after the welfare of students who are away from home. Mrs. Lee, mother of the president, will act as matron of the dormitory. The dormitory building is large and roomy and well arranged. It is the first dormitory the college has ever had, and will accommodate about 50 students.

CHILDREN MUST GO TO SCHOOL, Law Compels Attendance of All Under 15 Years of Age.

All children under 15 must attend school unless employed at some legal occupation.

OPENS SOUTHERN LINN COUNTY.

Railrond to Be Constructed From Crawfordsville to Brownsville. ALBANY, Or., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—It has been reported from Crawfordsville, in the southern part of Linn County, that a new railroad is to be constructed in Linn Coun-ty. The report, which comes from a credi-ble source, states that the new enterprise is fostered by Portland capital and that plans are under way to commence work on the road immediately. The proposed new line will connect Crawfordsville with Brownsville, which is on a branch line of the Southern Pacific system in this county. It will be erected primarily for lumbering purposes. There is a large field for lumbering in the southern part of Linn County. One of the finest timber belts in the world has its outlet at Crawfordsville. This little town is situated on the Calapooia River, which taps the timber belt. Construction on a large sawmill has already been commenced at Crawfordsville, and as the only means of transportiong the lumber at present is by wagons over the county road, it appears necessary that a line of rallroad connecting with some point on the Southern Pacific be constructed. The sawmill, which is now under course of con-struction, will have a capacity of 75,000 feet of lumber per day from the beginning.

and the plan is to enlarge the mill as rapidly as possible. The new country which it is proposed to open up is one of the finest locations in the world for a large lumbering industry. Not only does the district embrace one of the finest tracts of timber in the country, but the timber may be easily logged. It would be hard to find a better stream for logging purposes than the Calapoola. The river is free from shallows and rapids, and any amount of logs may be safely moored in the stream. There is an excel-ient mill site near Crawfordsville.

But the work of the new railroad will not be confined to the lumber business. The road will tap one of the richest agricultural districts in Linn County. One of the largest producing communities in the county is in the neighborhood of Crawfordsville, and the traffic from that sec tion is heavy. A raffroad has been needed there for years, but the advent of the sawmill was necessary to attract the atten-tion of capital. The fact that a large sawmill is already building insures the early construction of the railroad. new line of road will be about ten miles long and will entail as little expense as is compatible with a road of that length. The grade is very easy, and no excavating will be required. It will be a big thing for the southern portion of Linn County, which has heretofore been almost isolated from the world.

ST. Attorney Atkinson was attempting to carry out an order of court in the Dowd-Tailman habeas corpus case, which was decided in the Circuit Court of this city last week.

As the attorney led the child to the depot, he began to cry, and the crowd, not understanding the circumstances, at once presumed the attorney was attempting to abduct him. Men and women followed at the heels of the pair, holding the attorney and demanding that he let the child go. The police, fearing Atkinson might get hurt, took the child from him and dispersed the crowd. Family War in Scowtown

There has been trouble on a couple of cows at the foot of Raleigh street. And the worst of it is that the trouble is all in the Reynolds family. On two scows dwell J. H. Reynolds and his wife, and on another his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lola H. Reynolds. Bad blood has existed for some time, it seems, between the two women. Mrs. Lola Reynolds save that the other woman repeatedly threatened her life. Matters reached a climax yesterday when Mrs. J. H. Reynolds laid violent hands upon Clyde Reynolds, one of the family over which Mrs. Lola Reynoids keeps a watchful eye. According to the complaint filed in Justice Reid's court yesterday Mrs. J. H. Reynolds "did assault and beat one Clyde Reynolds." So the indignant mother had her arrested. Constable Jackson piaced the woman un-der arrest, but she pleaded that she must wait until the children came home from school so that she could take them with her. Otherwise they would fall off the scow and be drowned. When they came she took so much time in cleaning them up that the Constable took her word for It that she would appear in court today.
