Advocated by Preachers to Stop Gambling.

UNITE TO DENOUNCE MAYOR

Principal Churches of Portland Resound With Condemnation of Mayor Williams' Policy in Licensing Gambling-Houses.

sters of Portland preached blistering serone yesterday on the gumbling situation ow existing in Portland. This concerted action was due to the request made last Monday by the Ministerial Association that its members discuss the subject simsously from their pulpits.
general tenor of all the sermon

as that the remedy for gambling and all similar evils was through the ballot-box. One preacher declared that he had cast his last vote for any party which advocated license for gambling circumstances. Most of the speakers disclaimed all intention of attacking Mayor Williams, although they expressed regret that he should have seen dit to adopt his present policy.

No line of specific, aggressive action was indicated for the Ministerial Association; on the contrary, the congregations were exhorted in some places to join the Municipal Association, a lay, nonsecular and monclerical organization, whose avowed object is the suppression of gambling.

Rev. E. P. Hill's Parable.

One of the leading sermons was preached by Dr. E. P. Hill, of the First Presbyterian Church, whose evening subject was "What Is Anarchy?" Dr. Hill detailed the history of the matter, and then gave a foreible illustration of it by compressing all the history into an imaginary week. He presumed that the Legislature passed the anti-gambling law on Monday; that on Tuesday the people elected a Mayor to enforce all the laws; that on Wednesday the Mayor announced that one of the laws might be broken by paying a fine; that on Thursday the citizens called on the Mayor wish that the law be enforced, and that, when they protested that this question had been settled on Monday, the Mayor said he would run things to suit himself. Dr. Hill closed with an expression of hope that Mayor Williams' long and illustrious career should not be dimmed by his atti-tude on gambling.

Rev. V. L House's Sermon The subject chosen by the Rov. E. L. Iouse was "X-Rays on Civic Affairs."

He said in part: "Christianity cannot be relegated to the air. Too often in our day ministers are regarded as good, little kittens, whose eyes are not opened, meowing about ruture probation and apostolic succession. But stirring times develop these ministerial kit-tens into cormidable Parkhurstian cats, with swilling fur and locks high up in the air, spitting vig outly at the enemy around them. Then they are told that they had letter shut their eyes and go back to their natural condition, if they would be and and enjoy life.

"Why is it that nearly all the ministers of this city are today preaching upon civic affairs? First, because we know that gambling-houses are moral festers on the body politic. We know that laws have been made for their suppression, because they are dishonest, encourage idleness, are the sources of our defalcations, and because they are close friends of all evil.

Second, because we know that our laws do not grant side doors or their rooms of assignation to saloons. These places are places of robbery and lust, and a menace to every boy and girl in this city.

Third, because we know that the plea for revenue is a specious one. Honest, sober, clean men and women are the surest sources of revenue to a community, ting aside of a law placed on the statute books has the spirit that would overthrow government and destroy courts of justice. When this is done, the administration becomes greater than the government. Boast as we may of liberty to make our own laws, we have not the liberty to break

"Fifth, because we have been told squarely that the public press generally of our city cannot assist us in the present issue. The two leading papers have agreed to remain neutral, but thus far the editorials of our morning paper have been in support of the Mayor. And yet this same paper convicted itself of its present attitude, when it published an editorial several months ago, in which it said: tween the heaven of home and the hell of the half-world there is a great gulf fixed."

"The Christian minister, in an emer-gency like this, cannot afford to let things alone. Our code is not one of expediency. Anything which impoverishes and disgraces a woman, which bring upon the children and wife dishonor, distress, leads a man away from his best self, and hurries him into sin and shame, is a menace. The church that does not grapple with such things ought to shut up its doors and go out of business.

"In view of the fact that Portland is set here as if for the rise and fail of our great state, for this city to continue upon its career of unrighteousness is nothing short of a crime against all our people. Some say that patriotism is dead in this city. I do not believe it. I concede, with with fiesh and blood and marshaled as an army to invade our homes and ravage our city, there would spring forth an opposing army to meet and utterly destroy the in-'We war a warfare with principalities and powers, and spiritual wicked-ness in high places.' And I cannot but believe that, though there may be delay in divine justice, that justice ever comes at last."

By Rev. J. F. Ghormley,

Rev. J. F. Ghormley, at the First Chris-tian Church, spoke on the attitude of the Mayor toward gambling and other crimes. "Let it be understood," said Dr. Ghormy, "that the ministers have no personal that with the Mayor, but with his policy in relation to the enforcement of law. On general principles, when an executive is elected to a public office, it is his sworn duty to enforce the law; but in this particular instance the Mayor, before his election, stood pledged to the moral forces of Portland that, if elected, he would enforce the law. He says he made the attempt, but failed. It has come to pass, as go the cities, so goes the country. If the law cannot be enforced in our cities, our form of government is a failure. Gam-bling is a crime, forbidden by state law and city ordinance, and no amount of money received as a fine-license can make it right or justify its practice. No compromise can be made with this dark crime without jeopardizing our liberties. They enslave their children's children who make compromise with sin.' The Mayor says the Chinese shall not gam-ble. Why not? Is it because His Honor does not want the Celestials brought down to the low plane of the white race in this particular? Will not the fine-license from the Chinamen help the city's revenue just as much, dellar for dellar? His Honor is right in making the raids on Chinese gambling houses and wrong in permitting others to run in open violation of law. What ought the ministers to do? Cry aloud against the entire license system and spare not; raise the voice and put down the ballot against this nefarious business. Mayor Williams is not so much | Protest in the name of your cities to blame for the condition of affairs in this city as the party which elevated him to his position. I am not endeavoring to excuse the Mayor. We know 'If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.' We are now in the ditch of anarchy; the voice of the people, as expressed in legal enactments, is no longer heard. The licensed saloon, open gambling and Sunday theaters are unrestrained in their violation of the laws of God and of men. As for myself, I have east my last vote with any license party. My voice and vote shall be used to secure what I want if I never get it—the utter abolition of the entire license system." of the entire license system."

Dr. Talbott on Rulers' Daty. Rev. Dr. Talbott, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, took the text for his rmon from Romans, xill:3, "For rulers not a terror to good works, but to the

"The ruler has one clear duty-to use every means in his power to enforce the law as he finds it. In no other way can be make government respectable. If weakness in this regard, or vaciliation, or confusion of thought be shown; and more especially if the ruler assumes to overtide the law and to substitute something else for law, then in any such case very serious consequences will follow. In the first place lawbreakers and promoters of crime and the breeders of vice will be encouraged to ply their trade with increased activity and to make demands for still further con next place the friends of order and of public morals will abandon hope in an admin-istration that panders to the worst foes of society. And finally a most deadly blow will be struck at the very heart of authority. It is safe to say that an administration which follows a course involving such consequences must sooner or later forfeit the respect of all classes, and must go far toward destroying respect for all author

"No unauthorized words need to be used to characterize the gravity of the situation in this city. We are not now, nor are we likely to be in a state of anarchy. The sober second thought of the people will prevent that. But there is much to alarm thoughtful people. It is bad enough for vice to be licensed by law, and for such a small price to be put upon it as to operate as a restraint only in the smallest degree. It is bad enough for vice and crime to so flourish that the lives of our young people would be more safe in the midst of a deadly contagion, but the gravity of the situa-tion is vastly increased when it is announced that the open violation of a law prohibiting vice has been deliberately adopted as a public policy." At Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. E. Nelson Allen, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, said:

"A state of anarchy prevails in our city of the worst possible form. Anarchy among the rabble may be speedily sup-pressed by the exercise of legitimate au-But what shall be done when the highest officials of our city government openly inaugurate a policy which is utterly subversive of law, in that it offers pro-tection to lawbreakers, offering them im-munity from the penalties of the law in exchange for a bribe, the same to be placed in the city treasury. The only pre-text offered for the policy is that gambling cannot be suppressed, that private individuals are reaping the gains which might be turned into the city's revenue. The Mayor has announced this policy, notwith-standing the fact that he promised the re-form forces of the city prior to his elec-tion that, if elected, he would vigorously enforce the laws. In his tensors and enforce the laws. In his inaugural ad-dress he declared that he would enforce the laws. In his oath of office he solemnly swore that he would enforce the laws. Now he declares that he will strive to enforce only a part of the laws. In the matter of gambling a price will be stipulated, and, if paid, the sum will be turned into the city treasury and the gambling houses will be permitted to run in defiance of the law. What right has the Mayor of this city to declare certain laws null and vold? What right has he to compromise with What right has he to compromise with criminals and law-breakers? Such a policy will tend to bring all laws into disrepute. Under such a policy our city will become a veritable paradise for gamblers. The situation is lamentable. The moral integrity of the city is in peril. A vigorous campaign in the interest of law en-forcement ought to be inaugurated at once."

Rev. Albyn Esson's Views.

The Rev. Albyn Esson, paster of the Rodney-Avenue Christian Church, took for his subject "A Present Need." He said: Every great city in the country has its constant purpose of gambling and kindred constant purpose of gambling and kindred evils to get themselves made legitimate through a license system. The problem of municipal government is one that de-mands the serious consideration of the American people. The cities are largely dominated by their worst elements and the cities dominated by their worst elements and the cities dominate the country. What can the end of this process be but National decay? The persistence of evil in its at-tempt to break law must be met by an unflinching demands for the enforcement of law. What we want is not a moral wave but a regenerated citizenship. The indifference to lawbreaking has become a National sin with hs. The frequent lynchings, which disgrace us before the world, are the legitimate fruit of this wide-spread disregard for law. The doc-trine that we should secure a truce with evil by abolishing the law which con-demns it is too idiotic for serious consideration. What is needed is a process of education that will quicken the public conscience until it insists on the enforcement of law. In this process the church, which is the only institution which makes a specialty of moral instruction, must take a leading part. A property educated public would demand that officers enforce the law or give place to somebody who would. The arguments advanced by the would. The arguments advanced by the Mayor in support of his policy are not new; neither are they true. The history of civilization is simply the story of right's successful conflict with wrong. Surely it has not been a characteristic of the American resoule to become crimiter. the American people to become cringing suppliants at the feet of things disap-proved. As Christian people we have reigious convictions in this connection. We also have rights as citizens. Let us labor to extend a civic education that will enable the people to appreciate the wisdom of the age of Israel when he declared, 'When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice; but when the wicked beareth rule, the people mourn."

Rev. L. M. Booser Appeals to People The Rev. L. M. Boozer, of the First United Evangelical Church, spoke from the text: "It is time to work, for they have made void thy laws." Among other things, Mr. Boozer said:

"There is a practical setting aside of law by the executive forces. It is an assumption of authority most unwarranted. The man who binds himself by oath to uphold and enforce the law is not to sit in judgment as to its enforcement. Until the law is repealed his one duty is plain. Enforce it. The city practically invites and encourages vice by admitting its inability to put an end to its pursuit. The limited field for its vile vocation. We dscover an amazing display of lack of dis-crimination in estimating values. For filthy lucre we will barter the manhood of our sons and the virtue of our daugh-ters. For money we freely offer our sons and daughters as a prey to the devilish lust and greed of the wicked. Most astonishing is the dread lethargy and indifference of the citizens in this crisis of affairs. Citizens act as if their homes were not endangered, heeding not the oft repented history of wayward sons and daughters, the product of these dens of those in authority shall recognize that the law has a majesty that must not be infringed upon. The law is upon the statute book against gambling; what is iniquity. "There must be an aroused public opinion. Officialdom lives with its ear to the ground. Aroused American public opinion is the dictator of our Governmental policy.

There is a need of quickened public conscience. Municipal morals are but a science. Municipal morals are but a faithful witness to the conscience of the citizens. A quickening of the conscience of the city will most effectually cleanse its morals. There should be public disavowal of the present municipal policy.
