Jabour, the Midway impressario, is again in trouble. This is not a new ex-perience for Mr. Jabour, as trouble seems to attend him wherever he goes. The Chicago Great Western (Maple Leaf) has taken his show in charge to satisfy a claim of $5500 which the show contracted for transportation into Omaha during the past Summer. It was due solely to the splendid executive ability of Director-General Benticy, of the carnival, that the at-tractions managed by Jabour were able to fulfill their contract with the club and inish the week out. The railroad company placed the claim in the hands of local attorneys, who be-gan replevin proceedings against Jabour. A crisis in the affairs of the carnival was averted and the storm tided over until after Saturday night's performance. The shows are billed for North Yakima, Wash., this week and Spokane the week following. Although Mr. Jabour nominally is still in charge, a representative of the Maple Less will accompany the organization and protect the interests of his company. Mr. Bentley refused to discuss the matter, and Mr. Jabour maintains a discreet

The Multnomah Club's carnival, which ed in a blaze of glory Saturday night, was the most successful affair of its kind ever held in Portland. In spite of the fact that the State Fair at Salem and the race meet here conflicted with it, and in spite of the cool nights, and one on which rain of the coordinates, and one of which rain fell, over 5,000 people paid admissions at the gate. The pairons were completely satisfied, and no word of complaint was beard from the most exacting. There were no accidents, and good order was maintained throughout the entire 12 days.

The club will net a handsome sum-al-though its expenses have been tremen-dously large-and is to be congratulated on bringing off such a great undertaking with so much credit.

Director-General Bentley was a very tired but happy man yesterday, for he has been carrying the principal burden of the carnival on his shoulders, and was large ly responsible for the success attained. It was purely a labor of love, although the duties of director-general have de manded his entire time for the past three weeks

"We feel that we gave the people their money's worth and provided the best show of the kind ever seen here. We will have a nice balance remaining when all the expenses are paid, and are well satis-fied. I will have my report ready by the last of the week, and will then take a vacation."

is generally agreed that the best feature of the carnival was the spectacle "When Knighthood Was in Flower," which was given under the direction of Professor Robert Krohn and George L. Hutchin. It was purely a local effort and reflected great credit on those who participated in it. It is probable that the club will give an amateur circus next Summer on its field, instead of again undertaking another carnival. If this is decided upon an effort will be made to eclipse all other efforts which the club has made in the entertainment line.

The carrival grounds yesterday pre-sented a desolate appearance. The parti-colored tents were down, the hanners pro-claiming Dirty Dora and the muscle-danc-ers had been folded, the German village was dismantled and the confetti was withered and dead, Even the camels felt the spirit of a banquet hall deserted, and

The nged bagpiper who in his kilts and Scotch accent was the living prototype of a certain health food advertisement, had donned the habiliments of civilization and a jag. He and the other "astists" reposed in shady corners of the big inclosure and med thankful that it was all over. Most of the industrial exhibits were removed yesterday, and the work of tearing down the fences will begin today.

BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

James Anker Almost Succeeds in Oft-Threatened Suicide.

After many threats to take his life James Anker, a longshoreman and logger, shot himself through the head last evening on the sidewalk at West Park and Morrison streets. He was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital, and at an early hour this morning was still alive thou physicians believed he could not survive the night

Anker had many acquaintances in Portland, but few friends deep enough in his ance to know what motive prompted his frequent threats of suicide. He was not a drinking man, and was entirely sober at the time he drew a revolver to his right temple and pulled the trigg sending a large builet through his brain. Yesterday morning he said that he car-ried something in his hip pocket that would send him home, but his acquain-tances paid little attention to the remark, as they had often heard him utter simila threats of suicide

Anker was receiving a remittance of $215 a month from the estate of his pa-rents, who died in Sweden a few months He was a steady worker, and was never without money aside from the al

With two men whom he knew, Anker went into the Waldorf saloon, at West Park and Morrison streets, a few minutes before 9 o'clock. His friends went into the back rooms, and Anker remarked to the bartender that they had given him the silp and would not return that night

Suddenly he turned away from the bar, and the instant he was on the street a pistol shot rang out. City Physician James C. Zan was walking up Morrison street at the time, and, hearing the shot, ed the corner in a moment. He thought that death was almost immediate, and, until prompted by a policeman, aid not bandage the wound. Anker was then removed to the hospital, where it was found that little could be done toward

Looking to Settlement of Suit.

ASTORIA, Or., Sept. 27.-(Special)-Stipulations were filed in the Circuit Court yesterday to settle the suits brought by the O. R. & N. Co. against James W. and D. H. Welch, W. C. Logan and the Prael & Cook Company. The suits were to de-termine the fitle to the property lying between the plaintiff's wharf in this city and the shore line. Under the terms of the stipulations the defendants get title to the portion of the property lying south of Commercial street. The plaintiff gets the property lying north of Commercial street, with the exception that James W. and D. H. Weich are to have the west 25 feet of the lot lying west of the roadway leading to the plaintiff's wharf.

It is also agreed that in case the lease given on this lot by Mr. Weich to Henry Weinhard is not approved by the plainlike under the rear porch that evening, but no would let his dog see him drunk."

'Could not a second growth of timber be raised on it?"

"Did anybody ever hear of a second growth being logged? I do not believe it would be any good. We see poplar and scrub pine grow up on the cut-off land, but it is not equal to the first growth."

Mr. Doherty dismissed the possibility that a second crop of timber might be raised as too remote for consideration.

On his return, he says, he earned that the money was not sent to South Africa and that the officers of the Clan-Na-Gael informed him that it had een retained by that order for the benefit of returning veterans.

He asserted that the amount had never een distributed.

Another logging camp has recently been estab-lished, making two that are now in operation. Five engine and 40 men are em-ployed and about 75,000 feet of logs are being taken out daily. The intention is to cut sufficient logs, ready to bring down the river on the Spring freshets, to keep the mill and box factory running during the coming Summer.
