

OH, LEVY, YOU'RE BAD

Portland Can't Win While You Are the Whole Thing.

HE MAKES A GIFT TO OAKLAND

Thielman Pitches a Great Game, but What's the Use?—What's the Matter With Mr. Van Buren!

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE. Yesterday's Scores. Oakland, 5; Portland, 3. Seattle, 4; Sacramento, 3. Los Angeles, 12; San Francisco, 1.

If there is a fiercer umpire than Rube Levy, won't the Pacific Coast League officials please trot him out, and send him to Portland? This same bunch of Pacific Coast League officials boast of starting with three umpires—big pardon, one umpire and two false allies, Levy and Jim McDonald—and the coroner boasts that they will finish the season with them. Maybe they will, but a few more exhibitions such as Levy gave yesterday afternoon must show the coroner's official attention, and a revision of the boast of the Coast League magnates.

Really, there was nothing to the game but Levy. It was a sort of Pan-Levy affair, with the officials and the crowd regarding the interests of Pete Lohman's crew, like a miser would his ill-gotten gold. If Levy's name had been on Peter's payroll he could have opened a more industrious afternoon in his services. Thielman pitched a four-hit game and struck out five Oaklanders. It is true that one was a triple and one a two-bagger, but they were scattered through the whole nine innings, and never came two in a cluster. It's true, also, that there were four errors behind the playing of the Browns, but two more than was chalked up against Oakland, yet the Browns clouted Cooper for eight bingles, a couple of which were good for extra bases, and the other two were not—yet with Levy's strenuous endeavor to help poor old Oakland out of the cellar.

The game in spots was the real article for which the crowd is wont to pay their cash to see, but for the main part it was decidedly off color. This bunch of Coast League pitchers seems to have taken Van Buren's name as a motto, and his fellow was a terror to twirlers, but they are next to him. Some one of them discovered the sort of ball that he could not hit safely, and he passed it along until it has gone the rounds of every pitcher, and now, if he gets a safe single, it's almost a mistake. Yesterday he negotiated two, and it was the nearest approach of his kind that has been shown in many weeks. This same Van Buren used to gladden the hearts of us all also by his perfect fielding, but in these autumn days, unless the ball is ballooning, we scream when it is not in his territory. His all-around playing has taken an awful slump. It may be that he needs a rest, for he has been almost a continuous performer since the season began. If this is not the cause, it must be that the responsibility of being captain is too great for him. The latter is hardly probable, however, since he needs a rest, and it would not be a bad idea to play Thielman in his garden until the Deacon gets over being stale.

Thielman opened the game with a pass to O'Hara and when "Doc" Moskiman drove out his triple he scored. The genial doctor also scored a second later, when Hollingsworth threw the ball too high for Francis to handle. Moskiman's double of two and Rube Levy lying in ambush for Fred Ely's men, the Browns certainly got off bad. They did not get into the running until the fourth inning, for a couple of double plays strung through the second and third chapters sent them to the morgue unless Van Buren surprised all by hitting safely to left, and Phil Nadeau made his return to the game felt with a two-bagger to right. Van scored on the play, but it was a tight squeeze. Gorton dropped the ball and the run was saved. A spasm of disappointment passed over Levy's face, when he saw that Gorton had dropped the ball. Francis singled, and drove in Nadeau. An unfortunate bit of playing gave Oakland a run in this inning also, and it left them still one to the good. Thielman walked Schwartz. He stole second and went to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. Levy didn't have a hand in this, but he apologized to Grandma Lohman, and of course was forgiven.

In the seventh, heavy Shea's single became a run on a wild pitch. This was the last of the Browns, because Levy insisted on Cooper striking Francis out in the closing scene. Van Buren's error and a glaring theft of the bases gave a chance to score. Van must have thought when he fell on Kruger's hit that it was useless to try and beat the Oakland-Levy combination, while he was on the ground, he threw the ball anywhere into the diamond, and Kruger went to second. While Jake Thielman was unendingly being praised, he was on his feet. Among the interested grandstand spectators who watched the Levy presentation was Arthur Anderson, the Browns' new catcher. Anderson did not arrive in time to get into the game, and he will play this afternoon and poor Danny Shea will get a well-deserved rest. The score:

Los Angeles Easily Downs Frisco. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Today's game was too one-sided to have much interest attached. The visitors simply walked away from the locals. In the second inning on four hits, the Southerners scored six runs, the errors of the losers being disastrous. Hodson was hit hard but Newton, as usual, was very effective. Score:

Seattle Wins From Sacramento.

SEATTLE, Oct. 7.—Both Barber and Keefe pitched winning ball today, but the work of the Seattle man in the field was cleaner cut. With one hit needed to tie the score in the ninth, Graham went to bat for Hogan and struck out. Score: R. H. E. WATER BOY WILL RETIRE.

One of His Forelegs Is Injured at the Pastern Joint. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Water Boy, Eastern champion among the race horses of the season, will not race again this year, and it is said to be considered doubtful whether he will ever face the barrier again. The horse being prepared for the Brighton Cup contest, and was being worked slowly over the Sheepshead Bay track, when upon nearing the end of his trial he faltered in his stride. His exercise lad pulled him up and it was found one of the forelegs was injured at the pastern joint. The retirement of Water Boy at this time effectively disposes of any possible meeting with McChesney.

BERKELEY BUCKLES DOWN.

Stanford's Game With Reliance Sets Them to Thinking. UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Berkeley, Oct. 7.—Specialists in the eleven, a team that the California players could not down, has set the local pigskin warriors hard to work again, and has filled the coaches with renewed vigor. The general air of confidence that had pervaded the local practices has given away to hard work, and there will be less reference to the cliché that California is supposed to have on "the big game."

Stanford worked an ancient and much-used trick play on the Reliance eleven, and so succeeded in drawing in the club players when the quarter broke play with the ball there was no one between him and the goal line, and it was simply a question of running to make the score. If Stanford can score through the use of old-time plays on a team that California could make no impression against, it's time that something was done with the coaches, say the bleacher cranks. The California freshmen found it possible to score against the Palo Alto High School team Friday last, a feat that the Stanford infants could not perform, and the young players feel more confident of a victory on the 11th. The date for the Multnomah-California team has been set for October 21, on the Berkeley grid, and the Stanford-Multnomah game a week later at Palo Alto. The two games are looked for with much expectancy, as it will be the first time for several years that the California entrance have had a look at Northern players. Play Only With School Teams. PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Oct. 7.—Specialists in the eleven, this morning the football squad held an enthusiastic rally in the auditorium. The 30 men present were very enthusiastic. Coach McPhee, Captain Barnet and Manager Thomas made speeches in which they urged the importance of systematic training and the value of experience. A game had been partially arranged with Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club for next Saturday, but the faculty ruled that the "varsity" should meet no club team this year. In place of the meet with Multnomah the Portland Academy team, to be played at Forest Grove. The academy is reported as having the best school team in the city. Cornell-Niagara Game Cancelled. ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 7.—The Cornell-Niagara football game, scheduled for today, has been canceled.

BALL-PLAYER WHO EXCELS IN ANY POSITION

"Doc" Moskiman is one of the best all-round baseball players in the Pacific Coast League. Pete Lohman originally signed him to pitch, but injuries and sickness crippled the Oaklander. Moskiman has been called upon to play in every department of the game but catch, and a singular fact is that he has played every department well. His batting has been another feature of his game. He once led the league and today is well up among the top-notchers. Being a pitcher himself, he will not stand for "terrorizing batters," a dodge which Joe Corbett has started and which other twirlers are trying to adopt. In the Oakland-Los Angeles series Moskiman followed O'Hara, who had been hard hit by one of Corbett's "throat-cutters." When he advanced to the box, he stopped long enough to say to Corbett: "If you hit me, I'm coming after you with this bat, and I'll get you, and get you good." It was noticeable that Corbett did not shove any of his curves anywhere near Moskiman's anatomy. When the season closes, Moskiman will coach the Berkeley baseball team.

NOTHING TO IT BUT YALE

WESLEYAN ELEVEN IS DEFEATED BY THIRTY-THREE TO NOTHING. Old Eli's Men Smash to Pieces the Only Trick It Has a Chance to Show. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7.—Yale ran up a big score in defeating Wesleyan at football today, making 33 points to the visitors nothing. The game was marked by no sensational plays, except that Yale smashed to pieces the only trick which the visitors had a chance to show the two or three times they got the ball on punts. The Yale offense was so quick in forming and in execution that it ripped to pieces the semblance of defense which the Wesleyan forwards tried.

Harvard Defeats Bates.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 7.—In a very one-sided game, Harvard defeated Bates today on Soldiers' field by a score of 22 to 0. The varsity team Gleason is developing into a star end player. Martin, Moore, Hayes, Ryan and Smith constitute a strong line. Wiley will probably play center in the Saturday game. Monks kicked five out of eight goals attempted. The absence of A. Cronan weakened the team, as he is one of the star players.

COLUMBIA TEAM IS READY.

Will Play First Game With Hill's Academy Saturday. The football players of the Columbia University are doing good work under the coaching of Albert and L. Cronan, brothers, who are jointly coaching the team. There are practically two teams, and they were out on the field last evening practicing. There seems to be excellent material for a strong team, composed almost entirely of new men, only a few of the players of last year remaining. However, the players this year enjoy the experience of Albert Cronan, who was a member of the tri-state champion team of North Dakota. He was then eight, says the Princeton rules, which, he says, are a great advantage under the present method. Mr. Cronan said he was hopeful of turning out a first-class team, but that it was too early to predict what the boys will do. They are learning the signals and players rapidly, and, after training, will make a good showing.

HUNTING DANGEROUS GAME

Summer Girls in East Go Crab-Catching. New York Mail and Express. Never since a crab walked sideways has the sport of capturing these pugnacious and plucky little crustaceans been so popular as at the present time. Crabbing has become a fashionable fad. Thousands of maids and matrons, of course, with the aid of a crabsman, both young and old, along the Sound, the Shrewsbury River and the waters of Staten Island have recently forsaken tennis and even golf to indulge in the wild sport of luring the wily crab from its lair and triumphantly landing the scrappy little creature.

There is just enough excitement in crabbing to provide a new sensation for Summer resort society. There is ample opportunity for little feminine shrieks of apprehension and alarm, affording excuse for the spasmodic clutching of many arms, the lifting of muslin skirts and the many girlish fascinating affectations of fear, when the monster is landed, full of fight, perhaps exhibiting more combative courage to the square inch than any creature on which one ever had a scope for the escort of the fair crab-catcher to exhibit his skill in handling the enemy, laughingly to endure real pain, if his method be sufficiently clumsy or his knowledge of the safe entry of a crabsman to save his fingers from a nip by its sharp and powerful claws. There is all sorts of fun in crabbing, of just that boisterous unconventionality which charms and delights the heart of the Summer girl and makes her more than usually fascinating to that class of mankind it is her mission to bewitch and bewilder.

British Golf Champion Still in Race.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The first match play round of the invitation match play tournament given by Mrs. Clemens Jackson in honor of her guest, Miss Rhona K. Adair, the British champion, was concluded at the Merion Cricket Club today at Haverford. The two best-known players, Miss Adair and Mrs. C. T. Stout, formerly Miss Genevieve Hecker, still remain, and will probably fight out the final on Saturday.

Great Automobile Race Begun.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The automobile race to Pittsburg via Pine Hill, Binghamton, Bath and Buffalo, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Cleveland and Youngstown, O., began today at Westport in drizzling rain. There were 31 contesting cars and the first got away at 7 o'clock. The other cars in the contest left on about 30 seconds' headway. Quite a large crowd of automobile enthusiasts saw the party off. The run was along the Hudson boulevard from Weehawken to Newburgh. Today the contestants expected to make the run to Pine Hill, N. Y., 133 1/2 miles.

HE TALKED TOO MUCH.

Now Aslett Must Go to Astoria to Join His Partner.

His drunken babbings while locked up as an ordinary inebriate will be the cause of Peter Aslett's taking a trip to Astoria in a day or two. He was not recognized, for he had a better description of the man wanted as a witness by Chief Halleck, of Astoria.

Some days ago a man named Connors was robbed in Astoria. The Chief of Police of that city, having captured the man suspected of the robbery, wanted to find Connors' partner, name unknown, who had disappeared. So he sent a description to the Portland police. Officers Reising and Carpenter picked up a man who was alighting from a train at the Union Depot last night as the man wanted down the river. He answered the description sent out by Halleck to a T. But the suspect knew nothing of Connors. He gave his name as George E. Masson, 74 Mississippi avenue. He was released on his own recognizance.

"Sure he was my partner," So Aslett will wait for an Astoria officer to come after him. Masson was telephoned that he wasn't Connors' partner after all.

Had to Pay Up or Resign.

When it became a choice of returning the money paid them for extra work or leaving the police force, a majority of the men lectured by Chief Hunt for keeping the day closed by them at the Irvington races, passed in the money. It will be turned into the police and fire relief fund. The policemen say that Chief Hunt plainly told them that if they didn't like his proposal they could quit their jobs. The entire force has been stirred up over the case for the past two days, but it was apparently decided yesterday.

Joke Causes His Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A joke perpetrated by performers on the stage of an Eighth-avenue theater is alleged to have caused the death of Joseph Jeannin. He had been secured control, for a term of years, of the great English-bred stallion, Galtee More. The horse is the property of the Russian government, which paid the English government $20,000 for him after he had won the three great classics of the British turf—Derby, St. Leger and 2000-guinea stake.

Archbishop Kain Resting Easily.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—Archbishop Kain, of St. Louis, was reported at midnight to be resting easily.

ALWAYS TIRED NEVER RESTED

To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but there is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired, never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of that "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak, the digestion impaired, and general disorder occurs throughout the system. Debility, insomnia, nervousness, indigestion, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, strength and energy, and the hundreds of little ailments we often have are due directly to a bad condition of the blood and circulation, and the quickest way to get rid of them is by purifying and building up the blood, and for this purpose no remedy equals S. S. S., which contains the best ingredients for cleansing the blood and toning up the system. It is a vegetable blood purifier and tonic combined, that enriches the blood, and through it the entire system is nourished and refreshing sleep comes to the tired, never-rested, body.

For over four years I suffered with general debility, causing a thorough breaking down of my system. My cousin, who had been benefited by S. S. S., told me I tried it. I tried it. I heartily recommend S. S. S. to all who may feel the need of a thoroughly good blood tonic. Yours truly, J. W. JOSE, 44 W. NINTH ST., COLUMBIA, TENN.
