INVITATIONS TO A Grand Bargain Banquet

To be held this week at this store of wonderful value giving supremacy—Yesterday morning we reminded our thousands of friends of the repast awaiting them here. Did they come? Yes they did—filled the aisles, thronged the salons, elbowed good naturedly up and down the stairways and literally jam'd the sides out from the elevators; but you were here—if not, some one who was has told you of it. Did the multitude consume all the bargain food? Well, we should say not—We're generous providers and keep the merchandise larders stocked to repletion. You drew on us pretty heavily yesterday but the department chiefs have provided more of the same for today—There will be enough of some to last the week—not all—so better come today. We publish the menu card again this morning lest you forget the toothsome bargain delicacies that await your onslaught. To whet the appetite of those who have dined once, we have added new dishes for today—

French Singer Meets Mysterious Death in Paris.

A SECOND MRS. GORE CASE

Editor's Story of Woman Ending Her Own Life is Not Borne Out by Evidence, and He is Held for Murder.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The mysterious shooting of a Roumanian singer, Eliza Papescu, at the Hotel Regina, where many Americans stop, and in the center of a fashionable quarter of Paris, resembles, in its essential features, the case of Mrs. Ellen Gore, the American woman who was killed in the apartments of Jean de Rydzewski, the Russian singer, in November last.

As called to the Associated Press Sunday Frederick Grietzing, editor of an art paper, reported to the hotel clerk that day that a young woman had killed herself in his room, and investigation showed that the dead woman was Eliza Papescu.

When the body was examined by a physician today a bullet wound was discovered in the base of her skull, and another wound was found in her temple. The latter caused the woman's death. The physicians declared it was impossible for the woman to have inflicted the wound at the base of her skull.

Grietzing is held on the charge of murder. According to Nina Papescu, a sister of the dead woman, Grietzing proposed marriage to Eliza, saying he was rich, and that he was opposed to her going to Bucharest to fill an engagement at the Royal Theater there.

KILLED IN POLITICAL RIOT.
Socialists and Clericals in Spain Have a Warm Fight.

BILBAO, Spain, Oct. 12.—As a result of the collision yesterday between Socialists engaged in a demonstration and a body of Clericals, seven persons were killed and 23 were wounded, some of the latter being mortally injured, including the manager of the Pueblo, a newspaper. Among the wounded are Superior Louis Dautre, of the Christian Brothers' school. Revolvers were fired from the Catholic Club, and from the windows of the Church of St. Nicholas. The vicar of that church was arrested on the charge of shooting several Socialists, and a number of other priests were arrested, charged with instigating riots. The Anti-Clericals threw a priest into the river.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—Forty members of the Republican Club have been arrested at Bilbao and 18 prominent Republicans and Carlists have been arrested at Santander when on the point of leaving the city on a steamer.

BULGARIA MOVES FOR PEACE.
Insurgents Are Prevented From Crossing the Frontier.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 12.—The details of the new Austro-Russian reform scheme are awaited here with the greatest interest. A dispatch from Constantinople announced that the Austrian and Russian Ambassadors presented their proposals to the Porte today.

The government here is taking the strictest precautions to prevent insurgents from crossing the frontier. One band is reported to have been fired upon by Bulgarian troops near Ritta today while trying to assist a crowd of fugitives who were being pursued by the Turks. This incident is considered to be evidence of the Government's correct intention.

Desperate fighting is reported to have taken place at Soldez, in the district of Dibra, on October 5. Macedonian bands attacked a body of 600 Turks and lost 25 men. After several hours' fighting Boris Sarafov, with reinforcements of 600 insurgents, arrived on the scene and killed all save 30 of the Turks.

TAKE UP ALASKAN CASE

COMMISSIONERS MEET IN SECRET, BUT REACH NO DECISION.

Canada Is Much Disturbed Over Report That Lord Alverstone Sides With America.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The last stage of the Alaskan boundary proceedings began today, when the commissioners met in secret session to consider their verdict. Senator Lodge and Professor Sir Lewis St. Clair, one of the Canadian commissioners, were early on hand, and War Secretary Root and Senator Turner followed them into the cabinet room of the Foreign Office, where the deliberations are being held. Later Commissioner Aylesworth, of Canada, who had been in the country, put in an appearance.

No decision is expected today. While nothing can be known definitely, a very hopeful feeling prevails in American circles. A significant reflex of this appears in today's Times. Dealing with the difficulties encountered in the selection of a new United States Ambassador to the United States and the irritation which he would have to face both in the United States and Canada if the tribunal broke up with a disagreement, the Times says:

"We rejoice to say that there is believed to be something more than a possibility that an award may be agreed upon, or rather that the several questions may be so answered as to end the matter."

The commissioners will sit until 11 A. M. until 1:30 P. M., when they will adjourn for luncheon and will resume their deliberations at 2 P. M., adjourning for the day at 4 P. M. until a decision is reached.

The commission adjourned at 4:30 P. M. without having reached a decision.

THINKS HE WAS WRONGLY QUOTED
Premier of Canada Doubts Remark Credited to Owa Commissioner.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12.—In Parliament today Mr. Borden asked if the Prime Minister had taken any steps to verify the accuracy of an alleged interview with Mr. Aylesworth, one of the Commissioners on the Alaskan boundary question. Mr. Borden said the telegraphic report contained certain observations which, with regard to his duties as commissioner and with regard to his views on matters now the subject of political controversy in the United Kingdom. Mr. Borden concluded:

"It seems to me rather unusual and I decline to believe that Mr. Aylesworth could have used the language attributed to him."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied the government had taken no steps to ascertain whether the alleged interview had taken place or not. He added:

"We assume that this interview had not the character attributed to it. Mr. Aylesworth is a counsel of very great experience, and I would hesitate to believe, and I think my honorable friend would have equal hesitation, that Mr. Aylesworth had taken any steps to verify the accuracy of a matter which is sub judice and in which he himself is one of the Judges. The language attributed to him is very improbable, and until I hear to the contrary I have some better guarantee for believing that Mr. Aylesworth has so expressed himself. I shall believe that the interview, like many others, was not an expression of the views of Mr. Aylesworth."

Mr. Bell of Picton, called the attention of the government to a cablegram, which said that Lord Alverstone considered that the United States had the best of the case, and he was going to decide accordingly.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in the absence of the Prime Minister, replied:

"I think this so improbable, and almost impossible, that it does not require the slightest consideration at the hands of
