Products of Northern Side of River Will Be Gathered Up for Railroad Shipment,

A proposition is on foot to operate a steamer on the Upper Columbia, between Grant's and Blalock for the purpose of handling the freight of the district bordering the river on the north side. The boat line will, it is said, make connection with the O. R. & N. at Grant's and freight will be brought down the r by rail. George Mariner, of Blalock, is at the head of the scheme, and matters are being put into shape so that the boat may be put into operation as soon as possible. The boat that wrecked the old Paul Mohr scheme by capsizing on the river is being refitted and will run between the points mentioned. It will be remembered that the Paul Mohr scheme was to operate a boat on the upper river to some point above the Cellio Rapids, then transfer the freight to a portage road for delivery further down the river. The plan progressed to sized and the cargo lost. Other mishaps that the project be pushed through to occurred that resulted in the death of success.

Mr. Mariner was one of the stockholders in the old scheme and since it fell ough he has been planning to inaugurate and operate a similar line. To do this he has had the ill-fated boat remodeled and engines of greater capacity are now being installed. It is his purse to put the steamer into operation as goon as possible. She will ply between Grant's and Blalock, gathering up the shipping products on the north side of the river and carrying them to Grant's, date for the next convention. where they can be transferred to the railroad. It is also expected that a good business will be done in the carrying of wood up the river to Umatilla and other

It is said that considerable grain and fruit are produced along the river in a district that is not tapped by a railroad. In order to get these products to the market the raisers have been forced, heretofore, to haul them to Prosser to railroad there. This entails reriand drives, which could be avoided the products could be transferred o the railroad on the south side, at a great saving of time and expense. It is for the purpose of handling this business that has been going across country to Prosser, it is said, that the roposed new line is to be established. north bank at convenient places for the oducers, and the boat will pick up its ds from these stations.

Mr. Mariner has written to District Forecaster Edward A. Beals of this city requesting information relative to the river readings from the Cellio Rapids to and further up the river. ### CONSTRUCTION MUST WAIT. Financiers Will Not Invest in Uncertain Railroad Propositions.

A local railroad man who is in a position to know, is authority for the statement that all proposed construction work on the railroads in this state has been abanof the Eastern money market. Money cannot be raised for extension purposes with conditions as they are, and for that reason the roads have been forced to let financial affairs. The railroad men here are not thinking of doing any work along this line now," said he. "The only work that is being done or will be done, is that for which the finances have already been provided. With the money market in the condition that it is, capitalists will not invest in schemes that are experiments, as railroad usions usually are.

"Of course, the building of a road into a country where there are mines that are working, and the returns are certain, does not involve any great risk, but construction into comparatively undeveloped dis-tricts is a different matter. When capitallsts can see that there is no doubt ab getting returns for their money, they are willing enough to invest. ### BOOM IN CENTRAL OREGON. Prospective Railroad Extension Creates Demand for Real Estate. The prospect of the extension of the Co-lumbia Southern Railroad into Central Oregon is causing considerable activity in real estate in that section of the country according to reports from there. Although the proposed construction seems to be at a standstill now, there have been per-sistent rumors that the work will be ac-

PESTS AND THEIR ENEMIES

Board of Horticulture Discusses In sects Which Ravage the Orchards,

The State Board of Horticulture conhas asked especially for the readings at tinued and completed its session yesterday morning with an elaborate discussion of fruit pests. The most annoying of these is the San Jose scale, which has been At present the district bordering the north bank of the Columbia along the line of the proposed boat route is but poorly developed, but if the new scheme poorly developed, but if the new scheme bugs have always been natives of Oregon proves a success it is believed that it this particular variety is unlike the ordi nary ladybug and remarkably like the Asiatic variety. The conclusion conse-quently is that it came to this country from the Orient, and, finding the San Jose scale a healthy diet, has prospered. Cherry worms were also discussed at length, especial light being cast on the subject by President E. L. Smith. He explained that the pest appears first as a worm attacking the leaves of the cherry tree. Then, when the blossom appears, it enters this as an insect and remains there, so that when the fruit develops it may look sound and healthy from the outside, but when opened it is found to contain a worm which has been living on the meat of the cherry next the pit. It can their proposed extensions lie untouched. No more work along this line, it is said, fore the blossom appears, while the pest fore the blossom appears are perfectly appears.
