Pailed to Explode in Its Frozen Condition-Detectives Locate Armed Man in Barn Nearby, and Two Other Arrests Were Made.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 16.—Six sticks of dynamite were found on the Northern Pacific track near Pirdseye, eight miles west of Helson, this morning. An extra freight east-bound passed over the powder during the night without exploding it.

The dynamite was discovered early this morning by section men, flattened into thin sheets in its frozen condition. It had been placed under the rail, the fishhad been placed under the rail, the fish-plates of which had been removed. The trains that passed over the powder was polled by Engineer Moffit, who said that the track appeared to be all right. Chief of Detectives McFetridge, of St. Paul, in charge of the Northern Pacific detectives and officers, left with a pack of unds soon after the finding of the powder was reported. George Hammond, suspected of being implicated in the dynamite explosions on the Northern Pacific, was arrested this the Northern Facine, was arrested this morning half a mile from where the explorive man found on the track and brought to Helena and put in jail. He was found in a deserted barn with his horse by Detective McFetridge.

He was armed with a Colt's revolver and help a bait full of convertions. He and had a best full of cartridges. He says he worked in Colorado a year ago and was injured in an accident in the Sun & Moon mine, and came into the hills to get a rest. He confessed to steal-ing supplies in the vicinity where he was

DEATH OF JAMES HAWORTH. Head of Pioneer Mail Company Be-

tween Portland and Sacramento. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15 .- James Ha-

worth, who in ploneer times was one, of the most prominent men in California, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jemesina Wells, aged 78 years. Born in England, he came West in 1849 and settled in Sacramento as a hardware merchant. In 1854 he reorganized the old California Stage Company, which was considered in those days one of the most powerful factors in the politics of the state. In 1890 he established a stage line which carried the United States mail from Sacramento to Portland, Or. In 1882 he built a road over the mountains by the Henness Pass, over which the mails were chrried to Virginia City.

Financial success did not follow all of his ventures. Various business reversals reduced his once promising fortune, until at the time of his death he was employed as a conductor at the mint.

GAIN IN RUBBER IMPORTS United States Fast Demanding More of Material.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .-- More than 0,000,000 pounds of India rubber, valued at more than $30,000,000, was imported into the United States last year. In 1890 the quantity was only 33,000,000 pounds, in 1880 16,000,000, in 1870 9,000,000, and in 1862, the earliest date at which it was separately shown in the import statements, was only 2,125,561 pounds. This very rapid growth in the importation of crude india rubber is of course due to the great increase in its use in manufacturing, both as to rub-ber garments, shoes, etc., and its use in machinery and as tires for vehicles. Over $100,000,000 worth of manufactures from India rubber are now turned out from the factories of the country every year, and about half of this total is in the form of boots and shoes. So great is the demand of India rubber for use in manufacturing that not only has the importation grown from 2,000,000 pounds in 1882 to over 50,000. 000 annually at the present period, but in addition to this the forests of the East Indies are called upon for several million pounds annually of a new substitute for gutta-percha, known as "gutta-joolawhile at the same time the high-and byways of Europe and other countries are ransacked for cast-off rubber manufactures from which the rubber is "reclaimed" and reused in conjunction with the new rubber from the forests of Brazil, Africa and the East Indies. Figures just compiled by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through bureau of statistics, show the importations of three classes of material utilized as India rubber in recent years. They show that during the past few years the pounds, and of "old and scrap rubber, fit only for remanufacture." from 10,000,000 only for remanufacture," from 10,000,000 to 20 odd million pounds per annum, and of gutta-percha a half million pounds. The industry of importing and "reclaiming" India rubber for reuse in man-ufacturing is a comparatively new one, and while it utilizes large quantities of worn-out rubber boots and shoes and articles of this character from the scrap heaps of the United States, it has Gutta-joolatong is another comparatively new material which may be utilized as a substitute for or in conjunction with India rubber. It is a product of the East Indies, chiefly the island of Borneo, located not far from our Philippines, and in the form in which it is imported is described as "whitish in color, looking something like marshmallow candy, smelling strongly of petroleum, and oxidizing on exposure to the air, becoming hard." The same description says: "It is not a substitute for gutta-percha or India rubber, but is used chiefly as a filler in manufactures of India-rubber gum, and gut-ber, but is used chiefly as a filler in manufactures of India-rubber gum, and gutta-percha." The importation of this newly developed aid in the manufacture of India rubber has increased from 6,500,000 pounds in 1839 to 14,000,000 pounds in 1903.

A very large proportion of the India rubber imported into the United States is produced in Brazil. Over one-half of the total is imported direct from Brazil, while considerable quantities come from the United Kingdom, presumably the while considerable quantities come from the United Kingdom, presumably the products of her colonies, and from Beigium, chiefly the product of the Congo Free State, which is under control of the Belgian Government and its industries of this character controlled by the people of that country. Best Cow Choking.

Boston Post.
Of the childhood of C. Oliver Iselin, manager of the cup defender Reliance, they tell many stories in New Rochelle, where Mr. Iselin has his country house, All View. According to one of these sto-ries, the boy Iselin and a half dozen other importations of crude rubber have ranged from 50,000,000 to 15,000,000 pounds; of gutta-joolatong from 5,000,000 to 15,000,000 pounds; of New York, a number of years ago. One night, rather late, they passed a farm whose gatepost bore the sign, "Milk for Iselin said: "We'll have some fun with the milkman," and he entered the yard, busied himself mysteriously for a moment and then pounded on the door.

A figure in white appeared at an up-stairs window and a bass voice said: "What's the matter down there?" "The matter is," piped the boy, "that your best cow is choking. You had bet-

The defeat of Mr. Wilson for the courts in which the cases are pending." the Senate and his subsequent removal to Seattle has practically obliterated the Wilson faction. Lines now are drawn largely between the friends of Senators Foster and Ankeny on the one side, and of Governor McBride on the other. Be-tween these two contending factions stand the friends of Congressman W. L. of North Yakima, who may ultimately hold the balance of power in the county fight.

Ankeny Faction Not Strong.

The friends of Senator Ankeny are not trong in this county. In his last fight ir. Ankeny secured only three votes out of Spokane's Legislative delegation of 15, and these three were from rural districts in the county, and not from the city. On the other hand Senator Foster has a local following which on the surface is strong and aggressive. It is led, how-ever, by United States Marshal C. B. Hopkins, whose loyalty to Senator Fos-ter is seriously questioned. Still the os-tensible Foster support is pretty well or-ganized, and whatever its loyalty to Sen-ster Foster it will propositionable. ator Foster, it will unquestionably be against McBride.

Congressman Jones named as Postmaster of Spokane Judge Millard T. Hart-son, regarded by many as the strongest individual factor in Spokane County politics. His chief business is to protect Mr. Jones' interests, and see to it that no Spokane man develops enough strength to make matters uncomfortable for the Yakima man in the state convention. There is considerable feeling locally that Spokene should have a Congressman, and intimations have been made by the Mc-Bride forces that they will touch a matter to this feeling and bring out a candidate for Congress if the Jones people lift a hand against McBride in this county. Gubernatorial Timber Scarce. Anti-McBride leaders over the state have intimated that Spokane can have their support for a candidate for Gor-ernor if it will center its strength on one man; but the difficulty has been to get the man. D. T. Ham, A. G. Avery, Colo-nel W. M. Ridpath, Cyrus Happy, W. H. Aduff and Judge James Z. Moore have all been suggested, and have either re-fused to consider the proposition or have been pronounced unavailable. The out-look that Spokane will present a Guberfaction, wants to be Lieutenant-Governor, and W. M. Shaw, once a lieutenant of Senator Wilson, but now identified with the Ankeny faction, wants to be State Treasurer. Representative J. B. Lindsley, a warm adherent of Governor McBride, is mentioned for Lieutenant-Governor, and also for Congress*in the event the McBride people should spring a fight on Congressman Jones. Senator Herman D. Crow, a Wilson man with McBride leanings, is a candidate for Supreme Judge. The fight here may develop into a fight between Lindsley and Crow on one side, supported by the McBride people, and Sanders and Shaw on the other side, supported by the anti-McBride people. Most politicians believe Spokane could pluck two of the minor places in Delicate Position.

Jones in Delicate Position. Congressman Jones is in a delicate po-sition. With a candidate for Congress backed by Spoksne with its heavy trad-ing strength, he would have a fight in the state convention which would be un-pleasant. On the other hand, should his friends concede the Spokane delegation to McBride in return for peace locally, it might embarase them with Mr. Jones' to McBride in return for peace locally, it might embarass them with Mr. Jones' friends in other parts of the state. Mr. Lindsley, who is the most likely candidate of the McBride people, is strong locally, and would put up a hard fight. He would not only have the solid McBride backing locally, but he has Senator Wilson under great obligation to him, and could command the support of the remnants. command the support of the remnants of the Wilson machine, as well as a con-siderable support from local business men.

The opposition to McBride is handicapped in another quarter. It has bitter enmities within its own ranks. Marshal Hopkins is an ancient enemy of Colonel W. M. Ridpath, E. D. Sanders and a number of leading Ankeny men. For them to work together is practically impossible. The feeling against Hopkins extends to the Ankeny rank and file, who regard him as a Wilson man in disguise. regard him as a Wilson man in disguise.

Much Anti-Railroad Sentiment. No man has ever run for office success fully in Spokane County as an avowed opponent of anti-railroad laws. That fact demonstrates better than anything fact demonstrates better than anything else the latent hostility to the railroads in this county. A score of local politicians are identified with the railroad faction, but they endeavor to keep it under cover as much as possible, and for public consumption base their opposition to McBride on other grounds.

Many local politicians believe, moreover, that to openly oppose McBride and send an anti-McBride delegation to the state convention will play havec with the state convention will play havoc with the county and legislative ticket, and this fear will aid the McBride people. It was a considerable factor in giving McBride the county for his commission plank last Another thing in McBride's favor is that he has the aggressive support of the Spokane Spokesman-Review, the leading daily paper of Eastern Washington, which, while independent in politics, has always wielded a strong influence in be-half of any political cause which it has espoused. It is fighting for McBride

Hamilton and Piles.

But little is heard in Spokane County about the candidacy of S. H. Piles, of Seattle, for the Senate. Ed S. Ham-liton. Senator Foster's Tacoma rival, spent the greater part of a week here recently, and talked with politicians of every faction and degree. He was told almost universally, however, that he could not figure on much support here until he had demonstrated his ability to arry his own county.

When they demanded the bonds from the sellers, the latter declared they had not been received from Brown Bros., but the Zimmerman firm produced evidence that there under the rule and at much higher prices.

> > The Compelling Baton,

Toronto Star. It happened this way: All day long the band of the Coldstream Guards had been delighting the people at the fair with their music. Rogan gave them every-thing from Rossini to ragtime. He began with the grand old masters, showing what he could do with the solid refreshment of the classics. Then he passed easily to the pretty kickshaws of the moderns, and condescended even to coon songs to meet the popular taste. But as 4 o'clock drew nigh, and me westering sun reminded him of that empire on which the sun never sets, he was transported with love for the home land. The songs which have delighted British hearts all over the world thronged his mind and broke thence into musical expression. Following the mood of the leader, and putting his own thrill into every demi-semi-quaver, that great organ-voiced band gave out "Annie Lau-rie," "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls." "Rule, Britannia," the beautiful familiar themes of sentiment and courage which find an echo in every loyal bosom. Rogan's name is in itself a token of that blessed union which is the hope of imperial statesmanship—John, which is English; Mackenzie, which is Scotch; Rogan, which is Irish—the three races which are to pull together forever and make the British empire as stanch

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The firm of Zimmerman & Forshay was today suspended from its stock exchange privileges. This action was taken as a result of an investigation of certain transactions by the firm in San Francisco street-raliway bonds.

Leopold Zimmerman was suspended for one year, and Sigmund H. Rosenblatt and Leonard Schafer were suspended for 20 days each. These three men were the board members of Zimmerman & Forshay.

Entire responsibility for the firm's dealings in the United Railroad bonds is assumed by Mr. Zimmerman, who states that the matter is still in litigation.

He looked at that vast audience of 20,000 people, 20,000 liege subjects and friends of the King he served, and his great chest expanded six inches under the red sash, and the row of medals on his preast swelled simultaneously. With a large gesture of invitation he started the national anthem again, and 20,000 people took up the noble strain. After that were three cheers and a tiger—and each cheer had in it something for Rogan, something for his band, but most of all for the feeling that makes Saxons the dominant race of the world.

Some people tried to analyze their emo-tions afterwards, and some to make light of them. But the fact remained that they had shouted themselves hoarse and dared pneumonia in the open air when Rogan said so. For these reasons let us have more Rogans, and more Coldstream Guards bands, and more bandmasters who know when to seize the moment for a demonstration. Such things are more effective than tons of blue-gray literature and dozens of trade conferences. For the same music which can soothe the savage breast can teach colonial bosoms new
