ART ASSOCIATION FILES PETITION.-The Portland Art Association, by William M. Ladd, president, filed a petition in the County Court yesterday asking that it have possession of the rents and profits of the west 70 feet of lots 5 and 6, block 60, Portland, at Fifth and Taylor streets, which was bequeathed to the association by the will of Henry W. Corbett, deceased. The petition is directed to the executors of the will. It recites that the property-was specifically devised to the association for the purpose of erecting thereon a building to be devoted to an art gallery, and that the will also directs that the rents and accumulations of income from the property arising, shall be invested by the association and reinvested from time to time as a building fund. The petition gtates further that on October 12 the ex-ecutors of the will filed a semi-annual account and that the estate of Henry W. Corbett, deceased, is but little, if any in debt, and all claims against it have been presented. The property is said to be worth $30,000, and the court is asked to order the executors to surrender the rents and profits to the association. The matter was set for hearing November 2. Dolph

THOUGHT THE HOLD-UP MAN HAD HIM. -A young man was walking briskly down Irving street about II o'clock last night. in deep meditation upon the last thing she had said, when he spied a figure across the street keeping close pace with him. As it was pretty dark along that particular block, he quickened his pace, thinking possibly he was being spotted as a good thing by a hold-up man. To his chagrin the figure across the way hurrled just as fast as he did, so he tried going slowly, in order to let Mr. Bandit get ahead, but stopped, and he mentally calculated how much money he had to lose and tried to think of some way to secrete his watch. Having fully decided he was in for it, he thought he would brave it out, and brave in galance in the control of "Hello, there-what d'you mean by fol-lowing me like this?" There was no answer for a few minutes, and then a policeman stepped round the corner and wanted to hear his troubles. "That fellow across there has been following me for several blocks, and—" "Ah, go on," said this blue-coated arm of the law, "a mon's shadow was never known to hurt him

BUT SUCCESSFUL FISHERMAN .-Charles Waters, father of Mrs. Jennie Jewett, of White Salmon, Wash., is 83 years of age, but he is not too old to be an enthusiastic and tireless angler. Writing from Trout Lake to a friend in this city he says that this Summer he has been fishing 80 times and made a total catch of 1563 trout. In five trips he caught 70, several being 15 inches long and weighing a pound each. One day he caught 56. Another day in two hours he landed seven trout with a total weight of four pounds. the largest weighing over a pound. While Mr. Waters catches many trout, he has secured thousands of fish from the National Fish Commission and planted them in Trout Lake, so he has contributed much more to the number of fish in the lake and streams than he has taken out on a HEAP BIG INDIAN.—Sam Morris drew the largest crowd that ever attended a ball game in Portland, but after he was seen once, the attendance dropped off, especially among the ladies, as they saw that he was only a man. The attendance at the free concerts at City View Park has steadily increased; particularly is this noticed with the gentler sex. Sunday will be a fine day and Sharkey & Morrow promise to give the last free band concert of the season at City View Park by Brown's Pull Military Band. Everybody invited to hear this wonderful band and to see the finest residence suburb in the City of Portland, Cars leave First and City of Portland. Cars leave First and Alder streets every 15 minutes. Concert from 2 to 5 P. M.

THE LARGE amount of improvement now going on in City View Park warrants the advance of price in lots in this beautiful tract. If you contemplate buying don't delay as prices will positively be advanced December 1. Come early and make your selection. We can be seen on the ground all day Sunday, Sharkey & Morrow, 208 Alisky building, Tel. Main 26.

MACE'S MARKET AGAIN.-We received last evening a consignment of widgeon and teal ducks, which must be sold today; some and take your choice at 25 cents each. Spring chickens the same, 25 cents, You know the place. Mace's, 151 Fourth.

PRINCIPALS PLAN WORE.—The Mult-nomah Principals' Club held its regular monthly meeting last evening in the office of County Superintendent Robinsin. The president being absent, the meeting was presided over by the vice-president, A. F. Hirshner. The club decided to continue its roundtable topics during the year and it will have lectures occasionally from prominent educators on questions of school supervision. The club will buse its round-table talks on the educational contribu-tions in current literature, reviewing at each meeting one or two articles, which has been previously selected by the pro-gramme committee. A permanent proramme committee, consisting of Prin-ipals E. G. Adams, Ward, Swope and J. F. Croft was appointed. The topic discussed last evening was: "The Principal-His Duties as a Citizen." These meetings are planned for special study of school or-ganization and supervision, The Teachers' Progress Club, composed of the women teachers of the county, will meet in the City Hall at 9:30 this morning. Their work will be based upon the art of teaching, the special topic for tomorrow being "The Drill," CAPITALIST READY TO BUILD BIG HOTEL —A big hotel is going up on the old Dekum place between Thirteenth and Fourteenth, and Morrison and Yamhili streets, if a proper lease can be obtained. Roundtree & Diamond, the real estate firm, have secured a capitalist, who stands ready to build a brick and stone edifice on that site, if a hotel man who knows how to run a high-class hotel can be found to lease it as soon as it is com pleted. He wants a lessee with money, who will furnish the house in good style in keeping with the handsome exterior he intends to erect. Mr. Diamond said yesterday that this was one of the biggest deals that had come under his care in several years. He thinks the site a good one and prophesies the erection in that part of town of other first-class caravan-saries, of which Portland stands in need. Excursion Business Booming.—The excontinental lines this season has shown a large increase over that of last year, prov-ing that the Pacific Coast is steadily gaining popularity among Eastern tour-ists. The business of the Northern Pacific in September was the heaviest for that month in the history of the road, the greatest density of traffic being on the line between Portland and Seattle. The local trains between these cities has been heavier per train-mile than on any other division of the road. The three trains daily which now run each way on that line can hardly carry all the passengers and the company will probably be con-fronted with the necessity of adding a fourth train next Spring. DISTRESSING DISAPPEARANCE.-Nothing has been learned by the police of the whereabouts of Maud Mason, who disappeared last Saturday. This is a very dis-tressing case. Mrs. M. J. Mason, the mother, is a widow, without a blood relative, so far as she knows, and Maud is her only child. The girl is tall, rather

Rarely, if ever, has a Portland musica audience been more enthusiastic than the one which attended the Armory last night and listened to a splendid concert gives by Ellery's Royal Italian band, about 52 in number. The new conductor, Manfredo Chiaffarelli, who has led the band for about two months, succeeding Emili-Rivela, who is now located at San Fran cisco, made a most excellent impression by his manner, undoubted talent and musical ability. He is a stout, pleasant looking man, about 30 years old, and he neither wears his hair long nor indulges in any of the eccentric tricks which have made Creatore widely known. Sign Chiaffarelli conducted nearly all the co cert numbers without a scrap of music in front of him, and by the force of his rare personal magnetism he beckoned, appealed and implored his musicians until they gave him absolutely startling musical effects full of rich, warm, sensuou Italian color, especially in the crescendo and fortissimos. The latter were given with a dignity and immense volume satisfied every one possessing a soul for real music. This effect was heightened by the heavy basses, trumpets instead of cor-nets and also by a tom-tom, otherwise called a gong and used extensively in Oriental countries. The music played demonstrates that Ellery's Royal Italian Band is at present the greatest band now playing in this country, and dramatic color effects were given last night never equalled by the great Sousa. The band is complete in every detail, simply because there are over 50 real musicians in it, each man a master of the instrument he plays. Her is the composition of the band: For trumpets, one flugel horn, four French horns, three alto horns, five trombones three baritones, four basses, one bassot one flute, one piccolo, one E flat clarinet eleven B flat clarinets, four saxophones one alto clarinet, two bass clarinets, two snare drums, one pair tympant, one bass share drums, one pair tympan, one bass drum, and tom-tom. Every number on the programme was encored, and Signor Chiaffarelli kindly responded with these popular selections: "March" (Chiaffarel-il), "Hawatha," "Annie Laurie," "Ronde d'Amore," "Dixie Land," "Carnival March," "Dixie Girl," Salome," and "Vic-torious America.

torious America. The programme was sufficient to satisfy a popular audience as well as educated musicians. The best number was the sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor most elegantly finished offering was Tobant's "Hearts and Flowers." The audience comfortably filled the Armory Not to hear this band will mean that on will miss one of the chief musical treats this season. "The Lost Paradise."

The usual Saturday matinee will be given at the Baker today, when the Neili Morosco company will produce "The Lost Paradise," a great labor play that has been holding the boards all week. There are still some very good seats left, and no one need stay away because of the fear of not being able to get a seat. The last performance will be tonight and this last opportunity should not be missed to see one of the best and most successful American plays put on by such an excellent company as the Neill-Moro
