Liberal Buying Causes Stock Prices to Move Upward Easily, and Losses Are Retrieved.

polored imagination, as is the case almost variably, took an extreme view of the harm cossibilities of Monday's events in Baltim Pinding this to be the case today, the operators who sold stocks with undue freedom Mor day bought them back today. The decrease the volume of dealings indicates that not a of the stocks sold Monday were re-bought to-day. Prices moved easily upward, however, and retrieved the greater part of yesterday's and retrieved the greater part of yesterday's losses. Whether there was more cause for yesterday's perturbation than was indicated by the sequel today may never be known, but the acuteness of the fears felt yesterday was greatly dissipated from the outset of the harket, and confidence grew steadily throughout today. by room traders invited by so considerable an advance. The market railled again and closed very firm and but little below the best. It was generally understood before the opening of the market that concerted measures had been taken at Pittsburg to protect any weakness in the situation there. It was also known that heavy transfers of currency tection against sudden demands upon deposits there. It became known immediately in Wal street also that all of the Baltimore institutions had opened their doors this morning and only slight evidences of fear were being shown by the depositors. Such as was shown was reported later as being dissipated, and opinions wern quoted even that the receivership in at least one of yesterday's instances had been unduly precipitated.

RETURN OF CONFIDENCE

FEARS FELT IN WALL STREET ARE DISSIPATED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.-Wall street's highly

It cannot be said that the character of today's buying carried very great conviction as to its substantial quality, as most of it was attributed to professional operators either for purposes of covering short accounts or for manipulating prices against the short interest. Nevertheless the considerable advance in prices failed to develop any new pressure to sell stocks, and was effective also in impressing the shorts with the desirability of covering their short contracts, in contrast with the recent air of confidence of the bear party in selling the market on an occasional rally. The realing among the bears was that the failures at Baltimore had uncovered the weak spots in the situation, and the fact that today brought no extension of the trouble gave the impression that the worst of the strain was over, which would demonstrate sufficient strength in the situation to withstand any longer demands that might follow. nipulating prices against the short interest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Easier cables and favorable weather for the movement, as well as the situation in Wall street, were influences that caused wheat to open barely steady. Local traders were inclined to be rather cautious in their trading early in the day, and there was some scattered liquidation, but with reassuring news from Wall street on active buying by one or two big buil operators, the macket developed a stronger tone. The best support, however, came from the conditions in the Northwest and the improved export business. Buluth reported 100,000 bushels taken there for shipment, and reports from Minneapolis said that country miliers were buying wheat there. December was in active demand and advanced to Sinc. v TORK, Oct. 20.—Flour—Receipts, 42.—The time has come when the veterans of the unfortunate Civil War should be recognized as equals. The boys and girls of the South should no longer have to pose as the children of men who once tried to destroy the Government. The truth is, there has never been an organized effort to destroy any part of our Government. The principles involved in the Civil War could not have been settled by an appeal to the Constitution as it then existed. The Constitution said nothing about slavery and secession until after the war. The right of secession had been recognized by Josiah Quincy, Timothy Pickering, John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster, Horace Greely, E. M. Stanton, Salmon P. Chase, William H. Seward, and by a convention of delegates from Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts in the year Iki4. Slavery had been recognized by overy President from Washington to Buchanan. But let us bear in mind that slavery was wrong, and that secession was a mistake, but not disloyalty.

The intelligence, moral refinement and patriotism of the Confederate army has never been surpassed by the army of any country in any age of the world. The patriotism of the Confederate army has never been surpassed by the army of any country in any age of the world. The men on both sides in that conflict were equally true and loyal, and no preference should be shown to either. They were all American citizens, fighting for what they conceived to be right.

ganized an army for the purpose of coer-cion. It was a family fight, and all mem-bers of the family should have been treatbers of the family should have been treated alike when it ended. The South is just as much a part of this Government as is the North, and her old soldiers should receive the same consideration as those of the North. As a matter of justice, those who need help should receive it regardless of military service.

Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis represented the two types of American statesmanship in their time, and the true patriot of the present time is the one who is willing to place their statues side by side in the National Capitol. Such an by side in the National Capitol. Such an act of justice would pave the way for a spirit of fraternalism that would not be easily destroyed. STEPHEN JEWELL.

paper that Miss Maud Mason resided at my home at 408 East Sixth street, I wish to state that such is not the ease, nor has Miss Mason ever resided at my home. Miss Mason's mother was nursing me while ill and her daughter came to my home after having been released by the police, solely because her mother was there. I knew nothing of the affair at the time, but as soon as I learned of the girl's runaway escapade I ordered both her and her mother from my home.

FIGHT WITH POSSE.

Negroes Meet Constable in Tules; Three Are Killed, Seven Wounded.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28-In an encounter between a band of negroes, led by a white man, and a constable's posse three negroes were killed and seven of eight wounded near Pecan Grove planta-tion, in St. Charles Parish. None of the posse was hurt. The surviving negroes and their white leader, Pat McGee, fied to the swamps and are being searched for. Further trouble is feared. McGee and the negroes have been working for the Miseissippi Vailey Rail road. Recently complaint had been made that some of them had contracted debts and a constable went out to see the ne-groes. On his way he met John Hinds, a stable returned to town and organized a posse. Near the camp the posse encoun-tered 18 of the negroes and McGee, all heavily armed. Both sides concealed themselves in the high weeds and a battle of 20 minutes followed. The negroes and McGee finally lost their nerve and fied. The bodies of three negroes and several others wounded were picked up when the smoke cleared away.

ACCIDENTS ON INCREASE. New York Reports More People Each Year Killed on the Streets.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Official figures of the Board of Health, covering a period of three years, show that the number of persons killed annually in the circuit. of persons killed annually in the streets of New York is increasing in an alarming degree. These vitalities are growing on more than an even ratio with the growth of population and business, which indicates that either pedestrians are becom-ing more careless of their safety in the streets or that drivers of cars and vehicles are growing more reckless and the police less vigilant in enforcing the ordinances which now exist for the regulation of street traffic.

In the year 1991 there were 435 person killed in vehicles and street railway accidents. In 1992 the number of such deaths grew to 538. When the figures for 1963 are compiled the death list from street accidents will have reached nearly 1996, estimating from the number already re-

The list of accidents was increased early today, when Mrs. Catherine Mc-Inerney, carrying her five-months-old child, was run down by a heavy truck in Fifth avenue, Brooklyn. The skulls of both mother and child were fractured and they will die.

Motives That Animated Northern and Southern Soldiers.

GRANT'S PASS, Or., Oct. 13.—(To the Editor.—Permit me to add a few thoughts to your editorial of September 25, concerning the loyalty of General R. E. Lee. Your explanation is good, and deserves more than a passing notice.
