TOO LATE TO WED

Mrs. Mary Smith's Lover Married Another.

NOW SHE WANTS FARE HOME

San Francisco Grass Widow is Lured to Portland by a Matrimonial Bureau Advertisement in Hopes of Mating "Nic" Westfall.

Bound to have a husband whom she thought she had secured through the good offices of an Eastern newspaper devoted to matrimonial chances, Mrs. Mary Smith left her happy home near San Francisco, Cal., where she is the sole support of a widowed mother, but when she reached this city she was shocked to discover that her lover had already married another matrimonial-bureau woman who had arrived a week previously.

"I'm a grass widow, and I ain't ashamed who knows it. Thought I'd take other chance," explained Mrs. Smith. The man she had hoped to marry, she says, is Nicodemus Westfall, known among his friends as "Nick" Westfall, a teamster, who lives somewhere on East Morrison street. The exact location is buried in Mrs. Smith's breast. She has asked Westfall to pay her expenses to this city and par-ticularly her railroad fare to her California bome, and he has refused. Mrs. Smith is tall, spare of form, has gray hair, and is minus several of her front teeth. But this is a small matter.

Mrs. Smith told her troubles to the police yesterday afternoon, but her chief concern appeared how to get the money with which to go home. She was sent to the office of the City Board of Charities where she at first flatly refused to tell

"But," said the reporter, "if your experience is made public, it may warn other young women from falling into the trap." Mrs. Smith's perpetual blush deepened. Superintendent Gardner, of the Boys' and Girls' Ald Society, and two officials of the City Board of Charities were also Well," said Mrs. Smith, "I'd have probably been in my home in Californy, if I hadn't seen that there advertisement in a matrimonial bureau newspaper. It read GOOD-LOOKING YOUNG WOMAN WANTed; object matrimony. No triflers need apply; send photograph; only principals treated with. Apply by letter to N. D. ——, East rrison st., Portland, Or.

"I wrote and sent on my photograph ded Mrs. Smith, "and Mr. Westfall wrote in reply, telling me that I was the one for him, and asking me to come at once to Portland to marry him. I rea-soned that this was a chance to better my condition, if I could get hold of a man who would treat me right. Mr. Westfall wrote me that he is a traveling man and I thought he was well fixed. I arrived here Saturday morning and Westfall met me at the depot. He recognized me by my photograph. I accompanied him to what he called his home on East Mor-rison street, and found it to be a room-ing house. He told me to remain in the license, but he did not return.

"After awhile, I thought it was high time to see about Westfall, and asked the proprietor of the rooming-house about The man looked surprised, and said: 'Guess you will find them in a room on the upper floor.' I asked what he meant 'them.' 'Why,' he said, 'Mr. and Mrs. Westfall.' I was stupned for a minute-yes, stunned I went to the room, knocked the door, and Westfall said he had married a woman from Canada who had arrived a week before I did. He said he had got her name from the matrimonial bureau newspaper, and that she was his him to pay my expenses home, and he refused."

"Is he a man of money?" asked Mr. house told me that he hadn't enough oney to pay his laundry bill," said the "And he married the other woman, without seeing you?" queried the reporter.

"Yes, but he saw Mrs. Smith's photograph," corrected Mr. Gardner. "He saw the other woman first—she got in ahead of me." protested Mrs. Smith. "Did you love Westfail when you saw him first?"

"Now, don't ask me that." you a widow, Mrs. Smith?" persisted the reporter. "Yes, a grass widow, I divorced my first husband in Californy, on a charge of cruelty and desertion. But that didn't cut any ice with Westfall, for he, too, s been married before,"

Then Mr. Gardner took a hand. He cleared his voice, and, assuming his most paternal tone, said: "Now I want to give you a piece of good advice, Mrs. Smith. You may thank your lucky stars that you did not again spoil your life by a mar-riage that might have turned out to be an cases too often in our business experience. Can you cook and take care of a house?"

save up enough money to pay your rall-road fare home? Or, why not stay in this city for good and send for your mother? can live here as well as in California." But I came here to get mar-"I'll see, But I came ried," said Mrs. Smith.

"There are others," quoted Mr. Gardner, jokingly. "Now, why wouldn't that reporter do for your husband?"
"He looks as if he were Dutch," said Mrs. Smith, freezingly. "I am Dutch," admitted the reporter,

"That settles it," spoke up Mrs. Smith, "I wouldn't marry a Dutchman."

BELL TO GO OUT, CHASE TO STAY Colorado Militia Scandal Will Have an Unexpected Ending.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 36.-Court-martial proceedings in the case of Brigadier-Gen-eral John E. Chase, of the Colorado National Guard, have been adjourned until Thursday next, in order to give Colonel Fabrenstock, president of the court, an opportunity to attend the funeral of his tather-in-law.

It is reported that on reconvening the ert will exonerate General Chase on of orders, which were made against him by Adjutant-General Sherman Bell. It is We trust doctors. of orders, which were made against him by Adjulant-teneral Sherman Bell. It is understood that Governor Peabody has asked Bell to resign, and should be refuse to comply, it is said the Governor will re-move him from office. According to re-port Major Zeph T. Hill is slated for appointment as Bell's successor.

The formal charges against Colonels
Fred Gross and F. E. Kimball, which are to be tried by court-martial, were handed to Judge Advocate Geer today. The two officers are charged with having drawn weapons on Major Arthur Williams and threatened his life when trouble over the payrolis occurred at Camp Goldfield, October 2, and Colonel Kimball is further charged with having drawn his revolver on his commanding officer, General Chase, and having ejected him from the former's American Diplomat in Wrong. ROME, Oct. 26.-From the political inquiry it appears that Richmond Pearson, formerly United States Consul at Genoa and now Minister to Pérsia, who, as an-nounced Saturday, was fined in default $60 and $15 costs for insulting an Italian ralirond official on December 20, 1902, was completely within his right in complaining of the behavior of the railroad official referred to, but it is alleged that Mr. Pearson was himself wrong by insulting the official. Mr. Pearson claims the immunity enjoyed by the diplomatic body. but it seems when the incident occurred he had not yet been appointed Minister to Persia. It is also asserted that his letter to the United States Embassy here asking to have the sentence annulled is in such form that it cannot be shown to the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs.

DUCKHUNTERS DISAPPOINTED

On Preserves Where Wheat Is Fed Luck is Better.

Sportsmen found the duck shooting on Sunday, as a general thing, rather disappointing. There were lots of ducks every where, but they were shy. The weather was not good for ducks, too sunshiny, and generally as soon as they were shot at they "went out" and did not come back during the day, spending the time on the Columbia or some big loafing lake. Some who went shooting Saturday had more favorable weather and better luck. On one preserve, where six sacks of wheat are fed the ducks daily, a fine bag was made, as one of the proprietors said: must have something to show for so much wheat," and so killed the limit.

One of a party that has a good preserv boasted of making a big bag Sunday. He had been invited to shoot on another preserve, and he "just slaughtered them, which was hard luck on the man who had invited him. One of a party that has a preserve on the Columbia bottom, two sacks of wheat are fed out every day, says there were just thousands of ducks in the big lake, but they got none. He snooped all around the lake and wasted some 60 cartridges, and after a while the ducks collected in the center got as tired of this fun as he was and all flew away and stayed out all day. At one of the best and most carefully kept pre-serves where plenty of wheat is fed the party of four did not kill enough ducks to go around among their friends, and one of them had to buy half a dozen on the market yesterday to fix this.

Some of those who have no preserves are opposed to feeding ducks, and say that the big killings made on favorable days by those who do feed will result in the extermination of the ducks.

The most experienced old hunters say that this is all nonsense, and that the number of ducks coming here has kept increasing every year since feeding with wheat was commenced, and that there are more ducks now haunting the lakes and sloughs in this section than were ever en here before: They further say that ll the natural food of the ducks has been exhausted, and if feeding was stopped he ducks would quit coming here, and in three years widgeons would be as rare here as canvas backs have become since the camas was destroyed by the carp.

A veteran and very successful hunter said: "They may put a stop to feeding ducks if they wish, but they will find that no feed means no ducks. It makes no difference to me, as I shall give up shoot ing after this year, and they cannot stop feeding this year. The sport is becoming too expensive for me. Why the expense of our party of four for this year were $1000 up to the first of the month, and that makes the ducks come too high There will not be less than 5000 tons of wheat used for feeding ducks this year on the various preserves in this section, and those who have to pay for it have more reason to complain than any one. for even those who sell their ducks, as a few do, cannot get half enough for them to pay for the wheat, let alone other expenses, as the rest of preserves, pay of watchman in charge, amminition, traveling expenses, etc.'

INCARNATION AN ESSENTIAL. Otherwise the Christian Religion

but Moral Philosophy.

PORTLAND, Oct. 25,-(To the Editor. President Fatton, of the Princeton The logical Seminary, is right in his conte tion that "the Christian religion with the incarnation is not a religion, but moral philosophy in competition with o

Buddhism has done and is doing v nearly half the people of the globe. Wi account can moral philosophy give of Christian era? What it might have de for the barbarians of Gaul and Scan-navia is problematical, but one thing certain, it would not have produced Christendom, neither could it have produced the United States of America, whose ery existence is dependent upon the Christian religion in a far other sense than that of moral philosophy.

Miracles are argued away or relegated to the realm of magic art as though synonymous with monster. But what great epoch of the world's history has been known without miracles? The first dawn of life upon the planet was a miracle but little less stupendous than the miracle of the incarnation, which, if the theory of evolution is true, was a foregone con clusion; the legitimate outcome of evo-lutionary creation. Intellect reached its climax in Greece more than 2000 years ago, If evolution had a limit or if the law of es too often in our business experience.

1 you cook and take care of a house?"

You can just bet I can," replied the indebe bride.

The material world must necessarile must necessarile must necessarile. continuity could here be broken, it wou ould-be bride.

"Well, why not stay in Portland and then more reasonable than its culmination in the Divine Incarnation. If this is denied then it is true that the problem of man's origin and destiny remains forever unsolved. If it is accepted the problem is simple. Dr. Lyman Abbott who is by no means the skeptic that is thought, accepts the literal resurrection as historically proven. This proves the incarnation, for they are complimentary, the one of the other, and cannot be logically separated. These, taxen in conne tion with a third term, the Divine Immance in humanity, constitute a problem in proportion, that furnishes the desired answer to the "Whence, the Whither, and the Why."

Science in the last decade has recanted; it no longer denies God in nature. From God, the father of natural life, it is but a step to God, the father of spir-itual life, in which the plan and purpose of the world is seen to be revealed in the incarnation. M. S. GRISWOLD.

PRICE OF MILK GOES UP

RETAIL PRICES ADVANCE 13 1-3 PER CENT NOVEMBER 1.

One Pint Daily for a Month Costs $1.50; One Quart, $2.25, and One Gallon $7.

At a recent meeting of the milkmen of this city, it was decided to make an advance in the retail prices of milk to take effect November 1. The average of the advance is 13 1-3 per cent over the old rates, for quantities of from one pint to one gallon per month. The charges under the old rate and the new are scheduled as follows: New rate. rate One pint daily, per mo......$1.50 One quart, per month 2.25 Three pints, per month 3.00 Two quarts, per month Five pints, per month Three quarts, per month 4.25 Seven pints, per month 6.50 One gallon, per month 7.00 6.50 7.00 The milkmen give this statement of their reasons for their action: "The unprecedented prices milifeed, grain, hay and salt now pro milifeed, grain, hay and salt now pre-vailing make this action necessary. As milifeed and salt are controlled by a combination of the manufacturers, there is no probability of any material decline in them for some time. Then the Winter onths always increase the cost of producing milk, as there is no pasturage, and all food for the cattle must be bought, consequently, at the time when milk costs the dairymen the most, and the supply is limited consumers are compelled to patronize him; but during the Summer months, which should be his harvest time, many families take milk from a convenient neighbor, who, with the milkman, shares the benefit of good pasturage, and produces more than he can consume, and is glad to divide his prosperity with his friends. As the convenient neighbor in this city keep, at a low estimate, over one thousand cows, pay no taxes nor municipal licenses on them, keep no horses, employ no labor, and use for pasturage grounds the public streets and vacant lots, they can and do undersell the regular prod milk, greatly to the loss of the latter.
