BARTLETT SINCLAIR CLEARED
Idaho Man Acquitted of Neglect of Duty in Philippine Office.

SPOKANE, Oct. 30.—A private cablegram from Manila states that Treasurer Bartlett Sinclair, of Rizal Province, has been vindicated of the charges of neglect of his office and is now on his way home. One of his deputies, an American, was convicted and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment for stealing public funds. Four Filipino deputies were also convicted. Sinclair resigned his office.

In 1888, Sinclair was elected State Auditor of Idaho on the Fusion ticket, and became especially prominent during the Coeur d'Alene riots in 1890, when, as the representative of Governor Steuneger, he was practically the military dictator of Shoshone County.

POLICY HELD BAD

Gorman Assails Roosevelt on Race Issue.

WHITES' BURDEN TOO HEAVY

Senator Declares It Increased With Coming of Negro.

HE SEES EVIL IN AGITATION

Maryland Democratic Leader Also Takes the President to Task for Alleged Undue Interference in State Campaign.

SAYINGS OF GORMAN.

In his anxiety for the success of his party, President Roosevelt has committed a most grievous error in forcing to the front an issue which must be deplored by all the conservative men of the country.

In every country where the race issue has arisen it has always carried in its wake lamentable results. I trust his earnestness and impetuosity may be restrained, and that he may be prevailed upon to accept wiser counsel.

The Anglo-Saxon has never and will never tolerate the social equality or the political domination of the negro race.

From the day a cargo of Africans was landed and sold as slaves until this hour, the burden of the white man of this country has been more than that borne by any people known to history.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—At a Democratic mass meeting held tonight at the close of the campaign, speeches were made by Edwin Warfield, the candidate for Governor, and a number of leading Democrats, including United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman. An immense crowd was present, and the speaking was preceded by stereotypical views illustrating the association of whites and negroes at the late Republican state convention. The most important address of the evening was that of Senator Gorman, who, in addition to his advocacy of the state ticket and his exhortation of the Republicans, referred to President Roosevelt and the race issue as follows:

"Ordinarily, the result of the state election concerns the people of the state alone. Its only bearing upon National politics is the fact that the Legislature to be elected will select a Senator to represent this state in the Senate of the United States. But circumstances have occurred which make the result this year of more than local import.

"The extraordinary, unusual and, I think you will agree with me, unfortunate accident and interest displayed by the President of the United States in participating in his party's councils by calling to Washington the prominent Republicans of this state is such an uncalculated interference in our domestic affairs that it must be met with no uncertain protest by our people.

Interference Is Undue.

"I have a great respect for the President. He ought not to be criticized lightly or unjustly. But lovers of liberty must enter their earnest protest whenever high officers of the Government exercise powers, or commit acts, which tend to restrict the rights of the people or unduly interfere in matters of state concern.

"President Roosevelt is a man of fine attainments and of honest convictions. He is young in years, impulsive, ambitious, a partisan and believes in his party. In his anxiety for its success he is unable to make mistakes, and in my judgment he has committed a most grievous error in forcing to the front an issue which must be deplored by all the conservative men of the country.

"In every country where the race issue has arisen it has always carried in its wake lamentable results—it has been attended by evil consequences. I trust his earnestness and impetuosity may be restrained, and that he may be prevailed upon to accept wiser counsel in his treatment of the negro problem.

"From the day a cargo of Africans was landed and sold as slaves until this hour, the burden of the white man of this country has been more than that borne by any people known to history. It was one of the causes which led to a most gigantic war, which drenched the country in blood, destroying many homes and impoverishing a gallant people.

"Immediately after the close of the war came adoption of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, which enfranchised the blacks for party purposes alone, and thus injected into the body politic a people unprepared and unfitted for self-government.

"The Anglo-Saxon has never, and will never, tolerate the social equality or the political domination of the negro race.

Deems Mistake Most Serious.

"Mr. Roosevelt, in his anxiety constantly to be doing something, has made a mistake. I believe of him, as I have believed of all Presidents, that he is sincere and patriotic. But every man in a public position is liable to mistakes. None could be more serious than the one made by him in his attempt to force again to the front the question of equality, social and political, of the negro race. Thoughtful citizens, both North and South, regret such an issue. They dread and will evade it if possible. But if the President and his party drive the issue, it must be met and the responsibility must rest upon them.

"The President is the leader of his party

now, and will be next year. The politicians of his party may advise him the solid negro vote—for in voting they are indivisible—holds the balance of power in the great central states of the Union, and that in the States of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Ohio and Illinois it is essential to his party's success. In Maryland where the negro vote constitutes two-thirds of the Republican party, it is an absolute necessity, for without it the state is hopelessly lost to the Republicans.

"Unless I mistake the temper of the people of this country, there will be the same revolution in public sentiment, and the same protest that was accorded in 1852 by the white people of the entire Union against the Administration of President Harrison for his attempt to force negro domination upon the South, and thus destroy that section and paralyze the industries of the whole United States. This issue is forced upon us by the President. He has made the game of battle, and we must meet it as becomes Marylanders."

DIPLOMAT EXPECTS EASY TIME
Durand Believes Duties at Washington Will Be Largely Social.

MADRID, Oct. 30.—Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador to Spain, who was recently appointed British Ambassador to the United States, was interviewed today by a correspondent of the Associated Press at the British Embassy here.

When asked what line of policy he would follow the Ambassador answered: "That is difficult to answer, owing to my unacquaintance with the country, but naturally I shall follow the line laid down by the Foreign Office and British interests."

"Regarding the difficulties of my new position, unless I am much mistaken, they will not be very great, perhaps less than at Madrid, owing to the number of pending international questions here. The relations between the United States and Great Britain are most cordial, there being no serious litigation pending between the two Anglo-Saxon nations, and I am personally convinced that Great Britain will use every endeavor to avoid causes for friction, as made evident by the submission of the Alaska questions to arbitration. The political horizon being therefore cloudless, I imagine my part at Washington will be social rather than diplomatic."

CRANK AT WHITE HOUSE.
Montanan Journeys to Capitol to See the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Edward S. Tanner, 33 years of age, a native of Switzerland and a crank, tried to see the President today, but did not get far beyond the doors of the Executive office before his condition was discovered. He was taken to police headquarters, and later to St. Elizabeth Insane Asylum.

It is expected that he was being continually pursued by strikers. He thought the President would make them stop bothering him. Tanner said he had a wife in Memphis, Tenn., but that he saw direct routes to Northern Montana to see the President.

Smallpox Quarantine Abandoned.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—The mild type of quarantine established today by Dr. W. R. East, quarantine officer at-large of the State Board of Health in the City of Allegheny, was abandoned late this afternoon, the state and local authorities having arrived at an amicable understanding. It is expected that smallpox will be stamped out within a fortnight.

BURN UP GOODS

Fanatics' Antics Excite Corvallis.

CATS AND DOGS IN FLAMES

Holy Rollers Destroy Everything in "Carnal" Hands.

TERRIBLE NOISE AT WORSHIP

Rolling on the Floor, Adherents Give Way to Shrieks, Shouts and Groans, Indicating Great Mental Anguish.

Led by an ex-Salvation Army captain, a number of Corvallisites have banded themselves together into an organization called "God's Anointed." From their peculiar form of worship, in rolling on the floor of the meeting place and giving vent to shrieks and groans, they have been dubbed the "Holy Rollers." Driven by the authorities from the city center, the religious enthusiasts have been camped at the home of O. V. Hurt, a prominent citizen, in the outskirts, where nearly everything in and about the house has been put in the fire. Hurt's friends are not admitted to the house. A son telegraphs to his father after fruitless endeavor to induce his mother and sister to return from the religionists' rendezvous. These women had already destroyed much of the family furniture.

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—This town has been agog for 24 hours with the doings of members of a religious sect who call themselves "God's Anointed," but whom sinners call "The Holy Rollers." In the fanaticism of their devotions, the enthusiasts have burned furniture, carpets, clothing and many other articles, and have destroyed or buried cooking utensils. Musical instruments of all kinds, without regard to value or cost, have been delivered to the flames.

The scene of their devotions is the house of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Hurt, in the south end of town. There yesterday the sidewalks about the premises were torn up and burned, the flowers, shrubbery and fruit trees were dug up and destroyed. During the day reports in circulation averred that dogs and cats had been burned on a sacrificial fire.

Members of the sect deny the case of the cats but admit that a dog was burned. They say, however, that it was a dog that was not wanted about the house and that it would not go away, and that it was first killed in a humane manner and then burned. Neighbors insist that both cats and dogs to a considerable number were consigned to the flames, as a manifestation of the creed of the sect.

A feature that has added materially to the public interest in prevailing conditions is that O. V. Hurt, ex-chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, and at present state committeeman, has joined the sect. Members of his family, former members of the Salvation Army, have for several months been devoted worshippers in the new sect.

Wednesday morning, Mr. Hurt, who has been employed for a long time in a leading mercantile establishment, sent his keys to the store with the announcement that he was hereafter to devote himself to the work of God. Mr. Hurt took part in the destruction of furniture and other household effects, and in digging up and destroying the walks and shrubbery about his house.

All day yesterday about 20 of the sect were in the house. The destruction of the furniture is done, the members say, because God wills it. They claim to have direct communication with the Almighty at all times, and they say He directs them what to destroy and what to preserve.

It is such things as they receive from carnal hands that are given to the flames. Guitars, mandolins, and other musical instruments were among the articles burned yesterday.

Examined as to Sanity.

This afternoon two of the high priests of the sect were tried before the County Judge for insanity. They were arrested this morning, and spent the forenoon in jail. Their hearing occurred at 1 o'clock, and after a rigid examination, lasting until 8, they were released. The men are J. Creffield, a Swede, who came here about a year ago, and Captain Brooks, formerly of the Salvation Army. Both men are leaders in the movement, and the common opinion is that if they were out of the community, the movement would either collapse or be confined within reasonable bounds.

Yesterday and last night until a late hour, the Hurt house was the scene of much interest. It is probable that during the afternoon and evening 1500 or 2000 people visited the place. All the afternoon, a large crowd of onlookers hung round the place, and in the evening the attendance was much multiplied. Last night, boys and others stoned the house, throwing rocks on the roof or through the windows. Nearly all the window lights in the building were broken out in this way. In the early part of the evening, the place was lighted up; but by 9 o'clock the lights were all out and everything quiet.

Groan, Scream and Shout.

During worship the members roll about on the floor and groan, scream, shout and in various other ways give vent to bodily and mental agitation. The noise is such that neighbors complain to the authorities, and ask for abatement of the nuisance.

At one time the place of worship was in the city limits, but the authorities took the matter up and required a removal.

At the Hurt house, admission is denied to all callers. Many of his friends applied there yesterday to see Mr. Hurt, but in every instance but one, he was inaccessible. Either Creffield or Brooks met callers at the door, and refused them either admittance or refused to call Mr. Hurt. With respect to the latter the inevitable answer was that Mr. Hurt was seeking God and could not be disturbed.

When a reporter inquired why the worship was conducted with such secrecy, Brooks referred him to a passage in Psalms which says: "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him." He added that if the reporter desired to know the secrets of their worship, he should seek to learn of the Lord.

Has an Important Engagement.

Later Brooks excused himself to the reporter, saying that "they were about to receive a message from the Holy Ghost inside, and that he had to be present." He retired, closing the door behind him, and leaving the reporter standing on the stoop. They claim that the world is coming to an end in the immediate future.

When Officer Henderson made the arrest of Creffield and Brooks this morning, no resistance was offered when the inmates were told that persons inside were wanted by the law. He was ushered into a room where a number of persons were lying about on the floor, on mats, blankets and other rude places of rest. The room was wholly bare of furniture, and the worshippers reclined in various positions.

One young girl was apparently in a spasm. There was a cloth over her face and the officer stepped up to remove the cloth, when several of the worshippers shouted, "Don't touch her."

He removed the cloth, however, in spite of the resistance offered.

A sister and mother in a Corvallis family are among those at the Hurt house. The son in the family is at the home. The former are enthusiastic worshippers, and yesterday afternoon the son went to the Hurt house in an endeavor to persuade them to return home. He failed in his purpose, and at once wired his father, who is in the Bohemia mines.

As a result of the devotion of the mother and daughter to the sect, much of the family furniture and other effects has been burned.

Corvallis has not been so stirred in years as it has been by the incidents related above.

EXPRESS TREASURE INTACT

Engine and Four Cars Pile Up in a Mass of Wreckage, but Only the Engineer Suffers Serious Injury.

The Colorado-Chicago flyer was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour when it struck the rails from which the spikes had been removed. The engine and the cars ploughed over the ties for 150 feet, and the extraordinary strain caused a 100-foot span of a bridge to collapse. The only car not to be derailed was the one occupied by delegates returning from the bankers' convention at San Francisco.

The bandits were after a large amount of gold, which was supposed to be on the train. A hot-box luckily prevented its shipment. The men went through the baggage of the passengers during the confusion, but were poorly rewarded.

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 30.—By an act of train wreckers, east-bound Santa Fe passenger train No. 6, known as the Colorado-Chicago flyer, in which was one car filled with Eastern bankers homeward bound from California, was derailed at 1:30 o'clock this morning at Apishapa Creek, 23 miles east of this city, and breaking down the steel bridge, the engine and four cars following plunged to the bed of the creek, where they were piled in a mass of wreckage. Thirty or more trainmen and passengers were injured, and that none were killed outright is regarded as almost miraculous. The injured are:

Engineer John E. Walker, La Junta, scalded and bruised; may die.
Fireman A. Bates, bruised.
Mrs. Mary Anderson, Nortonville, Kan.; injured internally.
George Brown, Denver, injured internally.

But for the accident of a hot box on the express car, a large amount of money would have been in the safe on the wrecked train, and this, it is believed, is the plunder the desperados hoped to secure. Valuables were rifled by the robbers during the excitement following the wreck.

The express car in which, according to report, the money was being transported, was left in Colorado Springs last night for a later train.

Running Fifty Miles an Hour.

The wrecked train was made up at Denver last evening, and at Pueblo the special car Del Rosa, in charge of A. S. Kimberly, and carrying 15 Eastern bankers, was attached to it. The train was being along at a speed of 50 miles an hour as it approached Apishapa Creek. At the west end of the bridge, the rails spread, derailing the engine, and when it struck the bridge, one span, 100 feet long, went down. The engine, two baggage cars and a chair car and a coach rolled over on their sides to the creek bed, a distance of only about 15 feet. Fortunately, but little water was running in the creek at the time. One Pullman stopped with the forward end projecting over the embankment.

The bankers' car was the only one in the train that was not derailed. The engine rolled over and Engineer Walker was pinned under his cab, and he was immediately enveloped in a dense cloud of steam. Some time elapsed before he was rescued.

Engineer Walker said the first intimation he had of anything wrong was when the drivers suddenly began bumping the ties. He hastily closed the throttle and reversed the lever. The engine and cars
