Wyoming Posse Kills Ten, Captures Nine.

WHITES ESCAPE UNINJURED

Five Hundred Men Now on Trail of the Redskins.

GENERAL UPRISING IS FEARED

Band Which Took the Lives of Sheriff and His Deputy Are Bound for the Bad Lands in Nebraska.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 2.—A second battle with the Indians, in which Sheriff Miller and Deputy Falkenberg were killed, is reported to have taken place today near the Horseshoe ranch. The fugitives were traced by a posse, and with their reinforcements made a determined stand. Nine Indians are reported killed outright and 19 captured. The white men escaped without loss or injury.

FIVE HUNDRED MEN OUT.

Posse is Determined to Avenge the Slaying of Officers.

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Five hundred men, including Sheriff Miller's posse, augmented by volunteers from the ranches adjacent, are scouring the country in the vicinity of Lightning Creek, in Eastern Wyoming, in search of the band of Indians, which Saturday afternoon fought a battle with Sheriff Miller's posse.

News from the scene of the trouble, which is 25 miles from telegraphic communication, is very meager. The Indians, 75 in number, said to be under the leadership of Charlie Carries Elk, are supposed to be Sioux from the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Agencies in South Dakota. They have been hunting in the Converse country, Wyoming, in violation of the game laws of the state.

Genuine Indian Fight.

At the first volley from the Indians, Sheriff Miller and his deputies hastily ran to cover, and a genuine Indian fight followed. The whites found refuge behind trees and boulders. It is believed at least six Indians were killed and several others wounded, among the latter being Eagle Feather, a subchief.

The battle lasted almost an hour, when the Indians began to make their escape by ones and twos on horseback. They carried their dead and wounded with them, and are now believed to be on their way to the Bad Lands in Nebraska.

Grievance of Indians.

The settlers have been complaining bitterly, Indians have been killing and stealing their cattle. Settlers warned the leaders of the band to leave the country, but the redskins only laughed at them. They said the government had so reduced the amount of the rations that they were forced to kill game to keep from starving.

Close in on the Braves.

The posse started on a search for the braves. They were located Saturday and during the afternoon Sheriff Miller and his deputies started to close in on them. When the whites got within rifle range of the Indian camp they were suddenly fired upon and the battle followed.

According to advices received by Governor Chatterton the Indians had been illegally hunting in Lightning Creek, 40 miles from Lusk on the Northwestern railroad. Sheriff Miller was seriously shot through the hip by the Indians and a member of his posse, Falkenberg, was killed. Three Indians were killed. The Indians are reported by Mr. Putnam, County Clerk of Weston County, to be from Pine Ridge. Later information is to the effect that the Indians are Crows.

will also insist that no more Indians be permitted to leave their reservations to hunt in Wyoming.

Under the law every Indian outside of the state must take out a gun license, which costs $3, and go with a professional guide when they hunt. It is held that every Indian who fails to do this violates the laws and the General Government, as guardian of the red men, is responsible to the State for the payment of the license.

Governor Discredits It.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 2.—Governor Chatterton discredits the report of a second battle, he having received information indicating that no posse could possibly have come up with the fugitives as early as this morning. The fugitives have 36 hours' start of the first posse to reach the battleship.

Piano Letter No. 9

PIANO BUYERS—Buying the new piano is one of the most important things in the family history.

It is important from many standpoints. The three important influences the piano brings into the home are the social, the moral, and the educational, yet, without, how we hesitate and put off from year to year the purchase of a piano. Today we want to treat with the educational phase of the question and the inconsistency most people display in their lack of promptitude in putting a piano into their home.

Father Time is a merciless vulture, and woe be to those who fail to take time by the forelock in matters pertaining to life's success. The most important branch of a young girl's education today is MUSIC. It means social success, moral advancement, and in many cases a means of livelihood in the years to come. Yet, we place at the very end of our important wants the means to this end. The rancher thinks he ought to have a new barn before his daughter should think of an education. The merchant considers his daughter's future independence and social advancement quite secondary to an enlargement of his stock. And so it goes from year to year and many a talented child is deprived of the most valuable asset in life—an education.

There is another peculiar phase to this question and that is our inclination to look upon most things as the time when peace and plenty are going to befall us. "Next year" we are going to buy the piano. "Next year" we are going to do lots of things. Alas! Piano Buyers, how near are we to the goal of our ambitions when we are from possibilities when we consider the past year and its lost opportunities. Piano Buyers, do not buy a piano "someday" but buy it "today" but that would be bad advice. BUY IT NOW. We make it so easy for you to get it NOW as we will a year from now—possibly easier, who knows? A good way to begin by having acquainted with us and our way of treating our customers. Let us show you our plans. We never make a statement on our waterworks floor that we cannot substantiate. We consider the fulfillment of promises made to our customers one of the strongest pillars upon which we are building up our business. We never place upon a piano a stronger guarantee than it deserves. We want to sell you your piano. If you give us the opportunity we will treat you with all the fairness which has characterized all our past dealings. Yours truly,
