ESCAPE TAR AND FEATHERS

Creffield and Brooks Accept Officers' Advice to Leave the Town----Sacrifices at Other Houses Than Hurt's.

CORVALLIS, Or., Nov. 1.-(Special.)-Crefficid' and Brooks, the "Holy Roller" spostles, who led the way in the recent spectacular plays of the sect in this town, have quitted Corvallis. Their going was as hasty as their work was fierce. A fear of bouily harm is supposed to have been incident to their departure.

The sheriff stayed in the house the most of Saturday night, extending the pro-tection of the law. At noon that day a nember of the sect, accompanied by his son, entered the sheriff's office, saying, "As an American citizen I demand pro-tection." The sheriff assured the caller that all possible protection would be af-forded, but added that if Creffield and Brooks were sent away the chief element of danger would be removed. "If this office cathot afford us protection I shall appeal to the Governor," was the parting declaration of the caller as he left the office. That evening, in the expectation that the spirit of Halloween might inject mischief into the situation, Sheriff Burnet: went to the Hurt house and remained most of the night. Though the house was surrounded by people until a late hour there was no demonstration. Creffield and Brooks left town late yesterday afternoon. The report is that both were anxious to get away early in the day. A crowd was about the house nearly all the time, however, and the apostles were unwilling, according to all accounts, to attempt departure under such condi-tions. Along toward suppor time last night, nearly all the onlookers left the vicinity, and Brooks took the opportunity to leave. He traveled afoot, and nothing is known as to where he went. It is possible that he is in hiding with some of his sect in town, but this is contrary to general opinion.

An hour later Creffield also left the house. A buggy, driven by a member of the suct, appeared at the door of the house and Creffield came out and entered hur riedly. The buggy drove rapidly away, going south, and it is understood that the destination was some of the east side towns, where the southbound overland could be taken.

The situation in which the officers found things at the Hurt house when they took the apostles into custody did much to arouse public feeling, and it is probable that the departure of the two men would have become a necessity. When released by a deputy sheriff from the jail after the examination for sanity, the men were warned that their personal safety was at stake, and that they had better get out of town. It is well known that a body of men. if matters proceeded unchecked, funy intended to call on the apostles, to take them across the Willamette, and there to order them to go; and that if they neglected to obey, perhaps to adminster tar and feathers.

It has developed that the Hurt house is not the only place where articles were burned. The destruction of so-called worldly things has been done at other houses in town. A fire in a back yard at i o'clock a few mornings ago aroused neighbors from their beds with the belief that a configgration was on. In the back yard refetred to there was a bonfire, and among the fuel were several easy chairs and other articles of use and value. This was at the Starr house in the north end of town. In all there are about half a dozen

That the meteor discovered near Oregon City is the largest ever found, surpassing Lieutenant Peary's famous find, is the assertion of A. W. Miller, who sends The Or-genian the following descriptive letter from Tremont, Or.: The aerolite recently discovered near Oregon City, as described in Saturday's Ore-gonian, is worthy of more than passing consideration. Having visited the meteorite in npany with Mr. C. McKay, of Portland, who took the photograph enclosed herewith, I found upon measuring it that it is ten feet long by seven feet wide and five feet high. which I think entities Oregon to the honor of having the largest meteorite yet discov-ered, being larger than the great meteorite discovered by Lieutenant R. E. Peary some ten years ago near Cape York at the northern end of Baffin's Bay in Greenland, which, according to the measurements minde by Mr. George F. Kunz, is eight and one-half feet In length, a few inches over five feet in height and five feet wide, which is enormous as compared with meteorites previously discovered. Its weight has been estimated at 80 to 100 ions, which still leaves our Oregon meteorite the largest ever known.

Accollies wary in size from ton feet long down to the size of shot, weighing from 100 tons to one-half a gram, and are-divided into three classes; First, meteorites com-posed of metals consisting mostly of natural iron with from five to ten per cent of nickei in alloy and usually containing a small per cent of cobalt, manganese, chromium, copper and tin, and are generally known as siderites or iron meteorites. The one which fell at Canon Diabalo, Arizona, some years ago disclosed a small black diamond in its center when sawed. Second, siderolites or meteors composed of about half stone and half iron and aérolites or insteoric stones interspersed with particles of iron. Some 22 elements have been found in meteors, seven of which are metals and fifteen are earthy elements. Aerdiites, or fire-balls as they were called by our ancestors, have fallen upon our planet ever since man was capable of recording anything. The first we have any record of fell at Agristopotmi, near Athens, Greece, in 467 B. C., as recorded by Pliny, and they have been failing since all over the globe. But not until about the beginning of the last century were they considered worthy of notice except by astronomers or feared by the superstitious, and it has only been within the latter part of the last century that scientists have shown much interest in these celestial immigrants which come to us at such enormous speed through the air that they are ignited by friction and no doubt many are entirely consumed before reaching us. Some times they reach the earth in groups like the "fail" at New Concord, Ohio, in May, 1860, Others reach the earth with such force that they enter the gro and to some depth, retaining their heat for some time.

annexation. A special election would bave to be called in both towns and the DOCKET IS A LONG ONE project of annexation would have to carry in both places. There is hardly a man

In aberdeen but who would favor the pro-posal of annexation, and if the Cosmopo-lis people are right in their contention that they can carry the "question" at home, the election may be looked upon as good as carried. One of the advantage sto result from annexation would be that it would make Aberdeen a city of the second class, instead of the third class, This would give the city government of the proposed new city much broader pow-ers and add greatly to the prestige and standing of the city in the state. Aber-deen would then have a population of time, and coming within our atmosphere in their rapid flight they become ignited. Many are burned out when they reach us and are called siderolites like the one which was seen to fail near McMinnville several years ago and is now in the possession of the writer. Others are solid matter of metal like the one sound near Oregon City. Yet they tain no elements not previously known to be of terrestial origin. Nevertheless these strangers are wonderful and interesting subjects, coming to us from the mysterious depths of space and present the only tangible evidence we possess of the 'composition of other members of th solar system. The similar chemical composition existing in many of them gives us an idea of the probable origin and internal construction of our own planet and also furnishes us with evidence regarding the unity of the elements throughout the entire universe, thus making each new fall of more importance not only to the astronomer, but especially to the chemist, mineralogist and geologist. Though these meteoric stones are but specimens of celestial bodies occasionally sent to us from the unknown depths of space, they exemplify the same chemical and crystalographical laws as the rocks of our earth and have not given any new elements or principles, although the discovery of nickel steel armor plates originated by observing the alloy of nickel and tron in the meteors.

METEOR DISCOVERED NEAR OREGON CITY LARGER THAN FEARY'S FAMOUS FIND. The origin of these celestial visitors is unknown, but it is generally conceded that they are asteroids or planetary dust, fragments of which come together from th

The tendency of people to exaggerate the extraordinary naturally makes one a little suspicious of the many stories we hear about the fall of meteors, and the writer need only refer to the one seen here about a year ago when many who saw it passing through the heavens declared that they saw it fall within but a short distance, one party declaring that a piece dropped in his dooryard, which proved to be but furnace sing from the iron furnace at Oswego, where the barkeeper lived. Another meteor was seen to fail in the yard of the railroad shops at Albina and was dug up by a schoolboy who had seen it fall and who sold it to the janitor of the school for a dollar, which proved to be only a piece of polished pot metal, but then barkeepers and schoolboys are not all "George Washingtons." And it is to be regretted that the monstrous mass of nickel steel near Oregon City is to become a subject for Higgstion and that the only ones to be benefited by its discovery are likely to be the attorneys, which frequently follows the finding of aerolites, though were it not for the parties who made the discovery and brought it out, it might have remained burled in its secluded spot many generations more.

UNDER THE AUSTRALIAN LAW

Dr. W. H. Davis Will Again Be the Republican Candidate for Mayor---Van Winkle Confident of Succeeding Himself as Mayor.

ALBANY, Or., Nov. 2 .- (Special.) - The ALBANT. Or., Nov. 2.-(Special.)-The first scene in the hortest political cam-paign in the history of Albany politics was enacted in this city today, when both Republicans and Democrats held their primaries. The primaries were held under the rules of the Australian ballot law, according to the provision of the last session of the Legislature. This gave aspirants for political honors a chance to work and they certainly took advant-age of the opportunity. All day cabs and age of the opportunity. All day cabs and carriages were carrying voters to the polls and candidates were working as they have never worked before in Albany. The fight was principally between rival candidates for the nomination on the Re-publican ticket. The city is Republican and Democrats were not clamoring for an opportunity to offer themselves as a sac-rifice. The followers of Bryan had but one ticket in the field in each ward.

On the other hand there were two Re-publican tickets in the field in each ward, and the henchmen of the various candidates worked hard. More voters were rounded up than in any primary in previous years.

The prettlest fight was between J. S. Van Winkle, desiring to succeed himself as City Recorder, and G. W. Wright, a candidate for the same position. These men had been at work for a month past and both were confident of victory to-day. The Van Winkle tickets were elect-ed in the First and Third wards; the Wright ticket in the Second. As many names were on both tickets, the fight in the convention will determine the suc

MOVE FOR ANNEXATION.

Cosmopolis Wants to Be Joined to Gelegations of the citizens of Cosmopolis night, have been in Aberdeen making preliminary arrangements for holding the necessary special election. It is said that all of the property-owners of Cosmopolis, with the exception of the Gray's Harbor Com-sentation mercial Company and half a dozen oth-ers, are more than anxious to be annexed. The attempted vacation by the City Council of a large portion of the town-site on petition of the Gray's Harbor Commercial Company, together with the intimation coming from that corporation that a movement for the disincorporation of the town was on foot, are the things which started the annexation among the independent residents of Cosmopolis. It is alleged by them that the Gray's Harbor It is Commercial Company is adverse to the growth of the town and would be glad orporate the municipality and make it strictly a mill settlement, to be governed by the county board instead of by the local Council. To forestall this, the element opposed to the hig company wants the townsite annexed to Aberdeen, to be governed by the Aberdeen Council.

It is said the matter of disincorporation of a town like Cosmopolis is simple, re-guiring only a majority vote. So also of a town like Cosmopolis is simple, re-guiring only a majority vote. So also annexation requires only a majority vote, and the Cosmopolis citizens who came to Aberdeen to meet the business men here claim that they have the votes to carry

The plaintiff represented in her petition that it was the understanding between herself and divorced husband at the time the divorce was granted, that she should have the custody of the boy, but it seems that the husband retained the child when he secured the divorce decree. In defense of the woman's petition for the child, the husband testified that the present husband of his former wife is a barkeeper, and on this showing the court gave the child to its grandmother. Southern Pacific Company is one of the principal cases to be heard at this term of court. Hartigan was formerly em ployed as brakeman by the corporation and in a wreck last February on the West Bide near Oswego he claims to have re-ceived injuries causing him the loss of a leg. alleges was the result of an accident that was caused by the faulty condition of the company's roadbed, Hartigan asks for a judgment against the railroad company for $15,000. The railroad company today filed an answer to the complaint in which it denies all of the allegations of the com plaint, save to admit that it is a corporation and that Hartigan was in the com

From a legal standpoint the case will be vigorously contested, the plaintiff having retained Bennett & Sinnott, of The Dalles, to conduct his case, while the defendant company will be represented by W. amended so as to take in all land lying west of the Necanicum within the corporate limits of Seaside, but the peti-tion provided that there should be no saloons on the west side of the river. Seaside holds its annual election on De-cember 7 for the purpose of electing a Mayor and Town Council, but for no other purpose.

A large majority of the people of Seaside are not in favor of extending the corporate limits of the town to include that section. The town limits are sufficiently large at present for all purposes, and to take ip the west side would entail a large expense in building sidewalks and making necessary improvements. Seaside is out of debt and has $1000 in the treasury. No tax is levied for municipal pur-poses, and under the charter only onetwentieth of 1 mill could be levied.

The statements published relative to the saloons being located in the heart of the city, and that people are often compelled to listen to remarks not alto-gether agreeable, has been true in the past, but it has been remedied to a great extent by the Town Marshal stopping it, and the Town Council are determined It, and the found council are determined to stop it if they have to refuse a license to the saloons offending.
