THE MORNING OREGONIAN, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1883.

THE OCCUPATION OF MARSH.

A.D. 1883.

There are a number of the old marshes of the city of Portland and its vicinity that have not been occupied by the city for many years. These marshes are situated at the southern end of the city, between the Willamette River and the city limits. The city has recently purchased these marshes, and is making plans to reclaim them.

COMPETITION IN ARMOR PLATE.

Mr. G. H. B. and Mr. H. H. are in competition for the contract to supply armor plate for the new battleship. The contract will be awarded to the firm that offers the lowest price.

THE YELLOW DOG SYNDICATE.

A syndicate has been formed to purchase the services of the yellow dog. The syndicate will pay the owner of the dog for the privilege of being used as a guide.

FALSE AND HARVARD.

The Spirit of the Two Institutions Contrasted.

PORTLAND, OCTOBER 31.

While the Union College at Port-land is the only institution of higher learning in the state, the University of Oregon at Eugene is the only institution of higher learning in the state. The two institutions are in direct competition for the best students in the state. The University of Oregon is the older institution, and has the advantage of being located near the capital.

NOTES AND CORRECTIONS.

Flower Shows.

The flower show at the Crystal Palace is not to be missed. The show is open to the public, and is well worth a visit.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

Mrs. W. H. W. has been declared insane by the court. The case is now in the hands of the authorities.

THE TALL MAN.

The tall man, who was recently seen in the streets of Portland, has been arrested. He is being held for trial.

NOTICE TO RIDERS.

All persons are requested to remove their horses from the streets at night. It is dangerous to leave horses in the streets at night.

THE DRAKE HALL.

The Drake Hall, which was recently opened, is the most fashionable hotel in the city.

THE OREGONIAN.

The Oregonian is a weekly newspaper published in Portland, Oregon. It is the oldest newspaper in the state, and is well respected for its integrity and accuracy.

THE O'BRIEN SITUATION.

The O'Brien situation is now in the hands of the authorities. The case is not yet decided.

THE CATHOLIC MISSION.

The Catholic mission at the mouth of the Willamette River is now in operation. The mission is being conducted by the Sisters of Charity.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The constitutional convention is now in session. The convention is expected to complete its work in a few months.