S. Morton Cohn Answers Shields' Suit.

SAYS HE MADE NO CONTRACT

Proprietor of Arcade Theater Claims Services of His Former Manager Were Unsatisfactory and He Was Discharged.

Edward Shields, who successfully con fucted Shields' Park and numerous other denounced by S. Morton Cohn as an competent manager. Mr. Cohn makes this statement as part of an affidavit which he filed in the State Crecuit Court esterday afternoon in response to the suit of Shields asking for the appoint-ment of a receiver for the Arcade Theater. Shields demands that he be allowed to continue as manager of the Arcade for a year, contending that he has a contract that effect. This Cohn denies and states that Shields' services were unsatisfactory. Cohn in explaining in his affidavit why the agreement between himself and Shields was broken, begins by stating that he is the sole proprietor of the Areade Theater and the only person who has any money invested in the venture. There are, he asserts, no debts or claims out-standing against the theater, and Cohn further avers that he is the sole lessee, is solvent and a freeholder and is respon-sible for any judgment which might be obtained against him.

Cohn also alleges that he fitted up the house at his own expense and according to his own judgment, and that Shields did not oversee or direct the construction or equipment of the place, or perform any services in connection therewith for which he has not been fully and completely

Cohn admits that he engaged Shields as manager of the theater, agreeing to pay long as his services as manager were matisfactory to him, but he never agreed and the discharge of his duties was unsatisfactory from the first day, and detri-mental to the business interests of the to discharge the duties he assumed. Shields deceived him, Cohn states, and was entirely unable to accomplish what he undertook. At the expiration, therehe undertook. At the expiration, there-fore, of one week, Cohn alleges he inthat Shields acquiesced in his discharge and requested a new agreement, asking for another week's trial. This Cohn declined to consent to. Cohn further alleges that the business of the theater is conducted from week to week, and that the proprietor is responsible. proprietor is responsible for the payment of the salaries of performers, for rent, lights and advertising, and that all the property which could come into the hands of a receiver would be the stage, the cur-tains and chairs, and that there is no fund in the business upon which to draw, so that the receiver could continue the same, except the conjectural support of the Cohn avers that so far as he has been Cohn avers that so far as he has been able to ascertain, and according to his best knowledge and belief, Shields is finan-cially irresponsible, and the connection of his name with the theater has been a detriment and it will require the active, energetic and personal attention of Cohn, together with large expenditures upon his part, to make the business self sup-porting. The capability of the performers, these, he asserts, can be judged only by one with the necessary funds to test and prove the same. In conclusion, it is urged that no benefit could possibly result from the appointment of a receiver and no injury could result from the appointment of a receiver. oint one Bernstein & Cohn appear as attorneys for the defendant.

A charge of murder in the first degree was filed against Samuel Bauman, who shot and killed Adolph Burkhardt at Hills-dale, on the night of October 31, yesterday by District Attorney John Manning. Yim said that to effect his escape he jumped out of the window on to the street, spraining his In the courtroom he was unable o walk without assistance. Conway told an entirely different story,

A COMMON SCOLD.

George Winters Says His Wife Made Him Sick.

George A. S. Winters, in his divorce suit against his wife, Bertha E. Winters, has filed an amended complaint in which he makes numerous additional charges against her. In March, 1962, Winters alleges that

William Gable called at their home, leaving his umbrella on the porch, which was missing when he started to go. Mrs. Winters had left the premises and gone to a neighbor's. Winters states that he and Gable were searching for the um-brella when Mrs. Winters returned and What are you critters do-

TO MAKE CATTLE IMMUNE. Southern Breeders Will Inoculate Herds From the North.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 6.—Dr. C. A. Carey, State Veterinarian of Alabama, and W. H. Glitner, of Eminence, Ky., are arranging to immunize, by inoculation, 56 head of Northern-raised cattle from the Texas cattle fever. They are of the opinion that inoculation will prove extremely beneficial to stock interests in the entire South. Said Dr. Carey in this connection:
"The process of inoculation with which we are going to treat these animals, from experiments at the Auburn station, seems to be the solution of the cattledisease problem. Northern cattle, as soon as they reach Aubura, will be in-oculated with blood of the immune animal, containing the parasite which causes the fever. This causes the disease in a mild form, very similar to the form of smallpox caused by vaccination. The cattle then become immune from the

We find it especially good with our family of small children, as it is always desirable to give the little ones something that is free from harmful after effects, and that is just why we like this remedy. BARK ABBEY PALMER TOWED INTO VICTORIA.

Steamer From Portland Found the Vessel Drifting Helplessly 140 Miles Southwest of Flattery.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 6 .- Dismasted and almost a wreck, the American bark Abbey Palmer, owned in San Francisco. and 22 days out from Honolulu in ballast, was towed into port this morning by the British steamer Vermont, loaded with cargo from Portland for South Africa, which picked her up 140 miles southwest of Cape Flattery. She was drifting helplessly before the wind

GLAD TO GET AWAY.

Captain of Kobe Orders His Ship Decorated.

The best-satisfied man on the water-front yesterday was the captain with the unpronouncable name who presides over the destiny of the Austrian steamship He has been in almost continual trouble since he arrived because of a mis-take made in his charter, and became impressed with a poor opinion of Portland and shipping people here generally. His departure has been delayed several times, and when the skipper learned yesterday that the last of the cargo was in place he sent word down to the mate to dress the snip in her signal flags. The captain was asked why he was decorating the vessel and replied that it was to show his satisfaction at getting away from the "Bort-land tevils." The captain, however, has not fared so badly here, and will probably make more money on this trip than he ever made before. He got a better rate than any of the other tramp steamers, and received besides a bonus of $1500 for taking a lot of lumber to Calcutia, where he would probably go anyway.

DREDGING AT DRYDOCK.

Portland Has Half Completed the Basin.

When the port of Portland dredge Portland completes her present job at the mouth of the Willamette she will return to the drydock site and finish the excava-tion of the basin. Before going down the river the dredge dug a place 500 feet long by 150 feet wide, the dimensions of the drydock, and 20 feet deep. This is half the depth necessary to float the dock. The remainder of the work will not be so diffi-cult as the first part, as the heavy material that lay near the surface has been removed. Besides the basin the dredge will also excavate a channel leading up to the dock. The drydock will be ready for business some time before February 1.

ARRIVAL OF THE ELDER. Officers Did Not Feel the Effect of the Storm.

The steamer Elder arrived up from San Francisco at 6 o'clock last night. The officers report a good passage up the coast, with fair weather until Thursday afternoon, when the sea roughened. The heavy gale that blew off the mouth of the river Thursday was not encountered, or at least only the edge of it, and it is evident that the storm did not extend far south. The coasting steamer Navarro also arrived in yesterday. The moderating of the gale and the change in the wind per-mitted the steamers Columbia and Aurelia, which had been barbound at Astoria for a day, to pass out at noon on their way south.

Ship Nearly Capsized.

ASTORIA, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The tug Sea Rover, which sailed from San Francisco for this port yesterday, will tow the ship Two Brothers down the coast. WESTERN SCHOOLS COME HIGH Only Massachusetts Exceeds Them in Cost of Maintenance.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash. ington, November 6.-The per capita cost of maintaining public schools is greater in the Far West than in any other portion of the United States, save Massachusetts. The annual report of Hon. W. T. Harris, Commissioner of Education, embodies a set of statistics throwing interesting light on this question. While the average cost per capita of maintaining public schools in the whole United States is only $2.96, it costs $4.23 in Oregon, $4.54 in Washington, $3,82 in Idaho, and $4.94 in California. This latter figure, by the way, is only 2 cents under the per capita cost of maintaining the public schools of Massachusetts, said to be the best in the coun-
