CALOF THE YOUNGER

PRETTY BRASH" ON

FACES SEEN AT THE CALOF MURDER TRIAL

JUDGE

FRAZER

ICHT & LEFT

THE

PROFILES

OF YOUNG LEWIS

ACCUSED.

ASKED

SEARCHING

QUESTIONS

Ed C. Lewis Makes a Strong Defense

IN CALOF MURDER TRIAL

Witnesses Say He Was in Troutdale Day of Crime.

CALOFS ACCUSE HIM OF DEED

Identify Lewis as Murderer-Charge That Prisoner Was Closely Confined in Shackles 17 Days Causes Sensation.

Although positively identified as the murderer of Max Calof by a number of witnesses, whose testimony, if believed by the jury, would have sent him to the gallows, Ed C. Lewis, alias Jerry Leslie, yesterday presented strong testimony to support the alibi theory of the defense. Nathan Calof and William Calof, sons friends, who had become interested in the case, gave testimony which seemed to prove beyond any doubt the guilt of the defendant. Lewis, however, when called to the srand, told a straight story, which was substantiated by well-known farmers. Attorney John F. Watts, who appeared for the defendant, had trouble in establishing dates, but by calling up memorable events, such as singing school, morable events, such as singling school, washday, or the birthday of younger members of the family, the witnesses were finally able to testify that upon the day of the murder the defendant was in the vicinity of Troutdale.

Max Calof was shot at his own home,

435 First street, on the hight of June 22. Two men entered the barn while Nathan Calof, the son, was feeding his horses, and fired two shots at him, The father rushes to the rescue and was shot by Identified by Nathan Calof.

When cross-examined he was unable to establish firmly his grounds of recogni-

"Did you not say at the time of the murder that you did not recognize any of the men?" he was asked. He admitted that he had made such a

"Yet, at the time you were acquainted He had worked for me several days.

and I knew him," was the answer.
William Calof, a younger son, was called, and said that there was no doubt in his mind as to the identity of the ac-

the night of the shooting," said he. "As soon as I heard the shots, I ran out of the house and he pointed a gun at me and ordered me to throw up my hands."

"And you knew him at the time?"

Why did you not tell the detectives at I did not know his name."

But you knew that he was called Jer-

Then, why did you not tell the detectives that he was a fruit-peddler known as Jerry?"" The witness still insisted that he rec zed Lewis as the murderer.

When Mrs. Marguerite Cosgrove was called, another clash in testimony devel-oped. She testified that she had seen lewis in Portland on a day when other witnesses testified he was in Troutdaje.
Attorney Watts said that he was willing to admit that Calof had been murdered, but, Coroner Finley and Dr. Sanford Whiting were called to prove this the one firm point of the prosecution. Dr. Whiting described the course of the fatal bul-let in the terms of his profession, and long and strange-sounding words rolled

Lewis Tells His Story.

fluently to the witness stand

Lewis was called to the witness stand. "I was arrested in Portland Sunday, June 21," he said, "on a charge of drunk-enness. I was released the morning of June 22, and started but the country in quest of work. I started out the Q. & N. tracks in the direction of Troutdale. I first stopped at the home of Mr. Barker and asked for work. He referred to a Mr. Zimmerman, a mile away. I did not get work at Zimmerman's, and opped at a hotel in Fairview, where I sught a lunch with the last 10 cents that A man by the name of Hunter owned the hotel, and told me that I could sleep in an old barn farther up the track. I slept in the barn, and early the next morning procured work from a tie com-Why do you say that your name is

Lewis?" he was asked, "when you have been known in Portland as Jerry Leslie?" "Lesile is only a nickname," he explained. "When I am 'spleling' the boys say that I remind them of Lesile, the actor, and so have dubbed me Jerry Les-

Captain of Police Gritzmacher was called, and asked to examine the police records to see if Lewis had been released from the jail on the morning of June 22.

Witness for the Defense. Harry Barker, witness for the defense said that Leslie had visited him in the quest of work, one Monday in June, but was sure it was June 23, instead of June 2. This seemed to disprove the story of the defendant. Miss Barker, a gray-haired lady, sister of Harry Barker, was called. She identified Leslie as a man who had called at the Earsker place and asked for work. She knew that it was on Monday, for the young folks went to singing school on that evening, but she could not say whether it was before or after her broth-

Mr. George Zimmerman, whose place Lewis visited next after that of Barker, remembered the visitor, and also that the young folks went to singing school on the evening he was there, but whether or not he came before or after he fired the hired man he was unable to say, and Leslie's statement was not yet proved true er's birthday, which was June 22.

The Hunters, at whose hotel he pro cored his 10-cent meal, were quite sure that his visit had been on the 22nd. Mr. Hunter was sure because Ed Wheeler, a boarder, came back on that date. Mrs. Wheeler washed on that day, and remem bered that the washing was on the line when she sold the sandwiches, and Lewis'

F. E. Morgan, for whom Lewis said he had worked in Troutdale, was the strongest witness for the defense. Mr. Morgan held as proof of his testimony a timebook, in which the defendant had been credited with a day's work on June 21. 4s June 22 was Tuesday, and preceding witnesses had traced Lewis to within a few miles of Troutdale on Monday, the alihi theory of the defense seemed to be other witnesses were called who testi-fied that a short time after the murder young Calof had denied all knowledge of the men who committed the crime, and had said that he would not be able to identify them.

It required over an hour to empanel the jury, and the following men were finally chosen:

James R Ewing, George Zimmerman,
George Pieckenstein, John C. Ainsworth,
S. H. Cooper, A. C. Pike, Anthony Nepparh, H. P. Christensen, J. H. Kistler, L. S. Normandin, Paul Bliss and F. T.
Blake.

Attorney Springs Sensation. In his opening address to the jury, John F. Watts, attorney for the defense, made the startling announcement that Leslie, after his arrest, was confined in the City Jall for 17 days and was not permitted to see anyone or consult with a lawyer. This was done notwithstanding the law entities him to an immediate hearing, and continued the attorney in indignant tones: "They kept his feet in shackles."

"Do you mean to say this is true?" in-terrupted Judge Frazer, with a look of astonishment on his face. "les, your Honor," returned Mr. Watts,

"that is true, every word of it."
Surprise was depicted on the counte-nances of persons present in the courtroom, who looked from one to the other to observe the effect of the disclosure.

Mr. Watts paused a second after the climax had been reached, and then proceeded to conclude the outline of the defense to the effect that the evidence would establish Lesile innocent of the murder. Mr. Watts said on the morning preceding the evening on which Max Calof was shot and killed, Leslie left Portland, walking to Troutdale and stopping on the way. Leslie worked several days at way. Troutdale, and then proceeded to The Dailes. There he peddled fruit, and after saving $40, came back to Portland.

PROGRESS ON STREET WORK. of the murdered man, and a number of Wooden-Block Pavement of Albina Avenue Has Been Completed.

Deputy Bodman, of the East Side, re-ports that the recent storm did little damage to new streets and sewers in this district. Only recently work was started on the chain of sewers southward from East Yambiil street in Sunnyside, but no damage was done. Work is progressing somewhat slowly on the graveling of Union avenue northward from Weldler street. It was expected that this improvement would be completed this week, but owings to the storm, there will be some delay in getting the gravel. On the im-provement of Union avenue north from Highland to Woodlawn, considerable grading has been done as far as Ainsworth avenue, but the main portion of the work remains to be done. The residents can hardly hope for the completion of the improvement through to Dekum avenue before Spring.
In Lower Albina the improvement of Nathan Calof was the first witness called yesterday. He testified that he was able a positively identify the accused man as one who held him up in the barn and afterward murdered his father.

When cross-examined he was unable to establish firmly his grounds of recognical difference of the first street on the East Market streets in Stephen's addition, but only a little grading has addition, but only a little grading has been done. East Tenth will be graveled between Hawthorns avenue and East Division street, and East Market between Grand avenue and Twelfth street.

Ousts His Sons

Joseph Heiney has secured possession of his farm near Gresham, which he leased to his two sons, Arthur and Albert, for a long term of years. Shortly after the lease was executed he commenced suit to of man.

was able to get a good look at him of the terms of the lease, and after the night of the shooting, said he. "As as I heard the shots, I ran out of house and he pointed a gun at me was recently made in his favor, and the boys have moved off, leaving him in pos-

Completing School Annex.

The annex to the Stephens schoolhouse may be occupied in two or three weeks. Rapid progress is being made toward com-pleting the four lower rooms and the basement. Stairways leading from the north and south sides are being built this

East Side Notes. City Engineer Eiliott will have the plans of the Brooklyn sewer system ready so it can be built next year if the property-

The entertainment given in the Haywood Club auditorium for the Portsmouth school library fund was a gratifying success in every way. There was a large attendance, and about $50 was cleared.

Free Delivery Limits Extended.

Postmaster Bancroft, who is now comfortably settled in his temporary quarters in the Snell-Heitshu building, was much leased yesterday to receive the following dispatch from Senator Mitchell: "In response to the cornest recommendation of Senator Fulton and myself, after a very careful and thorough examination made by the department, it is ordered that the free delivery service from Portland be free delivery service from Portland be extended to the territory now served by the independent offices at University Park, Peninsular, Woodlawn and Central, as soon as arrangements can be made for the discontinuance of the latter offices and the establishment of stations in lieu thereof. Four more carriers will be allowed to enable this free delivery service to be put into operation. Al-though we have tried hard to have free delivery service extended to the people now served by the postoffice at Fulton, for the present this is declined, the department stating as a reason that it is a full haif mile from the present free de-livery limits, and the number of people to be served is only about 500, and that the department would not at present be justified in making the extension think that later, or perhaps early in the Spring, we will succeed in having the free delivery extended to the people of Puton." The importance of this extension will be understood when it is known that it will give the benefit of free de-livery to 5500 people—200 at Woodlawn, 3000 at University Park and Peninsular, and 500 at Central. The allowance of four carriers for this work makes Postmaster Bancroft hopeful that the four more car riers for the business part of the city he has been striving to secure may be granted before long. The mail to be delivered in this district is so large at present that several of the carriers yesterday went out twice in the forenoon with loads as large as they could carry, and on their return found enough for another heavy load. This is more than mere flesh and blood even of letter car-riers can contend with successfully for any length of time.

FTHE DEFENCE'S

INVITE PUBLIC TEST.

ntatives of Rival Steel Tem pering Processes Are at Odds.

Z. T. Clark, the inventor and patentee of n process to temper steel, re-lates under date of November 6 in The Oregonia hat his chances are good to make a sale at a fair figure for his discovery. Mr. Clark says that the process of hardening iron shown in Portland sime time ago was his process. He doubt-less has reference to the exhibits made by B. J. Casterline in this city last July. At that time Mr. Clark threatened to prosecute Mr. Casterline for infringing upon his rights. Whereupon Mr. Caster-line went at once to the United States Patent records to see of what ingredients Mr. Clark's solution was composed, and found that it was no infringement on his composition for tempering steel.

Now this is the second time Mr. Clark has made an attack upon Mr. Casterline in regard to his tempering process. Mr. Casterline did demonstrate to the public in this city that he has an excel-lent method of hardening and toughen-ing edged tools, and will do it again. If he thinks that Mr. Clark has the better process of the two, let him make some knives and temper an ax, and Mr. Cas-terline's representative will challenge him in a public contest to chop ten-penny nails on top of an anvil with a small camp ax and shave his chin with a butcher knife as a barber would with a razor.

We are willing that both processes be put on trial together, and let the dealers and the public judge which is the superfor process. Recrimination about infringements count for little with the public, which will always welcome the old-time test of the "pudding" with great J. C. PROEBSTEL

Bonds Received for Refunding. $9,714,750, and the amount of fives re-ceived for redemption is $10,882,100.

HONOR THEIR KING

Britons in Portland Celebrate His Birthday.

IS SIXTY-TWO YEARS OLD

Speeches at Banquet of British olent Society Indicate a Spirit of Friendship Between America and England.

King Edward should feel better this morning. His 62d birthday anniversary was duly celebrated last night by the British-born citizens of Portland and their invited guests at a banquet laid in the grillroom of the Portland Hotel by the British Benevolent Society. The menu discussed was as fine as that hostelry can supply and the speechmaking combined elequence and wit to the end when Anglo-Saxonism and good felwship prevailed.

One hundred and two representative gentlemen of the city sat down to the tables, which were beautifully and patriotically trimmed with American Beauty roses. Mr. George Taylor, Jr., president of the society, presided as toastmaster and in an eloquent tribute proposed "The King." After drinking the toast, the King." banqueters joined in singing "God Save the King." British Consul James Laidlaw then responded to the toast, "The President of the United States," as fol-

"Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: It gives one pleasure to propose a toast to the executive of this great nation. Every-where, even in England the toast to the King and the President go naturally together. I take this as an evidence of how closely the two nations are drawing together and to what a great extent all distrist between the two countries has disappeared. The Anglo-Saxons must stand together. They have been welded together in sympathy and common interest by a long line of distinguished men, not by any means the least of whom is Theodore Roosevelt. It gives me great pleasure to pay this slight tribute to a WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The amount of man of whom I entertain so high an opinion as President Roosevelt. A man who the Treasury for refunding into twos, is 25,714,750, and the amount of fives resided for redemption is 150 252 306 and has always been, personal and civic righteousness. Gentlemen, I pledge you the President of the United States."

The sentiments of Mr. Laidlaw were greeted with cheers, and the company sang "Star-Spangled Banner."

After a health to the Queen, Mayor George H. Williams responded to "King Edward VII." He said:

CORONER FINLEY

Mayor Williams' Speech.

"My impressions of King Edward have always been expressed in the words of the song. He's a Jolly Good Fellow." By this I do not mean that he lacks dignity or kingly qualifications. I rather mean to say that he is affable, courteous, humane, and as democratic as he can be, consistently, as the crowned head of a

"His conduct since he ascended the throne has been such as fits a man of conspicuous and responsible position. With his coronation have come innova-tions on the established customs of his country, which have been to the great advantage of the British people. Hereto-fore for many generations the King has been little more than a figurehead in the hunds of his Ministry. King Edward has made his individual judgment and per-sonality an influential factor in the government. His recent visit to Ireland was a master stroke of policy and diplomacy, and it has done more to relieve injustice and oppression in that portion of the em-pire than all the efforts of all the Kings since Ireland became a part of Great Britain. I like and admire King Edward because he is the friend of the United States. He places a high value upon the friendship of this country, and under-stands us. He has done much to promote feelings of amity which should have the hearty support of every British subject and American citizen. Animosity is hap-plly dying out. War between the two would be the greatest calamity which could befall mankind. We cannot alto-sether forget that the conduct of gether forget that the conduct of the mother country has not always been what that of a mother should be toward an offspring. We cannot forget the Revolu-tion, the War of 1812, or the Civil War. in which her sympathy was against the Union, but there is blood in my veins which impels me to say, 'Britain, with all thy faults, I love thee still.' There are ties binding us which swords cannot sever nor the carnage of battlefields annul.

"I am of the opinion that all probability f war between our nations has passed. I am of the opinion that wars mu cease among all mations. But one prob-lem in the world's affairs seems to stand in the way of universal peace. Russia, the great Northern bear, is opening her insulate jaws to devour the Orient. I have no faith in her protestations of peace and cannot have so long as she continues to recruit armies and establish new sarrisons. Bussian distances in new garrisons. Russian diplomacy is nothing but a disguise for lying and fraud. If I were Secretary of State and Russia said that she would evacuate Manchuria I should act upon the theory that she would do just the opposite thing.

"The English speaking nations and Russia are the great rival powers of the world today and the former must stand side by side to prevent the aggressions of the latter. I like King Edward be-cause he favors settling international dis-putes by arbitration.

putes by arbitration.

"We have recently had an illustration of this in the work of the Alaskan Boundary Commission. We differed and submitted to arbitration. The United States won the decision and I have too high an opinion of English statesmanship to question the justice of the award. Of course, our Canadian neighbors are displeased. That was to be expected. Had the decision been against us I apprehend the decision been against us I apprehend that the politicians and newspapers here would have abused the London commiswould have abused the London commis-sion. When a person is defeated in a lawsuit it is to be expected that he will-cuss the court which made the decision. This is Canada's only consolation and it should not be denied her. The settle-ment of this matter by arbitration indi-cates that hereafter all questions arising between us will be adjusted by peaceable methods. This is well for both nations and will have a salutory effect on other and will have a salutory effect on other

Loyalty Never Greater.

"King Edward and his good Queen Alexindra have won the hearts of their people. Loyalty to the crown was never greater than now. The conditions which prevall at court are in marked contrast to the squabbles and scandals which prevail among many of the courts of Eu-rope. I hope and believe that King Edward will have a long and prosperous reign and that he will prove a worthy son to his illustrious mother, the lamented Victoria."

Judge Williams' remarks were wildly applauded and created a deep impression upon his hearers.

Dr. William A. Cumming then sang, "When the King Comes to His Own" and eceived an encore. When the toastmaster proposed a toast to H. W. Scott the diners responded by singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Scott was not on the programme for an address, but responded by thanking the members of the society for the compliment, after which he spoke in part as Kindred Across the Seas.

"I am impreseds with the sentiment, 'our kindred beyond the seas." It is a great thought. Our kindred speak it across the seas and we speak it here. We are, in sentiment, all Americans and all Englishmen. The rise and growth of a great empire is the greatest subject which can engage the attention of humanity, unless it be the fall of a great empire. The course of the British Empire has been such as to excite the admiration of all men and especially we Americans, and we may all well join in hoping that her fall may be long delayed.

"To a large extent we are united in in-terests. Our language, law and literature are the same. There are slight differences in manners and customs, but at the bot-tom we are one. We understand each other better than any other nations of the world. The growth of Great Britain as a world power has been a matter largely of the last three centuries. Three cen-turies ago Spain had the world under her domination. She undertook to force all nations under her rule and used the church, as it then existed, to that end. She was actuated by low and unworthy instincts, and was crushed by England, animated by nobler motives and higher statesmanship. The influence of Great Britain has gone around the world and has brought everywhere better conditions. "The two great English-speaking nations stand in the world for common aurposes. Our common language, jurisprudence and religion bind us together. Our ideas of right and wrong are the same and we must not permit small differences to interfere with our harmony. We are the great moral force in the world.

We are actuated by a common idea, the rule of the people through debate and congresses and individual suffrage. We speak the language of Milton and of Shakespeare, and on that basis must stand together against all antagonistic forces. We may well call the people of England our kindred beyond the seas, and they may well echo back the terfere with our harmony. seas,' and they may well echo back the

Dr. Morrison's Remarks.

Following Mr. Scott, Dr. A. A. Morrison spoke of the Britisher abroad.
"Mr. Chairman, Britishers, Irishmen and American guests: My subject is co-extensive with the face of the earth. Wherever the foot of man has wandered you will find the British subject. He has carried with him a kind of enlightenment which was born when the Britisher was born. It developed when he was educat ed, and matured when he reached man-hood. It must survive, for it represents the best which the world has ever seen This does not exclude our American brethren. We have so many things in common that the slight lines of demark ation may be said to be no more than the convenient dividing line between families. "There is a soul in a nation as well as in an individual. The discovery of the British soul and the American soul is but to recognize the birth of twins. They were cradled in the same way, mothered in the same way, taught the same way. They must be one because of those things which are deeper than legislation. It is rather needless to apprehend danger from the aggressions of the Russian Bear. We should feel no apprehension of a nation 100 years behind the times. If the Bear attempts to swallow the Far East, the Anglo-Saxons will choke him to death. "One cannot but feel proud of the little isle. A small country, but a mighty people. Mighty, because it has bred men who have never forfeited their patriotic zeal for commercialism. who have demonstrated their fitness for business, for social superiority. Men with an exalted type of religion and a ode of morals which marks us as the best fitted people to survive. The discovery of a national soul binds the Anglo-Saxons of a national soil binds the Angio-Saxons eternally together and makes them one." Following Dr. Morrison, W. K. Scott sang, "There Is a Land," and Colonel C. E. S. Wood was introduced. The British Empire.

more old English songs.

Colonel Wood's address was the most ly with the development of the English idea of liberty from the time of Runnymede Council to the present. W. D. Wheelwright was called upon and made a happy little speech, following which were other impromptu toasts and of the evening, "The Ladies," was re-sponded to by Captain Jesse M. Baker. The credit for the complete success o the banquet is due largely to the efforts of Messrs. William MacMaster, J. C. Robinson, W. J. Burns, Frank Sealey, John Cran, William McKenzle and K. K. Baxter, who constituted the committee

The last toast

Norton's Finance Yowl.

New York Sun. In his recent farewell address at Ash-field, Mazs., Professor Charles Eliot Nor-ton, the impassioned anti-imperialist, said: "It is we of the white race who are barbarians and the inferior."

If we remember right, Professor Norton sat apart from the anti-slavery agitation. He was rapt in Botticelli, in Durer. He was reading the "Vita Nuova," the Egyp-tian "Book of the Dead," the "History of St. Louis." An anecdote which he used to tell of Carlyle may serve to indicate his attitude of aloofness:

"Mr. Soomner talked to Mrs. Carloyle for six mortal hours about the puir, down-trodden, African naygur, blank, blank Professor Norton's present view of the colored race merely reflects his determination to find the most unpopular and im-possible opinions and huri them at a world gone wrong. We shall miss his yearly yowls. Will he not consent to be a chair man emeritus at Ashfield? Not all the psychological lore of President G. Stanley Hall, not all the currents of "culture, forever full, forever flowing free, of Dr Hamilton Wright Mabie, can console Ash field and the rest of mankind for Profes sor Norton's silence.

THE LETTER OF THE LAW

FIRE COMMITTEE REFUSES TO ACCEPT IRREGULAR BIDS.

Lack of Certified Check Causes Por land Paint & Walipaper Company to Lose Contract.

The business methods of the fire committee of the Executive Board were in ened to those of Shylock, Shakespea famous character, at yesterday noon's meeting of the committee. simile was drawn by George H. Howe of the Executive Board, as the result the committee's action in sacrificing; of the city's money to the luxury of tecnical accuracy, in awarding bids for painting two fire stations.

It was held by the committee that the committee of the city's manufacture of the city's money to the luxury of tecnical accuracy.

It was held by the committee that to owest bidder lost his standing becau of submitting a business check instead a certified check. "An exact interpre-tion of law is preferable to mere money t was held.

The bid in question was that submitted by the Portland Paint & Wallpaper Com pany. The company offered to do th work of painting an papering two fir stations. Nos. 5 and 6, for $520, and ac companied their bid with a check for $27 which, however, was a common busines check and not a certified check, for per cent of the amount bid, as required The next bid was that presented by James McKinley, and it was $21.75 higher. "That lowest bid should have a certi-fied check. We must stand exactly by the law, and throw it out, I think," said

Mr. Fliedner. "The Portland Company is reliable. Their bid is by far the lowest and the city hasn't got any money to throw away," said Mr. Howell. 'We ought to stick to the letter of the law," declared Mr. Fliedner. "We must not set a bad example. These bids must come in here in good form or we ought to throw them out."

"There is such a thing as carrying this principle too far," said Mr. Howell, "and I think some liberality should be allowed in interpreting the law. As for blindly following the letter of the law I believe Shylock followed those principles when he insisted upon having a pound of fiesh from his debtor.' "I think we had better throw out the bid and follow the letter of the law."

again stated Mr. Fliedner.

"There's no use throwing money away.
I'll stand as security for the Portland Company and go down in my own pocket for the sum of $25 for security, if necessary. Again I say there is no use of throw-ing away this money, and I say, 'Don't stand on such petty principles,' " con-cluded Mr. Howell.

A vote was then taken and the bid was ordered cast out. The bids of C. O. Lash and Smith Bros. were also thrown out for similar reasons. The contract was awarded to James McKinley, for $541.75.

ROWING CLUB ELECTION.

Directors for Coming Year Chosen Last Night at Large Meeting.

Fifty-eight members, the largest attendance at a Portland Rowing Club meet-ing since 1891, turned up for the annual lection of the Board of Directors last night. There has been some trouble in the club for the last two years, and those interested in the club decided to remove the disturbing element in the Board of Directors. They came in force and accomplished their end. The main body of the club has always worked in harmony.

The directors elected last night are Richard Hart, W. L. Brewster, Ralph Wilbur, James Machie, George Houghton, J. M. Ambrose and Will Morton. list contains the oldest and youngest mem-bers of the clu, all of whom are actively interested in rowing and the club's well fare. They will doubtless work together well, and the past trouble will be forgotten.

The seven directors elect their own officers. They did not do this last night, but it is understood that W. L. Brewster will be president, Ralph Wilbur vice-president, Will Morton secretary and M. Am rose treasurer.

FAMOUS SLEEPING GIRL DEAD. Utahn Was in a Comatose State for 143 Days.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 8 .- Bessie Knecht, the famous "sleeping girl," died today. She was in a comatose state for 143 days. Her case puzzled doctors all over the world.

An examination showed that he girl was a victim of catalepsy, caused by a detaonia or brain disease was of an organic character and incurable. It had spread so far that it was impossible to remove it. Doctors say today that this solves the mystery of the girl's strange disease is the measure of the manalso the measure of the man's clothes bearing this famous

Catarrh of the bladder and urethra are cured y Oregon Ridney Tea.

CHARACTER

Alfred Benjamin & @ MAKERS # NEW YORK 'Character" is the watchword of BENJAMIN workers. From the first shrinking to the final pressing their one aim is to give the garments individuality-a character of their own. BENJAMIN Winter Suits are designed, shrunk, cut, and tailored by 3,000 salaried specialists in the most spacious and sanitary tailor-shops in the world.

The price is right. Your money back if anything goes wrong. We are Sole Distributors here.

BUFFUM & PENDLETON THIRD AND STARK STS.

SPEAKERS AT THE BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY BANQUET

Dr. A. A. Morrison.

C. E. S. Wood.