"Again, I do not believe the greatest good can be accomplished without some law which will secure a full and continuous attendance. This has been the experience of all the states. I have known a number of teachers who did not attend the institutes for years, but when compelled to do so they immediately became interested in the work and became not only valuable members of the insti-tutes, but better teachers as well. "To say that the present law is imper fect is easier than to frame one that will be better. In its chief feature I would favor a law which provides some com-pensation for the time a teacher sponds at the institute, but it is not easy to work out the details of such a plan. A law of that kind must be drawn to fit all the conditions that will arise. It must be specified whother teachers shall draw pay twice if they attend two institutes in a year, whether their compensation shall end upon the length of time they atthe distance they travel, and whether the teacher is to be paid by the county in which she attends the in-stitute or in which she teaches. If all schools opened and closed at the same time, and teachers were regularly em-ployed and attended institutes in the counties in which they teach, the preparation of a law of this kind would less difficult.

"I believe that institutes should be held during the school year, so that teachers will draw their salaries during the time they are attending institutes, yet we find that there are many good institute lecturers who cannot be secured while their schools are in session."

the district. The members elected are E J. Crawford, L. B. Clough, W. W. Mc-Credie, A. B. Eastham and E. R. Scofield, It is the intentions of the directors to set to work at once to devise plans to dredge the river. A strong effort will be made to secure an appropriation of $75,000 or $89,000 from Congress. If this is accom-plished, there will be a deep water harbor at Vancouver in the near future. The determination of the citizens of this city and county to have ocean-going vessels load at this point is too strong to be put down. Already the hopes of those who have waited for years to see steps taken toward this end are becoming buoyant over the situation and there is no doubt that all will willingly bear their share of the expenses of the district. The lack of a deep waterway has beer
