United States Minister Calls Down Morales.

PRESIDENT ROBS THE MAIL

Compelled to Return the Missives to Ship's Agent.

NEWPORT GUARDS THE ANNA

Dominican Government is Unable to Give Protection From Insurgents to the American Tugboat Entering San Isidro.

SANTO DOMINGO, Wednesday, Jan. 13.—An incident which came near having serious results but for the coolness and prompt intervention of United States Minister Powell, took place here on the arrival of the Clyde Line steamer New York.

President Morales demanded that the shipping agent surrender the ship's letters, and when the agent refused to comply his arrest was ordered. In order to avoid being arrested, the agent went on board the New York, carrying the letters with him. He then sent for Consul Maxwell, who accompanied him to the palace, where President Morales renewed his demand and compelled the agent to give up several letters.

Minister Powell, learning of the incident, promptly went to the palace and demanded that the letters taken from the agent be delivered to him. This President Morales refused to do, but Minister Powell persisted in his demand, saying that the government had no right to take such action, and that the President must hand the letters to him, which President Morales reluctantly did. Minister Powell also told President Morales that the agent was entitled to his protection, as he represented an American company, and that he (Minister Powell) would not consent to this arbitrary act on the part of the government, and that, furthermore, the agent could not be expelled, as was threatened. Finally, the case was satisfactorily settled.

Minister Powell, finding that the government was unable to protect the tug Anna, which is owned by Americans, while entering San Isidro, requested the commander of the United States gunboat Newport to guard her. The revolutionists threatened to capture the Anna, and this morning a strong guard left the Newport to protect her and other vessels obliged to pass through the waters in that section of the country.
