

STEEL FOR BRIDGE

First for Morrison Street Will Be Shipped in Three Days.

METHOD OF CONSTRUCTION

Work Will Continue Without Obstructing Traffic on Old Bridge and Must Be Completed in November—Officers in Charge.

Within the next three days material for the new steel Morrison-street bridge will be on its way from Toledo, O., to Portland.

Within three weeks actual visible work upon the new structure across the Willamette will undoubtedly begin.

F. B. Field, chief bridge superintendent of the Pacific Construction Company, the builders of the Morrison-street bridge, arrived in the city yesterday morning from San Francisco.

The Sellwood dock, on the East Side, three blocks north of the eastern terminus of the bridge, has been leased as a material depot.

That he may overlook the job from his office windows if necessary, Mr. Butler has rented an office in the building at the south side of the foot of Morrison street.

The plant of Robert Wakefield, the Portland contractor, will be called upon to aid in the work, and Mr. Wakefield will do a part of the foundation-laying.

As by far the largest number of men will be hired from outside the local mechanics, Portland will be well represented upon the new steel thoroughfare.

Three hundred tons of the material for the substructure are now ready for shipment from the mills of the American Bridge Company at Toledo, O.

The first step which will be taken toward building a new bridge on the site of the present structure will be the placing of the three piers for the two spans on the eastern end.

Then falsework will be erected under the three present spans, and provision made for raising the present flooring, that new floor beams may be inserted.

The western span will come next, the work proceeding in the same way. The draw will be the last to be laid.

Superintendent Field is the builder who prepared the alterations and repairs to the present Morrison-street bridge three years ago.

Like Secretary Butler, he is known as a man of practical experience in Pacific coast building, and is especially well acquainted with the Willamette.
