Dunne, Collector of Internal Revenue, gave a sharp, nervous ring late Saturday night, and the Colonel, who usually gots home carrier Saturday than on other avenings and was smoking his good-night rigar, went to the door. He was aston-ished to find no one there, but on looking carefully, saw a parcel on the porch, which, when he picked it up, moved and gave forth a wailing sound. He took it to his wife, who unfolded the wrappings, and behold a haby. The Colonel endeavored to look innocent under the sharp asked how much he wanted, he said all giances of Mrs. Dunne, though, as they have eight or ten arrows in their quiver, they had no particular desire for found-The little castaway was taken care of and made comfortable and yesterday was turned over to the Baby's Home. Colonel Dunne, who is something of a wag, in telling the story of his "capture" to some friends, stated that, when the countenance of the babe came to the light, he remarked to his wife that it was the living image of one of the party he was talking to and that his wife recognized the likeness at once. As this man has a grown-up family of haughters, they kept their discovery secret. The friend on whom this imputa-tion was cast had a different version of the affair. He knew that Colonel Dunne was anxious to hold his office another term-they all are-and in order to convince President Roosevelt that he was not in favor of race suicide, he had ar-ranged to have the stork place the baby at his door, thinking this might aid to ire his reappointment. WANTS CUCKOOS IMPORTED .- The breeze yesterday morning was from the north and did not seem much like the balmy breath of Spring, but many who have noted the daffodlis and other early bulbous plants in the gardens about town, the green shoots on which are four to five inches high and too advanced to be transpinnted, insist that there is a feeling transplanted, insist that there is a feeling of Spring in the air. A large flock of grossbeaks was seen in Sullivan's Guich yesterday, but this is no sign of Spring, as these birds only come in from the mountains when the Winter is severe there and go back before Spring arrives. An Englishman who has been in Oregon only a few weeks was reading a paragraph in The Oregonian about the arrival of song birds and Spring when a cuckoo graph in The Oregonian about the arrival of song birds and Spring when a cuckoo clock on the wall chimed the hour. He asked if there were any cuckoos in this country, and on being told that there-were none, said some ought to be im-ported, for the cuckoo knew more about the arrival of Spring than all the Ger-man song birds in the land. The weather here swemed Spring-like enough, he said. here seemed Spring-like enough, he said in England they never considered that Spring had arrived until the call of the cuckoo was heard. He quoted the following from an old song: 'The cuckoo is a pretty bird; it sings as it flies; it brings us glad tidings and tells us no lies; it sucks the pretty flowers to make its voice clear, and when it sings cuckoo' the Summer draws near."

Good Baos of Ducks .- Comparatively few sportsmen went duckshooting Sur day, many having been absent at the shooting tournament at Pendleton. The day was fairly good for ducks and at several preserves fair bags were made. At Dead Willows a party of six, headed by "Pike" Davis, killed 210, an average of Escach, a very fair bag, under present conditions. Out in Columbia Slough and at several places on the Columbia bottom, fair bags were made, and there were many ducks flying out of reach. A party which went down to the Honey-man preserves at Scappoose, on Sunday. enjoyed fine sport, as usual, because the preserves are bandled skilifully and to a strictly businesslike manner. As an invited guest remarked, all you have to do is to make up your mind as to how many ducks you want, and go ahead and shoot till you have got them. There was no trapshooting at the Riverside grounds Sunday, as a lot of the sportsmen who shoot there did not get home from Pendleton till Sunday morning, but there will be a big shoot there next MUSTING OF THE UNITED INISH LEAGUE -An interesting and enthusiastic meeting of the Portland branch of the United Irish League was hold in its hall at Sixth and Washington streets, yesterday after-noon. The meeting unanimously favored the movement which is now going for-ward in this country and in Ireland for the rehabilitation of the Gaelle language. Every effort will be made to help the work. At the next meeting on the sec-ond Sunday of February an address will be given by Hon. Andrew C. Smith on the Irish land bill.

WORK ON THE POSTOFFICE EXTENSION. The foundation walls for the extension.—
The foundation walls for the extension to the Postoffice building are nearly completed. They are of brick and cement, a triffic over three feet thick and appear substantial enough for a tensiory building. The cornerstone of the base courses of the understanting is laid. base courses of the underpinning is laid, and as seen as joists are laid and a tem-porary floor put in, the work of taking out the west front of the lower story will begin. No matter how bad the weather is, this work is pushed along.

WINDOW BROKEN BY SPENT BULLET. A rear window of the Skidmore drug store, near Third and Morrison streets, was shattered by a spent bullet yesterday afternoon, the ball striking near Proprietor Raigh Crysler, who at first thought an attempt had been made upon his life. An investigation, however, showed that the ball had undoubtedly been fired at random and with no intention of putting an end to Mr. Crysler's existence. The source of the leaden missile could not be learned.

TROUBLES OF MEN WHO HANDLE MONEY.

—An ex-bank official, on reading the account published yesterday of a bank messenger having the box in which be carried money to the bank handcuffed to his bank to get into trouble on account of carelessness in handling money. One collector, who was a light-hearted fellow, was going along the street in highwater season, flipping up a $30 piece with his thumb and finger and catching it as it came down. Finally it slipped through his fingers and fell through a grating on the sidewalk into about two feet of water. He made some efforts to re-cover it, but finally decided to wait till the water was gone and then it was

A number of people rushed to his assistance, but he described a large circle around the sack and, waving his arms wildly, ordered everybody to "stand back." He recovered most of the coin, but concluded to get out of the banking business. Another time a Chinabanking business. Another time a Chinabanking business.

Shakespeare says: "What's in a name?" ut if he were to come to life again and o Portland and hear the name of "Happy Hooligan," he might be forced to admit that there is something after all in a name, for "Happy Hooligan" just describes the horse-play, slap-stick musical cartoon farce played last night at the Marquam Theater by Gus Hill's company. People knew in advance what they were going to get, a little of Hooligan humor, musical turns, specialty, and laughter raisers. And they got what they paid for. The first act opens in a barber's shop, where "Happy" (Gus Tate) and his ancient enemy, the policeman, begin their continual conflict, and "Happy" only again. The other scenes are a trollsy-car terminus, and a police court with John Price as Judge O'Shaughnessy, and Price filled the bill as an amusing stage Irishman. He pleased in his song, "Whistling Riley," and so did John Wilson in "Rag-time Chinaman." There is no attempt made at a regular plot, and the humor is forced at times. The chorus girls are good looking, and they wear dresses to "Happy Hooligan" will be played for the last time at the Marquam tonight.

The double lower private boxes on each side of the Marquam auditorium have been Cause of Sediment in Milk.—A young man who rode out to the Columbia bottom on Sunday thinks he has found out the cause of the sediment which people often complain of finding in the milk supplied by their milkmen. He says he saw a large drove of cows, a hundred he athinks, walking, or rather wading, about in a swampy tract of land, on which they removed to admit of better egress from the ground floor to the fire escapes, and the space vacated is partly occupied by about 20 seats. In the center part of the lower floor, Manager Heilig has taken away several rows of seats and has placed divans—for two-from the orchestra rail to the loges. This work is in line with Marager Heilig's policy of making the theater absolutely safe.

Arcade's New Bill. Nothing better in the entertainment line has been presented so far at the Arcade as this week's bill. Baldwin and Durrant play a variety of instruments, one performer dressing up as a Chinaman. His jokes and ejaculations raise the laugh every time. To hear Jessie More, soprano whom the subject was mentioned yester-day says the cows were hunting for the young, tender blades of grass springing up coloratura, sing "The Nightingale Song" and "Dear Old Girl" is worth the price of admission alone. Her voice is culti-vated and she excels in pure enunciation. on the swampy ground, which they are so eager to obtain at this season that they risk being mired to obtain a mouthful. Some dairymen have a large shed In one song she sings high B flat above the staff. The great Parrott is a clever comedian and juggler, and his tricks with revolver, hats, cigar, etc., are star acts. Heath and Excells are agile gun this season, and so are kept clean and dry. Probably cows fed on ensilage would not be so hungry for a mouthful of green jugglers, and the man actually c the point of a bayonet on his right etc. The black sediment complained of is supposed by wise people to be pow-dered manure, which might be consid-ered worse than black alluvial soil. The pair also present an amusing William Tell act, but with a different ending than the historical one. Among the bloscope pictures are pretty representations of Nora Fuller in her serpentine dance.

TREASURER WRECKS A BANK. Short in His Accounts, He Took More Money With Which to Speculate. NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 26.-The illegal nanipulation of notes held by the bank during the period covering nearly a quarter of a century, and subsequent attempts to make good a shortage by speculation are the causes assigned by the directors of the Nashua Trust Company for the arrest today of their treasurer, John P. Goggin, and the closing of the doors of the institution. Many of the notes accepted by the treasurer, without the knowledge of the directors, were taken for accumulated interest on other notes dating several years back. Goggins' short-age is estimated at $100,000, $25,000 of which is said to have been lost in speculation. An attachment of $50,000 was placed on the property held by Goggin in this city by the bank today.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Shortens your food-Lengthens your life.

"Is life worth living?" He replied: "It depends upon the liver." Chauncey was partially right, but he might have added that it depended quite as much upon the stomach and the manner in which it did its work. The moment you put lard-cooked food in your stomach you are sending out a pressing invitation for dyspepsia to call upon you. This may sound exaggerated, but let us reason it out.

Lard is made from hog fats. The hog isn't the most cleanly animal in the world, and why should lard be any more digestible than fat pork? It isn't. You are simply taking chances when you use lard in cooking; if it doesn't harm you, you're lucky.

The best shortening in the universe is Cottolene. It is made from refined vegetable oil and choice beef suct. There's no ingredient about it but what is pure, wholesome and digestible. No other shortening will do the work of Cottolene. You must either use Cottolene or an inferior product. Which are you going to do?

Guard against substitutes. Cottolene comes only in sealed tin pails (three sizes) with a red label and band. In the center of the label is our trade mark—a steer's head in cotton plant wreath. Cottolene is not open to contamination as is bulk lard; the quality is always uniform and guaranteed.

Ask your grocer for a pail of Cottolene and start yourself on the right road to successful cookery.

USE 1/3 LESS. Cottolene being richer than either lard or cooking batter, one-third less is required.

FREE Send us a 2c stamp to pay postage and we'll mail you a copy of our book, "Home Helps," edited by Mrs. Rorer, which contains 500 choice recipes from the country's noted cooks. Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Dept. 303 Chicago
