

ANOTHER MAP OF UNITED STATES

An Indian Produces an Inlaid Table Which at the World's Fair Will Correctly Show Each State and Territory in the Union.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—(Special correspondence.)—Another unique map of the United States has been designed and constructed for exhibition at the World's Fair.

This time the map forms the top for a handsome table, and is the work of Marion Flory, a citizen of Loganport, Ind. The work of making the table necessitates a great expenditure of time, and more than a little skill and research were required.

The map is geographically correct, and the surface is made up of hundreds of different kinds of woods from every state and territory in the Union. It is an inlaid. Each is represented by blocks of wood of certain species characteristic of the state.

Manuscripts of Famous Authors.—Indiana's claims to being the literary center of the United States will be pushed at the World's Fair. The state commission has arranged to obtain the original manuscripts of many of her famous authors.

Down in a Coal Mine.—Down in a coal mine, underneath the ground, the visitor to the World's Fair may wander and explore to his heart's content. He may, at his luxurious ease, penetrate drifts and tunnels of great length and see the miners at their work.

Prizes for Farmers.—Two farmers in Noble County, Okla., will receive free transportation to St. Louis and return during the World's Fair. The St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad has offered the transportation as an additional prize to the farmers exhibiting the best half bushel of white and yellow corn at the farmers' institute to be held in Perry, Okla.

This Horse Has Horns.—Rhyler, the biggest horse in the world and one of the most wonderful animal freaks, will be exhibited at the World's Fair. The horse is a Percheron gelding, and is owned by Charles H. Gamble and H. K. Miller of New York City.

Eggs of Amazing Proportions.—An egg 12 inches long and 10 inches in diameter, with a shell nearly one-quarter of an inch thick, will be exhibited among the treasures of the natural history department at the World's Fair. It is a typical structure, and will rise about 30 feet. The egg of the apornia, and was recently purchased in Paris by Dr. E. W. True, of the Smithsonian Institution. Specimens of these eggs are very rare, having sold in London as high as $1000. Compared with other eggs, some idea of its immensity may be had. It will hold the contents of six ostrich eggs, or 148 hens' eggs, or 30,000 humming birds' eggs. Little is known of the birds from which these eggs come. More than 2000 specimens of the eggs and swamps in the southern part of Madagascar. One specimen was found about on the ocean, after a hurricane, bobbing serenely up and down with the waves.

World's Fair News Notes.—Season tickets go for every day of the seven months of the World's Fair will be issued at 25c each. They will not be issued until the first of February.

Missouri's forestry, fish and game exhibit at the World's Fair will cover nearly two acres of ground. It will include a vast west of the forestry, fish and game palace.

The French pavilion at the World's Fair is a replica of the Grand Trianon at Versailles. The walls of the central room will be hung with fine old tapestries from the royal apartments at Versailles.

Belgium will make a great exhibit of draft horses at the World's Fair. The animals are being assembled at Springfield, Ill., where they will be kept until the exposition opens.

The American Angus Cattle Breeders' Association will make a great exhibit at the World's Fair. Over 100 liberal cash prizes have been offered, and it is possible for a single lot to win $2000.

The New York Central Railroad's new train, "The Louisiana Purchase Limited," will be one of the best-equipped and fastest in the world. The new equipment was developed expressly to handle the World's Fair traffic.

The great dome of the Festival Hall at the World's Fair is practically finished, and is owned by Charles H. Gamble and H. K. Miller of New York City. It is the largest dome ever constructed on a building.

Canada's pavilion at the World's Fair is finished. The structure is one of the most ornate among the many attractive foreign buildings, and occupies an advantageous site north of the Palace of Agriculture. The interior of the building is the main entrance.

Eight mammoth rustic hanging baskets occupy space on the north terrace of Agriculture Hill. Each basket will be filled with a choice collection of blooming plants. The baskets are 15 feet high, and when the exhibition opens they will be filled with a choice collection of blooming plants.

The windows of the Palace of Agriculture will be filled with plants. The windows of the Palace of Agriculture will be filled with plants. The windows of the Palace of Agriculture will be filled with plants.

It is stated further that the people of the district that will be benefited by the road and line will be willing to subscribe at least 40 per cent of the capital necessary to build the line, and will give it plenty of support to make it pay.

In conclusion, the letter asks that the Chamber of Commerce take the matter in hand and aid the people of Mayfield in securing what they desire. It is urged that the proposition be submitted to some reliable company which will take steps to carry it out.

The tone of the letter indicates that the proposed line means business and are willing to do their share of the work in constructing the same.

Traffic Agents to Meet.—The Pacific Coast Association of Traffic Agents will hold its annual meeting at Ashland on February 23. This is expected to be a different version of the same affair. They say the youth went to the grocery store for the sole purpose of carrying away as much of the groceryman's effects as his two arms would carry.

That is what Eddie says. He told the story to Municipal Judge Hogue in Police Court yesterday morning. The police gave a different version of the same affair. They say the youth went to the grocery store for the sole purpose of carrying away as much of the groceryman's effects as his two arms would carry.

The accident happened about 6 o'clock in the evening, at a time when the room would have been in total darkness. If there had been no artificial light, the janitor says positively that he turned the lights on not later than 4:15. The other members, who were bathing at the time, and who saw the affair and removed Eddie from the tank, also affirm that the lights were on.

Deeply grieved as we are by this calamity which has befallen one of our number, and sympathizing most sincerely with his family, we think that the erroneous impression regarding the circumstances attending it should be corrected. Yours very truly, C. D. BRANDON, Secretary.

St. Paul Expects Relief.—ST. PAUL, Jan. 27.—The mercury dropped during the night from 15 below to 23 below. There is severe cold weather in the Red River Valley, but at Rapid City, S. D., the thermometer is 28 above, and from there to the Coast the weather is comparatively warm, indicating warmer weather for this section of the country.

Department Store Falls.—SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 27.—Bankruptcy proceedings were filed and admitted today by creditors, mostly New York firms, of the department store known as the Lacleuse, of this city. The liabilities are estimated at $75,000, and assets at about $28,000. The store was under the management of Ranshoff Bros.

When you suffer from sick headache, dizziness, constipation, indigestion, Carter's Little Liver Pills will relieve you. One pill is a dose.

Great Dedication is Planned.—COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 27.—The Colorado College has just completed arrangements for the dedication of Palmer Hall, the new science building erected and equipped at a cost of $225,000, on February 12, 23 and 24. The building will rank with the best in the world for its equipment of Technology and others, and its importance is doubled on account of its location in the West.

Among the speakers who will assist in the dedication are Dr. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University; Professor H. W. Henshaw, president of the University of Michigan; Dr. Edward C. Moore, of Harvard, and some 30 heads of departments in Western universities. A feature of the exercises will be a big banquet at which over 300 alumni of leading universities of the country will be present, each having its own university table.

Unions No Longer Enjoined.—WATERBURY, Conn., Jan. 27.—Attorney W. F. Ware, general counsel for the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Company, has ordered that the injunction proceedings and attachments against the laboring men be withdrawn. They grew out of the trolley strike and riots here last February.

EXHIBIT SCHOOL WORK

PORTLAND TEACHERS GATHERING COMPLETE DISPLAY.

Specimens of Each Grade in Each School Will Be Sent to St. Louis.—Rivalry Assures Excellence.

The public schools of Portland are busily making preparations for an exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition, and the teachers are co-operating with City Superintendent Frank Rigler in an effort to make their exhibit one of the finest from the Coast. A school is always rather handicapped in its exhibition of the work it can accomplish, for the reason that it does not make a showy exhibit and few visitors aside from those personally interested in education look the papers and drawings over. In speaking of this matter yesterday Mr. Rigler said:

"The best work of schools is oral work, and this exhibit cannot show. So we have to rely upon the handwork of the pupils to show to the best possible advantage what they have done orally."

"We propose to send specimens of work done in each grade from the primary to the High School, and will show as best we can what work they are doing. Wherever possible this work will be illustrated, and the pupils in drawing and color work will have fine displays. Arithmetic will call for a good many diagrams, and geography for many maps. English composition will also be illustrated, and history may call for diagrams."

"The school will contribute to the exhibit. And besides the work of the pupils we will have many photographs of our schools, showing both exterior and interior, and also a number of illustrations of the work of the pupils in classification and in the organization of schools and all blanks and books we use will also be exhibited."

The children of the different schools are deeply interested in the work they are preparing for the fair, and the good-natured rivalry which exists between the different schools is causing them to put forth their best efforts, and the result will no doubt be a very fine showing.

Superintendent Rigler said he did not know how much material would be allotted a city of this size, but that he was sure to have more than enough to fill it.

DISLIKED TO SAW WOOD.—Eddie Ives Preferred to Sleep in Grocery Store and Goes to Jail.

Eddie Ives, 15-year-old, says he is sure that if he returned to the shelter of the paternal roof Tuesday evening he would have been tendered a sound thrashing. His father told him to saw wood, but having a dislike for manual labor, Eddie says he went to the North End and got drunk. He is now in jail.

That is what Eddie says. He told the story to Municipal Judge Hogue in Police Court yesterday morning. The police gave a different version of the same affair. They say the youth went to the grocery store for the sole purpose of carrying away as much of the groceryman's effects as his two arms would carry.

It will be seen that the word "opening" occurs in the last sentence, just as it was published in The Oregonian of January 14.

On the same subject The Oregonian has received a letter from Rev. J. E. Leppel, field secretary of the Northwest Sabbath Association, dated January 26, in which, after quoting the dispatch from Mr. Crafts referred to already as published in The Oregonian of January 14, he says:

"Seeing the above inconsistency of the last part of the above telegram with the first three-fourths of it and knowing the attitude of the International Reform Bureau on the question of open meetings, I concluded that ought to be corrected, and I forwarded the text of his letter or telegram as published in The Oregonian of January 14. I asked for an explanation. He, wishing the immediate correction of the mistake, answered by a telegram which, I am sure, in justice to Dr. Crafts and all others concerned, The Oregonian will be glad to publish. It is as follows:

"Washington, D. C., Jan. 25, 1904.—Rev. J. E. Leppel, Portland, Ore., has been informed from Oregon's professional men and many more, are nearly all for Sunday closing. Letter misprint. Correct."

Mayfield Invites Portland to Build Electric and Boat Line.

The people of Mayfield, Wash., are anxious to establish commercial intercourse with Portland by means of river navigation and electric railway. They assert for the best half bushel of white and yellow corn at the farmers' institute to be held in Perry, Okla. A letter to this effect was received by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The letter written by J. E. Glenn, states that the people of Mayfield have long been anxious to trade with Portland, but have been prevented from doing so, because of the lack of transportation facilities. The proposition set forth is that boats shall be operated from this city to the head of navigation on the Cowlitz River, then an electric line will connect this point and Mayfield. Mr. Glenn stated that surveys of the course had been made and it had been learned that a good grade for the road could be secured. There are few obstacles to construction and operation and he sees no reason why such a road should not be a success.

It is stated further that the people of the district that will be benefited by the road and line will be willing to subscribe at least 40 per cent of the capital necessary to build the line, and will give it plenty of support to make it pay.

In conclusion, the letter asks that the Chamber of Commerce take the matter in hand and aid the people of Mayfield in securing what they desire. It is urged that the proposition be submitted to some reliable company which will take steps to carry it out.
