HARRIS IS POPULAR

His Opponents are Hermann and Brownell.

RACE FOR SEAT IN CONGRESS

If Hermann Has Opposition, It Will Come From the Men Who, Helped Nominate Him at the Last Convention.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 7.-(Special.)-The ection of a Republican : Congress from the First District has been the subject of talk in political circles in Salem during the past week. The subject has received very little attention thus far, but the presence of L. T. Harris, of Eugene, and George C. Brownell, of Oregon City, early in the week, seems to have stimulated interest. So far as can be learned both of the gentlemen were here on business and talked politics only with a few close friends, but they are known to have the Congressional race under consideration and this was suffi-cient to start the suggestion that they were here looking after their political in-

It is taken for granted that Congress man Hermann will be a candidate for the nomination to succeed himself, though the announcement has not been made. Whether Harris and Brownell will be can-Whether Harris and Brownell will be can-didates is under consideration by those gentlemen. When they were asked by friends here concerning their intentions they replied that they had not decided yet, though Brownell told one or two men that he would be in the contest. Repub-lican leaders are beginning to make in-quiries as to candidates so that they may not promise support to one man and find out later that another, who might be more destrable is in the rays.

As far as can be learned, Marion County will have no candidate for the nomination this year. Mr. Gatch has said in est terms that be will not ask for the support of this county and no others are mentioned in that connection. In the last contest there were five candidates, with Hermann against the field. The opposition to the Douglas County man could not unite and after a long, hard fight the ex-land Commissioner won. The outlook now seems to be that if Hermann has any opposition this time it will be from one or two men, and these will most likely be Harris and Brownell.

In the fight a year ago Harris was a etrong favorite among the delegates and it was generally believed that if he had en-tered the race early in the day he could have carried the convention. However that may have been, Harris gave his support to Hermann and when his name was port to Hermann and when his name was placed before the convention later in the day the lines had become so strongly set that they could not be broken for him. The strength of Harris, if he should be a can-didate, would be due largely to his gen-eral popularity, his ability as a debater and his excellent record as Speaker of the House of Representatives at the last regular and recent special session of the Lexibility.

Brownell was a Hermann supporter in the last Congressional Convention of which assemblage he was chairman. He has long entertained an ambition to occupy a seat in the halls of Congress, but circum-stances have never seemed to make his candidacy advisable. He is not satisfied that the conditions are yet favorable and that the conditions are yet favorable and probably will not become a candidate unless he thinks he can count enough votes in advance to insure his nomination.

Brownell thinks his political record entities him to the avorable consideration of Republicans. Three times elected to the State Senate and chosen President of that body, are matters that he thinks commend him for election to a higher office. His friends remark that it was he who got the initiative and referendum amendment and referen ough the Legislature, that he was the leading champion of the direct primary law in the Legislature, and that it was he ared the adoption of a re ession indorsing Roosevelt. Hermann's chief advantage lies in his being already in the office and in a large measure familiar with his duties and ac-quainted with public men at Washington. He will be opposed for renomination upon the ground that he is not in good standing with the Administration and therefore not as influential a Representative as the state should have. His failure to get the committee appointments which this state so much desires is cited as proof of his not having the influence which was claimed for him in the last contest.

Much More Money Will Have to Be Spent in Improvements.

EUGENR. Or., Feb. I.—(Special.)—Teams have just returned from hauling the machinery for the new quartz mill to the Treasure mine in the Blue River District. C. H. Park, manager of the mine, expects to have the mill in operation early the coming season. Besides the Treasure, it is believed several other mines will put up new mills the coming season. In transporting the heavy machinery the freighters experienced much trouble on account of the bad condition of the roads. The Winter rains have softened them so that a wagon londed with five tons finds some very deep holes. Five teams of heavy horses were hitched to ad, and in some places it was found best to put long poles under the wagon like sled runners, instead of depending on the wheels. The roads are very bad from constant use during the Winter, much of the time travel being by heavy loads, which do not have a tendency to

The pro-gramme was enjoyed by the large audience and the evening closed with a grand leap-year march. The music was furnished by the orchestra under the supervision of Professor Frank Lucas.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday at 11 A. M. by Rev. Dr. Clark Bomer, of Albany. His text was John Ill.2, "We Shall Be Like Him, for We Shall See Him as He Is." The central thought advanced by the speaker was the necessity for a pure ideal, a fixedness of purpose in following this ideal, and a cheerfulness of life coming from an optimistic view of one's conditions and surroundings, holding that this is a strong factor in life. The sefmon was a masterful presenta-tion of the life of Christ as an ideal for the teacher. It was well received by a

MASSIE CLINGS TO BOY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7 .- (Special.)-John A. Massie is prepared to make a hard fight before giving up possession of his 5-year-old cousin, William Massie. He said he had already retained one attor-ney in the matter, and would employ others, if necessary, to oppose proceedings in stituted by Miss C. Miss Whitney alleges that the boy has not been given a proper home, and that he has been severely beaten several times. These statements are denied by Massie. "I have tried to rear the boy in a proper manner," he said, "and now, after nine years, I do not propose to permit a stranger to step in and take the child away from me. The boy's father was acci-

Christian Minister Spoke Up in Meeting at Corvallis--Is Called Down With Emphasis.

CORVALLIB, Or., Feb. 1.—(Special.)—
"You are a lisr," was the epithet that one minister of the Gospei huried at another in the presence of a startled congregation at an afternoon meeting in the Methodist Church Friday afternoon. The minister who applied the epithet was Dr. I. D. Driver, and the man at whom it was directed was Rev. Mr. Handsaker, pastor of the Church of Christ in this city. The scene that accompanied the incident was dramatic in the extreme, and though the matter was kept quiet for a time, enough of the details have become public to arouse much interest in the affair. enough of the details have become public to arouse much interest in the affair. As near as can be learned, the incident was the culmination of various minor at-tacks that Dr. Driver has made on the doctrines of the Christian Church with reference to baptism, since he began a series of lectures in this city two weeks ago. The word was apparently carried to Rev. Mr. Handsaker that the faith of his sect had been assailed, and from his own pulpit last Sunday the matter was quietly referred to.

At the afternoon service in question, Rev. Mr. Handsaker was present, and just before the close of the meeting he took issue with Dr. Driver. The debate was very brief, but it seems to have speedily assumed a personal character. loctrines of the Christian Church with a Crisis.

WATER MAY BE CUT OFF. Hood River Valley Gruitgrowers Face

HOOD RIVER, Or., Feb. 7 .- (Special.) HOOD RIVER, Or., Feb. 1.—(Special)— Hood River people are aroused to white heat excitement over the water question. The affairs of the Vailey Improvement Company, owners of the large irrigat-ing system which supplies the strawberry growers with water, have reached a crisis, financially, and there is a possibility of the farmers getting no water unless they come to the terms of the Valley Improvement Company's creditors and put up $30,-800 by March 1. The patrons of the ditch regard this proposition as a hold-up, pure and simple, and are not disposed to ac-cept it without a fight for what they re-gard as their rights under common law. Saturday afternoon a rousing farmers' mass meeting packed the large opera-house until there wasn't standing room. A motion to accept the company's gropo-sition was voted down with a deafening roar of "noes," and, as a substitute mo-tion, a committee of five was named to confer with the company's representatives and to report at another public meeting Tuesday afternoon, with recommendations regarding the best policy for the farmers

At the mass meeting yesterday Mr. Chambers was represented by his agent, H. D. Wagnon, who refused to explain in detail to the crowd the terms of the contract which the company has drawn up. There were loud and frequent calls of "read the contract!" "read the conof "read the contract!" "read the contract!" but Mr. Wagnon remained obdurate. He was willing, though, to meet each farmer individually and explain the merits of his proposition, or to meet with a committee named by the meeting and discuss his contract. For this purpose a committee was named, consisting of E. N. Benson, E. A. Franz, Fred Balley, N. C. Evans, A. C. Staten. Attorney A. A. Jayne, chairman of the meeting, was also included, at the unanimous request of the members of the meeting. The committee met with Mr. Wagnon immediately after the meeting. Just what was done will be made known at the mass meeting

There is a general opinion that Mr. Chambers cannot legally force his de-mands on the people, and it is stated that Attorney Teal, of Portland, has expressed a like view on the question.

Several vessels which arrived in the harbor today report having felt the force of the southeaster. The schooner Gien, from Iverson's Landing, was caught in a gale off Point Arena and labored heavily for several hours. Her deck lashings were carried away and 60 cords of wood were washed overboard. The chain plates of the vessel were also badly damaged.

The steamer Origon had a hard time in bucking the gale, and occupied 55 hours in making the voyage down the coast from Astoria. She shipped sea after sea, and carried away part of her forward railing.
The Pacific Coast steamer Queen also met the storm, but was delayed only a

PRIEST'S SILVER WEDDING. Ordination Anniversary of Father Brosseau Celebrated.

In the life of Rev. Father L. A. Bros seau and in the history of the parish and monastery of the Most Precious Blood, of Mount Tabor, yesterday was a red-letter day, long to be remembered by both pastor and people. The occasion was the celebration of a "silver wedding," the 25th anniversary of the pastor's ordination to the priesthood. Just 25 years ago Father Brosseau was consecrated to the priest-hood in the Church of St. James, Quebec, by Archbishop Fabre. The entire day was occupied by services appropriate to the commemoration of that event, and there was a great outpouring of people from the parish and from Portland.

At 9:30 the beautiful chapel in the mon-astery was crowded beyond its capacity, many remaining standing throughout the solemn high mass of commemoration by Father Brosseau. This chapel, regarded as the most beautiful of any in the state, was respiendent with ornaments. The altar fairly glittered with beauty, while the walls of the chapel were covered with the symbolic pictures, telling the story of the life and sufferings of the Savior. For the "sliver wedding" of the priest for the siver weating of the priest the special decorations approached the Oriental in spiendor. Sliver cords or chains were suspended from the ceiling and swung down toward the audience. Father Brosseau was assisted in the morning mass by Rev. J. H. Black, pas-tor of St. Francis' Church, as deacon, and Rev. E. Bolla as subdeacon. Leonard's mass in B flat was finely rendered by the Sisters of the Precious Blood. Pather Black delivered a most eloquent discourse on the high calling and standard of the priesthood, appropriate to the quarter century milestone in othe life of his brother priest.

Following the commemoration services although not on the announced programme, was the wedding ceremony of gramme, was the wedding ceremony of Arthur Huber and Catherine H. Hose, in the chapel. Father Brosseau performed the ceremony, and in his short talk to the newly wedded couple told them among other things that they were highly fa-vored by having the marriage solemnized by a priest who was celebrating his silver wedding.

These pictures were furnished by the Regulator Line for the use of the schools, and embrace a very wide range of views, engraved from photographs. There are historical pictures of the block-house at the Cascades, Cape Horn, the Cascade Locks, all of which will be used in illustrating short written sketches to in illustrating short written eketches to be prepared by the pupils. This line of work will be undertaken at once in the country schools of Multnoman County to make a very creditable showing. By giving them all the same line of pictures there will be quite a rivalry among the schools to make the best showing in the descriptive exhibit.
