In the advanced cookery of today it is hard to get along without sauces of different varisties, as so many of the latest recipes call for them. Most sauces can be kept several days or a week, and seem almost as useful and necessary as stock is to the average house-keeper. Last week recipes were given for white sauce and brown sauce, both of which will be found well adapted for use on meats. The once given this week are furnished by Miss Wishart, of the Portland School of Domestic Schence, and are recipes which have been approved by the Government Cooking School of England. Next week several more will appear, including Spanish sauce and champagne sauce for ham. The first one given here—Sauce Bechamel—is almost indispensable in modern cookery: In the advanced cookery of today it is

Sauce Bechamel.

I ounce butter, I ounce flour, I pint sweet milk and stock mixed, I small onion peeled and stock with clowes, a few paraley leaves, %-bay leaf, I small blade mace; salt and pepper. Bell the milk and stock with the enion, paraley, buy leaf and mace: melt the butter in a siewpan, sitr in the flour and cook a few minutes without allowing the flour to brown, then add gradually the milk and other ingredients; sitr until it boils, then let simmer for ten minutes longer; atrain the sauce and use as required, adding salt, peoper and grated mutmeg (if desired) as it is used. This sauce will keep for a week. Boll the milk and stock with the on Sauce Piquante.

%-majon or 4 shallots 3 gherkins (chopped), 1 tablespoon chopped capers, 1 gill vinegar, 1 bay leaf, 1 sprig thyme, %-pint of bechamel Kedgeree.

ig-pound boiled fish, ig-pound rice, 2 eggs, 2 ounces butter, carenne, salt, nutmeg; wash and boil rice, boil eggs hard, break fish in pieces, having boned it well; out whites of boiled eggs into small squares. When the rice is boiled dry, melt the butter in a stewpan and add the rice, fish, eggs, cayenne, nutmeg and salt. Mix well and serve on a hot dish, garninied with the yellows of the boiled eggs.

This dish is famous in first-class restaurants both in England and Scotland.

Clam Chowder.

pint of clams, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 pint white stock, I gill cream; salt and papper and the juice of the clams. By substituting three small cucumbers for the clams, this makes excellent cream of cucumber soup.

Devil's Food Cake. This recipe, which is from the School of omestic Science, will be found to make a stended cake, in spite of its unfavorable

4-cup sweet milk, mixed with I small teaspoon soda, h-package of Baker's bitter chorolate, h-cup sweet milk, the yolk of I egg. Melt the chocolate on stove, adding the milk and yolk of egg. This last mixture should be put into the batter the last thing before putting in the oven. Se sure the oven is moderate.

Frosting-14 cups white sugar and 6 big tablespoons water. Boll until it hairs then fold in the well-beaten whites of 6 eggs. Fruit Salad With Jelly.

Make a rich lemon jelly; place on ice as i begins to set. Build the salad layer for layer first jelly, then banans and oranges (or other fruit if desired), until the mold is filled. Serv with aweet cream.—Portland School of Do mestic Science.

Mayonnaise Dressing.

yolks of 2 raw eggs and 2 hard-beiled eggs; add oil drop by drop; rub to a cream and add one tempoon flour mustard, 2 tempoons fine sait, a sprinkle of cayenne pepper; keep adding oil by drops and stirring constantly (always in same direction) until the mixture becomes thick—almost soild. This is with vinegar.—Portland School of Domestic Science.

WIFE AND BABE DESERTED. Mrs. Charles Griebe Is Left With a Two-Weeks-Old Child.

Broken hearted because her husband de serted her and with starvation staring her in the face, Mrs. Charles Griebe, who with her new-born babe was left destitute two weeks ago, still believes that he will return to care for their infant and herself. The police have been investigating the case for the past week, but no clew is to be bad to the missing man's whereabouts. That he deserted his wife there is no doubt, as before he left he took all of his belongings, which sets aside any theory of suicide. Two weeks and a half ago a little son gladdened the Griebe home at 395 Ivan street, at the corner of Grand avenue. A few days later the happy mother's joy was turned to sorrow by the descrition of her husband. Before he left he gathered all of his clothes and belongings and drewhat pay there was due him from Inma & Poulsen's mill, for services as hostier i the company's stables. A few trifling at ticles belonging to the young mother wer included with the things taken, an Charles Griebe mystoriously disappeared It was two weeks ago last night that h was last seen, at which time he was with his wife and child. To his employers he stated that he would be gone about week, but that he would return, and trust ing that he would explain his strange dis appearance Mrs. Griebe patiently waited The husband falling to return, the un fortunate wife became alarmed. For sev eral months grocers' bills have been us paid. The furniture in the little hom has not even been paid for, and with th babe to care for the unfortunate mother is unable to provide for herself and chil-Strangers hearing of the sad case a few days ago sent a large basket of food to the mother and child. While she fears that the furniture in the house may be taken from her at any time, on account of failure to make a payment on it, Mrs. Griebe refuses to leave the little home, and insists that the deserted husband will return to her. She says that her relatives live in the country near Seattle and if her husband remains absent that she will try to borrow enough money to go Griebe is described as being 23 years of age, of German descent, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs 160 pounds, light hair and mustache, and wore a blue suit of clothes when he was last seen. His par-ents live in St. Paul, Minn., and it is thought that he may have returned

OPERATORS SEND ULTIMATUM Demands of the Coal Miners Are Cut in Half.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 4.-The operators and miners subscale committee, shortly after convening today, took a re-cess to allow the miners scale committee and the officers to hold a conference.

After the conference the subscale committee presented what they said was their ultimatum, cutting their demand in half, and asking for a two years' scale at "onehalf of the 12% per cent advance in wages given last year." This would make a reduction of 5 cents a ton from the present scale, and a decrease in other labor of about 6 per cent.

President Mitchell and F. L. Robbins for the operators, said a general joint ses-sion would be held tomorrow to receive the scale committee's report. If the terms offered by the operators are accepted or little changed a scale will be signed tomorrow.
