Northwest States' Will Send Troops to Idaho.

REGULAR ARMY WILL GO, TOO

Military Maneuvers Will Be Conducted by the War Department-Five Thousand Men to Be Mobilized During Autumn.

Military maneuvers on a large scale will be conducted in Idaho this Summer for the first time in the Northwest, Arrangements are now being made between the Adjutant-Generals of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idano with Ad-jutant-General Evans, of the Department of the Columbia, to have the militia of the three states camp with the regular Army for two weeks next August or September and practice field work.

Maneuvers of this kind are not uncommon in the Eastern states, but have never been known here before. They are becoming very popular and are being encouraged by the War Department in its desire to have the millia become as nearly like the regular Army as possible. Contact with the regulars will teach the rawer militiamen more than they could learn in a lifetime from the military code. Two weeks of it and they will want to wear their uniforms all the time and soow the lining of their capes like

No particular site has been picked upon as yet, but it will be somewhere in the rolling or even mountainous country, where a regiment can be taken out and where a regiment can be taken out and lost and the rest of the Army be sent to find it as if it were a hostile force. This will necessitate all the frills of war-scouts, advance guard, skirmlsh line, main body of the army, commissary department and rearguard. All the hard-ships of war will have to be undergone, with the killing left fut. Besides this rifle practice, skirmlshing, regular drills, reviews and all other practices necessary. reviews and all other practices necessary for proficiency in the art of war will find their place during the encampment. There will be 5000 men in parade every day, a military showing not seen in this part of the country before. All the men part of the country before All the men under the Department of the Columbia and the militia of the three Northwest states and possibly California will be at the en-campment. As it would be necessary to transport the California troops over 1000 miles, however, it is doubtful whether they will join the encampment.

General orders are now being issued from the offices of the Adjutant-Generals which will inform the various companies and troops to be ready for Le Summer encampment. As the general supervision of the Commissary Department will come under the command of the regular service, arrangements will easily be made, 5000 men being a small detachment in the eyes of a commissary officer in the regular Army.

RARE EXECUTIVE ABILITY.

The New President of the St. Louis Lady Managers.

St. Louis Ropublic. In the selection of Mrs. Mary Margarita Manning as its president, the board of lady managers of the St. Louis World's lady managers of the St. Louis World's Exposition has secured the services of a woman of rare executive ability, broad views and practical experience to preside over deliberations. Mrs. Manning is the widow of the late Daniel Manning, who was Secretary of the Treasury during President Cleveland's first administration, and who died December 24, 1887.

Mrs. Manning was before her marriage.

Mrs. Manning was, before her marriage on November 19, 1884, Miss Mary Margar in Fryer, of Albany, N. Y. She is a descendant of pre-Revolutionary stock her ancestral lineage embracing such il lustrious names as the Livingstons, Schuylers, Vandams, De Peysters and

Mrs. Manning was twice elected presi-dent-general of the Daughters of the of about $5,000 members, extending over $5 states and territories. One of the qualifications for membership in this order provides that an ancestor of the ap ependence as a recognized patriot, as a oldier or sailor or as a civil officer in ne of the several colonies or states of he United States, or of the united colonies er states."

Mrs. Manning's predecessor as president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution was Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, wife of the former Vice-Presi-dent of the United States. Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Stevenson represented the Democratic women of the country, while before them as head of the society were Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, the first wife of President Benjamin Harrison, and Mrs. John W. Foster, these being reprentatives of Republicantsm.

sentatives of Republicanism.

As a leader Mrs. Manning is probably without a peer. She possesses the gracious charm of manner, tact and kindliness which go to make a successful leader. She is tall and handsome and dresses with faultless elegance. She is a brilliant conversationalist and as a Washington hostess her receptions were the talk of the capital.

In appreciation of her ability, she was y the Government as a commis-the Paris Exposition in 1900. While in the French capital she acted in the four-fold capacity of a National Co missioner of the United States, represented the women of America at the unveiling of the statue of General George Washington in Paris, represented the United States Government at the un-veiling of the statue of LaFayette, and was chosen as the representative of the American Daughters of the Revolution

In recognition of her services and on tiring energy, the French government es-tablished a precedent by decorating her with the cross of the Legion of Honor after a bitter contest. Many of the French officials were strongly opp granting this distinction to foreign women for fear it would be impossible to with-stand the importunities of other feminine candidates. It was argued that since few Prench women were honored with this mark of distinction, it would be unfair to honor foreigners. But this opposition was swept away by the Foreign Office, which approved the recom-mendation, which was later approved by the government board. While in Paris there was a literal "tempest in a teapot" because of a difference of opinion between Mrs. Manning and the Countess Spottiswood Mackin, of St. Louis, the latter being a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Countess acquired her title from the Vatican. At a meeting of the Daugh-ters of the American Revolution in Wash-ington the Countess invited a number of them to attend a tea party and reception at her home in Paris during the Exp tion, and left the date to Mrs. Manning's selection. Mrs. Manning was president of the Daughters at the time. She declined to name a day to take ten or to parti-cipate in any way, on the ground that it was contrary to the principles of the so-city for its members to acquire and use a foreign title. Mrs. Manning is a stick-ler for foreign law and believes in fiving up to to the spirit as well as the latter of the constitution of the Daughters.
Upon her return to the United States
Mrs. Manning was chosen as a representative to the Pan-American Exposition. She was president of the New York State Board. She acquitted heroelf with credit on this occasion and did yerman service for the Buffalo Exposition.

Mrs. Mann ag is as well known in Wachington and Paris as she is in her home town, Albany. Even after the death of her husband, she spent her Winters is Washington and during the second administration of Mr. Cleveland her "annual breakfast" to Mrs. Cleveland her "annual breakfast" to Mrs. Cleveland was a function of such stately preparations as About April 15-Contracts function of such stately proportions as were as idom seen a ywhera. Since her retirement from the presi-dercy of the Daughters of the American Revolution early in 1901, Mrs. Manning has spent her Winters in New York.

About April 15--Contracts for Material.

ASTORIA. Or., March 17 .- (Special.)-Assistant Engineer G. B. Hegardt, who is in charge of the Government work at the mouth of the Columbia River, states that during the present Winter 800 yards of the jetty treatle have been carried away by the storms. He now has a large force of men engaged in making repairs and about 90 feet of new treatic is being constructed each day. The piling is not being driven through the rock, as was being driven through the rock, as was done in the repair work last season, but the trestle is being built around the rock to connect with the portion of the trestle that is still standing farther out.

Mr. Hegardt expects that the repairs will be completed so that the department can begin taking rock again about April 15. The intention is, as soon as operations to be joined by 16 others to reorganize are resumed, to receive 2500 tons of rock the band. The facts of the case are that daily, shipments being made from the up-

MUNICIPAL HOUSEKEEPING.

Indianapolis Women Offer Suggestions Well Worth Considering.

Indianapolis Journal. The paper this morning contains the iews of several well-known Indianapolis ladles on the subject of beautifying the city, and might have had many more on the same line, no doubt, as most intelli-gent women have decided opinions in re-gard to improvements needed in munic-ipal housekeeping. While the chief feature the new Civic Improvement League's plan, so far cullined, involves the plant-ing of flowers and vines and the conse-quent decorating of bare walls and bits f ground, it will be noticed that the women quoted put stress on neatness and cleanliness as the first and most necessary reform. The supreme desire and the con-stant struggle of the accomplished house. heeper is to have her premises invested with the charm that only immaculate cleanliness can give. Furnishings and decorations are secondary to the sweet and healthful atmosphere that belongs to and penistrial atmosphere that belongs to the house spotlessly neat in all its ap-pointments. This attraction, too is one that may be found as well in the two-room cabin as in the most pretentious mansion-perhaps is more often found on-perhaps is more often found

The first thing the housekeeper under The first thing the nonseneeper undertakes in entering into possession of a new dwelling is to make it cleans and it is natural and logical that she should apply the same rule of operations to city improvements, more especially as Indianapolis is so woofully lacking in the rudiments of the art of neatness. The cleaning of alleys and vacant lots, the enforcement of existing ordinances against the scattering of garbage, ashes and other waste material and the securing of new official reg-uintions against other sanitary offenses, if necessary, present themselves to the housewifely mind as more important than the covering of walls and fences with vines. Of course, it may be possible to carry on the two branches of work in niunction, to inculcate principles eatness along with a love for flowers and perhaps that is the purpose of the Chile League. Possibly it is thought that the transformation of front and back yards into bowers of beauty will inspire n the owners of these yards an ambition a keep the adjoining alleys free from subbish, but it seems reasonable to sup-some that this part of the reform may be expedited by object lessons and enforcement of laws. At all events, the suggestions of the ladies are worthy of attention, and it will also be well for the im tion, and it will also be went for the im-provement society to reflect that flowers and vines are short-lived and for more than half the year cannot even cover the unsightly spots, while unclean alleys and garbage-laden commons are in evidence the year round.

most people imagine this company is to furnish large rock only. This is not the case, as the contract with it and the one with the Northwest Construction Company are identical excepting as to the price and amount. Each contractor will furnish both large and small rock and the eason the new contract was made was ecause the department desires to rush the work this season and one company could not supply the rock fast enough. Concerning the placing of oil burners in the dredge Chinook, Mr. Hogardt says the matter has not yet been definitely decided, and if it is the change will not delay the operation of the dredge, as the alterations will be made after the vessel returns to the mouth of the river, and while she is at work,

The case under investigation yesterday was one which the statutes of limitation had almost placed without the jurisdic-tion of the court. It involves alleged fraudulent timber land deals through the Eugene Land Office and a half dozen witnesses from Eugene, a number of whom are connected with the Land Office, were n attendance and appeared before the jury. The identity of the person accused is a strict secret which the officials refuse to reveal until the grand jury reports. It is understood that in case an dictment is returned it will create a ensation

Judging from the fact that only don of the witnesses were called before the jury, and the others excused from further attendance, the prosecution must have rested its case with perfect assur-ance that an indictment will be returned. In fact, a blank form for an indictment went into the jury-room before adjourn-ment and its return is expected at the opening of court this morning. The time of the grand jury, it is understood, will be devoted almost entirely to the investigation of land and timber fraud cases. The officials, since the last session ases. "Hats off to Mandeistamm, twice deported to Siberia, where, almost without food, owing to the embezziement of a commissary officer, complained to the commander of the escort, who, lining them up, said: 'Who objects?' One man stopped forward, and the officer shot him. stopped forward, and the officer shot him. Turning pleasantly to the others, the commander inquired: 'Has any one else a wish?' A second man stepped out of the line and the commander shot him dead, and again asked if any one complained. Mandelstamm said 'Yea, I do.' The officer, overcome by this fearlessness, listened to the protest and supplied the convicts with food."

Interesting Experiment in a Restaurant.

An advertising agent, representing a prominent New York magazine, while on a recent Western trip, was dining one evening in a Pittsburg restaurant.

While waiting for his order he glanced over his newspaper and noticed the advertisement of a well-known dyspepsia preserving Stuart's Despenses Tables. Persons Seems Probable.

The Federal grand jury met yesterday morning and began business without dearn the indications last evening were that an indications last evening were that an indication to the jury was empaneled at 18 o'clock yesterday morning and James Steel, of Portland, was made foreman. Judge Ballisons testings the state of the state of the state of the state of the same at the tables and in the hotel office I took the trouble to interview them and was surprised to learn that nine of the 22 made a practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

One of them told me he had suffered so much from stomach trouble that at one

Portland, was made foreman. Judge Beilinger instructed the jury as to the number of votes required to bring in an indictment and the number of members that must be present to constitute a quorum. He imposed strict secrecy upon the members of the jury and all who are regularity in meals and because, like all traveling men be was often obliged to eat what he could get and not always what he wanted.

Another, who looked the picture of health, said he never ate a meal with-out taking a Stuart Tablet afterward, be-cause he could eat what he pleased and when he pleased without fear of a sleepless night or any other trouble.

Still another used them because he was subject to gas on stomach, causing pressure on heart and lungs, shortness of breath and distress in chest, which he no longer experienced since using the tablets regularly.

Another claimed that Stuart's Dyspepsis Tablets was the only safe remedy ever found for sour stomach and acidity. He had formerly used common soda to re-lieve the trouble, but the tablets were much better and safer to use.

After smoking, drinking or other ex-cesses which weaken the digestive or-gans, nothing restores the stomach to a healthy, wholesome condition so effectu-ally as Stuart's Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the natural digestive, pepsin, diastase, which every weak stomach lacks, as well as nux, hydrastin and yellow partila, and can be safely relied on as a radical cure for every form of poor digestion. Sold by druggists everywhere.

DYSPEPSIA

George S. Scally, of 75 Nameau st., New York, says: "For years I have been troubled with houmatlam and dyspepels, and I came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use; I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if any one so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work."
