GRAPHIC STORY OF FIGHT

Russian Shells Churn the Water All About Merchantmen to Be Sunk, but Crews Are Ever Cool.

SPECIAL CABLE TO LONDON TIMES AND PORTLAND OREGONIAN.

AT SEA, March 31, by De Forrest Wireless Telegraph to Wei Hai Wei, April 1.— After the bombardment of March 22, Vice-Admiral Togo waited until better weather before again attempting to bottle up Port Arthur. The officers who conducted the first attempt insisted upon their right to complete their work. The Admiral consented, and the same officers were chosen, but the crews and stokers were selected from new volunteers.

The moon disappeared at midnight, and the sea was like glass when the desperate enterprise was begun. When within two miles of the goal the frenzied motions of a searchlight showed that suspicion had been awakened, and suddenly a solitary gun announced that the Japanese had been discovered. The Russian sprang to their guns, and in three minutes the Japanese craft were inclosed in a semicircle of gun flashes. The sea was churned to a turmoil by falling shells, but there was no hesitation. The torpedo-boats opened out and the transports, with the men standing at the lifeboat stations, steered directly into the inferno. There was then only a mile to traverse, and the safety fuses were ready.

Crews Depart Just in Time.

It was just at 3:30 in the morning when the Chiyo Maru led with a searchlight beating upon her, and she a target for a hundred guns, toward the east side of the entrance. The fuses were set and the crew pushed off just in time. It was a moment of suspense. The charge exploded, sinking her 100 yards from a point off the east side of the entrance. The Fukui Maru next passed on the port side of the Chiyo Maru and dropped anchor. Just as the officers and crew pushed clear there was a dull explosion. She had been struck, and went down in the exact place which the Japanese desired, by a torpedo from within the harbor.

So close were the defending destroyers that the Yonezumi Maru was fired upon by a Russian destroyer and her crew was scorched by the flame of the discharges from a Russian six-pounder.

It was a horrible scene, but the Japanese kept their presence of mind throughout, and their steadiness was shown by the fact that before she had been fouled by the destroyer the Yonezumi Maru passed to the starboard of the Chiyo Maru and then between her and the Fukui Maru and reached the center of the channel, where she was hit by a torpedo which sank her on the west side of the channel, her bow pointing toward the shore. Not a man of the transport's crew was drowned.

Enterprise Fails Completely.

The enterprise failed completely to block the channel, because there were only four transports. It is probable, however, that the channel has been rendered impracticable for the large battleships, and it is certain that the Japanese will not rest until the channel has been closed.

The maneuver was covered by a torpedo division, which, running in close, endeavored to draw the fire of the land batteries from the main enterprise. This division remained in action until all the crews were rescued, and just before daybreak was engaging a Russian destroyer which remained at the entrance firing torpedoes during the night. The scream of escaping steam proclaimed that the Russian boat had been damaged in her vital. At daybreak the flotilla drew off under cover of the fleet, which was waiting ten miles outside.

In closing the correspondent describes the bravery and death of Commander Hi-rose, who had recently been promoted for sinking the Yokohama Maru further up the entrance of Port Arthur on February 24 and of whom he says the Japanese are justly proud.

France Has Large Bill Against Korea.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Korean Foreign Office has been presented with a claim, says a Herald dispatch from Seoul, for $48,000 by the French Charge d'Affaires here in payment for materials ordered from France for use on the Seoul-Wiju Railway, which concession Japan procured from the Korean government soon after signing the recent alliance protocol.
