Looking as fit as any baseball team could, the Browns returned last night to their own stamping grounds. The old members of the team received a warm welcome from the waiting fans, and the new players, Castro, Steelman, Drennan and the rest of them were soon on speaking terms with the faithful. Naturally Castro was the center of interest, and it is but putting it lightly to say that he made a hit. The Venezuelan is a clean-cut young man, well dressed, easy mannered and a ready wit. He has the makings of a ballplayer and he readily admitted that he has not been playing the ball that he is capable of doing.

All the players are depressed over the continued losing streak and all are ex-ceedingly glad to get home. Every man on the team feels that from now on the hoodoo will vanish and become a thing that was, and that from now on the team will find itself. The players share Manager Flly's opinion that they are as good as any team in the league. Some of them, under the continued drubbing which they have received, have lost heart. This is not the case with Ely. While he and looks more like a ghost than a live man, Ely still swears by his team. His book of woes is full and a few pages over. His tales of the way things have Philadelphia 1. New York 1.

The benching is laid out in better shape than ever before. been breaking for the team is borne out by the players—in short, the luck of the game has been breaking for the other fellows. Inability to clout the ball when any sort of a dinky hit would have meant is and a game is where the team has len down. This is shown by the records of the games.

Some Samples of the Hoodoo

On the team there is at least six men who last year batted .300 and over. Thus far this season .200 is the limit. Then, too, the Browns had two weeks at Fresno, and from the stories which the players tell of that sand-riven baseball ground, it is not to be wondered that the Browns lost games. Parke Wilson, who arrived with his band of Siwashes early vesterday morning, has played ball all over the country, and he pronounced Mique Fisher's new home the worst ever. When Parke spoke about Mique Fisher's grounds at the Raisin City he chewed tobacco viciously and his eyes narrowed to glittering silts. Fancy playing ball on a torical arrive deep in sand an out. an infield ankle deep in sand and an out-field full of rattlesnakes, prairie dog holes and dalsies, and rag-weed so high that only the upper part of the outfielders can be seen! Ely tells about Nadeau starting after a short out-field hit and, just as Phil was about to clutch the sphere, he fell into a hole and the ball hit him on rehead and bounded away and was good for three bases. He also tells of a was in the ball being hit just back of first base $200. Score: eam has been traveling. When the Browns met and defeated Chicago, the team was on its toes, but in that beating went all the luck of the Browns. Right on the heels of this game things began to get cross-eyed and the players have tried every hoodoo-breaker on record in an endeavor to get but from under. Aside from Manager Ely's illness and that of Charley Shields, who just before returning home was sick in bed and Kittredge. for four days, every player looks as fit as a fiddle. Ike Francis has been suffering from a bad arm, and he says that it was only last week that he was able to use his terrific whip which the fans know so well without feeling as if his arm had been torn from the socket. He has also found his batting eye. McCreedie has had the worst slump in his playing in his career, and he, like the rest, cannot account for it. Beck, who rose from and Buelow, a sick bed to come to the Coast, is still a sick man. He has been trying hard, but it may be that after all he will be com-
