LOCAL OPTION RALLY AT ALBINA.-A fairly well-attended local option rally was beld last evening in the Central Methodist Church of Albina, under the auspices of the Temperance Alliance, S. U. Downs, president of the local alliance, resided and opened the meeting with atroductory remarks. The service of the dilinace was given as the first number, alliance was given as the first number, which was followed by singing by the Seville Quartet, composed of four young women of Sunnyside, who sang with much spirit, and were encored. T. C. McDaniels was the first speaker, and he made an earnest appeal for local option. H. Les Paget spoke on "The Constitutionality and Justice of Local Option." Rev. L. F. Young spoke of the "Benefits of Local Option to Portland." Rev. A. Esson told how the measure might be carried. G. H. N. Nichol sald that young men could help carry the measure by men could help carry the measure by exerting their influence. Mr. Downs quoted from a manifesto purporting to be a statement from the Liquor Dealers' Association, and remarked it contained argument for local option that could not oe refuted. Rev. Ray Palmer spoke on The Liquor Dealers' Argument," and L H. Amos closed with an appeal for members and support. He said that the next meeting would be held in Centenary Church next Tuesday evening.

CRUSHED ROCK FOR BASE LINE.-The CRUSHED ROCK FOR BASE LINE.—The base line road is to be repaired with crushed rock from the end to Montavilla. Supervisor Robeson is getting the gravel pits at McKay and Reames ready for the crusher. The intention is to provide a top dressing of screened rock, and for this purpose a revolving screen will be provided for the crusher. Nearly two miles of the Base line road were covtwo miles of the Base line road were covered with crushed rock a year ago as an experiment, and while the farmers were not favorable to the use of the material it was found better than the ordinary gravel taken crude from the pits, which makes a fine road, but does not stand the heavy travel of the farm teams. It is understood to be the intention to gravel the Base line road ulti-mately to the Sandy.

ALL WANT "COLONES."—Joseph Buchtel, whose protest against the selling of "Colonel," the fire-horse, appeared in The Oregonian a few days ago, is re-ceiving letters from all portions of the state, written by men who want to fur-nish the fire-horse a home. He has re-ceived about 25 letters, all of which he has answered. A letter came from Lin-coln County yesterday. To all he has said that the animal is in the hands of the Humane Society, which will take care of and use him. Humane Officer Joseph Reising will drive "Colonel" about the Reising will drive "Colonel" about the Reising will drive "Colonel" about the city to a buggy, but on long or hard trips will use another horse. If it is found that this light work is too much found that this light work is too much will be as well an expessition of the wonderful progress of the old Oregon of Webster and Benton and which was such a nightmark to the statesmen of a half century ago.

traveler which will be used in the erection of the new Morrison-street bridge is being built above the first East Side span. There will be three sections of the traveler, and the first section was completed yesterday. The carpenters at work walked on the top timbers with no more concern than if they were walking along the sidewalk, although they looked very small when up so far above the surface of the river. Well up toward illustrated. the top of the traveler a powerful elec-trict motor will be placed for handling for its share of publicity, but nothing the iron sections of the new bridge. These parts will be sent around by the tramway just built along East Water street to the east end of the bridge.

TEA AT THE PATTON HOME.—The tea given at the Patton Home for the Aged yesterday afternoon was a success finan-cially and socially. A large number attended and the proceeds came to a substantial point, which was most gratify-ing to the managing board. The ladies who served were Mesdames Billings, Godart, Burkhardt, Diamond and Cutler. A new plane which has lately been added to the home proved a source of great entertainment for the old people who live there, and they were delighted with the on of pleasure which the tea afforded them. The decorations were unusually pretty, the walls being lined with blooming dogwood and the tables trimmed with forget me nots.

CONCERT AT SHAMEN'S INSTITUTE-The following is the programme of the con-cert to be given by the Women's Auxillary of Trinity Church at the Seamen's Institute, 100 North Front street, at 8 o'clock tonight: Selection, Downs Mandolin Club; recitation, Miss Eugenia Craig; in Clao; reclation, Aliss Eugena Craig; vocal solo, Miss Mary Otto; plano solo, Miss Gertrude Silinski; recitation, Mr. Victor Dole; vocal solo, Miss Cocking; violin solo, Mr. Roy Lancaster; recita-tion, Miss Anna O'Brien; vocal solo, Mr. C. Donnidson; recitation, Miss Mabel Con-nell; vocal solo, Miss Mabel Downey; recitation, Miss Julia Cole; vocal solo, Mr. O. G. Ott; sailor's hornpipe; vocal solo, Mrs. T. Barker; vocal solo, Miss

BURNSIDE BRIDGE CARRIES THE TRAVEL. Burnside bridge carries the bulk of the travel that has been using Morrison bridge. The Burnside bridge being a wide structure accommodates the heavy traffic without inconvenience. There seems little increase of travel on the Madison-street bridge, owing to the fact that teams cannot get to Hawthorne avenue conveniently from the north. Trouble will be encountered on the Burnside bridge because of the condition of the pavement, which was rapidly giving way before the increased traffic came along. It would be impracticable to close it for repairs now that the Morrison bridge is closed. DEATH OF JOHN RENNICK -- John Ren-DEATH OF JOHN RENNICK.—John Rennick, for seventeen years a resident of Portland, died at noon yesterday of old age at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank B. King, 594 Hoyt street. The old gentleman had been in had health for some time past, but was not confined to his bed until less than a week ago, he was born in Ohio in October, 1819. After retiring from business he came to Portland and had made a number of in-Portland and had made a number of investments in Portland property. The funeral will be held at 504 Hoyt street at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

CONDUCTOR ERICKSON INFURED. — G. Erickson, a conductor on a Woodlawn car, fell 35 feet from a pole on Union avenue, Monday evening, and was severely injured. The troiley wire had broken and he went up the pole to take it up so there would be no danger to passing teams, when he came in contact with the line wire, which caused him to fall. His hands were burned, he received brulses about the hips, and he will be laid up for about a week.

The buildings and their contents will be a revelation to easterners, as will the cities and the people themselves. A revelation of manners, customs, industries, education, commerce, progress, civilization on that Western Coast, of which the New Englander, for example, of this day has little or no real conception. this day has little or no real conception.

The country drained by the mighty river that Gray of Boston discovered—the might-lest and grandest river of our country—and that Lewis and Clark explored, has been redeemed from savagery and today no fairer nor better can be found. The great centennial of Lewis and Clark will be as well an exposition of the wonder-

Perhaps the most interesting of the subjects located in the book of 108 pages is the itinerary of Maximilian, the Prince of Wied, who visited the Rocky Mountain region in 1823-4, accompanied by a noted painter. Of all the literature sent out by American railroads, "Wonderland" easily is in the lead. As much work and care are manifest as in editions de luxe of favorite books, and the reader rather welcomes the modest advertising features because nothing is overstated. Any way you take it, "Wonderland" is in a class of itself.

and wondering how these things can be They wonder and are puzzled, but feel no disposition to burn the woman who has pried into the secret recesses of their private business. The people are three centuries away from witch-burning, so private business. Miss Fay is in no terror of the stake. The programme last night was divided into three parts, the first being devoted to some remarkably well-done cabinet tricks, performed by Miss Fay under the close scrutiny of a committee selected from the audience. The second portion of the entertainment consisted of vaudeville turns by acceptably good performers and the best moving picture exhibition ever seen in Portland.

The concluding portion of the enter tainment was a demonstration of what Miss Fay calls somnoiency. It was here that the audience got its thrills and sensations, and the skeptical ones had nothing to do but shake their heads and give it up. The performance was like this. Miss Fay occupied a sent in the center of the stage, and a cloth was placed over her, leaving only her left arm exposed. Those people in the audience who desired to ask questions were a charming chapter is presented in "The Haunts of Wild Game," most beautifully illustrated.

Of course, Yellowstone Park comes in for its share of publicity, but nothing shelf-worn is offered, not even in the attractive pictures of what Nature did centuries ago, and which the Government and the Northern Pacific did last year, and the Northern Pacific did last year. Fay seemed uncertain of her premises only once or twice.

The question covered all manner of sublects from courtship to the sale of timber lands, and almost without exception Miss Fay displayed a thorough knowledge of the private affairs of her questioners. One young lady asked if she would get her money back. Miss Fay told her that she had lost $30 and that the young man beside her knew something about it and that she would get the money back this morning. These frank statements almost precipitated a riot in the vicinity of the young lady and her escort, and the young man loked as if he would rejoice at a return to oil caldron methods of disp ing of persons gifted with second sight. Many of the questions referred to business deals and Miss Fay answered them without the slightest hesitation and her advice seemed in most cases satisfactory.

The Fay demonstration savors of the incanny. Just how she is enabled to read the minds of her auditors and answer the questions they jot down on a bit of paper held in their own hands is beyond the power of her audiences to explain away. Could any trick be conceived for carrying out such a whole-sale deception? That's what people were asking after last night's performance, but no one was able to answer. At all events it was a mystifying experience to those who attended, and the

To bring about an ad ustment Senator Mitchell today secured the passage of a resolution directing the ecretary of the Treasury to furnish the Senate with all facts bearing on the contract, he being confident that the records will show the Treasury agent not only measured the rented building, but prepared the plans for its alteration and refitting prior to letting the contract, and that the department was in possession of the actual measurements at the time the contract was made.

It is contended that if there is a dis crepancy the department should have disovered it from its own records, and that the owners of the building should not now be denied rental because the floor space is less than the amount named in the con-

When full information is furnished Sen ator Mitchell will endeavor to secure relief for Hartman, Thompson & Powers by special legislation, if the department cannot be induced to resume payment of rent.

"A number of changes in the building were made by the Government's own ar-chitects," said E. L. Thompson, of Hart-man, Thompson & Powers, last evening, "For example, the grand jury room was moved upstairs, and several alterations from the original plans made which cost as money. These were approved by United States Marshal Matthews, United States Commissioner Sladen, Postmaster Banroft and Judge Gilbert. This was done by us to avoid going through the red tape of the department. We were assured that we would be paid for the additional ex-pense. Against Garbage Franchise. PORTLAND, April 19.—(To the Editor.)
-It is to be hoped that the proposed or-

Why saddle this monopoly on the city for the next $\mathbb{W}$ years, whereby we will be compelled to pay more for the work done than under the present system? Why all this mystery as regards to the identity of its promoters and their actions? This franchise should be open to any responsible person who may choose to go after it, for in that case the city might derive a valuable consideration and perhaps its citizens be benefited by lower charges than proposed by the company in charges than proposed by the company in question.
