

DOGS OF GOOD NAME

Lovers of Man's Best Friend Go to See Him.

ALL BREEDS REPRESENTED

Best Display of Sporting Dogs Ever Seen in Kennel Club's Show -Winners Among Breeds of Big Dogs.

Portland's canine 400 in its best bib and tucker is holding a fete at the Exposition building. Big dogs, little dogs, fat dogs, thin dogs, mock-looking, little, orchid dogs with fleecy coats that a milady may dawdle on her knee, and imperious, majestic, brawny dogs, prototypes of Jack London's Buck, the king of his kind, who by his sheer strength of bone and muscle conquered the elemental, mysterious North. Dogs with Ellen Beach Yaw rasquette, high C voices, and dogs with the thunderous, Edouard de Reszke base key. All sizes, ages and habits of dogs, but all aristocrats with that pride of ancestry which separates them from their fellows of the street and makes them dogs apart. They are holding court this week, and all the Portland world who loves a dog is going out to see and do homage to them.

All this is because the Portland Kennel Club is giving its fifth annual bench show. It is the largest and by far the best show of blooded dogs ever seen here, and represents the work of months of planning and work on the part of local fanciers. The attendance yesterday afternoon and evening was very large, and the keenest interest was displayed by the visitors. James Mortimer, the New York expert, who came here to judge the entries, commended the work of awarding prizes as soon as the show opened, and will continue until all classes have been properly estimated. Superintending the show, he has shown admirable judgment in the benching, and the hundreds of dogs are as comfortable as it is possible to make them. The animals are in the best possible condition, and no effort has been spared to exhibit them to the best advantage.

The display of hunting dogs is perhaps the best feature of the show. There are dozens of pointers and setters, some trained veterans of many a hard day's work in the field, some whose breeding gives promise of great achievements, and some who are simply foolishly superior in their showing off as a matter of course. The bull and fox terriers come in for much attention, and the dignified Great Danes and St. Bernards are accorded most respectful notice. Just by way of contrast, a tiny baby coyote has been brought in from his native wilds and set down in the midst of the show. He is of the canine kingdom. He seems sadly out of place, and as a type of the progenitor of the dog race is something of a failure. He is as shy and pitiful looking. He pipes an occasional wail against such treatment, but the "call of the wild" is a still, small voice amid the clamor of the show dogs.

The exhibition is what in the belle-letters of the circus bill would be called interesting, instructive and highly moral. The casual visitor who thinks of a dog as a dog will find much to attract him, and the crank who glories in a superior knowledge of the shading of breeds, who is on the talent for "points" and who knows the whole story of the who, how, why, will be gratified and enthusiastic. The show will continue through the week, concluding Saturday evening, when the complete awards will be announced. Owing to washouts on several of the railroad lines, many of the dogs were delayed on the way to the city and did not arrive until late yesterday afternoon, so the judging did not commence until 7:30 o'clock last night, when Judge Mortimer awarded the ribbons to the larger dogs.

The first prize in the puppy dog class for rough-coated St. Bernards was awarded to Colonel, owned by Mrs. L. D. Henderson, of Portland. The ribbons for the limit rough-coated St. Bernards dogs were awarded as follows:

- King Harold, Mrs. E. A. Baldwin, Portland, owner, first; Sampson, Alex Matthews, Portland, owner, second; Colonel, Mrs. L. D. Henderson, Portland, owner, third; Jack, Mrs. C. B. Myers, Portland, owner, very highly commended. Rough-coated St. Bernards, open dogs—Colonel, King Harold, Mrs. E. A. Baldwin, Portland, owner, second; Jack, Mrs. C. B. Myers, Portland, owner, third; new winners, Colonel, reserve winners, King Harold. Great Danes, limit dogs—Lief, Dr. J. C. Zan, Portland, owner, first; Commodore, Miss Lillian J. Gallagher, Portland, owner, second; A. W. J. A. Woodley, Ione, Or., owner, third; Jasper, Mrs. L. G. Carpenter, Portland, owner, very highly commended. Great Danes, open dogs—Lief, first; Commodore, second; J. A. W., third; Jasper, very highly commended. Great Danes, open bitches—Duchess of York, J. G. Morgan, Seattle, Wash., owner, first. Winners, Great Danes—Lief, first; Duchess of York, second. Deerhounds, puppy dogs—Racket, John Boner, Scappoose, Or., owner, first; Lead, John Boner, owner, second. Deerhounds, open dogs—Skinner, S. L. Elliott, Holbrook, Or., owner, first; Spot, John Boner, Scappoose, Or., owner, second. Deerhounds, puppy bitches—June, H. W. Price, Portland, owner, first. Deerhounds, open bitches—Nellie, S. L. Elliott, owner, first. Deerhounds, winners—Nellie, first; Skinner, reserve. Greyhounds, puppy dogs—Moccasin, Dr. Alex Reid, Ione, Or., owner, first. Greyhounds, limit dogs—Dexter, Miss E. B. Moore, Portland, owner, third. Greyhounds, open dogs—Boney Boy, J. B. Tilden, Portland, owner, first; Dexter, third. Greyhounds, first winners—Boney Boy. Chinamen's Bay, limit dogs—Oregon Chess, W. M. Davis, Portland, owner, first.

The judging will commence promptly at 10 o'clock this morning, with the pointers and nearly, if not all, of the sporting dogs will be judged today. The sporting dogs are an unusually fine class this year, and considering the excellence of this class in former years, this is saying considerable.

PLAYS FOR NEXT SEASON.

Cordray's Theater Has Secured Some Very High Attractions.

Cordray & Russell, of Cordray's Theater, received yesterday a partial list of their new bookings for next season, and among the attractions are: "Blanche Bates in 'The Darling of the Gods'; 'David Harum'; 'Orphan's Prayer'; 'Mason & Macon, in a new production; 'Finian's Rainbow'; 'The Arizona Boy'; 'Arthur Aston in a new play; 'Black Patti'; 'Heart of Maryland'; 'Little Outcast'; and the 'Heart of Chicago.' Only three melodramas are booked so far. These attractions will be seen at Cordray's with the new season, opening at the end of August or beginning of September.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured. William Shaffer, a brakeman of Dennison, Ohio, was confined to his bed for several weeks with inflammatory rheumatism. "I used many remedies," he says, "finally I went to McCaw's drug store for a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, at which time I was unable to use hand or foot, and in one week's time was able to go to work as happy as a clam." For sale by all druggists.

"ME NEXT," BARKED EVERY OTHER DOG IN THE SHOW.

WATTERSON ON LINCOLN

GREAT EDITOR LECTURES ON GREAT STATESMAN.

Leader of Southern Democracy Extols Him as the South's Friend—He Refuses to Discuss Politics.

Abraham Lincoln never had higher or more sincere tribute paid to his memory than that contributed by Hon. Henry Watterson last night in a lecture at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. In beautiful language and graceful garlands of thought the noble instincts of this great statesman were unfolded. Mr. Watterson is well fitted to speak of Lincoln. He knew him personally. He rode with him from the Capitol to the White House after his inauguration and stood by his side as he delivered his wonderful inaugural address. "Twice at that moment I first began to comprehend the depth and greatness of his character—to realize that he was born to command—a fact which the members of his Cabinet learned later on."

In regard to his appearance, Mr. Watterson said that he was not as bad as he had expected from reports on this subject, but—"He was no Adonis—even according to prairie ideas!"

In relating the incidents of his early life, the manner in which he was raised and got his education, Mr. Watterson said that he received "unconscious training for the Presidency." Lincoln's complete domination of the political situation he accounted natural in a man of his strength of character and masterful mind. His wisdom he spoke of as canny, his humor unconscious, and of the great man himself as "a many-sided being."

WILL NOT TALK POLITICS.

Henry Watterson Says He Will Not Even Attend Convention.

The editor of a newspaper in a minor city, and still a man whose every political utterance is quoted from side to side of all America, is Henry Watterson, the famous journalist of Kentucky, who arrived in Portland yesterday morning on a lecture tour. Fearlessness has ever

ON SLIGHT FOUNDATION

CHARGES AGAINST HIGH SCHOOL BOYS WERE BASED.

Sole Instance of Immorality on Record is Two Years Old—Parents Blind to Children's Sins.

As no proofs of immoral practices among High School students have been brought forward, the indignant boys who signed a remonstrance Tuesday now feel that they have done all in their power to wipe away the blot which had been cast upon the reputation of the school, and are awaiting developments.

The foundation of the sensational rumor that High School boys frequented the North End, maintained private rooms there and induced girls of their own class to join them there is scarcely known to a single member of the body of students or their parents who have been invited in the protest.

HOME FROM CONFERENCE.

United Evangelical Church Wants New Building in Portland.

Rev. H. L. Pratt, presiding elder of the United Evangelical Church; Rev. L. M. Boser, of the First Church, and Rev. Josiah Bowersox, of the Second Church, Albia, have returned from Hillsboro, where they attended the annual conference. Rev. Mr. McVickers, with his wife, goes to St. Johns, where there is a mission church and where it is hoped to build the new church.

Freaks of Devotees of Alcohol

One Man Gives Away His Coin—Dying Man Takes a Last Drink.

If the experience of Olaf Jorgensen in Albia yesterday afternoon may be taken as a criterion, greed for coin is dying out, at least on the East Side. In a spirit of liberality Jorgensen tried to give all his money away and, when several pedestrians refused to accept his proffer of money, he lost his temper and tried to administer a thrashing to at least two citizens. He finally succeeded in giving his money to a crowd of boys just as the patrol wagon and several police officers arrived on the spot. He was taken to the police station and locked up on a charge of drunkenness. As he had not money enough left to pay a fine, his extravagant liberality will probably cost him a term on the reformatory.

BUT Jorgensen's experience are mild as compared with those of Ed. Riley, 75 years old, and a veteran of the Rowing club. Riley's body was found lying on the streets in the south part of the city early in the afternoon. The mouth was agape and the man appeared to have been dead some time.

Residents summoned the police, and when Officers Quinlan and Gruber got behind the patrol wagon they found the old fellow still held a spark of life, although his pulse was beating with the slowness of a church-bell tolling for a funeral. The strong odor of alcohol gave the officers some insight into the cause of the sufferer's condition.

Riley was loaded onto a stretcher, which was tenderly set in the wagon and a hurry run was made for St. Vincent's Hospital. "Is he going to live?" asked Gruber of Quinlan while the patrol wagon was pegging their way to the hospital at a 2:30 clip. "I doubt if he'll last till we get to the hospital," said Quinlan. Happening to glance back at their charge at this moment the officers saw a queer sight. Riley might have been dying when picked up, but he was in a mighty healthy attitude at that instant. He was sitting upright and trying his best to raise a flask of whiskey to his bloodless lips.

Both officers escaped nervous prostration by a very narrow margin. They let the horses walk the rest of the way to St. Vincent's Hospital, where a surgeon in charge of his case showed he was in about the last stages of alcoholism. An hour later he was dead. His body was sent to the morgue. Today it will be consigned to the potter's field.

WHY PASTORS ARE SCARCE

PORTLAND PRESBYTERY HEARS THE REASONS.

Delegates Elected to General Assembly at Buffalo—Travels of the Sunday School Missionary.

The second meeting of the Portland Presbytery was called to order at 9 A. M. yesterday and was in session all day. The most important event of the day was the report of the committee appointed last Spring to investigate the question of why the number of young men entering the ministry as a profession is decreasing. The committee astonished the presbytery by the great amount of work it had done in collecting data and statistics and the thoroughness with which it had done this. The question involved an examination of the records of both denominational and non-denominational schools, in order to ascertain whether the latter was causing the number to decrease, and the forces of the former need to be strengthened to overcome the evil. Many colleges are really denominational, but not being under ecclesiastical control are not classed as such, so this made the work of great scope. The matter was of deepest interest to the clergy, and the assembly willingly allowed the committee to continue its work until the next meeting, as requested by it.

The election of commissioners to the General Assembly at Buffalo next May was also an important feature of the day's work. Rev. W. S. Gilbert, of Calvary Church, and Rev. Albert Robinson, of Tuslain Plains, were elected, with Rev. Dr. W. E. Holt and Rev. A. D. Super as alternates. The lay delegates are Professor S. R. Johnston, of the Portland Academy, and J. E. Martin, of Mizpah Church; alternates, Dr. O. P. S. Plummer and M. V. Godfrey.

AGAINST OPEN SUNDAY FAIR.

Southern Oregon Presbytery Adopts Petition to Treasurer Shaw.

ASHLAND, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—The Presbytery of Southern Oregon, which is in session here today, took action upon the question of Sunday closing for the Lewis and Clark Exposition by directing a petition to Secretary of the Treasury Shaw appealing to him to interpret the action of Congress to be in harmony with the specific action of the Senate, which prescribed as a condition of the appropriation that the gates of the Fair be closed on Sundays, and requiring that proper persons contract to close the gates on said days before appropriations are disbursed to them by the Secretary.

CONVEYING MOYER TO DENVER

Military is Closely Guarding President of Miners' Federation.

TELLURIDE, Colo., April 20.—Adjutant-General Bell, Captain Bulkeley Wells, Captain Carlie and Colonel Kennedy, with a guard of 17 troopers, departed at 8:25 this morning for Denver with President Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, to be present at the habeas corpus proceeding in the Supreme Court tomorrow afternoon.

Church's Increased Membership.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., April 20.—(Special.)—The Central Washington Presbytery, composed of Kittitas, Kilkittat and Yakima Counties, is in session in this city, with 25 delegates present at the organization. Rev. A. F. McLean, of Ellensburg, was elected moderator. The principal business of the day was hearing reports from various districts, all of which showed that the church has greatly increased in membership during the year.

RHEUMATISM

JOINTS AND MUSCLES SWOLLEN AND STIFF

A disease so painful and far-reaching in its effects upon the human system as Rheumatism, must have a deep and well-laid foundation. It originates and develops in the blood, and, like other diseases of the blood, is frequently inherited. The poisonous acids with which the blood is charged circulate through the system, breaking down the health, irritating the nerves, settling in joints and muscles, and causing the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to Rheumatism. Unless the blood is purified, joints and muscles become coated with the acid matter and are rendered stiff and sore, and the nerves completely wrecked.

Rheumatism, being a constitutional blood disease, requires internal treatment. Liniments, plasters and such things as are applied outwardly, give only temporary relief. S. S. S. is the recognized greatest of all blood purifiers and tonics, and in no disease does it act so promptly and beneficially as Rheumatism, neutralizing the acids and restoring the blood to a pure, healthy condition and invigorating and toning up the nerves and all parts of the system. It is guaranteed strictly vegetable. Write us should you desire medical advice, which will cost you nothing.

My knee and elbow joints were so swollen and painful that I could not close them when opened. I was getting discouraged when I began S. S. S., but as I saw it was helping me, continued, and to-day am a sound, well man." 1855 Mt. Vernon Ave. R. H. CHAPMAN.
