Emperor and Members of the Imperial Family Are Undeterred by Raw Weather to Take Part In the Demonstration.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 29.-Such an outburst of popular enthusiasm as was witnessed today upon the arrival here of the survivors of the Variag and Korietz has not been experi-enced in many years. Undeterred by the raw, rainy weather, 100,000 persons crowded to the three-mile Nevsky, from the railroad depot to the palace square. The windows were black with people waving naval fings. The whole route was lined by soldiers, sailors and cadets of the military school. Every regiment was represented, as if the Emperor wished all his fighting men to see how the brave

Grand Duke Alexis, as High Admiral, received the herofs. The crowd, however, had the first word. A deafening storm of cheers burst out as the weather beaten seamen appeared in sight. The crews of the Variag and Korietz were quickly mustered on the platform, each man wearthe St. Ge ng the St. George cross. The Grand Duke Alexis, attended by brilliant staff of Admirals, approached the survivors of the Chemulpo engagement, and Captain Roudeness, the commander Variag, saluted and presented the Grand Duke with a formal report of the battle and the number and state of health of the survivors. The Grand Duke, followed by Captain Roudeneff and the Admirals, then passed along the ranks and caluted the sailors. Russian fashion, saying "Well done, my chlidren," to which the sailors replied as one man, "We are glad to do our best, Imperial Highness."

The blue jackets, who were seated at the imperial table and, were served by the imperial servants, were overcome by the splendor of the feast. It was a day of wonders and surprises, the little father himself coming to them. The Emperor, wearing the full uniform of an Admiral, approached the sailors, escorting both the Empresses, and followed by the other members of the imperial family, he said, in a voice ringing with emotion

"I am happy, brothers, to see you all here safely returned. Many of you have inscribed with your blood a record of heroic deeds in our annals. You gave the names of the Variag and Korletz immor I am sure you will remain worthy to the last of the crosses bestowed upon you. All Russia and I have been moved by the recital of your exploits at Che-"I thank you, brothers, for vindicating

Japanese Transport Sunk by Vladi

vostok Squadron Signalled It. VLADIVOSTOK, April 29 .- The squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Yeszen has returned her from its cruise off the Corean coast. The squadron, consisting of the armored cruisers Rossia, Rurik and of the armored crusers Rossia, Rurik and Cromobor, and the protected cruiser Bo-gatyr, put to sea at daybreak, April 23. The Rurik returned the following day, but the others proceeded to Wonsan, (Gensan) Cores, and hove to off the town during the morning of April 25, about five miles from the entrance of the bay. Admiral Yeszen sent into the bay two torpedoboats, commanded by Lieutenant Maximoff. As they ran in towards the more they found the Japanese trading steamer Goyo Maru at anchor, with a of 20 men on board. The latter ordered ashore. Lieutenant Maximoff boarded the Goyo Maru, took pos-session of her papers and flags and then sent her to the bottom with a torpedo.

The torpedoboats rejoined the squadron after four hours' absence. There was no sign of troops ashore and the bay was empty, but it was learned that four Japanese torpedoboat destroy-ers had put to sea April 25.

The Russian squadron returned to Vlad. ivostok, and late during the night of April 26 started on another expedition. At 6, on the evening of April 28, when 360 miles out, the squadron sighted a Japanese steamer with war stores on board. Her crew, consisting of 15 Coreans and 12 Japanese, were placed in safety and the steamer sunk by a pyroxylin cartridge fired from the Cromobor. The same night, at about II o'clock, when the squadron was 12 miles off Plaksin Bay, Corea, a large Japanese transport, the Kinshiu Maru, was overhauled. Her com-mander mistook the Russian for a Japan. ess squadron and signaled, "I am bringing you coal."

The Russian commander promptly signaied in reply, "Stop instantly."

The crew of the transport then recognised their mistake and began to lower boats and steam pinnaces with the greatest haste and endeavored to escape, but the Russian steam cutters secured them

On board the transport were found fou Hotchkiss gurs of 47 millimetres. At the outset it looked as if no one was left on board, but on examination it was found that the cabin was locked and parred. Therein the Russians found six infantry officers, who surrendered without resistance and were taken on board the Rurik. In another part of the ship 120 infantrymen, who refused to surren-der, were found.

Admiral Yeszen, who vessel was about 1600 yards away, ordered his men to leave the transport. The Japanese soldiers then opened, fire and wounded a Russian. Afterward the transport was sent to the bottom by means of a mechanical mine and a few shells.

The Japanese on board did not cease firng and made no attempt to save them-elves, although they had a launch in which they could have left the transport. The fire of the Japanese actually of three until the waves closed over ship. The transport had on board not only ammunition, but 2000 tons of coal for Admiral Makamura. The prisoners num-bered 183, including 17 officers. Altogether 210 prisoners were taken by the Russian squadron and landed at Vladivostok and mediately dispatched by train to Nikolsk.

SAY JAPANESE WERE JEALOUS

Russians Think Men Who Stuck by Ship Remembered Chemulpo.

PETERSBURG, April 25.—The s of Rear-Admiral Yeszen's raid show that it was entirely successful The Admiral safely brought back his ships to Viadivostok after inflicting material and moral damage on the enemy. The cruise was most daring. The enemy's squadron was known to be in proximity, which necessitated the prompt sinking of the Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru. The conduct of the 130 troops remaining n board the Kinchiu Maru in refusing to surrender and firing upon the Russians even while their vessel was sinking evoked

"The Japanese are jealous of our Che mulpho heroes," is the popular comment. At the same time, the action of the heroic 130 men did not leave the Russians any alternative. They were obliged to sink the transport, but means of escape were left at the disposal of the 120 Japanese. The ability of Admiral Yeszen's ships to reach Gensan, 200 miles away, in 23 hours, as they did on the second expedition, is certain to compel the Japanese to their guard.

The papers point out the mendacity of the Japanese claims that Gensan was strongly garrisoned, and believe that the ssian advance from Plaksin Bay will not meet with strong resistance. Kinchiu Maru evidently was convoying

At midnight of April 26, while off Gensan, Corea, the Kinshiu Maru parted from a convoy of Japanese torpedoboats in the fog at 11:30 on the morning before. This was reported to the Rossia, whereupon the Russian cruiser discharged a torpedo at the Japanese transport, striking her amidships. The Kinshiu Maru was broken in two. While she was striking the soldiers on board rushed up on deck and fired volleys from their rifles into the Rossia, and several of them committed spicide

ST. PETERSBURG, April 25.-Viceroy that a Japanese squadron was sighted the Nevsky of the officers and men of six miles off Port Arthur, last night and this morning. Japanese cruisers and six torpedo-boats were seen in Ksuri Bay, adjacent to Vladivostok.

The report aroused much anxiety. Naval circles are speculating whether the enemy will venture to approach Vladivostok at closer range than the last time. There are persistent rumors of fighting on the Yalu River, but the Associated Press correspondent is informed that no serious fighting has been limited to affairs of the Russians harassing the Japanese advance.

WILL EXHIBIT AT 1905 FAIR. Massachusetts Appropriates $15,000 and Other Eastern States May Join.

Massachusetts has come forward with an appropriation of $15,000 for the exhibit of that state at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Word was received by C. H. McIssac that the committees of the Legislature at Boston had reported favorable to an appropriation of that amount, and little or no opposition was expected in passing the bill containing the appropria-

Whether or not Massachusetts will put the money into a state building has not yet been determined. It is thought that n order to do this a second appropria tion will be required to convey the state's St. Louis exhibit here. Developments are expected from other New England states in the near future. These states will in all probability be asked to put up $5000 apiece for the construction of magnificent New England building.
