ONLY TRUE CHURCH

Elder Craig Claims This Title for New Sect.

ALL OTHERS ARE MAN-MADE

He Calls It God's Church and Says Others Belong to the Devil-No Creed or Membership Roll is Provided.

"This is not a church; this is a meeting-house," remarked Elder R. H. Craig. as he drove a nail home in the wood frame for the concrete foundation of the eeting-house, which has been started on Hawthorne avenue, between East Sixth and Seventh streets. It is a two-story and a haif building with a full basement and a half building with a full basement and will cost about $1000. It will be known as "God's Church," of Portland, and is distinct from any other religious or-ganization. If it can be called an or-ganization. Mr. Craig came from Spo-kane to help put up the structure. The adherents believe that all other churches are merely man-made, have not the hely spirit and belong to the devil, and that they alone are in the straight and nar-

There are a few Christians among outside churches," continued Mr Craig, "but they will drop out and come into the only spiritual church—the Church of God. We have no disciples, ino membership, no creed, and no uncon-verted man or woman can come into the Church of God. When a man is con-verted, he is already in. We can't take him in and we can't get him out, and he goes out only when he backelides. How old is this church? Why, Christ estab-lished it. The Bible is the foundation. The Bible is our creed, our everything. Who are the members? The converted has the members, no matter where they no membership, no creed, and no uncon are the members, no matter where they re. This church is modelel after the sinistrations of the Apostles of Christ. We believe that there should be but the one church, as there was the church of Athens, etc., and this is 'God's Church of Portland-there may be more meet-ing-houses but the one church of Christ. "In Portland, I suppose, there must be at least 100 different denominations and other sideshows, where there should be but the one church. How many true Christians are there in these churches? Ask a man if he be a Christian, and he says, 'I am a member of the Mormon Church,' or 'the Methodist Church,' but does not say he is born again into e kingdom. Ask the minister in charge one of these churches how many Christians be has, and he will tell how many members he has on the roll, but will be able to name few who have had the witness of the spirit that they have been born into the kingdom. These churches are like the workmen at the tower of Babel-they are full of con-fusion. They have east aside the doc-trine of divine healing and the witness of the holy spirit. Their ministers are achine-made. They go to a preacher-achine school to be educated in the-ogy, and are educated from God. They e man-made. We believe that, if a are man-hade. We believe that, if a man be called to expound the work and carry the message of God, he will be called and filled with the holy spirit."

The only organization this church has is a board of trustees, and this much is conceded to the world because the laws. of the land require some legal head to do business and to hold property. There are no missionary societies, no ladies' aid, no young people's organization, but everything is of the simplest possible everything is of the simplest possible form to comply with the teachings of Christ and his aposties. Elder Neil is the pastor. There are no "reverends" in "God's Church." The meeting-house is being built by the elders and lay

CARNATION DAY IN CHURCH.

Fragrant Flower Presented to Old Members at Taylor-Street.

"Carnation day" was celebrated yesterday morning at Taylor-Street Methodist Church, and a large congregation was present. The music by the regular choir and the children's choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann, was excellently rendered, the newly-installed organist being Mrs. Edward Drake. One of the special features of the musical service was a remittion of the anthem, Tve Walted for the Lord," by Mendels-sohn. Rev. Dr. F. Burgette Short preached a thoughtful, scholarly sermon from Hebrews, xill 5, "I Will Never Leave Thee Nor Foreske Thee." In the course of his remarks Dr. Short said: "I wish all people in this congregation, who are above 50 years old, to come in front of the preaching platform at the conclusion of this service and receive from Mrs. Short's hands a carration as a remembrance. Not that we value your friendship as the price of one carnation; far from it. But we wish after you take your carnation home that its fragrance carnation home that its fragrance serve to make you remember us and

An amused look stole over the face of most of the people present, and there appeared to be a lot of mental calculation going on. When the benediction was pronounced, about 150 men and women, who practically admitted being upward of 50 years old each, walked down the misles, where they received a pleasant smile and a fragrant carnation from Mrs. Short. It was one of the most no church services held in this city for a

The choir sang an authem, "Abide With Me," and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hamilton sang a duet, "I've Had a Glimpse of Jesus." Miss Nelle Dickerson ably played the organ accompaniments. women singers hereafter in Cath olic Church choirs, and their places to be filled by choir boys. Abolition of music belonging to the operatic school and simply Gregorian chants to be sub-stituted." This is the kernel of a dis-patch received yesterday from New York purporting to give an advance pro-gramme of what may be expected before long in Catholic Churches throughout the country, in line with the recent pronouncement of Pope Pius X calling for a simpler form of church music.

It was not possible yesterday to see Archbishop Christie, but one of the clergy at the Cathedral residence made this statement: "There will not probably be any interference with the personnel of Catholic Church choirs in this country for some time to come. The change will be a gradual one in the direction of Gregorian chants and much simpler music than the kind at present in vogue. The tendency is against permitting the use of nondevotional operatic music, but there is no wish, so far as I know, to ask women singers to retire from Catholic choirs in America. When the Pope recently made his wishes known as to simpler music in the services of the church, I do not think he referred so much to this country. He was specially thinking of the church in Italy. Prac-tically there are not any women singers in Catholic Church choirs in Rome.

Central Christian Church Worships

for First Time in Temporary Home. The tabernacie of the Central Christian Church, East Twentieth and Salmon streets, was dedicated yesterday morning with inspiring services, Rev. J. F. Ghorm-ley, D. D., presiding. This tabernacle is for temporary use, but is commodious and will fully answer all purposes until a fund for a handsome church, which it is hoped to erect on this site, is raised.

A large congregation completely filled the new edifice at the morning and evening services. In the morning Dr. Ghormiey preached on "Does It Pay?" The music, which was unusually good, was especially prepared for this occasion. Mrs. Nettle Gale directs the choir and Miss Eva Ryan is organist.

The membership of this new congrega-tion is rapidly increasing, and the Sun day school has now an enrollment of day school has now an enrollment or over 100. To start a regular building fund, a concert will be given at the tabernacle Tuesday night, some of the best talent appearing. The cash contribution yesterday morning was sufficient to meet all expenses of erecting the present structure, as much of the carpenter work on it was donated.

Free Methodist Church Conference. The annual conference of the Western Oregon division of the Free Methodist Church will convene in the First Church, East Ninth and Mill streets, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Haslam is secretary and treasurer of the conference, and G. W. Bordurant is assistant. Following are chairmen of committees: Education, J. Gienn; publication. W. Prize-Giving at St. Michaels.

The Sunday school scholars of St. Michael's, Fourth and Mill streets, who have been faithful in attendance past term, were handsomely rewarded by Father Cestelli yesterday evening. A record has been kept of the attendance, and five children from each class were awarded prizes, consisting of hands medals and pins of appropriate design.
A substantial sum was invested in these prizes, but Father Cestelli felt that the expenditure was justified by the good cause and the encouragement to the scholars to be faithful in their religious duties. Prior to the distribution of the prizes, a very pretty cantata and a one act farce were given by the pupils. Music was furnished by members of the Italian band. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and the children were genuinely happy. Assisting Father Cestelli were four of the local Catholic

HOW TO REFORM CONVICTS

JOSEPH D. LEE DISCUSSES MOD-ERN METHODS IN VOGUE.

Prompt Employment is the Surest Means of Reforming Discharged Convicts--Methods at Salem.

"Reformation of Convicts" was the subject of an address delivered before the William G. Ellot Fraternity at the First Unitarian Church last evening by Joseph D. Lee, who was superintendent of the State Penitentiary at Salem from 1898 to 1903. In opening, Mr. Lee said: "The penitentiary is a little world by itself, almost hidden from the big, bustling, outside world. To it excursionists and sightseers are attracted that their curiosity may be gratified, but they only see a few of its exterior features. A few who have a sincere desire to benefit the inmates visit it. Their ability for the ac-however horrible may be the crimes they commit. Whether there is compensation in this or not is for the women to say.— New York Times.

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

R. Foster Stone Tells Young Men to Work for It.

An appeal for "Good Government" was made yesterday afternoon in a meeting at the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association by R. Foster Stone, of Ohio, who is traveling through the Northwest in the interest of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and who is also filling engagements for the Anti-Saloon League. The hall was about two-thirds filled with young men. Mr. Stone, who was billed to speak on "Kingiy Men Uncrowned," announced that he had changed his subject to "Good Government," and in Illustrating his remarks used a coploins supply of anecdotes, many of them possupply of anecdotes, many of them po sessing bright, catchy humor. He started by telling of the rise, in North Carolina, of Thomas J. Dickson, Jr., who without complishment of such purpose is varied, buying votes or drinks for the voters ran on independent ticket for the North selves, and even where their power for Carolina Legislature, and was elected on good is really great, their opportunity is a temperance issue, and is now a well-not the best. "The penitentiary, as its name implies, It was this preacher who once said: is primarily a place where convicted wrongdoers are deprived of their personal liberty as a punishment and are compelled to labor without compensation, to ponder over their misdeeds and presumably re-solve to lead a better life. "Reformation is not a word of exact meaning. Its definition is determined largely by the connection in which it is used, but it presupposes deformation, a warring, a disfiguring, and its function is to restore, or bring back to the former good state. From the standpoint of the officer, a man is reformed if he stops the commission of crime. The strict churchman thinks he must come to a certain religious ideal before he is reformed, hence we find statistics showing widely livergent conclusions." The speaker then showed that the suc cess of reformatory work depended very largely upon the conditions which con-fronted the ex-convict upon his discharge. If he was furnished immediately with employment, he was very apt to follow out his good intentions, but so often he failed to secure employment, became dis-couraged, and relapsed into his old ways. He then said: "The public needs a little reforming. It is very hard to get employment for an ex-convict, even when there is no par-ticular risk. He should not be unjustly discriminated against, but at least given a chance for reformation. One good feature of the parole law is that it provides a transition, as it were, for the convict from the penitentiary to the outer world. Self help and not charity is what he The philosophy of the indeterminate sen. tence was explained. The character and conduct of the convict determined the length of time he shall remain, that soci-

and unrelenting criminals should not be eleased to prey upon society. In reformatory work prevention of crims is the principle and punishment the in cident. The work of reformatories and their equipment was dwelt upon. A chap-lain or mentor should be provided for the penitentiary. Mr. St. Pierre, who fills that place now, is paid by charitable people of Salem and Portland. He instructs il-literates in the primary branches, as well as giving religious instructions. The Prisproaching election time in this city. What was done by Dickson in North Carolina can be done in Portland. Have the courage and it will bring out the gold in your character. Ancient Rome was a scene of drunkenness and debauchery where woman was refused her rightful place in society, but the dynamics of the gospel not only raised woman to her right posi-tion but smashed old Rome as well. Those who run the gambling-houses in Portland will be smashed in the same way. I follow a Methodist brother, and on inquiry am informed he is going to a prayer meeting, and find that there are just 16 of these good men at that same mee I go to a caucus and they say to me: out. You don't belong here. We run this." And they win the caucus, while the good men who are at the prayer-meeting are asking the Lord to deliver them from the saloon element. That's a case of praying instead of doing. It's rubbing the salt on the outside of the barrel, instead of rub-bing the salt on the meat, inside. "William T. Stead once said that the introduction of the electric light on the back streets of London had done more to decrease crime than all the efforts of the police. Turn the light on the saloonkees and the gambler—they can't face it. Local option will help you to defend the safety of your home and your children. The que tion of the forthcoming election in this city is simply a question of applied citi-zenship. We have government because men co-operate with God in harnessing the law. God help you to do your duty as men before God and the common-wealth."

The conclusion reached by the speaker was: Rational methods pursued by com-petent people will accompilah much in a reformatory way. The only reason for lenlency, so far as we have heard, is that the mur-deress is not a murderer. ARE WELCOMED BY IRISHMEN

They May Bring Settlers to Pacific Northwest--England Denounced

and Breaking Treaty.

Irishmen to the number of 40 odd gathered in Hibernia Hall yesterday afternoon to meet Captain Sheridan O'Donnell, who fought with the Boer army which defied for two years the mighty military strength of England. With General Gideon Joubert, Captain O'Donnell is in America on a double mission. He is on a lecture tour and he is trying to find a suitable place for the Boers to emigrate to.

"England has not kept her treaty obligations," said Captain O'Donnell,
"South Africa is a desert and is per cent of the people there are living on one meal a day. The English have burned the farmhouses in the two republics. They are sending to Asia for coolles to work in the mines. There is no work, no crops, no trees. The English destroyed the reservoirs and ditches and now the country cannot be irrigated. It is a desolation and the Boers are leaving the country that they won from the wilderness and then lost to the British."

Some time ago it was decided that a good place for the Boers would be South America, and an emigration to that coun-try is now being arranged for. It is partly with a view to stopping this move-ment that the Boer fighters are touring

In the course of the meeting much sympathy was expressed by the various speakers for the Boer cause, and few of them omitted to draw a parallel between England's treatment of Ireland and her course in the two tiny republics of the African veidt. Captain O'Donnell himself alluded to it and to its bitter fruit ter fruit.

Superintendent Hermann Lowitz of the City Park, is very much pleased with the new animal family which was put into his keeping by Captain Craven, of the Indras-amha, with one exception. This exception is the salamander branch of the family. Mr. Lowitz does not like salamanders, nor is he much impressed by them just be-cause they came from Japan.

"You can call them salamanders all you please, but they are nothing but just plain 'water doga.' Plenty of them right down here in Texas, and I think it would be foolishness to pay a big price for them. Here they lie in the water all day, and they are so stupid and singgish I can't tell whether they are sick or well, or whether their food is agreeing with them These animals what you call amphibious

"Beauty is but skindeep" was probably meant to disparage beauty. Instead it tells how easy that beauty is to attain.

"There is no beauty like the beauty of health" was also meant to disparage. Instead it encourages beauty.

Pears' Soap is the means of health to the skin, and so to both these sorts of beauty.

Sold all over the world.

of some kind are the heritage of nearly every one, from the infant and the colic, the middleaged and the distressing, mis-erable headaches, to the aged with nerv-ous, muscular and rheumatic pains. A remedy to relieve in all cases must be founded on the right principle, and that accounts for the wonderful success of

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

They never fall to cure all cases of pain, because they treat the Pain Source—the nerves. By soothing the irritated nerves they leasen the tension, build up the strength, set the blood coursing through the veins and thus allay all pain. "Periodic headache, that unfitted me for business several days at a time, has been my life experience I found first relief in Dt. Miles' Anti-Pain Pilla and since then I invariably ward them off by tak-ing a pill when I feel them coming on."— E. M. MOOBERRY, Windsor, III. Sold on guarantee that first package will benefit, or money rafunded.

5 doses, 5 cents. Never sold in bulk.

THE PALATIAL
