Thanks, Mr. Charles Irwin. By that careless, but none the less terrific toss of yours in the ninth chapter of yesterday's matinee, you saved D. E. Dugdale from sending his crew out for an extra inning, and also gave us a chance, for the first time this season, to get two games in a row. It was a tight fit--3 to 2--and it was anybody's game until Irwin settled it beyond all cavil when he, in aiming for first base, threw so low that the ball rolled almost to the right bleacher fence. Ike Francis had sneaked in a dinky hit and it was Murphy who got Captain Irwin all tangled up when the big chief Seal tried to smother his bunt.

Jake Thielman was to have performed, but he got into a wrangle with Ben Ely and failed to report. Dugdale scanned the club-house anxiously until the last minute, then he called Ham Iberg aside and said, "Ham, it's up to you." Iberg had worked all morning, feeding the team his benders in practice, and he was a bit doubtful about delivering the goods. Dugdale told him to do the best he could. He did, and only in one inning, the fourth, did the Seals gather moss. It gave them a chance to tie up the score, but after that Ham handed his former team mates his laziest, his crookedest and his fastest, and they were as helpless as a small kid that had sneaked over the fence in the hands of Ben Ely. And, by the way, speaking of Ben Ely, it was rumored yesterday that he had, or was going to, make an application for an appointment as special policeman, so as to be able to arrest small boys for climbing over the fence and for stealing foul tips that land outside the fence.

Ginger Still Holds Out.

Getting back to the game, Iberg's work in the box was a splendid sample of the work that his team-mates were doing behind him. It is really remarkable to note the difference in the playing of the men. It was feared that the ginger of Thursday would ooze, but it did not, and if anything, they played with even more vim. Kirby Drennan, by the time the third inning was reached, had sized up Yerkes and the first ball that the tall blond snapped over the pan, Drennan wanged for a single. He stole second while Kerkes was issuing transportation to McCreedie. With these two runs waiting at the door, Nadeau biffed the first ball over for a long single, scoring both runs. How the women did howl! Beck singled, but while he and Phil were trying to pull off a double steal, Nadeau was caught trying to get back to third. Francis died to Hildebrand and the inning was over.

The lead of two did not last long, for in the fourth inning Waldron, Meany and Irwin bunched their singles. On Irwin's long drive Waldron and Meany scored. From then on until the last half of the ninth it was a pitcher's battle, with both the in and the out-fields of both teams working like clocks. In the eighth steelman, Iberg and Beck headed off the Seals just when they began to look threatening. Hildebrand had singled and Waldron, with two strikes on his, just tipped the ball for a foul that slipped through to Steelman's glove. Hildebrand was bent upon stealing second and the backstop winged the ball to Beck, completing the double. Murphy's bit of a mishap in the ninth might have been productive of trouble, but the luck of the game broke for Dugdale and his hard-fighting crew and the next three men were easy outs.

Francis Makes Winning Run.

When Francis rambled towards the plate in the last chapter he got a merry hand. Visions of what he had accomplished the day previous were still burning in the minds of the fair fans and, when he landed feet first at first, a scream of delight followed. Then, when Murphy bunted to Irwin and the throw went wild, scoring Francis and breaking up the game, the yell of delight must have damaged many a vocal cord. What became of the ball no one seemed to know. In the excitement even the players forgot that Francis was running and his brief pause might have cost the game. The score:

ENTER FOR DERBY

Chicago Prize Will Be Sought by Fourteen Horses Today.

ENGLISH LAD IS FAVORITE

He Is Quoted at Three-to-One--Flower King Is the Dark Horse, as He Has Never Won a Race.

CHICAGO, May 20.--Fourteen of the original nominations, which numbered 80, are listed to start in the Chicago Derby to be run at the opening of the Hawthorne tomorrow. Outside of the American Derby, the Chicago Derby is the richest race for three-year-olds in the West and some of the best colts that have faced the barrier will run. Indications are that English Lad will go to the post favorite, his odds tonight being three to one. Proceeds is next at six to one, while the other 12 are strung out at from eight to one to 30 to 1.

Of the 14 horses carded to start, there are but two that ever had their heads in front of English Lad when the wire was reached. These two are Flower King and Prince Silverwings. Flower King is the dark horse in the race as he has never won. Among the other contestants are Moharib, winner of the Kansas City Derby; Proceeds, winner of the Tennessee Derby; Billy Curtis, winner of the Ascot Derby; Rainlands, winner of the Cumberland Derby, and Elwood, winner of the Kentucky and Latonia Derbies. If the track is fast, Proceeds will probably be scratched.

Following are the entries for the race at a mile and a quarter with weights, probable jockies and odds:

Horse.	Weight.	Jockey	Odds.
English Lad	122	J. T. Sheehan	3 to 1
Proceeds	127	Helgerson	6 to 1

America Not Likely to Participate.

NEW YORK, May 20.--There is likely to be no American representation in the international cup race in Germany on June 17, the racing committee of the Automobile Club of America having decided to recommend no representative, after the scheduled trial of the entrants for the team on the Empire City trotting track had ended in a greater fiasco than the earlier trial of the same machines.

Only one of the American cars attempted to carry out the programme arranged by the committee, but after covering 193¼ miles it was withdrawn both from the trial and from the team, because the owner objected to being the sole American representative abroad.

Representatives of a Western company were present, but upon advice of counsel declined to sign an agreement absolving the Automobile Club of America from claims for injuries or damages during the trial.

It had been planned by the committee to give the proposed entrants a 200-mile test on the Empire track and a large crowd of enthusiastic people journeyed thither. They expressed considerable dissatisfaction over the outcome.

AMATEURS PLEASE THE CROWD

Four Bouts Where Youngsters Punch One Another With Science.

Tommy Tracey's amateurs again pleased a large crowd last night. All of the four bouts were clean and fast, with just enough mixing to suit everybody. Frank Watkins and Ed Wiley were the first pair. It took Watkins just two rounds and a half to put Wiley out of the running, and Referee Sam Goodman stopped the boxers just in time to save Wiley and awarded the contest to Watkins.

Kid Harrison and Young Beckman, two 110-pounders, furnished the next bit of amusement. Beckman is one of Tracey's star pupils, and he showed it by his clever work. He is Tracey all over, and right off the reel he was on top of Harrison, and stayed there until he was announced the winner. Beckman did not cut loose. If he had he might have won in a round. Young Jeffries and Ed Peterson were next. While the lads were at it it was a ding-dong affair. Peterson was there with the punch, and it brought him the decision.

The close card was between Jack Sullivan and Tommy Warren. Both boys fought a clever and gruelling four rounds. Sullivan took an early lead over Warren, but he was not in condition, and in the final round Warren came back strong, and so evened up matters that Goodman called it a draw. This lad Warren is a game youngster, for Sullivan certainly handed him a tough beating. Only his gameness saved him.

Heater After Pole-Vault Record.

M'MINNVILLE COLLEGE, McMinnville, Or., May 20.--(Special.)--Since Albert Gilbert, of Pacific University, established a new Northwest record in the pole-vault, Roy Heater, who formerly held the Northwest record in that event, has had a desire to do some vaulting. To see his old record go seemed to somewhat excite him and he decided to again to take up the sport.

At practice recently a large crowd was present to see the phenomenal Yamhill boy perform. He first did the high jump at 5 feet 7 inches, and then being "warmed up," prepared to vault.

The crossbar was placed at 11 feet, which he cleared easily. It was then put at 11 feet 5 inches, which he did the first trial. The distance was accurately measured after each jump. These jumps were made without any preliminary training. Mr. Heater will now begin training for the annual inter-class field meet, which will be held on the local campus May 28, at which time he will endeavor to lower some of his previous records and will also endeavor to establish a new world's record in the pole-vault.

McFarland Not Under Suspension.

SALT LAKE, May 20.--Lloyd McFarland and Hardy Downing, the bicycle riders, arrived here today from Australia, where they have been racing the past season. McFarland stated that the suspension order was issued by the New South Wales Association, one of the five governing bodies in the general federal body of Australia. The other four bodies, after a hearing, refused to recognize the suspension, and as the National Cycling Association of America affiliates only with the federal body, the suspension will have no effect in this country. McFarland stated the charges against him had been cleared before he left Australia. Downing will race on the local track this season, while McFarland will join Iver Lawson in New York.

Yacht Club Is Given Famous Log.

NEW YORK, May 20.--An interesting gift has been made to the New York Yacht Club by Phillippi Schuyler, son of one of the surviving officers of the famous schooner yacht America. It consists of the original log of the voyage of that vessel to Cowes and Havre in 1851, when she won the America's cup, and other documents containing interesting data of the early days of the club, all of which are considered by yachtsmen as records of the greatest value.
