Captain Hart, of Portland Rowing Club, Makes No Complaint.

R. C. Hart, capitain of the Portland Rowing Club, who accompanied the crew from the club to Seattle, Decoration day, fouring that its hosts in the University of Washington would think it discourteous in saying anything that would lead to the helief that it had not had fair treatment at their hands, said last night: "We were defeated fairly and squarely because we did not row as well as the Washington crew. The fact that we had broken training may have placed us at some disadvantage, but when we agreed to row after the race had been called off we accepted the new conditions and have no complaint on that account. Coach

Percy E. Stowell is in accord with me in this matter. "We went over to Scattle to row the
