DR. E. P. HILL MAKES ADDRESS

Elaborate Musical Programme in Marsh Hall in Which a Chorus of Forty-Two Well-Trained Voices Takes Part.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Or., June 15.—(Special.)—The Inrgest au-dience of the week gathered in Brighton Chapei this morning to hear the 42d com-mencement exercises of Pacific Univer-sity. The entire front of the spacious auditorium was a mass of ferns and ivy rising in clusters from the platform and hanging featoned from the walls Reauhanging festooned from the walls. Beau-tiful bouquets of roses gave color to the tiful bouquets of roses gave color to the scene. On the platform sat the faculty and distinguished alumni of the institu-President Ferrin presided.

The exercises opened with an invocation by Rev. Mr. Bollinger, of Oregon City, after which Miss Waggoner, who com-pletes the course in vocal music, gave a beautiful rendition of "Troumerei," by

The orations by members of the graduating class were two in number. "The Evolution of Faust," by Miss Mabel Hoge, and "The Mission of the Moral Pioneer," by Miss Harriet Yoder. Both were good productions and showed much desper study than the average college oration. The young ladies spoke with a clearness and force that carried their audience with them.

After a beautiful vocal solo by Miss Moseley, a pupil in the conservatory. President Perrin introduced Dr. Edgar P. Hill, of the First Presbyterian Church, Portland, who delivered the address of He stated his subject as "The Leisure Hour," and said in part:

"Many of those present are probably surprised at the subject I have chosen. On this occusion you expected a discussion upon some problem which comes to us from the past and reaches far into the future. My topic may seem trivial, but I believe that upon consideration you will conclude that it is well worth discussing. I believe with Dr. Hopkins that the question, "What shall we do with our leisure hours?" is one of the most important problems of any age. He said. Tell me what is done with the leisure of humanity and I will tell you the destiny of the race."

"Now, as ever, we have our lelsure classes, but they are not the most im-portant factor in this discussion. Today, however, the problem is brought before our laboring classes as never before. Yes. terday our workmen were busy? If or 14 hours a day; today they work eight or ten. What shall they do with these lefaure hours? Of what benefit is this time to them if it is to be used for their

This brings us to the topic of amuse As to what amusements we may induige in, each one must decide for him-self. But let each select something from which he will derive a benefit. When the people learn to use the extra hour, not simply for pastime, but for the upbuilding of body, mind and soul, then will dawn the brightest day the world has known. "Recently I attended at St. Louis the grangest exhibition of man's handlwork the world has ever seet. It was impos-ing beyond description, but the most imp-pressive moment for me was Sunday morn-ing when I looked toward the Fair gates and saw that they were shut. We must and saw that they were shut. We must remember God's teaching that Sunday is a holy day and not a holiday.

"How many men who have come to positions of power have been helped upward by proper use of their spare moments! It was so with Milion, with Gladstone and with many others, and so it is today. We hear that this is a lawless age, it is; an irreverent age, it is; a superficial dems that vex us now would be solved if we learned the lesson which I bring you today. Perhaps tomorrow will see the dawning of a brighter day. The opportunity lies open to the youth of this

After Dr. Hill had concluded, Mrs Chapman sang "The Lord Is My Light," by Allitsen, in a manner that called forth bearty applause. Then President Ferrin conferred degrees as follows: B. L., Miss Mabel Hoge; A. B., Miss Harriet Yoder; A. M., Miss Ella Walker, A. B., 1981, and M. S., Victor Emmel, B.

The degree of A. B. was also granted to Thomas Robinson, who is now at Princeton, where he has made up a few credits which he required for graduation at Pacific last year. A diploma from the conservatory was given Miss Wilma Weggmer of Hillshop. goner, of Hillsboro.

Elaborate Commencement Concert.

ORATIONS WELL DELIVERED. Albany College Commencement Exercises Are Ended. ALBANY, Or., June 15.—(Special.)—The 37th annual commencement of Albany College was brought to a successful close tonight. The graduating exercises were held in the United Presbyterian Church discharge. this morning at 19 o'clock, when diplomas were granted and orations pronounced by the candidates for degrees from the liter-ary courses. The auditorium of the church was filled with friends of the graduates and of the college long before time for the exercises to commence. The hall was profusely decorated for the occasion, and the remembrances for the graduates

E. R. Prichard, of Aberdeen Wash, pronounced the invocation. This was followed by a piano solo by Miss Emma Sox. Then an excellent oration on "Human Frailty, or Fower Undermined," was delivered by B. Russell Wallace. Mr.
Wallace chose Mark Antony as the example of his subject. The great power for organization and leadership were portrayed, but all availed nothing because of lack of self-control. The oration showed careful preparation, and was well deliv-

George A. Prichard chose "The Caesar of the Nineteenth Century" for his thome. The paper, which was filled with thoughtful argument, was a defense of Napoleon Bonaparte, who was held up as the Caesar of the 19th century, the leader of men, presumer of government and generally of organizer of government and generall superior abilities. All his acts were tified by the writer as necessary to gain tified by the writer as necessary to gain the ends desired, which were without exception maintained to be for the good of the people whom Napoleon ied.

After a vocal solo by Mrs. H. A. Neisson, D. Webster Wight delivered an oration on "The Russo-Japanese War." The war was described as a conflict between the Anglo-Saxon and the Slav, with Japan fighting England's battles. While the side of neither party to the conflict was espoused, it was made clear that the progress of the Anglo-Saxon peoples demanded the preservation of the Chinese domain intact.

Willard L. Marks then delivered his oration on "The Inevitable Conflict." The paper was a creditable effort, both in composition and delivery. It was essentially a slap at arbitration in international affirs. The Hague conference to promote arbitration was ridiculed as productive of nothing but promises. "Since the beginning of time nations of the world have been crying for peace, while their sword is constantly unsheathed for war." The frony of history was noticed in the fact that news of The Hague conference had hardly reached all the nations interested until Russia, the leader in the move-Willard L. Marks then delivered his ested until Russia, the leader in the move ment for international arbitration, was engaged in a war of conquest. The writer predicted that the landgrabbing of nations would inevitably lead to a world conflict for supremacy, and the United States was beid up as the final victor. At the close of his oration Mr. Marks delivered one of the best valedictories that has marked the commencements of Albany College.

The exercises at this year's close of school were creditable—by many have been pronounced the best in the history of the college. All students have taken an active part in preparation of the pro-gramme, the townspeople have been act-tvely interested, and the work has been above the average for college students. Degrees were granted by President Wallace Howe Lee as follows: Bachelor of aris, George Albert Prich-ard; bachelor of science, Willard Leigh-ton Marks, Brice Russell Wallace, Daniel ton Marka, Brice Russell Wallace, Daniel Webster Wight: diplomas without degree, from the business course, Carl F. Bergman, Ray D. Crow, Carroll H. Cushman; shorthand course, Carl F. Bergman, Gertrude Minnie Bilin, Carroll H. Tonisht the annual banquet of the Alumni Association was held. Many mem-bers of the alumni organization were present, and the banquet was made pleas-ant with witty responses to toasts by men and women who attended Albany College in bygone days.

The juniors held their exercises in the United Prosbyterian Church last evening orations being delivered by each member of the class.

Today's exercises finished the work of the college year, which President Lee declares one of the most successful years the college has experienced.

An Evening With Novelists.

Ralph Conner, George Cable, Sarah Mo-Lean, Habberton, Eggleston, Henryk Sien-kiewicz, Irving Bacheller and Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

Every number on the programme was creditably given, but the two which were especially good were "The Arena Scene," given by Wallace Brill, of Portland, and "The Fall of Pemberton Milla," given by Milas Gertrude Johnson, of Salem.

PLEA FOR COUNTRY LIFE.

Corvallis Salutatorian Shows How

Progress Has Affected it.

CORVAILIS. Or., June 15.—(Special.)—An address to the graduating class by Hon. George H. Durham, of Grant's Pars, with the Russo-Japanesse war as a theme, was a feature of the graduating exercises at the Oregon Agricultural College today. Twelve hundred people filled the Armory. With its elaborate decorations, its crowded platform and its setting of humanity in the audience, the big auditorium presented a thrilling scene.

An invocation by Dr. Handsaker, of the Christian Church, was followed by "Italia," rendered by the indies' chorus, under the leadership of Mrs. Green, of the department of vo-Progress Has Affected It.

ladies' chorus, under the leadership of Mrs. Green, of the department of vocal music. Miss Maude Cochran, of Aurora, had the salutatory. Her subject was "A Message From the Farm." In brief she reviewed the history of agriculture, describing its prominence in the remote past, its retrogression and the movement of people to the cities, and declared that a revival is now on. The better mail facilities, the rural telephone and other conveniences that remove the former isolation of country life, she declared as certain to work life, she declared as certain to work a revolution, aided, as it is, by the re-search and investigation, together with better training all along agricultural lines, which in time must make better profits for rural industry. Urban population, she declared, lives at a pace that kills. She painted a beautiful picture of apple blessoms, green grass, wild flowers and verdant meadows, and closed with an appeal for country life

Miss Agnes Watt, of Portland, sang "The Maids of Cadiz," and responded to an encore. For the subject of his valedictory, Meiggs Bartmess, of Hood River, had "Industrial Education—the Watchword of Today."

In his treatment of the subject, Mr. Bartmess referred to the conspicuous place the laboratory and shop now has place the laboratory and shop now has as a factor in education, in contrast with the text-book methods formerly in vogue. The expanded commerce of this country, he declared to be in part a product of the training the American youth receives in schools of technology. "In Liberty's Name" was the title of a song by the College Glee Club, and it was followed by the address to the class by Hon George H. Durham. The latter was a review of the causes and conditions that led to the present conflict between Russia and Japan. The effort of Russia to gain control of the Bosporus, extending as it has through a long period and embracing as it has two great wars and many struggles in diplomacy, were related. He told of the effort of Russia to meanace India as a means of forcing Engace India as a means of forcing Eng-land to withdraw her opposition to Russia's designs in the Mediterranean, and Russia's movement from the Casand Russia's movement from the Cas-pian in furtherance of that idea. The present advance of Russia southward through Manchuria he characterized as a further move in which the ulti-mate object of the Czar in the direc-tion of India and the Bosporus as the ultimate destination. England, if not a principal in the present struggle, is powerful and deeply interested sym-

In a five-minute talk, striking with pathos and teeming with impressive-ness, President Gatch conferred the degrees and presented diplomas. The president narrated the recent call of an insurance agent who begged him to take out a life policy. "According to take out a life policy." to your figures, how long have I to live?" was asked. While the agent ran down his columns of figures, the educator waited. "Six years," replied educator waited. "Six years," replied the agent, and then "I thought swift-ly," said the president to his class. "What can I do that will be of value six years? And," he continued to his deeply moved graduating class, "the question I now ask you is, 'What can And," he continued to his you do in the comparatively few years you have to live? Answer the ques-tion to yourselves as I answered it— Be true and lead honorable lives."

LITTLE SQUAW LAID OUT

HAD STOLEN AFFECTIONS OF YAKIMA INDIAN LOVER.

Furious Fray on the Streets of Hood River In Which Jitted One is Revenged.

HOOD RIVER, Or., June II.—(Special.)

Two Yakima squaws fought savagely on the streets of Hood River this afternoon. It appears that one had stolen the nf-fections of the other's handsome brave "buck." The dusky maiden who considered herself thus aggrieved sought bodily injury upon her rival. Blows rained thick and fast for a few minutes. The ag-gressor was the larger of the two, and with a well-directed blow over the eye stretched the smaller one on the grass. As she lay there, apparently stunned from the knockout, the larger squaw, in a furious rage, grabbed the little one by the hair of the head and flung her with terrific force against a telephone pole Before bystandors could interfere the larger one, with a blood-curdling yell, jumped high in the air and landed with both feet on the prostrate body of her vanouished rival vanquished rival.

Then came the City Marshal.

ASKS SALOONMEN'S ADVICE. Surprise Sprung by Professor Drew

in Saloon-Closing Crusade. SALEM, Or., June 15.—(Special.)—Pro-fessor Drew's third surprise in the law enforcement crusade was sprung today when he sent to each of the salconmen a request for an expression of their wishes regarding the prosecution of cigar and candy men who kept their places of busi-ness open Sunday. He says in his letter that one of the salcons said that the law should be enforced against all alike and he stands ready to proceed against the he stands ready to proceed against the cigar and candy men if the saloon men want him to do so.

It is probable that the saloon men will pay no attention to the letter. The events in the crusade thus far are the arrest of all saloonkeepers on June 7, when they pleaded guilty to keeping open Sunday and were fined $10 each; the sending of a warning notice to cigar and candy men on Saturday, June II. and the sending of this letter to the saloonmen today. Pro-fessor Drew has been successful to the extent of closing saloons on Sundays.

SURVEY OF THE SANTIAM. University of Oregon Party Will Determine the Water Power.

EUGENE, Or., June 15.—(Special.)— Professor E. H. McAlister, of the engi-neering department of the University of Oregon, with several assistants from the university, will leave here Friday after-noon for the Upper Santiam to make a topographic survey of the upper river and determine the available water power in that stream.

A similar work was done on the McKen-zie River last Summer to a point about 40 miles east of Eugene. The party will go as far up the Santiam as there is any likelihood of there being a demand for the water-power of the stream for several years to come, and will work as far down as the funds available for the work will permit.

The work is done by the university and very little expense is attached to it, as most of the force required for the work are already in the employ of the uni

QUARRELED OVER SETTLEMENT R. L. Durham Shot in San Francisco

by His Solicitor. SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Robert L. Durham, president of the California Business College, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by Y. W. Casteel, a solicitor for the Western Correspondence University. The shooting occurred in the office of the business college, on Golden Gate avenue. Casteel, who had worked for Durham, demanded a settlement, and during an altercation which ensued the college president was shot through the body.

The bullet entered his right breast and came out of his back. Two other shots were fired but went wide of the mark. Casteel immediately went to the City Hall and surrendered himself.

Durham was taken to a hospital, where later in the day Casteel was sent in custody of an officer for identification by Durham, who was believed to be dying.

MAY NOT GO TO MEDICAL LAKE to walk to this place. Idaho Guardsmen Will Hold Encampment at Home. BOISE, Idaho, June 15.—(Special.)— There is talk of abandoning the plan for the Idaho regiment to participate in the exampment at Medical Lake. This is because the money for the purpose is not sufficient and the regiment would have to be divided, part being taken. It is pro posed to change to a state encampment in Boise in September. The Idaho Militiamen have been looking forward to the encampment at Medi-cal-Lake with a great deal of interest, and it will be a disappointment to them if they do not get to go, but they will body and will hold an inquest tomor enter enthusiastically into the state encampment if it be agreed upon.
