TO FIGHT BATTLE

Troops to Settle Honors Today.

FIRST BRIGADE TO ATTACK

Soldiers of the Second to Be Entrenched.

ODDS OF WAR MADE EVEN

Two Battalions of the Tenth United States Infantry Are Added to the Force Which Will Make the Advance.

DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, Murray, Wash., July 12.—(Staff Correspondence.)—Today the troops of the hostile maneuver brigades have been lying on their arms resting up from the fatigue of Monday's campaigning. In the morning they will take the field once more with renewed vigor.

Tomorrow will be the decisive day of the campaign. There will be a pitched battle between the two brigades. Goaded on by their marked victory of Monday morning, the men of the First Brigade have decided to attack the Second Brigade troops at Camp Nisqually. This attack upon their stronghold is regarded by the Second Brigade men as a reflection upon their prowess, and most bitterly will they resent the intrusion. They will also be spurred on by an ardent desire to retrieve their lost honors of Monday's fighting. The battle that occurs is bound to be lively and will call forth the very best tactics and the very best efforts of officers and men alike.

While the Second Brigade is in utter darkness as to the point whence the attack will come or at what hour, it will be made. It was learned this evening at headquarters that the fight will occur early in the morning. The First Brigade, under Colonel Huston, U. S. A., will move from camp at Steilacoom before sunrise. The Nineteenth Infantry and Major Yoran's battalion of Oregon infantry will have the van of the column, and will keep scouts and patrols in every direction in order that the First Brigade may not steal into position upon them and harass their advance. Since it is intended by the Second Brigaders to do this same thing, there will be most likely a few animated skirmishes between scouting parties before the big fight occurs.

The battle will occur in the immediate vicinity of Camp Nisqually, where the Second Brigade intends to intrench and await the attack. Early in the morning the men will intrench the Third Oregon Infantry and part of the Tenth Infantry within a mile or two of the tents, and the artillery will be held at a point where it can wheel quickly into position, according to the nature of the attack made by the enemy. Not knowing from whence the attack of the enemy is to be made, the Second Brigade intends to be prepared for all emergencies. This will prove of great advantage, for it was learned tonight that the attack is to be on both flanks and in front at the same time.

The force of the Second Brigaders was weakened this evening by the assignment of two battalions of the Tenth United States Infantry to serve with the First Brigade. Major Evans, the chief umpire, and General Funston thought this would be a more equitable distribution of the troops considering the great advantages in position the Second Brigade will have by being intrenched for the attack. The Tenth moved out from the camp of their late allies this evening to array themselves with the enemy they have been working so hard to defeat during the past few days. Tonight they are bivouaced in the field waiting to join the advancing column of the first brigade in the morning.

Outside of brigade drills in the forenoon, activity has been entirely suspended today and everyone has been taking life easy. There have been a number of visitors in camp, among them being A. J. Capron, of Portland. Mr. Capron saw Monday's pitched battle in which the Second Brigade met defeat, and said the work of the National Guard was a revelation to him. He gave the assurance that his influence would in the future be extended to the cause of larger appropriations for the Guard of Oregon.

The weather today sprang a pleasant surprise after a week of tropical temperature, turning very comfortably chilly until overcoats are generally in evidence. The troops are utilizing every odd blanket, quilt and rag they can find to supplement their bedding, as the thermometer has a good start towars the freezing point.

Ominous-looking clouds overhang the camp with promises of rain, which would be very welcome to lay the dust which makes maneuvering unpleasant. A dash of rain and continued cool weather will enable the troops to leave the field in best possible condition after the hard day they will put in tomorrow.

At the division review Sunday morning on the open prairie off Lakeview, Major-General MacArthur and staff, General Funston and staff, Governor McBride, of Washington, and staff, and probably the Governor of Idaho and staff will be present.

Colonel Herbert Foster, military attache of the British Embassy, Washington, D. C., is among the notable visitors at the camp. After the maneuvers in advance and rear-guard work, General MacArthur addressed the officers of the opposing forces. It is learned he expressed satisfaction with the work of the troops.

Captain F. G. Lawton will leave for Vancouver Barracks next week. Before leaving he will supervise the practice of the team selected from the Nineteenth Infantry to compete in the shoot at Monterey, Cal., beginning July 25.

General Funston will not leave for the East until October and will inspect the military posts in Alaska as far north as Nome this Summer.

PUBLIC MUST RAISE $500.

If That Sum Is Donated, City Park Will Have Two Buffaloes.

Two hundred and fifty dollars has been subscribed by the Park Board for the purchase of Harry Young's two buffaloes, which are now at the City Park. Another $250 has been subscribed by the railroads, so altogether half of the price asked by Young, $1000, has been raised.

The members of the Park Board heartily wish that they had sufficient funds at their disposal to buy the pair of buffalo without further parley, as they believe the animals to be a valuable addition to the City Park zoo. But the park fund is in the condition of Mother Hubbard's cupboard just now, and but $250 could be spared. The rest must be subscribed by public-spirited people who wish to see the City Park made more interesting to home people as well as visitors by the acquisition of two specimens of an animal that is growing rare.

Young, the owner of the buffaloes, is willing to let the animals go for $1000, though he asked $2200 at first, and probably paid close to that sum originally. But buffalo exhibiting is not a very profitable business, it appears, and he must dispose of the animals.

STILL IN THE AIR.

Lewis and Clark President Is Not Chosen.

The presidency of the Lewis and Clark Corporation is still in the air and will remain so for the next ten days at least, according to the decision reached by the board of directors.

T. B. Wilcox and I. N. Fleischner were the first men considered by the board upon the declination of H. W. Scott to stand for re-election. The demands made upon Mr. Wilcox by his business forced him to decline the offer of the office, as was the case with Mr. Fleischner.

At the present time H. W. Goode is one of the most-talked-of men for the place at the executive head of the corporation, and one reason the consideration of the vacancy was postponed was to await Mr. Goode's return to the city.

Mr. Goode is now the director-general of the Exposition, and there is a sentiment among the members of the board of directors against combining the two offices.

William D. Wheelwright is also mentioned for the place, General T. M. Anderson, H. M. Cake, H. C. Breeden and others have also been spoken of as men who would make excellent heads for the corporation.

To relieve the pressure upon the president, the board will, it is said, saddle a great many of the executive burdens upon the executive committee. This may do away with the objections of the men who are too busy otherwise to handle the office.

It has now reached a pass, so a member of the board has stated, where the president will have to be sought for outside the board of directors. For one reason and another, none of the members of the board can handle the place.

CAPTURED BY SHERIFF.

Tom Word Goes Out After Escaped Prisoner.

Abe Lawrence, a notorious and desperate criminal, who escaped from the County Jail Monday, was captured by Sheriff Tom Word, 2½ miles up the Taylor Ferry road, near West Portland, yesterday afternoon and brought back in custody. He had been hired to work on the road, and was wielding a dangerous-looking pickax when Sheriff Word walked up to him and placed his hand on his shoulder.

When the news came to the Court-House that Lawrence had been seen working on the road Sheriff Word did not wait for a deputy, but set out after the outlaw by himself. He took the car to Fulton, near the site of the hidden dive he raided Tuesday night, and set out up the long, dusty road, probably wondering if his second chase after breakers of the law in that vicinity would be as successful as the first. For an hour he climbed the steep hill, through the deep dust. He passed Carson Heights and was winding gradually up to West Portland, when he came upon the roadmakers. Lawrence did not see him, but the Sheriff spotted his man immediately, and without warning, loomed over him as he worked and snapped a pair of handcuffs upon him.

Abe Lawrence is a criminal with a long record behind him. He has served two terms in the penitentiary, and at the time of his escape had still 55 days to serve of a nine months' sentence.

HOMELESS FOLK FILL STREETS

Fire in Maryland Town Sweeps Business as Well as Residence Section.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 12.—Fire tonight destroyed 42 buildings in the business and residence section of Millington, Md., causing losses of $200,000. Not a store remains in the town, and tonight the streets are filled with homeless men, women and children. The fire started in a blacksmith shop.

Move for Protection Against Floods.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—This year's recurrence of disastrous floods to the Kaw Valley has brought the two Kansas Citys face to face with the vital importance of providing a practical plan for the betterment of the situation here. The Council of Kansas City, Mo., has passed a resolution providing that a joint conference of the officials of the two cities and the two states be held at once, with a view of considering laws to provide this district with protection from the ravages of floods.

It is the sense of the resolution that the proposed laws be broad enough to cover the issue and sale of bonds if necessary to secure the needed protection.

Contest for Palma Trophy Abortive.

BISLEY, England, July 12.—The council of the National Rifle Association today decided that last last year's contest for the Palma trophy should be considered abortive, and that the trophy shall be retained by England, as custodian, until another match is arranged.

In replying to the letter from the American National Rifle Association accompanying the return of the trophy, the members of the council say they are unable to hold it as accredited winners for 1903, but they are prepared to act as its custodians provisionally, and pending any future arrangements which might be made in connection with another match."

Eddie Hanlon Puts Up Forfeit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 12.—Dan Hanlon, representing his brother Eddie, has placed in the hands of W. W. Naughton, sporting editor of the Examiner, $1000 to be held as a forfeit in connection with his coming contest with "Battling" Nelson, before the Hayes Valley Athletic Club, July 29.

The men have agreed that the weight shall be 130 pounds at 6 o'clock on the evening of that date, and $500 of the amount placed by Hanlon is to guarantee that he will be at the weight mentioned. The other $500 is to guarantee his appearance in the ring.

Nelson has until the end of this week to produce his forfeit.

A Hand-Ball Champion Dying.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Phillip Casey, ex-handball champion of the world, is reported to be dying at his Brooklyn home from a cancer of the stomach. He has been in poor health for nearly a year. Casey trained John L. Sullivan for his fight with James J. Corbett.

German Team Wins at Basket-Ball.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—The Buffalo German team defeated the Central Y. M. C. A. team, of New York, in the last of the World's Fair Olympic basket-ball games today. The victory carries with it the world's Olympic championship.

Wisconsin Central Lines Not Sold.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 12.—There appears to be absolutely no truth in the rumor of the sale of the Wisconsin Central lines to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company.

LOST FOR ONE WEEK

Attorney C. C. Palmer Disappears With Full Purse.

HIS WIFE FEARS FOUL PLAY

Was Unusually Prosperous and Busy --Last Seen at His Office on the Afternoon of July 6.

Clinton C. Palmer, a well-known attorney, with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, has been missing since the afternoon of July 6. He left home as usual in the morning with considerable cash and several safety deposit certificates in his pocket. He was seen at his office late in the afternoon, but did not return to his home at Vermont and Wisconsin streets, Southern Portland. Since 5 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon he has apparently disappeared from the face of the earth.

The disappearance has been reported to the police, and a thorough search of every conceivable place in the city has been made. District Attorney John Manning, a personal friend of Mr. Palmer, has joined in the unsuccessful search. It is believed Mr. Palmer carried several hundred dollars when last seen.

"My husband left home last Wednesday morning just as usual," said Mrs. Palmer last evening. "He had spoken of our going out on the river that evening, and had also spoken of my coming downtown that we might have dinner together. When he didn't come home for dinner, I supposed he thought it was too cool to go on the river. But I haven't seen him since, though I have walked the streets looking for him, and have asked all his friends.

"Yes, it is true that he has occasionally stayed away from home for a day or two, but it was always when his business was going wrong. He left when his business was never better and his home was happy. We had had no words at all, and he had plenty of money. I cannot but think he has met foul play. Certainly if he was in the city he would have been heard from by this time. Every place where any man could be hidden away has been searched. I can't stay in the house; I can't sit still anywhere; I'll be in Salem if he isn't found pretty soon. I've cried until I can't cry any more."

C. C. Palmer was 40 years of age. He was about five feet ten inches in height, with blue eyes and blonde hair. When he left home he wore gray trousers, a black coat and vest and a black Fedora hat. He was clean shaven.

DIES WHILE AT HIS WORK.

Sudden End of William Emerick, Aged 62 Years.

Death came instantly to William Emerick, aged 62 years, shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as he was trimming meat at Gill's butcher shop, located at 512 Mississippi avenue. It is supposed that Emerick's death was due to heart trouble, aggrevated by a severe cold.

At the time of his death, Mr. Emerick was trimming a quarter of beef at the block. A customer entered the shop just in time to see Emerick sink to the floor, without so much as a groan. Dr. Holcomb was immediately called, but the physician announced that death had been instantaneous. Coroner Finley made an examination and ordered the man's remains to be prepared for burial.

Emerick is well known among butchers of the city, having been located in Portland for years. He leaves a wife and one son, who reside at 87½ Russell street. During the last week Mr. Emerick suffered from a severe cold, which no doubt aggravated a case of heart trouble of long standing and caused his death.

TO GREET CONOR O'KELLY.

Prominent Irishmen Prepare to Welcome Distinguished Guest.

The Irish and Irish-Americans of Portland will give Hon. Conor O'Kelly, member of the British Parliament from County Mayo, Ireland, as royal a reception as he is likely to receive in his present tour of the United States. He will be in Portland at the end of next week and from the time he leaves Seattle on his way here till he finishes his three-days' visit he will be in the hands of friends. His arrival is scheduled for Saturday, July 23 and he will remain over Sunday and Monday.

At a mass meeting held last night great enthusiasm was shown and many prominent Irishmen were present. All the committees on arrangements made their reports, and a new committee was appointed by Chairman Dan McAllen to look after the visitor while here. Some of them will meet him at Seattle and conduct him here, and entertain him while in the city. The committee are Chairman Dr. Andrew C. Smith, Colonel D. M. Dunne, Richard Wilson, J. F. O'Shea, J. T. McDonnell, John Kelly, Wallace McCamant and Father McDevitt.

DRINK WRECKED HIS LIFE.

Wife of John Brill Tells a Tale of Sorrow in the Municipal Court.

Twenty-seven years ago John Brill, a young man of promise and good habits, led a blushing bride to the altar and began his married life. Yesterday the same John Brill, a man wrecked through love for strong drink, was before Judge Hogue in the Municipal Court to answer to justice for beating and choking his wife and the mother of nine children, during a fit of intoxication.

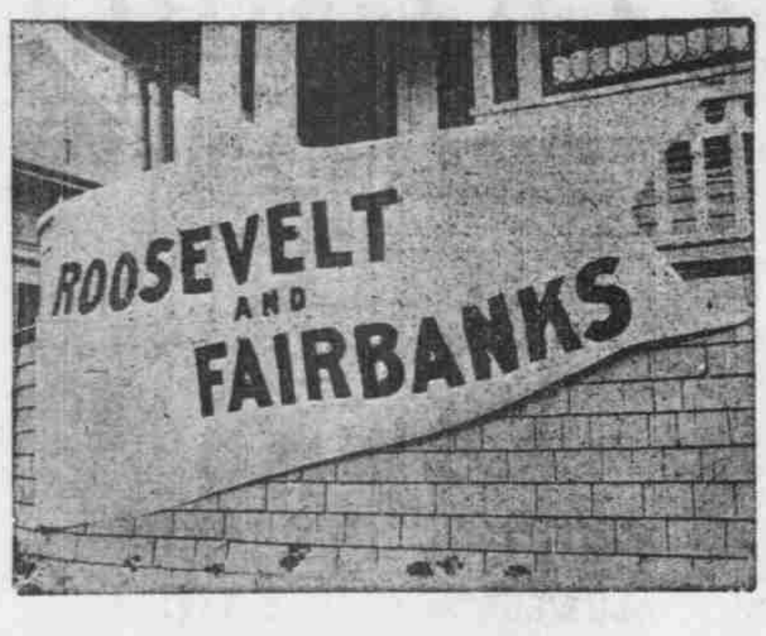
Mrs. Sophia Brill sat in the witness box, the tears pouring from her eyes and her frame shaken with sobs, and told the story of happiness turned to grief and sorrow through drunkenness. At times Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald was obliged to place his ear almost to the woman's lips to catch the words that struggled through her sobs. Her face betrayed a life of continual worry and fear. As she left the witness stand she had to be assisted to her seat by friends who had accompanied her to the court.

"He used to be a good man," said Mrs. Brill. "Now he is drunk half the time, and when he is drunk he beats me. Yesterday morning he left the house and returned a few hours later intoxicated. I was coming up from the basement. He began to quarrel with me, and when I refused to answer him thinking he would grow angry if I did, he came up behind me and struck me in the neck. He knocked me down, choked and continued to beat me in the back and back of the neck. I tried to get away, and finally the neighbors came and he turned to curse them. Then I went to a neighbor's house across the street and they cared for me."

Mrs. Brill's testimony was substantiated by that of other witnesses, who stated that Brill occasionally beat his wife, and that but for the interference of the neighbors he might have killed her on that occasion.

Brill and his wife were married 27 years ago. They have nine children, of whom the eldest is 26 years of age and the youngest but 7. Drink has ruined Brill's prospects and he has terrorized his family at different times. Last year he left home for several months, refusing to support his family at the time, then he returned to persecute them again. The family lives at 897 East Ninth street. After hearing the testimony in the case Judge Hogue sentenced Brill to 20 days in jail.

FIRST ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS FLAG TO FLOAT IN PORTLAND



BANNER DISPLAYED AT RESIDENCE OF ELMER B. CO LWELL, 975 CORBETT STREET.

The first Roosevelt and Fairbanks flag to be displayed in Oregon floats over the residence of Elmer B. Colwell, 975 Corbett street. Mr. Colwell, who was recently elected to the State Legislature, is a thorough Roosevelt man, and says he believes in displaying one's colors bravely. The pennant in question is white, and measures 12 feet long and six feet wide. The letters composing the names of the Presidential candidates are in brilliant red, and are about 10 inches high. They stand out in marked contrast to the white background, and the general appearance of the flag is very attractive.

Mr. Colwell is of the opinion that all loyal Republicans should display banners of this kind, and says he is convinced that it is a good way to do electioneering, especially when one lives on the car-line, where the flag is seen by hundreds of people every day. He has had a number of inquiries concerning it, as to where he bought it, etc., but as he originated it, had it made to order, all he can do is to describe it. In the East this custom is very general, and as soon as the conventions announce the candidates, flags begin to appear on every housetop indicating the political sentiment of the citizen who resides there. Mr. Colwell has the distinction of being the first citizen of Portland or Oregon to fly a flag in honor of his chosen candidates.

DOG-POISONER AT WORK.

Two Valuable Pointers His Victims--Reward of $200 Offered.

In spite of the fact that the local detectives were detailed by Chief of Police Hunt to search for the cowardly persons who have been poisoning blooded dogs for the past six months, no arrests have been made and the poisoning continues.

Among recent losses reported to the police are those of G. E. Degolia, of 225 Mill street, and L. E. Armstrong, of Oak Grove. The latter owned Snape, a pointer dog, and the former Spunk, a pointer bitch. Both were perfectly broken field dogs and valued highly. The dogs were brother and sister, and were whelped in the same litter.

Mr. Armstrong's dog died June 10, just as Mr. Degolia arrived at Mr. Armstrong's house to leave the sister of the dead dog to be cared for. While Mr. Degolia was visiting at Seaside the poisoner poisoned the bitch. The two dogs were the last of their breeding in the West, and their loss is mourned by dog fanciers for this reason. The dogs were out of Flue, and were sired by the well-known bench and field-trial winner, Doc Temple.

A reward of $100 has been offered by both Mr. Degolia and Mr. Armstrong for the arrest and conviction of the poisoner, and as the same person undoubtedly poisoned both dogs, the $200 will be paid to the man causing the first arrest and conviction.

FUND FOR SCHOOL

Reed Institute Will Have $1,000,000.

ESTATE VALUED AT $1,383,819

After Bequests of Mrs. Amanda W. Reed Are Paid Off, the Residue Will Go to Founding a Great School.

The value of the estate of Amanda W. Reed, deceased, is $1,383,819, according to the report filed yesterday in the County Court by the appraisers, W. C. Alvord, Joseph Simon and B. E. Lippincott. There is also property in California worth probably $200,000, making a total of over $1,500,000, most of which was bequeathed for charitable purposes, and principally to found and maintain a college in Portland to be known as the Reed Institute.

The real estate is valued at $800,000, and includes a great deal of improved property in the business and residence districts of Portland, and in Blackestone's addition, Couch addition, Elizabeth Jennings addition, Carter's addition, McGuire's addition, Belmont Park, etc.

The Abington building, on Third street, is appraised at $175,000, and quarter of a block adjoining, facing on Second street, at $60,000. There are numerous pieces valued at from $10,000 to $65,000.

There is $32,682 cash on hand, and $5407 invested in county warrants.

Bills receivable represented by notes amount to $112,217, the largest of which is one against the Oregon Iron & Steel Company for over $250,000 and appraised at $100,000. Stocks are appraised at $173,780, of which there is $100,000 stock in the Ladd & Reed farm and $43,000 in the Portland Hotel Company.

Bonds figure up $259,405, which include $83,305 O. R. & N. Company bonds, $38,400 Northern Pacific railway bonds, and bonds of other railway companies, etc.

The bequests made by Mrs. Reed amount to about $400,000, so that after they have all been paid, there will be at least $1,000,000 left for the Reed Institute.

NO CUT-RATE TO GOBLE.

The Astoria Railway May Charge Full Prices.

Judge Bellinger yesterday, in the suit of the United States against the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Company, expressed an opinion that the company is not required to transport freight and passengers for the Government at one-half of its regular rates.

Land-grant roads must carry Government freight and passengers at 50 per cent of the regular charge. The Astoria & Columbia River Railroad Company uses the track of the Northern Pacific Company from Portland to Goble, and as the Northern Pacific is a land-grant road, the question was raised if the Astoria line does not also come under the half-rate provision when it uses the track of a land-grant line.

United States District Attorney John H. Hall appeared for the Government, and United States Senator Charles W. Fulton for the railroad company. Judge Bellinger, after a few minutes' questioning, intimated that his decision will be in favor of the Astoria & Columbia River Railway Company. The position of both sides will be submitted briefly in writing, and afterwards the decision of the court will be made.

TO HEAR SENTENCE TODAY.

Frank Guglielmo Will Be Condemned to Death.

The death sentence will be pronounced upon Frank Guglielmo, the murderer of Freda Guarascia, by Judge Cleland this morning at 9:30 o'clock. The statute provides that at least 30 days must expire before the execution of such a sentence, and as Friday is always the day, the date will not be earlier than August 19. The attorneys for the prisoner, John F. Logan and Dan R. Murphy, will, however, appeal to the Supreme Court, and this will result in the execution being deferred, and it will probably be some time next Fall before Guglielmo is hanged.

Judge Cleland yesterday denied the motion for a new trial, and also the motion for an arrest of judgment.

P. F. HIBERT'S FIVE LEGATEES

Final Statement of Estate Filed by the Executor.

C. Henri Labbe, executor, filed his final account yesterday in the matter of P. F. Hibert, deceased. The receipts were $10,380, and there is $6395 balance on hand. The residuary legatees are Emma, Augusta and Leontine Periot, who share equally. Mrs. Marguerite Welcome received a legacy of $1000, and was also paid $1000 for nursing Hibert for some time before he died. She demanded much more, but accepted $1000 as a compromise. Dr. M. A. Flinn was also paid a bequest of $1000. Hibert was an old-time and well-known resident of Portland.

Court Notes.

Mary R. Strong, as executrix of the will of Frederick R. Strong, deceased, has asked the County Court to allow $800 from the estate of Henry Wilson, deceased, for legal services rendered by her late husband. Wilson died some years ago intestate, leaving about $1200 worth of property. Various alleged heirs appeared and sued for the property, and Mr. Strong was kept busy with litigation of various kinds. One of these cases is now pending on appeal in the State Circuit Court.

Minerva D. Kellogg was appointed in the County Court yesterday administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Elisha Kellogg. The value of the estate is about $5000. The heirs are the widow and Elisha and Dell C. Kellogg, sons.

RICHARD WILLIAMS DISSENTS

Objects to Changes in Park School Ordered by Plumbing Inspector.

Following the recommendation of Plumbing Inspector Hulme, sanitary conditions in the Park School will be improved by the School Directors. Yesterday morning the directors and Mr. Hulme visited the schoolhouse, and made investigations of all kinds. The ventilation was all right, said Mr. Hulme, but the toilet conveniences were all wrong, and finally all the directors but Richard Williams agreed with him.

To change the arrangement will cost about $4000. But the directors believed that a city official, such as a Plumbing Inspector, has a right to order changes made in a schoolhouse. Mr. Williams, however, declared that the directors could do as they pleased, so far as a Plumbing Inspector was concerned. But it seems that he was in the minority, and that the changes will be made.

FIRST TO ANSWER CALL

FOURTEEN DELEGATES TO DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE CHOSEN.

Chamber of Commerce Selects Its Representatives--G. A. R. Headquarters Voted Down.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce is the first organization in the state to respond to the call of the Commercial Club for delegates to the Oregon Development League, which is to meet in the Marquam Grand Theater on Tuesday, August 2.

At a meeting of the trustees held yesterday morning, W. J. Burns, the president of the Chamber; Samuel Connell, the secretary; M. Mosessohn, E. T. Williams, R. L. Darrow, J. L. Hardman, H. E. Blossom, S. M. Mears, Henry Fleckenstein, Samuel Reed, A. Avery, Gustav Rosenblatt, Fred Stanley and F. H. Ransom were elected as the 14 delegates to represent the Chamber of Commerce at the sessions of the convention.

The request of the Grand Army delegates to the Boston National encampment that the Chamber of Commerce help in establishing headquarters for the Oregon delegation while in Boston, by the subscription of $500 either alone or in conjunction with the Lewis and Clark commission, was voted down, on the ground that the matter belonged rather to the jurisdiction of the Lewis and Clark commission than to the Chamber of Commerce.

The request of the same delegation in regard to the co-operation of the Chamber in securing General Grant's log cabin for exhibition at the Lewis and Clark Exposition was more fortunate, and resolutions were passed and will be sent to C. F. Blanke, of Chicago, who owns the relic, praying for the privilege of bringing the cabin here for the coming year.

Neither are the members of the Chamber of Commerce quite sure about the extension of the Presidential term from four to six years. The letter from the National Business Men's League of Chicago asking for co-operation in agitating such an amendment to the Federal Constitution, was generally discussed and tabled. Many of the members of the Chamber are in favor of the propositions but do not like to pledge the organization by resolution.

The Vulcan Coal Company and the firm of Patterson, Smith & Pratt were elected to membership in the Chamber of Commerce at the trustees' meeting, and the ladies of the Portland Woman's Club, who had appointed a committee to co-operate in the development work being done for the state, were thanked by vote for their action and assured of the sympathy and help of the organization.

A meeting of the navigation committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been called for Thursday morning next at 10:30 o'clock, when arrangements will be made and committees appointed for the entertainment of the Merchant Marine Commission, which will be in Portland on July 30.

CHANGE IN FIRST CALL.

Mayors and County Judges May Appoint Ten Delegates.

Owing to the request of many of the larger towns of the state where there is not more than one commercial body, the Commercial Club has changed its original intention in issuing the official call for the Oregon Development League, which is to meet in the Marquam Grand Theater on August 2, and has raised the number of delegates to be appointed by each Mayor and County Judge from five to ten.

The letters calling the convention have all been sent out and responses are beginning to come in from the near-by places. From the indications the convention will be one of the largest, if not the largest, ever held in the state.

OREGON TAKES HIGH RANK.

Exhibits Attract Much Attention, Says ex-Senator McBride.

Ex-United States Senator George W. McBride, now a member of the National Commission for the St. Louis World's Fair, was in the city yesterday. Senator McBride returned from St. Louis two weeks ago, but stopped only a few hours in Portland, going immediately to his home at St. Helens for a rest. He came up yesterday and spent the day, calling upon friends.

To a reporter for The Oregonian he talked entertainingly of the great Exposition at St. Louis and the work of the Commission.

"The Fair is a magnificent success, and I shall always feel grateful that I have been permitted to see so much of it. Those who are familiar with expositions have told me that it is the greatest ever held, as it is by far the largest. It represents the highest degree of excellence which the skill and art of civilized men can produce.

"One of the most attractive exhibits, to my mind, is the Philippines display, practically an exposition in itself. It is in charge of Dr. Wilson, who delivered an address at the dedication of the Oregon building, a very competent gentleman. Among the other interesting features of the Philippines exhibit is a band of 80 pieces, composed of native musicians, and one of the finest at the Fair. We were fortunate enough to secure it for the dedication of the Oregon building, although it is in great demand.

"Oregon is splendidly represented at the Fair and her exhibits are attracting a great deal of attention, and the comment seems to be invariably commendatory. As to the Oregon building, it is one of the most unique and interesting on the grounds. At first, I must confess, I was not favorably impressed with it. I feared it might convey the impression that frontier conditions still obtained here, but I have found that such is not the case, and that people are greatly attracted to it by reason of the historic events which it suggests. It is serving to draw attention to the Lewis and Clark expedition and to advertise the Lewis and Clark Exposition. While it is, of course, not pretentious and entirely different from other state buildings on the grounds, it is creditable to the state.

"The Oregon people who are at the Fair in an official capacity are all doing splendid work, and are enjoying themselves. Through them the 1905 Fair is receiving excellent advertising and I find much interest manifested in it. The work of exploitation is being well done, but should not be abated for a moment.

"The work of our Commission has been much more arduous than one might imagine. We have been holding sessions almost every day since the Fair opened, and I am glad to be at home for a vacation. I shall return again about the first of September."

Senator McBride expressed the greatest confidence in the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks, but declined otherwise to discuss state politics.

CARD OF THANKS.

Myself and son wish to thank our kind friends and neighbors who were so kind and sympathized with us in our time of sorrow on the death of our beloved father and husband.
