MAZAMAS OFF FOR SHASTA

THIRTEEN CLIMBERS START ON ANNUAL OUTING.

Before the Climb, Two More Will Join the Party to Break the Unlucky Omen.

Thirteen Mazamas left last night for a rlimb up Mount Shasta. They left on the 26th of the month, which is twice 11, yet in spite of this the crowd that boarded train failed to be depressed over the fact that there were II in the party, that it was the 26th and that on Friday they will storm the heights of Shasta. They were all happy and so was the large number of friends and stay-at-home Masamas who were down to the depot to see them safely off on their journey. The 13 Mazamas who left last night will not constitute the mountain-climbing strength of the organization, for on Friday they will be joined by E. C. Bronaugh and Albert E. Doyle, thus heading off any superstitious fear of mishaps befalling the

Among the many people who were at the depot to bid the Maxamas good luck on their mountain-climbing sojourn were Judge M. C. George and Colonel L. L. Hawkins. Both are enthusiastic mountain-climbers, but business compelled them to forego the Shasta trip. Judge George declared that Colonel Hawkins had intended going until the Colonel learned that the party would lack its judicial member. Then Judge George began telling the Massmas why Colonel Hawkins was not going. It seems that on former mountain-climbing expeditions Judge George had been used as chief tralibresker, and that Colonel Hawkins was able to reach heights that he would t otherwise have been able to reach, 'The secret of the whole thing," sa Judge George, "is that Colonel Hawkins found mountain-climbing very easy when he could follow along in my footsteps. 1 believe he intended going on this trip until he heard I wasn't going. Then he changed his mind, for unless I was along and packed the snow with my great feet the Colonel would never be able to reach the top.

mel Hawkins denied the impeachment and demanded to know just why Judge George was not going. His Honor had many excuses. The best of the lot, which was brought out after a good deal of good-natured raillery, was that he had just bought a new silk hat, and that if he had not left it home he would have gone with the party. Colonel Hawkins offered to borrow one of a lady Mazzna, who carried three, one for mountain-climbing, one for sleeping in and one for any society affair which might happen while en route to the top of Shasta-While Colonel Hawkins was trying to de-cide which hat he would select for Judge George's use, the Judge disappeared, wava farewell greeting to his daughter, who was in the party. The presence of the three different kinds of headgear recalls some of the other things which the Mazamas took with them. First, all were armed with danger-ous-looking pikepoles, called alpenstocks. Then there were shoes with lumberjack's spikes in them, masks, sunbonnets, boxes and bundles of face-powder, actors' grease paint, black and plnk, plnk pregrease paint, black and plak pink predominating, and everything conceivable,

MADE A THING OF BEAUTY. Landscape at World's Fair Improved

by Gardeners.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, St. Louis, July 26.—Numerous improvements have been 'made here and there throughout the World's Fair grounds within the past fortnight, rough edges. figuratively, have been snaped up, the landscape effects have been heightened through constant efforts of the gardeners, the materials used in erecting booths and making adflittons have been utilized and the sur-plus cleared away, and the exposition throughout never was in more complete gala attire. Visitors comment generally upon the beautiful and finished appear-prevailed during the past week has done the Summer, and from all parts of the country visitors are pouring in to enjoy the exposition during this period of lowered temperature. Visitors who delight in military drills and tactics will have ample opportunity this week to witness maneuvers, as a military programme has been arranged to continue all week, At different intervals throughout today there will be drills by the Seventh Regiment of the Illinois National Guard, Companies A. M. L and G of the Seventieth Virginia Volunteers, and the One Hundred and Nineteenth Company of the Beacoast Artillery.

A large collection of British historical medals, loaned by the British Museum, has been placed in the British section of the Palace of Liberal Arts. The collec-tion includes medals from the time of Henry VIII to that of George IV, about HORSETHIEVES IN NEW YORK So Active That Insurance Companies Now Cover Risk.

NEW YORK, July 26.-Insurance enter prise has just taken up a new field in this city, where several prominent companies have made offers for the business of retail butchers and grocers, victims of continued theft of horses, amounting to a total loss in 18 months of nearly $75,000, cided to insure their horses and wagons against theft. Terms owered by the companies are 2% per cent, the minimum to be $400, and the amount of insurance to be paid after the theft if the horse has not been re-covered and returned to its owner within 30 days after being stolen. The horses and wagons will be insured only while in setual service in the delivery of goods, and the horse that is stolen from a sta-ble will have the detective service of the insurance companies employed for its

Walked Far to See Fair.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, St. Louis July 36.-Footnere, travel-stained and weary, Renaldo Walco, a British subject from San Jose, Costa Rics, has reached the World's Pair, after a walk of 6000 miles, only to find that he had been deluded by a mythical prize of $15,000 which he had heard had been offered by the Ex-walked the longest distance to attend the World's Fair. jest at the same moment that Walco

Almost at the same moment that Walco arrived another long-distance pedestrian arrived at the World's Fair grounds, in the person of Mauritius Hechter, of Bucharest, Roumania, who had also attempted a long-distance walk and who had met with defeat.

Hechter started to walk to St. Louis from Bucharest. He undertook to reach here by July 7. He arrived many days late and then only after giving up his journey afoot in Washington and taking a train. The prize he was after was one of 40,000 france, offered by the Roumanian Touring Club, of which Crown Prince Touring Club, of which Crown Prince Perdinand is president. Walco had much the longer journey.

There was no riding in his path, and every foot of the way he walked. He left the little town of Esparts, in Costa Rica, on December 27. In January he was in Nicaragua, in February he passed through San Salvador and April 22 he reached the City of Mexico.

GAMBLERS AND GAMBLING

And the Inferences and Conclusions of a Superlative Citizen.

PORTLAND, July 26 .- (To the Editor.) -- I an an interested observer of the present status of the local gambling situation and the anomalies which it presents, and am one of the many who have not forgotten the history of some former similar movements, and who recognize the peculiar force of the plea of the gamblers attorney, who, a few days since, asked in court for 30 days in which to file an answer to cer-tain indictments, expecting that meanwhile the moral wave will have subsided and no answer would by that time be required.

I have used the word "moral" in this connection because it is the usual adjective appited to these spasmodic movements; but it is not easy to recognize its appropriateness when the motives in this instance are considered, and which appear to be as follows:

A would-be gambler commenced last week an aritation on the subject, for no other and high-er reason than because he was not allowed by our city authorities to infringe the laws against this vice, in return for a pecuniary consideration, as others have been doing; and in this way the opportunity unexpected oc-curred for our Sheriff to reap his promised revenge against certain gambling interests which opposed him in his recent campaign, and the recents show how ready he was to seize it. Strunger, however, then all else, is the fact that the Municipal League, with its half-way measures, is found ready to co-operate with the attorney of the aforementioned would be gambler and join him in a fight which was in-stigated by such unworthy motives. It would indeed be difficult to believe that the league's most ardent member is at heart anticipating permanent beneficial results from a campaign of this character.

I am pessimist enough to predict that there will be no marked improvement in the gam-bling situation in our city until our office-holders are elected upon platforms that do not magnify questions of expediency and minimize questions of public morals; but at the same time I am optimist enough to believe that such a change is not far distant, and then our public officials will make the question, "Is it expedient?" subservient to the question, "Is it

pressions your readers receive upon perusing, in your lesue of Monday, the account of the temporary closing of public gambling, are not those that would naturally be expected from a write-up of such an event in a paper that sympathized with any movement in this direction, and I am, therefore, disappointed to read in your columns what appears to be somewhat of an expression of sympathy with the para-sites who for the time being are deprived of the opportunity to thrive upon the legitimate earnings of other men to the extent of $13,000 per week for salaries alone, without taking into consideration at all the enormous profits

California and in Southeastern Idaho, and it is leaving our community to its own resources. ermanized lawbreakers have lost their chance But a careful perusal of his conclusions fails to disclose a single word of satisfaction with the results so far attained, and the only conthe results so har attained, and the only ord-clusted is that either he is not voicing the sentiments of the paper by which he is em-ployed, or else that your paper itself is in actual sympathy with the gambling fraternity.

B. LEE PAGET. The Oregonian simply reported a situation. It is in no way responsible for the persons as this writer from their own notions or views of things. The business of its local writers is simply to state things as they find them. Moreover, The Oregonian realizes that people will not take its advice, much less its dictation, uch to dispet the popular belief that as to what they will do with their money, Louis constantly sizzles throughout and that they will gamble it if they want to do so.

CITY MISSES GAMBLING FINES

Plans for Building Fire-Engine Houses Indefnitely Postponed.

No fire-engine houses will be built at Third and Glisan streets or on the Macadam road at present.

The plans for these long-sought for engine-houses have been made, and they would have been constructed within a short time had not the general fund been reduced through the cutting-off of the gambling-house fines. After great difficulty a location for a North Portland engine-house was found at Third and Gli-san streets, and here a substantial enginehouse was to be built. The owners of fac-tories on the Macadam road have peti-tioned for an engine-house in their vicinity for months, and it was thought there was nothing to hinder the erection of a building near the Jones mill. One fireengine is now lying idle because there is no place to put it. It was purchased by the Executive Board for the North-Portland engine-house, and arrived in the Mayor Williams says no special meeting of the Council will be called to con-sider the subject of reduced city finances. All lines of expenditure are being cut down. As a result petitioners for im-provements of various kinds may expect to see their requests denied.

Sweetness and Light. PORTLAND, July 25.—(To the Editor.)—After a short absence I find on my return that Mr. Perkins' cow's tail has been regilt and the entire animal made over for golden butter; also the house repainted and looking brighter than new. And it does one's ayes good to see the amount of paint that is being lavished on in readiness for "India" all over the city. Justine readiness for "1906" all over the city. I wish some one would tell Mr. Bowers that for such a world-famous hostelry the Portland looks dingr, and should be retouched. Paint comes high, but we must have it. MAX PRACHT!

ECZEMA ON LITTLE GIRL

Sleepless Nights for Mother and Awful Suffering of Child.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Had Given up All Hope of Ever Making Any Cure.

"My little girl has been suffering for two years or more from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her allment was very severe.

"I had tried so many remedies and spent much money, deriving no benefit, I had absolutely given up all hope of making any cure. But as a last resort I was persuaded to try a set of the Cuticura remedies, and to my great delight a marked change was manifested from the first application. I gave the child a bath with Cuticura Soap, using a soft piece of muslin cloth. This I did twice a day, each time following with the Cuticura Ointment, and at the same time gave the Resolvent, according to directions. One box of the Ointment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Sonp, effected a permanent cure. I submit this for publication if you desire, hop-ing it will add to your success and assist so many thousands of sufferers in cur-ing themselves." Mrs. I. B. JONES, ADDINGTON, IND. T.

The first step in the treatment of the chronic forms is to remove the scales and crusts and soften the skin, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. The scalp, ears, elbows, hands, ankles and feet will require frequently a thorough soaking in order to penetrate the thickened skin and crusts with which these parts are often covered. Dry carefully, and spply Cuticurs Ointment, lightly at first, and where advisable spread it on pieces of soft cloth and bind in place. Take the Resolvent, pills, or liquid, in medium doses. Do not use cold water in bathing, and avoid cold, raw winds.
