Dr. BROODER TOMORROW.—Rev. J. Whitcomb Brouger, pastor of the White Temple, is attending some Christian workers' conferences in the state of Washington this week. He has been speaking at Yashon College at Burton to large and enthusiastic audiences on the subject of "Modern Church Methods." On Friday and Saturday nights he will be at the E. Y. P. U. convention in Seattle. He is to deliver a series of addresses on "Christianity for Today." He will leave Seattle Saturday night and reach Portland in time to fill his pulpit at both services on Sunday. His morning subject at the temple will be "Jesus Christ, What Manner of Man He Was." At night he will continue his series of sermons on his trip to Europe. The special subject will be: "Paris, the Paradise of Pleasure Seekers." Paris is well known to be the "unrivaled queen of beauty, luxury and pleasure." The fashion, folly and fascination of the city will furnish ample scope for Dr. Brouger's powers as a speaker, and no doubt will give him a chance to deliver the most interesting, entertaining and instructive sermon of the entire course.

TRAIN LOAD OF BALD HAY.—A train load of bald hay arrived here Wednesday over the O. & N., consigned to an East Side firm. It is of the cheat variety, and in prime condition, but seems to be of lighter weight than usual, owing, probably to the dry weather. The hay is being stored in various vacant buildings, where it will be held until needed. The hay crop of Multnomah County is not quite as heavy as usual, but it is of a superior quality, and has been raised without loss. A summer seldom goes by without a part of the hay crop being damaged by rains in June and July, but this year things have been different. The hay crop has been saved. Farmers of Eastern Multnomah are not selling their hay now, preferring to hold on for better prices next winter.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.—William Meery, a traveling man with headquarters in Portland, grew ill, and was ordered by his physician to the Good Samaritan hospital. Mrs. Della Drumm, a charming widow, was assigned to nurse him. She told him how sorry she was. He told her things also. Last Wednesday he was released from the hospital. The same afternoon Mrs. Drumm tendered her resignation. That evening they were married. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother on the East Side. The couple will reside in this city. And if it had all happened in a novel instead of real life, some knowing critic would have remarked that the plot was improbable.

DEATH OF F. X. AUER.—Portland has lost another of its pioneers in the death of F. X. Auer, who died at his home on the East Side at 4 o'clock yesterday. Mr. Auer was 76 years old at the time of his death, and had been a resident of Portland for 40 years. He was a native of Germany, coming to this country in his youth and settling in New Orleans before adopting Portland as his home. He conducted a gun store here for many years, but has been retired for some time. He was a member of one of the most active members of the local German Aid Society. A wife and one daughter survive him.

BRANDON RESIDENCE ROBBERY.—The residence of Mrs. Brandon, 123 1/2 Second street, was entered Thursday near the noon hour and completely ransacked. The burglar entered through the rear door, which he broke open, and took his time at going through the dwelling. All the members of the family are away from the city, and the robbery was not reported to the police until yesterday, when detectives were assigned to the case. It is impossible to state how much was taken until the return of Mrs. Brandon. It is the belief of the police department that the robbery was the work of boys.

TEACHERS ARE BEING EXAMINED.—Examination of teachers for state and county certificates was continued all day yesterday at the Central School building. The county appears to have held its last night, but those who are striving for state papers will not finish until this evening. Subjects for examination today in the state grades are botany, plane geometry, general history, English literature and psychology. Those who pass will get diplomas for life or for three years, according to their rating and past experience as educators.

COLORADO JOCKEY UNTRUSTFUL.—The case of Assistant Starter Ed Duke, charged with cruelty to animals, was again continued in the Municipal Court yesterday to give the prosecution time to get more witnesses. During the trial Mrs. J. Kieve, whose husband brought the case against Duke, accused the colored jockey, Tom Stewart, of cheating on the witness stand, and subsequent developments proved that she spoke the truth. The boy was sent to jail by Judge Howe, and was afterward willing to give truthful testimony.

FUNERAL OF MRS. F. A. BANCROFT.—Mrs. F. A. Bancroft, former wife of ex-postmaster Bancroft, who died Thursday morning, will be buried today at 2 P. M. from her home, 1036 Franklin street, Williamette Heights. The interment will be in Lone Fir cemetery. The funeral will be under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Mrs. Bancroft leaves four children, Arthur C., George W., Harold and Alan Bancroft.

THE ONLY WAY TO ENJOY A DELICIOUS Sunday is to take your family and friends for a ride on the steamer "Halleys Gatzert" to Cascade Locks and return. Leaves Alder-street dock at 8:30 A. M., arrives back 8:30 P. M. Nice Sunday dinner served. Round trip, H. Finance, Main 914. OREGON CITY BOATING on river side of comfort and pleasure, always cool and comfortable. Bring the family. Sunday boats leave Taylor street 8:30, 11:30 A. M., 1, 4, 4:30, 5:15 P. M. Round trip, 50c. PARIS, THE PARADISE OF PLEASURE SEEKERS.—Its fashions and follies, gaieties and luxuries will be described by Dr. Brouger at the White Temple Sunday night. Mr. Hart, with guitar, sings.

OLD RESIDENCE TO BE BUILT.—L. Allen Lewis has taken out a building permit for a house valued at $20,000 to be erected on the southwest corner of Park avenue and King street, on King's Heights. The property formerly belonged to the Burrell estate, and consisted of six lots, selling for $12,000. Mr. Lewis will build a large stone house in keeping with the surrounding houses. It will stand across the street from the residence of T. H. Wilcox, and has an open outlook over the lower part of the city. This is the first house to be built on the block, which is the only vacant block still remaining on King's Heights. Two other quarters of the block have been sold, and it is understood that the block will be entirely built up within the year.

LEWIS AND CLARK STORIES.—The Lewis and Clark stories told the youthful patrons of the public library yesterday afternoon at the weekly story hour, excited much interest among both boys and girls. The former being especially pleased with the account of the explorers' adventures with the Indians. The children are surprisingly well informed as to the life work of these men and can often give their parents information about events in their career. The children's room was hung with pictures of many places visited and discovered by Lewis and Clark, which were admirably illustrated stories. The birthdays of both the explorers fall in August, so they were celebrated jointly.

FATHER YORK WILL ADDRESS DEMONSTRATION.—Father York, a powerful political figure in San Francisco, and a sympathizer with the labor unions, will be asked by the Labor day committee of the Federated Trades Council to address the picnic in Portland on Labor day, September 5. D. H. Williams, chairman of the committee, was instructed by the council last night to extend an invitation. It is believed that he will come. Father York is the most powerful clergyman on the Pacific Coast, and his political influence in San Francisco is due to his power over the labor unions, which he has shown as that of a sage. He has been an authority on labor questions.

SARAH KERN MEMORIAL, W. C. T. U.—The Sarah Kern Memorial, W. C. T. U., which was organized a few weeks ago, is prospering nicely, and has a membership of nearly 40 members. A parlor meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. F. Molder, 75 East Thirty-third street, at which the Flower Mission and work among the sailors was discussed. The meetings are held every two weeks, and much enthusiasm is being displayed in the temperance work by this new organization.

SERVICES AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN Church tomorrow will be conducted by Rev. E. T. Allen, minister, worshiping 10:30; evening, 7:30. In the evening the sermon will be the second of a series of four on the Book of Esther. Topic, "Haman, the Agagite."

DINNER TO MAZAMAS.
Judge and Mrs. M. C. George entertain Mountain Climbers.
Judge and Mrs. M. C. George and their daughters were the hosts of a prettily arranged outdoor dinner last night, which was given in honor of the party of Mazamas who made the ascent of Shasta, and of which Miss Edna George was a member. In addition to these, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gilfrey and Miss Gilfrey of Washington, D. C., were present. The dinner was spread under the trees, picnic-fashion, on the heights above the Grace residence, and the Mazamas had a most enjoyable and successful picnic not only equalled but in some respects excelled the famous ones prepared by Chef Weston on the recent Shasta expedition. A menu consisting of roast and hot vegetables, assorted sandwiches, salads, rolls, cakes, steaming hot coffee, fruits and all sorts of dainty knick-knacks, served on a picnic outfit out of sight of any house except those of Portland, far below, tasted good to the guests, whose camp appetites suddenly returned with great gusto. Dinner there was a general exchange of pictures by various members of the Mazama party, and the week in camp on Shasta was given over again. Some splendid results were obtained by amateur photographers and some of the pictures will be used to illustrate magazine articles. Colonel Hawkins and Judge Northrup seemed to be the favorite subjects for camp pictures, and they proved excellent studies. After dinner the party gathered on the hill above the new car line, and hurriedly retraced the famous Mazama yell as cars rounded the curve. In several instances the conductor and motorman were rather startled, the memory of recent holdups seemingly occurring to them when the dark hillside poured forth this unusual volume of sound. Mr. and Mrs. Gilfrey declared before the party that they had not thought of going to climb a snow mountain for the express purpose of joining the Mazamas as they think they are an all right party of least interest.

THE ARCADE.
Into the Arcade Theater at every matinee pours a crowd of eager devotees of vaudeville. At the end of every performance out go a throng of satisfied patrons. The Arcade bill this week is cleverly diversified and full of novelty. The ventriloquist act of Hugh J. Emmett is refreshing, and the best of the acts catch the fancy of Portland's critical theater-going public, which delights in the maximum of amusement for a minimum price, which the Arcade offers.

THE BIJOU TONIGHT.
But a few more chances remain to see the attractive bill presented at the Bijou this week. There's a little of everything that you particularly like to see. Prince and Lela have popular comedy sketch that has more than made good Leonard, the comic juggler, and the whistling Lindons have brought many new faces to the Bijou. Drop into the Bijou this afternoon or evening and decide the vaudeville question for yourself. It's the odd-hour amusement place of the town.

Higher Pay for Teachers.
ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—At a special meeting of the Astoria School Board held this afternoon it was decided to increase the salaries of the teachers in several of the grades to make them conform with the salaries paid in the corresponding grades at other schools throughout the state. The board also decided that the next school term shall open on Monday, September 13, and should continue for ten months. Miss Mary Adams was elected as a teacher to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Maude Bayles. Mrs. W. J. Barry was elected as an additional teacher to take charge of the new room that is to be established in one of the schools.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—A dispute has arisen as to whether Sand Island, at the mouth of the Columbia River, belongs to the State of Oregon or Washington, as shown by reports from Astoria published recently in The Oregonian. News was published Friday of the sale of part of the island by the land officials of the State of Washington to the Portland-based Pacific Company and P. J. McGowan & Sons. United States District Attorney John H. Hall says Sand Island is the property of the State of Oregon, and that the dispute regarding the title will probably have to be settled in the Federal courts. Mr. Hall asserts that in 1864 the United States Government recognized the title of Oregon to Sand Island by making application to the State Legislature to have the island ceded to the Government. In accordance with the application the Legislature did cede the island to the Government. It is accordingly a Government reserve, but situated, it is claimed, within the boundaries of this state.

THE PEOPLE OF CALIFORNIA are looking forward with great expectations to the celebration next year, and they are all more or less interested in the project. Just how large an exhibit the locality from which it comes will have, I cannot say, but no opportunity will be overlooked to show the people from the East what we have on the Coast. The Fair will certainly be a success. While in the city Mrs. Parkinson endeavored to find the burial place of her brother, Charles Koehler, who died February 2, 1860, at St. Vincent's Hospital. The records of the Health Office show a poorly kept at that time that it was impossible to learn anything from them as to the disposition of the remains, and the hospital had no record of the delivery of the body to any undertaker doing business in the city at that time.

causing them to bring forth abundantly. "So was this life," he said. "It had grown in power and beauty as it matured, and because of his life, busy as he had always been, had grown up his family, his friendships in city and church, and he had lived to enrich everything with which he had been connected." Bishop Cranston characterized Mr. Noon as modest, diffident, but positive and just. He told how, in the hour when gloom was over the city and the Grace Church was needing a strong arm to help, Mr. Noon had volunteered, and through him more than any other, that church owed its existence and prosperity. The address was impressive and most appropriate.

THE active pallbearers were chosen from the employees with whom Mr. Noon had so long held the relation of employer, one of whom had been with him 40 years. These men as few others loved him, for it is worthy of more than passing notice that during all his experience as an employer in this city he had maintained such a balance of justice that he had never had a strike. He regarded those who worked for him as worthy of confidence and the highest courtesy. The honorary pallbearers were the entire official board of the Grace Church, with most of whom Mr. Noon had associated from the organization of the church. The body was laid to rest in Riverview.

PETERSON IN TROUBLE.
Livervan Arrested in Salem for Taking Bet Money.
SALEM, Or., Aug. 12.—(Special.)—J. H. Peterson, a prominent Portland livervan, was arrested here today on a charge of larceny. It seems that in a local saloon he and the bartender differed in opinion as to the contents of a whisky bottle.

FUNERAL OF W. C. NOON.
Friends and Employees Pay Last Tribute to Well-Known Pioneer.
The funeral of the late W. C. Noon took place from the family residence, 34 Twelfth street, at the hour of 11 A. M. yesterday, in the presence of a large concourse of friends. The services, simple in character, were dignified and impressive. The Rev. J. R. T. Lathrop, D. D., of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Mr. Noon was a devoted member, read the ritual and offered prayer. Bishop Earl Cranston, who for the eight years past has known Mr. Noon so favorably, delivered a brief address. He likened the life of Mr. Noon to a most riveting beginning its pilgrimage down the mountain slopes, gathering magnitude and momentum as it flowed, cutting its way, at the side of which grew the flower and hedge, and from which was watered the fields.

You might take a hundred-weight of those elements in the crude state as sold by the drug shop and yet not gain a fraction, for Nature is loth to take up and use those things except as prepared in her own marvelous laboratory, the grains of the field.
