CENTRALIA, Wash., Sept. 7 .- (Spe cial.)—The Republicans met in County Convention here today to nominate a full county and legislative ticket. The platform adopted by the convention strongly commended the National Administration, and pledged the strongest confidence and praise to Theodore Roosevelt and his excellent work at the head of National affairs. It also pledged its hearty support to the state ticket and platform and to Mr. Mead and also to the county administration There was no friction in the party, such as marked the convention two years ago, and in a large majority of the cases the votes were unanimous. George E. Rhodes was elected chair-man and Dan W. Bush secretary. PUGET SOUND CONFERENCE.

Montesano Entertains Clergy and Lalty of the Methodist Church.

MONTESANO, Wash., Sept. 7 .- (Spe cial.)—The organization of the Puget Sound Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church for its 21st session was completed this forenoon, and the committees have been busy at work ever since the statistical session this afternoon. The regular conference missionary sermon was preached by J. W. Satterthwaite, and evangelistic services conducted by Rev. W. B. McMillen this afternoon.

This evening, after the praise service which was conducted by Rev. John Lewiss, at present stationed at Elma, the bishop of Japan, Rev. M. C. Harris, delivered a lecture on the foreign missionary work. The noted work which the bishop has done in the missionary field is so well known here that it is a pity the meeting was not arranged at the opera-house as many were not able to hear his lecture on account of lack of room.

The committee in charge of the entertainment of the visitors have had greater success in arranging for their entertainment than it was anticipated they would have and many have expressed the same sentiment as that spoken by Mrs. James Clulow, wife of the paster of one of the Tacoma churches, who favors meeting in small cities on account of the good done. The great heat experienced here today has been the only drawback so far. The extreme dryness is very depressing.

POPS HAVE NO STATE TICKET.

Played With by Committees of the Rival Big Parties.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 7.—(Special.)
-A handful of Populists caused trouble for both the Republican and Democratic State Committees, and both organiza-tions attempted to job the convention The curious result is more a Republican than a Democratic victory, though Popu-list leaders who had agreed with the Democrats to prevent the nomination of a state ticket kept that part of their bar-gain with the assistance of Ben Brierly's delegation of Democrats.

Republican politicians attempted to force the nomination of a state ticket, which would draw Populist votes from Turner. With that end in view, over-tures were made to "Farmer" J. H. Todd, a picturesque figure in recent years of Washington politics. Todd claims his son, Judson P. Todd, Republican, was to be made Fish Commissioner if the plan carried. Todd did not join the scheme. Todd is working with the Democratic State Committee now and in company with Van R. Pierson, nominee for Land Commissioner, he prevailed upon Edward Clayson, Sr., to prevent the nomination of a state ticket. Democratic campaigh funds defrayed the expenses of the meet-

The move by Brierly to control the convention through his delegates was a pre-cautionary step that did not succeed as planned. Moreover, Clayson, while keep-ing faith with the Democrats regardingthe nomination of a state ticket, led the fight against Turner.

Upon the report of the committee or permanent organization State Senator W F. Meyer, of Carbon, was elected per-manent chairman with Irvin as permanent secretary. No contests developed. The forces led by ex-United States Sena-tor Thomas H. Carter are in control of the convention and the nomination of nd Joseph M. Dixon, of Missoula for Congressman, seems assured.

William Lindsay, of Glendive,
United States Senator Lee Mantle, Butte, and Attorney John N. Kirk, o Butte, are candidates for Governor. There is no especial interest in the other offoces. Now that the Amalgamated Copper Company has retired from politics, the situation is less complicated. F. Augus-tus Heinze and the United Copper Com-pany are said to favor Mr. Lindsay.

Witnesses Testify That G. W. Lauth Hinted Before the Shooting That He Was About to Be in a "Big Fight."

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lenore B. Jones died at Portland at an early hour this morning and G. W. were brought to this city this afternoon ner's jury and proceeded with an inquest Testimony was offered by Policeman Noblett and J. M. Wood, the woman's father, who told of seeing Lauth come to his house on the morning of the shooting. He said that Lauth went into the bedroom and was there joined within a few min-utes by Mrs. Jones, who was at work in the kitchen when her jealous lover reached the house. He heard some loud talking, followed by four pistol shots. Rushing from the house he collided with Lauth, who surrendered himself and ac-companied the witness down town, where he was delivered to the authorities. Constable Trembuth testified to having taken charge of the murderer, who was turned over to him by Woods. Witness told of Lauth giving him the revolver with which the shooting was done.

Intimation of Coming Crime. Charles Wright, a local basber, whose shop Lauth visited just before the shooting, gave important testimony showing that the shooting was not without premeditation on the part of Lauth. The witness stated that just prior to the time of the shooting. Lauth strength at his Main. the shooting, Lauth stopped at his Mair street barber shop for a shave. Whi Lauth was waiting his turn, the recen prizefight between "Battling" Nelson and Hererra was discussed. After he had been shaved and while he was adjusting his collar, Lauth remarked:
"Well, boys, this is probably the last time you will shave me.' He was asked if he expected to leave the city and responded negatively and, n explanation of the original statement

"No, but there is going to be a big fight pulled off at 10 o'clock this morning." One of the curious auditors ventured to ask if the expected contest would be of a pugilistic nature. To this Lauth replied: "No, it is a personal fight and if you will listen you will hear." With these significant words he left the barber shop and within an hour had done the shooting and was lodged in the County Jall.

Monday night Lauth played poker in : local saloon the greater part of the night and when he separated from the other players, said: "Boys, this is the last night I will play with you."

Drs. Caril, Norris and Lowe this after-noon held an autopsy and will give testi-mony as to the nature of the wounds be-fore the Coroner's jury, which has been adjourned until $30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The jury is composed of J. S. Purdom, A. B. Moore, W. H. H. Samson, John Younger, J. L. Tufts and A. M. Frost.

Weeps With Woman's Father. Lauth continues remarkably cool and diected. His extreme nervousness of yesterday has entirely disappeared and the announcement of the death of his victim this morning apparently did not affect him greatly. J. M. Late Tuesday night at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Mrs. Jones made the following saite-mortem statement.

"The man who shot me is George W. Lauth. I had been with him two or three years. It happened at my father's house. I asked him for the things of mine he had in Portland. He said he wanted the things he had given me, and I said he was welcome to them. He then said that he wanted me, and I told him that he could not have me because of the dirty, mean letters he had written to me in which he cursed and swore and called me names. Death claimed Mrs. Lenore Jones, the victim of George W. Lauth's insanjealousy, early yesterday morning. She died at Good Samaritan Hospital after making an ante-mortem statement regarding the manner in which she was wounded by her rejected lover at Oregon City Tuesday. This statement was given in the presence of her attend-ing physicians, Drs. W. D. Caril and A. E. Rockey.
