many. A CAT WHICH DID NOT COME BACK .- A man who has for some time been suffering from nervousness and mental depressio whose sight is badly affected and who troubles have been much aggravated by the smoky atmosphere, a short time ago leased and occupied an empty building on the city front. He has been much an-noyed by a miserable cat belonging to the former occupant, which remained behind, a habit of the feline race whose affections cling more closely to localities than their owners. Morning and evening this miser able creature haunted the door of the place, reduced to a mere skeleton by starvation, and its incessant mewings and caterwaulings drove the occupant to the verge of distraction. Finally with the assistance of a friend the animal was caught and placed in a coffee sack, a heavy stone was put in beside it, the mouth of the firmly tied and the whole then sack dropped off a wharf and sunk, a thousand fathoms or less. The assassin went home present. Not only was it hot and smoky, but ashes and cinders of leaves from the happy, thinking that the cat was a-goner and that his troubles as far as it was concerned, at least, were at an end. On burning forests were showering down on the city day and night, and everything was begrimed and smooched and every orfe's hands and face were stained with the soot and ashes. The present smoky spell will have to last some time longer going down to open the place next morn-ing he saw in the usual place his old, dingy terror. He staggered back in horror. exclaiming: "Has my mind utterly falled me? Do my eyes deceive me, or has that accurated cat really come back?" And if before it becomes as disagreeable as what we have suffered several times before." Several who heard these remarks agreed a passing friend had not caught him he would have fallen to the pavement. On would have failen to the pavement. Or recovering his wits, explanation and inveswith the speaker. It is probably best to treat present conditions as lightly as treat present conditions as lightly as possible and wait trustingly for the rains tigation followed and it was found that what he took for the cat was only a par-cel which had been left by the door which will end them and which have never yet failed to come in time. wrapped in a piece of dingy, gray canvas, and his peace of mind was restored but he has not yet entirely recovered from the FOUGHT RUSSIANS FIFTT TEARS AGO. Wallace Graham, an elderly man of Scotch birth, for many years a resident of shock, and in his dreams he still sees British Columbia, has been spending a short vacation in Fortland visiting an old friend. He left for home on Monday in order to been British Columbia, has been spending that cat and hears its pitcous miaulings.

with gardens and contained 45,000 inhabi-tants when the allies beseiged it, and MAY SPRINELS LAWN WITH GIANT .- The owner of a fine residence which is sur owner of a me resource which is sur-rounded by a lawn, flower-beds, etc., which occupy an entire block, was seen yesterday looking critically at a "giant," or huge nozzle, such as is used in hy-draulic mining. It throws a two and onehalf-inch stream of water with great velocity, which, of course, depends upon the pressure. A friend, passing, asked him if he contemplated investing in a hydraulic slans. mine. He replied that he had no such intention, but was thinking that a nozzle like this under proper pressure would be a good thing for sprinkling or irrigating his lawn. Four garden-hose with spray sprinklers were kept busy on it as many hours as possible and still the grass was beginning to look brown and the ground was as dry and as hard as a rock. The ides was a bold as well as novel one and, if carried into effect, the results will be of interest to all who have lawns to sprinkle POLICE AFTER THE WHITE MEN.-With a zeal which pauses not in the face of dan-ger the Police Department continues to fearlessly pursue the bloody outlaw who rides his wheel on the sidewalk. He is taken to the Police Station, appears next day in the Municipal Court and pays a fine of $1. Last night at 5:30 o'clock as one-half of the world were going from labor to supper, Officer Hill swooped down upon Harry C. Holmes at the corner of Twentieth and Johnson streets and effected a capture. Holmes was riding his wheel on a sidewalk. He is 18 years of age and explained that he was going home from work. Instead he went to the station and placed $5 in the hands of Captain Moore for ball before he continued his journey ARRESTED FOR THEFT .-- Harry Jones, re cently released from the County Jail, was arreated by Detective Kerrigan yester day afternoon for the theft of a knife and some clothing. The man admitted having stolen the things, but refused to say where they came from. The knife bore the name, "J. H. Andrews," and was adorned with three minature photo-graphs and a Masonio emblem. It is thought Jones got into a room occupied by some visitor to the other stores. by some visitor to the city, as the name on the knife handle does not appear in the directory or telephone book. CITT WILL EXAMINE FOR CLERKSHIPS. A call for eivil service examinations for clerkships in the city departments will be issued within a short time. At present there are too few applicants for exami-nations to warrant a call being issued. The Commissioners prefer to wait until there are more applicants. Clerkships carry salaries running from $100 to $175 per month. Any person desiring information on the subject can ascertain all facts by applying to the clerk of the Civil Service Commis NORTH TENTH-STREET PROPERTY-OWNmas.-A meeting will be held this, Friday evening, September 16, at 5 o'clock at the German Church, corner Tenth and Stark, for the purpose of giving expression to and considering the proposed assessment for the improvement of North Tenth itreat from Washington storet month street from Washington street north to Quimby. A Brilliant Society Play. When "Lord and Lady Algy" passed into theatrical history, when all is said and written of this famous Pinero play, the slient eloquence of George Bioorquest as Jockey Mawley will stand wit in margar ways been considered a Local Optionist, with a tendency toward Prohibition, and who by the merest chance was not one of

This clever young actor has come into his own at the Columbia Theater this week. He has only a half dozen or more lines to his part, but every moment that he is on the stage he is the cynosure of all eyes. He is "Lord Algy's" faithful below to be how over a bound the candidates on the late temperance ticket, was seen in a liquor dealer's place yesterday selecting an armful of bottles of assorted whiskles, etc., from the shelves. When asked the meaning of this he explained that he was one of a party preserving to start on a bundling trip after preparing to start on a hunting trip after elk in the Olympic Mountains. He said there were still many elk on the Olymjockey. In the first act he hovers about the sideboard. "I'm thirsty," he says in a low voice plan range, but they were becoming civ-lized, or accustomed to the ways of hunters, and the only way in which they and he has the audience under his spell from that time on. In the ballroom scene Mawley has no speaking part. He is ca-corted to the ball by the watchful yet behunters, and the only way in which they can be shot is by making them drunk first, and it was for this purpose that the stock of liquors was being laid in. When it was suggested that the hunters might by accident get full before the cik did he said that this emergency had been pro-vided for, as a powerful man, an iron-handler named Dempsey, said to be a dis-tant relative of the immortal Nonpareli, was one of the party, and should they not be able to shoot straight enough to kill an fuddled "Lord Algy," and the comedy of the situation is heightened by Mawlay's dignified silence, while masquerading in the uncomfortable garb of "The Young Pretender." In the closing scene Bloom-quest scores another hit, when he refuses to accept from the meager purse of Lord Algy pay for riding his horse to defeat. This scene is one of the best in the play. be able to shoot straight enough to kill an be able to shoot straight enough to kin all elk. Dempsey would knock it down with his sledgehammer fist. The return of this party and the report of their experience in killing elk first with whisky and then with lead will be anxiously awaited by "Lord and Lady Algy" is a true and entioing picture of high-class English so-clety life. The deft-handed Pinero has filled it with heart interest. The incom-parable Columbia Company acts it with art. The women wear their beautiful compare to the manuact born and gowns as those to the manner born, and the men make a bright picture in their brave attire. Every member of the com-NOT AS SMORT AS IN FORMER YEARS .-Naturally every one complains of the un-pleasantness of the smoke-laden atmosphere and the dust caused by the long absence of rain and the smoke also causes pany is excellent. The principal role in this play fails to absence of rain and the show have weak much suffering to those who have weak eyes. All day long on every corner one hears such remarks as: "Isn't this terri-ble? I have seen smoky reasons before but this, I think, is the very worst I have the leading man, Mr. Baume, while Mis Counties as "Lady Algy" has a delightful part around which clusters the heart interest, a very engaging element Mr. Berrell as the Duke of Dronebor-ough is a sterling actor of the old school, and he is every inch the character.

but this, I think, is the very worst I have ever seen. Why, you cannot see across the river; can't even see the hills back of town," and all such remarks. It must be that the majority of people are prone to forget trouble, for an old-time citizen said yesterday in reply to the remarks quoted: "Oh, pshaw! The smoke is noth-ing to that compared to that we had to put up with in the Summer of '85, nor is the season in any way so disagreeable as that was. I think if you will look back only two years you will reall a worse condition of affairs than exists at present. Not only was it hot and smoky. The electricity in the face of Donald Bowles is his fortune. And the best of it is that his popularity is founded on merit. Miss Brandt is a dainty ingenue, while Miss Barhyte as Mrs. Tudway, the porter's moment when antimentality of society woman, whose sentimentality most leads her astray, acts her part with distinction. Every appearance of Miss Eytinge is noted by the watchful audi Miss ences, and her every line is received with marked attention. Roy Bernard makes a character role. The play abounds in excellent character parts, and Mr. Bernard and Mr. Dills contoribute much to the merriment of the sudiences. Mr. Seaton has a humorous part as Swepson the valet, which is one of the best bits of acting in the play. For a clean-cut picture of society life, "Lord and Lady Algy," abounding in keen wit and epigram, is one of the brightest and merriest of comedies.

Impressed by "Gismonda." There are only three more performance of "Gismonds" at the Baker Theater this week, and those who have not seen Mel-bourns Macdowell as Almero, Sardou's masterpiece, will regret it as long as they live if they miss this opportunity. Busi-ness has increased each night this week. which is evidence that "Gismonda" has made a great impression on the theater-goers of this city. Indications point to the usual crowded Baker matinee tomor

Next Week at Cordray's.

Merit wins, and this seems to be the main reason why "Sidetracked," which will be presented at the Cordray's next has outlived all the so-called veek, railroad dramas. The excellent comedy throughout the play is now too well known to need comment, the climaxes are all strong, and the dramatic situa tions have been toned up to date. AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS

Coupon Matinee at the Star.

There is published on page 10 in this morning's Oregonian a coupon which en-titles the bearer to 5 cents toward the ad-mission to the Star Theater at either one of the matinee performances this after-noon. This feature has been established by the management especially for the ben-efit of the children, of whom many wait patiently through every week in order that they may attend the Friday matinees for half price. The program this week contains a number of features which will prove exceptionally interesting to hildren, among which may be mentio the gymnastic act of the D'Armos and the amazing and amusing performance or blcycle by marvelous Kingdom.

Gold Night at the Lyric.

This is the night the Lyric manage-ment gives its patrons $15 in gold coin and already many people have spent 10 cents for a ticket and gone away from the performance richer in this world's goods than when they came. A $5 coin is given away at each even-ing performance to the holder of the lucky coupon. You may be the lucky one tonight. This week's bill is a fine vaudeville entertainment and you will miss some of the best artists in the business unless you go this week. Loretta Twins Coming.

An act never equaled in Portland will be presented at the Star Theater in next week's programme, beginning Monday afternoon, when the famous Loretta Twins the sensation of the vaudeville world, and the despair of rivals, will appear in their thrilling trippie bar act, which was first shown by them at the Crystal Palace in London, England. There are some acts in vaudeville that are dif-ferent. The Star has them, and the act of the Loretta Twins is one of them.

Amateur Night at the Arcade.

A number of amateurs will appear at each performance at the Arcade Theater this evening in addition to the regular programme. Friday night has been estab-lished by the manager of this popular playhouse as amateur night, and every week a number of nonprofessional per-formers are given an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to entertain the pub-lic. Their efforts to do so are always an amusing novelty and of great interest.

The Famous Girdellers,

Next week at the Arcade Theater will be presented the marvelous act of the Girdellers, whose fame as head balancers and acrobats has gone twice around the world. Their engagement is extraordinary, and as is usual when a gilt-edge high-priced act is brought to Portland, is the Arcade Theater that does it. T The Girdellers open with the new bill next Monday afternoon.

HAS THIS HOLLY TREE THE SCALE?-There is a handsome holly tree in the Postoffice grounds near the southeast cor-ner of the building which has taken many years to attain its present size, as the holly is of slow growth; in fact, there are nony is of show growth, in tact, there are very few, if any, larger holly trees in the city, and it is one of the principal orna-ments of the grounds. William Gregory calls attention to the fact that this tree is, as he thinks, literally covered with "acale," the San Jose scale, or some binder of he say the starther the starther kindred pest, and he says the attention of the Department should be called to the matter and the tree sprayed to cleanse it of the pest. Examination by several, not experts, shows that the foliage is covered with dust and grime, but that it is not infeated to any extent with scale. The tree will look much better after the first rain and perhaps come out all right. If it does not it is in a hard case, for it will probably take the Postoffice Department ome time to organize a spraying depart ment to attend to this tree. It might be better if the person in charge of the grounds would consult some expert horticulturist in regard to the matter. OFFERS SITE FOR A HOTEL -- Early yes terday morning a wide-awake real estate agent called at The Oregonian office to inquire the name and address of the capi-talist mentioned in the morning paper who was preparing to build a large hotel in this city. "A TEXAS STEER" TONIGHT.

Hoyt's Famous Comedy Begins an Engagmement of Three Nights.

Tonight at the Marquam Grand Theater Hoyt's most successful comedy, "A Texas will begin an engagement of two nights, with a bargain price matinee Sat-urday at 2:15 o'clock. The types of character portrayed are clearly drawn, and it is said they are admirably developed by this season's company, which is an unusually strong one. Among them are Will H. Bray, the original Minister to Dahomey; Harry B. Emery, as 'Maver-ick Brander''; May Stockton, soubrette and ingenue, who has been a feature with several metropolitan attractions as "Bossy," and the famous Texas Steer Quartet and others. The situations are led up to with scrupulous care, and no opportunity is lost to raise a laugh. Seats are now selling for the three performances.

Housecleaning season at the Marquam Theater has made that place of amusement as clean as the proverbial new pin. All the carpets in the foyer and lobbies have been thoroughly cleaned and other wise renovated through compressed air and suction without a single carpet being ifted. Painters have been busy touching interior effects, and the scenery, stage and electric lighting have been overhauled. State University yesterday. trict is a guest at the Portland. "Under Two Flags."

Commencing with Sunday's matinee, the Columbia Theater Stock Company will produce "Under Two Flags," a dramati-zation of Oulda's famous novel of the same name. This thrilling drama will be given the most complete production ever seen in Portland. The famous ride of Cigarette will be done by Miss Countiss with all the grace and daring of this popular actress, and the sand-storm scene will be presented with the most striking realism. The Columbia Theater Company will appear in its full strength in the Blanche Bates' version of the play, which only such an able company as the Colum-bia could hope to equal. The sale is now on at Rows & Martin's, Sixth and Washington, and at the theater after 7 P. M.
