ELASTERN OTSTERS THRIVE ON COAST. The business of growing oysters on this Coast from "seed" transplanted from the Eastern coast bids fair to be a grander Eastern coast bids fair to be a grander success than even the experiments of former years have foreshadowed, judging from the reports of Mrs. Greenman, of Oysterville, Shoalwater Bay, who has recently come to Portland to spend the Winter. She owns a large area of oyster-beds near Oysterville, and some two years ago to the a stock company in which several got up a stock company in which several Portland people invested some capital. She imported and planted seven carloads of seed oysters, four of which were planted in June, 1963, about 17 months ago, an ed in June, 1963, about 17 months ago, and the other three in May last, the whole covering about 20 acres of beds. The oysters when planted were on an average about the size of a 25-cent piece, many not so large, and they have thriven so well that they can now be harvested in any quantity, averaging four inches in length, and some five inches. They are said to be of excellent quality and much superior in the large tough ones brought. superior to the large tough ones brought here from the East. They are Blue Points. The first planting comprised 1662 barrels, containing about 6000 seed cysters each, smounting in all to between six and sever In addition, Mrs. Greenman has se of some 150 or 160 acres in the small native oysters,

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUBS NEEDED TO CLEAN Ur .- A property-owner who takes much pride in keeping his grounds neat yester-day suggested that the public form dis-tricts and organize neighborhood clubs in them to assume charge of the cleaning, repairing, painting, keeping neat and beautifying residences and grounds in such districts. He said there was neces-sity for some such organization at this time to get the city spruced up in prepa-ration for the influx of visitors to the Fair next year. He went on to say that in many districts no one appeared to have any pride or even decency in regard to these matters. Some, to save the expense of building new fences, tore down old ones, while others allowed old dilapidated fences to remain to avoid the trouble of tearing them down. Many landlords would not spend a dollar in repairing or paint-ing houses, and most tenants would not end any money to put a leased house in better condition, but would allow the grounds to be littered with rubbish.

Gun Club Seeks Aid Fron Fair.—It is now the purpose of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club to bring here if possible next year the American Handloap, the biggest trap-shooting competition held in the country. If it is obtained fully 1000 mer will come to take part, and incidently see the Bair. A committee has been appointed to call upon the Lewis and Clark board with the object of obtaining $500 of the Fair's money for this purpose. The club promises to raise $500. The members of connects to raise $200. The members of committee are all well-known sportsen. They are R. D. Inman, president of e club; Arthur K. Bentley, W. A. Storey, D. Honeyman, A. J. Winters and Will. Lipman. The club is also seeking a new location for trap-shooting and J. E. Cullison and W. A. Hillis have been ap-cointed to seek new grounds.

DE. AND MRS. BROUGHER AT HOME.—Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Brougher, of the White Temple, will be "at home" to the mem-M. The parsonage, 201 Eleventh street, apletely renovated and set in order, and it is a great pleasure for the paster and his wife to open their new home, and extend a cordial invitation to their friends to be present. No invita-tions have been issued, but they will be happy to meet several hundred of their friends in the city. The ladies of the Aid Society of the church will assist in making the occasion a most enjoyable one.
On West Is Down Over 700 Freet.—The

oil well on John Ogden's place north of St. Johns has reached a depth of 722 feet, and the indications of oil have stendily increased, says Mr. Ogden. He now feels increased, says Mr. Ogden. He now lesis more encouraged than at any time since starting drilling this well. Considerable oil is mixed with the sand and water that come out of the well. Some very hard rock has now been struck. Mr. Ogden expects to continue drilling until he strikes oil or finds that there is no oil, but is confident he will not be disappointed.

For Assault on a Chipple.—The trial of Policeman Dan Connors for making a brutal assault on a cripple will occur this morning in Police Court. When the case morning in Folice Court. When the case was called yesterday morning, it was found the offender had not yet been arrested and accordingly the continuance was made necessary. The warrant was not served on Connors until early in the afternoon. He was released on his own recognizance until this moring at 10 o'clock.

WILL REPORT ON OREGON CITY LOCKS. Williametta locks committee of the ber of Commerce will meet this ag at 11 o'clock to hear the report of morning at II o'clock to hear the report of W. H. Corbett, chairman of the special committee appointed some time ago ,to make investigation into the conditions surrounding the purchase of the locks at Oregon City by the Government. The committee was to look into the advisability of the purchase, to find out the attitude of the Portland General Electric Company, the price that would be asked for the locks, and the sentiment of the people interested towards the proposed purchase. Upon the findings of the committee will depend to a great extent the future action of the Chamber of Commerce in attemptof the Chamber of Commerce in attempt-ing to induce the Government to make the ARK THAT BRIDGE BE REPAIRED .- A re-Ask That Bridge Be Repairing.—A request that the executive board repair the Union-avenue bridge across Sullivan's Guich has been prepared by the committee of East Side men appointed at a mass meeting several days ago. That portion of the bridge over which the car track runs has been bolstered up so that cars may run with safety, and the committee reests that similar repairs be made oughout. The communication from the committee is said to represent $0.00 people interested. A prominent bridgebuilder has assured the committee that with a few repairs the present bridge will last for two or three years. Meanwhile it is sug-gested that Bast Second street at the mouth of Sullivan's Guich, be graded and used until the bridge is ready for travel.

FORMER PORTLANDER TO RETURN.-J. H. Murphy, who has been for the past 16 years employed as chief clerk in the United States Army Engineer's office at Seattle, has decided to tender his resigna-tion and will come to Portland to take the position of secretary of the Oregon Transfer Company and the Cook & Kiernan Transfer Company, Mr. Murphy is well known in Portland, having formerly been the secretary of the Multnomah Club. He is a son-in-law of John Klernan, the principal stockholder of the companies which he will serve when coming to the city. Mr. Murphy will tender his resignation to his chief, Major John Millis, on Decem ber 1 and will come to Portland in time to enter upon his new duties by the first of

DEATH OF WELL-ENOWN RAILBOAD MAN -Friends in the city have received word of the death of Joseph L. White, who for many years was the city ticket agent for the Boston & Albany lines at Boston. Mr. White was well known among the rall-road men of Portland and the Northwest, having accompanied W. B. Jerome, gen eral agent of the New York Central lines, to the Coast on an excursion of railroad men a little over a year ago. While on that visit he made friends of all the railroad men whom he met, each of whom will be grieved to learn of his death. His funeral was conducted from the New Old outh Church in Boston, and was attended by hundreds of his friends.

TERRIDOES WEAKENED PILING .- A section of one of the piles of the Columbia River jetty, broken in the storm a week ago, has been sent to Major W. C. Langfitt, chief of the United States Engineers, for examination. It is seen to be honeycomber by teredoes. The strength of the pile was at least lessened by half by the teredoes. The grubs were so thick in the section sent that the stench from them was too strong to bear. They made the corridors on the third floor of the Federal building so odoriferous yesterday that after they had been in the building half an hour it was found necessary to put the section of pile on the roof.

STILL WORKING FOR DOMESTIC GUILD. The executive board of the Young Wo-men's Christian Association is still work-ing on its plan of forming a domestic guild or employment agency, and has invited a few ladies to meet in the parlors of Mrs. C. H. Lewis this morning at 10:30 to talk over the proposition. This is not a public mass meeting, but the board expects to call one in the near future. Another meeting will be held this afternoon in a private home, and it is expected that at these two gatherings sufficient support will be pledged to go ahead on a basis which will promise success.

BIG APPLES FOR EXHIBITION.-C. J. Tidcombe, of Scappoose, has brought to the city for exhibition a number of Gravenstein apples grown on his farm at that place. The apples are all of good size, the largest having a circumference of 13 inches and a diameter of 44 inches. Mr. Tidcombe has an orchard of 150 trees at Scappous all of which this year yielded apples of remarkable size.

COFFEE DOESN'T HURT ME. Tules That Are Told.

"I was one of the kind who wouldn't believe that coffee was hurting me," says a New York woman. "You just couldn't convince me its use was connected with the heart and stomach trouble I suffered from most all of the time. My trouble finally got so bad I had to live on milk and toast almost entirely for three or four years. Still I loved the coffee and wouldn't believe it could do such damage. "What I needed was to quit coffee and take nourishment in such form my stom-ach could digest. I had read so much about Fostum, the cereal coffee, but never thought it would fit my case until one day I decided to quit coffee and give it a trial and make sure about it. So J got a package and carefully followed the di-ctions. "Soon I found I began to get better and was able to eat carefully selected foods without the aid of pepsin or other digests and it was not long before I was really a new woman physically. "Now I am healthy, hearty and sound can eat anything and everything that comes along, and I know this wonderful change is all due to my having quit cof-fee and got the big quantity of nourish-ment I needed through this deliciou. BARBERS' UNION AGREES TO SHOPS REMAINING OPEN.

Committee Will Confer With Employers and New Regulations Will Be Issued at Once.

Shaves up to 10 o'clock at night will in all probability be obtainable within a few

This rule will apply not only to the Hotel Portland shop, which began the pre-sent agitation and is now open until that hour, but also to every shop in the city, up to that time At a meeting of the Barbers' Union in the Alisky building last evening it was informally agreed to allow the barber shops to remain open. A conference of the executive committee of the union, the special committee of 18 appointed several days ago for the purpose, and a number of shop managers will be held at noon today. The formal agreement will then be decided upon, and the new regulations issued at once.

The union meeting last evening was at-tended by over 200 members. After a dis-cussion lasting several hours a vote was taken on the longer hours question. There were but two dissenting votes, for the ma-jority fell in with the proposal submitted The members of the committees keep the exact terms of the probable agreement to themselves, but the real meat of the proposition is that a barber's day shall bereafter be gauged by the number of hours of work, and not by any fixed length of time for the shop to be open for business.

Six months ago a similar resolution was introduced into the union but was turned down, as it was thought best to let matters stand as they were. The ac-tion of the Hotel Portland shop managers in hiring non-union men and keeping their shop open until 10 o'clock, however, was quickly followed by the requests of other shops who did not wish to throw out union men, but who did wish to catch all late trade.

will work so many hours on different shifts, that's all," said T. M. Leabo, busi-Spes agont of the union, after the meeting. Other members of the union joined in the statement that the new regulations would statement that the new regulations would not mean the breaking-up of the union in any way. But the managers of the shops who have rebeiled against the hours fixed by the union as the time in which to do business feel that it is a victory for them, and that the control of the union upon the shops is slackening.

Hereafter the shops will probably open at 7 o'clock in the morning. Some barbers will go to work at that hour. As 30 hours.

will go to work at that hour. As 10 hours a day will probably be the limit settled upon, the men will quit in the late after-noon. Others who have come on at noon will then take their chairs, so that customers may be served until a late hour without forcing any barber to work be-yond a reasonable length of time. "All I want is the chance to keep the shop open for myself and one or two men after 7 o'clock," said the proprietor of a seven-chair establishment yesterday. 'I belonged to the union before I took this place, and I feel that I am a union men

Both the union barbers and the em ployers will almost cartainly unite in try-ing to keep a scale of regular hours for all the shops, however. Under the old condition of things every shop opened and closed when it pleased, and confusion constantly resulted.

FROM MB. WESSINGER.

Says Mr. Flegel Misquoted Him as to Saloon Licenses.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 18 -- (To the Editor:-In today's issue, in the column headed "Turns Down Mayor," the follow-ing language occurs: "Mr. Wessinger says he is willing to have the saloon lises raised to $1000, if we limit the saloons in the city to 250, said Mr. Flegel."

If Mr. Flegel said this, he said what is not true. In the first place, I do not arrogate to myself the power of a dictator and say that I am "willing" what should be done or not done in the government of the city. I have seen enough of the evil of some people trying to force their views down the throats—or away from the throats—of others, to be quite willing to attend to my own business and to let others attend to theirs. In the second place, as a citizen of Portland, I think it bad municipal policy to close out 150 places of business, as the above-suggested ordinance would do, thereby injuring many property-holders. In the third place, as the representative to some extent of cer-tain interests in the brewery business, I regard such a prohibitive license as det mental to the welfare of that business In the fourth place, I was not present at the meeting reported and I have never anywhere given any authority for such a

AT THE THEATERS

What the Press Agents Say.

Vivid Description of Wild Love. Of the many vivid flashes in Sydney Grundy's pen, none is more electrifying than Mr. Brabason's description of a wild love in "Sowing the Wind." It occurs in the great scene between Mr. Baume and Miss Countiss at the Columbia Theater this week. She is revilling her father for his wrong against her mother, and in the course of his defense of the man, Mr.

the course of his defense of the man, Mr. Brabazon uses this expressive language:

"It may be that, unknown to you, you are the child of love—of irresistible and overmastering love, that leaps all bounds—that thinks of nothing, that was not meant to think of anything, except itself—love that can overwhelm one like the sea—love just as far beyond a man's control as madness is—love that is mad-ness—love that staked itself, and every-body else, present and future, on itself— and lost! There is such love, Miss Athel-stane, and it comes as straightly from the hand of heaven as death does. Men cannot always marry, and all the purity that God has made cannot be bounded by a ring of gold! It is worth a trip to the Columbia It is worth a trip to the Columbia Theater to witness this one scene.

As the week progresses, "Sowing the Wind" grows in popular estimation. It is a play that was bound to become popular, its theme being of striking originality and the language so beautiful that present day writers rarely equal it. The company under Mr. Bernard's direction gives the drama an unsurpassed interpretation and evidently none of Portland's playersers intend to miss it. The and's playgoers intend to miss it. The sale for the remainder of the week has sale for the remainder of been exceptionally heavy.

"For Her Sake" Tonight.

The big Russian melodramatic sensa-tion which has been the sensation of the week at Cordray's is filling the theater nightly with enthusiastic spectators who nce it the most interesting and instructive play of the day. The intense interest felt in the present war between Russia and Japan in a large measure is responsible for the success of the piece, as it deals with military and court life in the realms of the Crar with a powerful stdelight on the Siberian exile system. ful sidelight on the Siberian exile system The thrilling last act, which takes place in the depths of the famous mines of Kara, never fails to arouse the wildest ex-Kara, never fails to arouse the windest ex-citement. The cruelty practiced upon the unfortunate prisoners is realistically pre-sented even to the use of the red hot irons and the whipping post to compel confessions. The scenery is magnificent and the company is composed of clever actors. The attendance tonight pro

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"Marta of the Lowlands."

"Marta of the Lowlands," a beautiful drama of Spanish life, will be presented by Florence Roberts and her excellent company at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow, Friday, Saturday matines and nights. "Marta of the Lowlands" is a signish. Marts of the Lowands is a Spanish remance by Angel Guimera, and is quoted by the critics as pretty and interesting a play as has been produced for many years. The story is located in Catalonia, one of the northern provinces of Spain, where the Pyrenees break that usually level country into picturesque and comartic valleys. Miss. Poberts has reromantic valleys. Miss Roberts has re-tained the Spanish atmosphere in her pro-duction which is said to be exceedingly attractive and interesting.

"A Friend of the Family."

So great is the success of William E Sorman's farce "A Friend of the Family," that he has been induced to try fortune on Broadway, New York, with it, and after the present tour of the West will go to the Bijou Theater for a run. His company will be exactly the same as the one which appears at the Marquam for three nights starting Monday, October 24, which includes William Friend, late star "Stranger in a Strange Land;" Harry Crandall, the original Burgomaster; Eugene Redding, who was a member of "Why Smith Left Home" company during its successful New York and London en gagements; Miss Helen Travers, of Charles Frohman's "Are You a Mason?" Thais Magrame, late leading woman with Joseph Haworth; Violette Villers, who scored a hit with Klaw & Erlanger's "Liberty Belles," and many others. The advance sale of seats opens at the box office next Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Of Course the Arcade Is Good. Of course the Arcade Theater this week is drawing good houses. With an act like Hearn and Lewis in their dancing turn the houses will always be big. When anstatement. I regret being dragged before other act like Howard and Campbell, the the public in this matter, but since it has come up I desire to state the truth. And andlences will be bigger still. And when finally, as I have never concealed my
