Dr. Rader Explains His Statement About Women.

THE GOOD WILL NOT VOTE

Leaders of Feminine Clubs Very Generally Agree With Minister's Statement, and Many Oppose Equal Suffrage.

"From narrow-minded people, and people whe will not understand, Good Devil deliver me?"-(With applopies to MacLane.) omen of Portland are bad! From don't know anything about-deliver mel'-Chief Hunt

"I used the word bad, but it referred to woman's political sense. Women are more intense in politics than men, but I do not believe they have any better principles"-Dr. Rader.

It might be inferred from the hornets nest which Dr. Rader, of the Pacific Christian Advocate has stirred up that this well-meaning and sadly-misinterpreted divine is taking the new cure for rheumatism. It is said that a few well-directed stings from that pugnaclous insect will completely cure the most malignant case of this particular ill to which so much flesh is heir, but nasmuch as Dr. Rader is not rheumatically inclined he is having rather an overdose of the remedy.

address before the W. C. T. U. convention Wednesday evening, that when women were given the right to vote it tended to bring out the worst element of the sex, and that half the women of of the sex, and that half the women of Portland were bad, were not enthusiastically received. As stated in yester-day's Oregonian, the members of the convention, who were expecting to hear the suffrage question ably supported and its possibilities painted in glowing colors, were sadly jarred.

Whether Dr. Rader referred to half the women of Portland as bad in the literal sense of the word was discussed all over town resterday with an anima-tion which would do wonders for either the temperance or suffrage cause if its force was directed towards those channels. Some of those who were present ahe inclined to think that he meant, as he claims he did, that they were bad as politicians and that no insinuation re-garding their moral characters was intended. Others, and especially those who are not interested in the suffrage question, are very indignant that any man should have dared to make a ment in those words, no matter

Referred to Failures as Politicians. Dr. Rader freely admits that he used he exact words he is charged with having used, but says that it referred to women's failures as politicans and not to their moral or criminal records. He says that having to cut a 20-minute at a great disadvantage and that he is not surprised that the remark created a sensition, for it thoroughly misrepre-tented what he intended to convey.
"I am as thoroughly dissatisfied with my statement as anyone else is," he said last night, "and what "I intended to say was something like this: "For more than 30 years I have been warm friend to and an honorary member of the Woman's Christian Temper-ance Union. For many years I content-ed for woman suffrage whenever my tunity happened to be. I had hoped that wherever woman suffrage pre-vailed, there would exist something comparable to our conception of the Garden of Eden; but the results of suffrage in Colorado and Wyomins have not been such as had been antic-ipated by myself and other ardent sup-porters. This fallure, I take it, has been from various reasons.

The first and most important of all is that many of our very good women, faithful wives and devoted mothers, do not desire the privileges of the ballot, but very much prefer to commit all matters to their husbands and Hence many of them where women's suffrage prevails do not exercise their right to vote. In the second place who do vote are influenced in franchise by the same motives which control the men. They are faithful to their parties; they are influenced business interests, social relations distinctions, which frequently control men. For women are very much like men under the same environment. As a rule they are better than men, but this is largely because of their protec-tion and because of the fact that they are surrounded by the ennobling and healthful influences of the home.

"Not half of the women of Portland ould vote up to the high ideals espoused by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

All Bad Women Vote.

"Another cause for disappointment in oman suffrage is the fact that nearly all bad women vote, and can be very largely influenced by the vicious element. Women are somewhat nearer the ideal than our men, but they have not attained it yet. While their influence on the ballot, when they have suffrage, is somewhat elevating and ennobling, it has not produced the ideal conditions which had been hoped for by some of ts most ardent advocates. But I believe in it, not only because of its exustice, oppression and wrong. It is nothing more than right that they should now have the privilege of saying themselves how they will be governed, under what laws they shall live and who shall execute these laws. I believe the future will justify the posi-tion I have taken, and that woman's prove a wholesome and decidedly elevating influence in our

Prominent women of Portland express dignation over the doctor's remark out half the women of this town. But although Dr. Rader is himself an advo-cate of the suffrage question, the views he expressed concerning the failure of women in politics meets with the unqual-ified approval of those who discounte-

Bast Women Not at Polls.

As president of the Young Women's hristian Association, Mrs. W. J. Honeyman is in a position to speak authoritatively on the subject of women, and "I would hate to think that half the romen of Portland or any other town were not good. It might be that by as-ociating the bad and the indifferent together they would balance the good, but I am sure that Dr. Rader does not mean am an immoral standpoint. He probably means that there are that many who would be weak enough to be tempted if they entered politics. He must have been strongly influenced in Colorado to

NOT BAD MORALLY would not go to the polls. The place of the good woman is at home and as queen of the household she can influence her sons and her husband for right principles sons and her husband for right principles and do the public immeasurably more good than by going out herself. I am strongly opposed to equal suffrage and I am glad that one who has seen it thoroughly tried should take this view of it. The women of the W. C. T. U. are noble, bonest women and they are delays a public. honest women, and they are doing a noble work, but when it comes to the suffrage question they do not use the best judgment. They have worked and studied over this liquor question until they have become almost fanatical over it."

is Opposed to Equal Suffrage. Mrs. Henry E. Jones pronounces the tatement of Dr. Rader regarding Portland's women as outrageous, but she is giad to have some one who knows state that the suffrage question is practically a failure.

"Equal suffrage is a bad thing for women," she said, "and the retiring, womanly women will not go to the polis in any numbers, while the undesirable element will do so. And if they did, what change would it make in the political masters? How many women will not question? How many women will not be influenced by their husbands, and in case they did have different political views, imagine the strife and dissension

Dr. Rader says," was the answer of Mrs. Grace Watt Ross when asked her opin-ion of his statement. "His saying it doesn't make it so, and it does not influence the opinion of any thinking woman. In case it were true and half of our women were had, what proportion of men would be bad, do you think? I have never taken any active part in suffrage work, but I advocate equal rights, and women should have their rights, whether they he good or bad, just as good and bad men have theirs. I met a great many Colorado women last Summer. They were bright, intelligent and womanly, and heir statements about the results of equal suffrage in that state do not agree with

Mrs. Rose Hoyt, president of the City ederation of Women's Clubs and of the Federation of Women's Clubs and of the Rose Society, is another who was shooked by the remark about the Pertland women. he is convinced that Dr. Rader has been She is convinced that Dr. Rader has been prejudiced against woman in his work or he would never make such statements. "I have never identified myself with the work of the suffrage cause, but I am not a disbeliever, by any means." she said. "But no matter what his opinion may be, no man should make such a statement

"Dr. Rader made a broad statement, but I don't want to think he meant they are morally bad. I, myself, do not think that the best element of women—as a mass—takes very much indi-vidual interest in politics, and I am inslined to believe that the other class of women, also as a mass, would be inclined to co-operate or connive with unsurupulous politicians to obtain legislation best suited to their nefarious methods of liv-ing. If the W. C. T. U. could get all of the good women to vote they might realize their dreams under equal suffrage, but with the good women hanging back and the others coming to the front, I am afraid they would not be able to ac-

But it took Chief Hunt to settle the question about the bad women.

"Half the women bad!" he fairly screamed. "Why, that man must be creamed. Why, that man must be creamed. If I said 3 per cent it would—but let me see. (And the big Chief figured on his dimpled fingers for several seconds). his dimpled fingers for several seconds). Let me see—why bless your heart, I don't believe there is 1 per cent of the women in this town that are really bad from an in this town that are really past from an immoral or criminal standpoint. I think we have a pretty good town, and I know we have good women in it. They are bright and smart too, and quite expable of thinking for themselves, so why shouldn't they be allowed to vote? I know my wife has good judgment, and I am sure she wouldn't allow me to influence here it she was allowed to vote. Olve ence her if she was allowed to vote. Give the women their rights, I say, and let those who wish exercise them. But this thing of half the women in Portland being-"

The mighty Chief couldn't hold in his indignation any longer, so he strode to the inner office and shook his fist at an imaginary Dr. Rader in the corner-a Dr. Rader who dared to call half the women in Portland bad-women who might every one some day have a vote.

DEFENSE OF DR. RADER.

Baptist Minister Says Former Assoclate is True Friend of Woman.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Rev. W. H. Whelan, a Baptist minister, who is visiting Tacoma, is an old friend of Dr. Rader and was on the editorial force of the Denver Post at the time al-luded to in Dr. Rader's remarks, Mr. Whelan said tonight:

"I have known and been closely asso-clated with Dr. Rader for 20 years and was in the midst of political affairs in Denver at the time he speaks of and know all he said to be true; but it must be understood that I, knowing the man, could never read into his public utterances-or private, either anything derog-atory to womankind. He is a prince in his relations to, and regard for women, and the very last man in the American ministry who would bid for sensational "The campaign for woman suffrage was heated and developed strong oppo-sition, but, as the best women of Colo-rado favored it, and as all men agree that taxation without representation is un American—and there are many wealthy women in Colorado—the sinews of politic war were not wanting, and it carried. "It is, however, with the sequel that Dr. ador's remarks have to do. In the first Rader's remarks have to do. In the first general election, women of the masculine instinct, bold and aggressive, saw their opportunity, captured primaries, worked ward heelers and distributed money for votes, just as their lords and masters do, desiring the high ideal of the real leaders, claiming and obtaining office and perquisites for work done, and in a gen eral way realisting the worst fears of both sexes by lowering political life, rather than purifying and uplifting it. "I was on the editorial staff of the Denver Post when these things were up for consideration, and know whereof I speak When Dr. Rader speaks of bad women he means political wirepullers, who buy or sell out for money, place or power, just as the average political manipulates does today. Dr. Rader has not over-stated the true condition of affairs polit-lcal in Colorado, and it is but fair to argue that female suffrage in any oth state would bring about like deplorable

"Years of close personal association with him urges me, in the name of Christian friendship, to defend his name, in his ab ence from even an insinuation that he could or did mailgn or traduce woman-kind. The W. C. T. U. nor any other body of Christian women have a truer friend than Dr. D. L. Rader."

The Peerless Lyrio.

"This is the best show you have ever had at the Lyric." "It's the best vaude-ville show we ever had in Portland." These are two expressions heard over and over each night this week at the Lyric, as the throngs of delighted spectators pass out after each performance. Welch, the prince of comedians, has demonstrated that he didn't have to build the Columbia to claim a hold on Fame. He is one ed that he didn't have to build the Columbia to claim a hold on Fame. He is one of the best character comedians on the vaudeville stage at the present time, and the salary check which Managers Keating and Flood hand him each week is one of the largest paid for any act in the land. His delightfully clever company are able associates for him, and the farce "How to Tame a Mother-in-Law," which they are presenting this week, is a whirlwind of fun. The spectacular illustrated melodrama, "The Moonshiners," which is produced by the vitascope, is thrilling in the extreme. By the way, this is gold night. extreme. By the way, this is gold night. Amateur Night at the Arcade.

This is amateur night at the Arcade, and the list of amateurs to face the public and demonstrate their abilities in the vaudeville line comprises some of Portland's favorites. Every amateur turn will be a winner tonight. The regular bill this week has forced the tears of laughter from many an eye grown weary of the commonplace on the vaudeville stage. Originality is the prevailing characteristic of this week's bill at the Arcade. Every turn teems with excellence. Jarrett, the colored dancer and mimic, is a wonder in his line and never fails to bring down the house. His imitations are the best ever seen in Portland. Howard and Campbell, the Roman ring artists, have made a great hit, presenting many novelties. They are accorded a rousing reception at the close of every turn. Amateur Night at the Arcade.

A force of workmen has been busy all week, engaged in renovating and remod-eling the interior of the Baker Theater proparatory to its grand opening on Monday afternoon, October M, under the management of Kesting & Flood as a smart vaudeville theater. The new Baker will values like the largest lo-cent theater in the country seating 1300 people, with a stage of sufficient size to accommodate the heaviest act now on the vaudeville stage anywhere. This will really make it the exwhere theater of its kind west of Chi-cago, excepting the Orpheum at San Fran-cisco and Denver. The bill each week will consist of ten acts, the best that can be secured in the East. The performers who will open the house are now on their way from Chicago especially to appear next week. The price of admission will be 10 cents to all parts of the house.

Just Enough at Bijou.

There's just enough laugh, just enough startling sensational acts and just enough pathos in the performance at the Bijou this week to make it a bill to please. Bea-han, Mascotte and Beahan are leaders in their line, and Donovan and Robinson are wonderfully swift bag-punchers. The transformation of a chrysalis into a but-terfly as seen by the vitascope is beautiful.

ARCHITECT AND CONTRACTOR CALL EACH OTHER NAMES.

Committee Hears Disputed Account of Man Who Built House for Fireboat.

You're a liar."

"You're a gentleman." Such little pleasantries enlivened the meeting of the fire committee of the Ex-ecutive Board yesterday afternoon, Fred A. Ballin, the architect, and W. H. Gordon, the builder of the fireboat-house at the foot of East Washington, brought their quarrel over the bills for its construction before the committee. 'illiams was absent, so Mr. Fliedner and rofessor Curtis had all the excitement to themselves. Mr. Gordon had just can to themselves. Mr. Gordon had just can-tradicted the architect when the lie was passed, but there were no casualties. "I lost $1000 on the contract, but I didn't murmur," said Gordon. "But I do object to losing $500 on axira work."

The trouble arose out of the change ordered by the committee when the room of the firemen's quarters were ceiled in stead of plastered. Ballin alleged that Gordon hod contracted to do the work, while Gordon alleged that he had signed no contract on the celling job.

"It it costs $800 more to cell a room than to plaster it, what in the name of common some is the matter with the lumber?" asked Professor Curtis. Neither lumber? asked Professor Curtis. Neither Ballin nor the contractor presented his case in a very clear and understandable manner, so Professor Curtis said he thought the courts would have to settle a question which was too much for his unjudicial mind. Mr. Fliedner agreed, and the committee will decline to hear any more arguments on the subject.

From the fire committee a recommenda-tion for 500 fire hydrants will be presented Filedner, but he agreed that the hydrants were necessary.

"Our first duty is to protect the city

Hanson, a fireman, be suspended pending an investigation of an assault made by him upon M. L. Crane, 65 years old, last June. Professor Curtis stated that Hanson was an ath-letic young man and that Crane had no opportunity to defend himself had he been able. DIVORCE REFUSED AGAIN.

Unfortunate Position of Couple Who Want to Separate and Cannot. .

Judge Sears refused to grant a divorce o either Robert Carr or Mabel E. Carr yesterday morning, which makes the secand time His Honor has refused to legally eparate this couple.
In deciding the case Judge Sears said:

"I would be glad to annul the inhar-monious relations between these two per-sons, and I am satisfied they can never live together again. If I found any warrant in the law for annulling the marriage I would do so. This is practically the same case the court passed upon before, same case the court passed upon before, but an error inadvertently crept into the findings which, if accepted at this time as correct, would alter the matter, but with the error corrected I am unable to find either party entitled to a divorce. The divorce is denied and the plaintiff is ordered to stand the costs and pay $25 additional as suit money."

The Carrs were married about 15 years ago and have two children. Several years ago Mrs. Carr sued for a divorce. Carr contested and Judge Sears decided they were both at fault. The present case was brought by Carr because of desertion and Mrs. Carr put in a defense and demanded a share of her husband's property.

WANTS LARGE TOTAL VOTE

CHAIRMAN BAKER APPEALS TO BUSINESS MEN TO AID.

Asks for Half Holiday on Election Day, That Oregon May Show Her

Population at the Polls.

Chairman Frank C. Baker, of the Republican State Committee, is now busy preparing a circular letter to be sent to business men and manufacturers of the state in all lines, asking that they make it a point to close their places of business on Tuesday, November 8, during the afternoon, in order to give their employes a chance to vote. If it is not convenient to close for a time, the chairman will urge that some other and practical way be found to suit the individual cases, so that every man in the state will have a chance to cast his ballot when the polls are selfish or partisan standpoint but from the view of the good of the state. It is desired at this time, of course, that as large a majority be secured for Roosevelt as is possible, but outside and apart from this it is the present wish of the manager this it is the present wish of the manager to have as large a total vote polled as possible. The National ticket is safe in the state, without a question, and the majority for the Republican ticket will be overwhelming, but the party managers have now turned from this issue, which was at first paramount, to the effort to increase the total vote, be the ingredients Republican, Democratic or Populist. It is the whole number in the aggregate that is now wanted, so that the election totals is now wanted, so that the elecis now wanted, so that the election totals can be pointed to as an indisputable proof of the fact that Oregon is increasing and has materially increased in population in the past four years. On these grounds the chief object of the campaign from this time on will be not so much to secure Republican votes as to secure many men willing to cast their ballots.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effectual Cure for It. Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied some times with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out, languid feel-

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obsti-nate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best freatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Asspire Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Saal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after r Mr. R.
