Baron Jacob Thielman, the only Americanized German swashbuckler on earth, yesterday afternoon demonstrated that it was just as easy to defeat the San Francisco Seals in a 7-to-2 ballgame as it was to mar the features of Conductor G. Evans. The Baron was there with bells. Opposed to him was another of 'Frisco's famous W. & W. batteries. This time there was no machine-like motion to the combination—it was Wilson and "Chimmy de Whale," whose real name is James Whalen. Beyond a great deal of lost motion to his delivery, Whalen did not seem to have much, and the ex-Dugs took to him as naturally as a coon to corn pone and possum.

While the ex-Dugs were fattening their batting averages off Whalen, the Seals were finding slim picking off Swashbuckling Jake. Three hits during the entire matinee was the best revenue they could collect. Two of these came in a cluster in the third and they counted for a run. The next run the Seals annexed came in the fifth canto and was due to a couple of Runkle miscues.

All the while Jake was working like a lad that was determined to win back favor. His efforts were delayed until the sixth inning. With Spencer on first, owing to Wilson's error, Baron Jake walloped himself into the hearts of the feminine fans present by lifting one down the deadline between left and center field. It was a mighty poke and many were glad that it was the ball and not the features of a street-car conductor that Jake had walloped. The drive was good for three bases, and when Jake pulled up as lame as a stakehorse at third, a hat collection, had it been taken up right then, would have more than paid for any fine that confronted Jake for his "night out" on Wednesday. With that one three-base drive and the brilliant game he pitched, Thielman snuggled back into the hearts of the dear feminine fans and everybody was glad that Manager Butler did not suspend him.

It's hard to forget Swashbuckling Jake when anything is said about the game. However, he'll be left out for a while. Drennen began the bombardment of Whalen in the first inning by nailing out a safe one. Holland drew a pass and would have scored on Beck's two-bagger along with Drennen, but for the fact that he was lame. Holland was caught at the plate by a quick relay back of Beck's drive from Walton to Anderson to Wilson. Runkle led off the second inning with a single. Spencer bunted into trouble and Steelman singled to right. Van Buren fell on his tummy in trying to catch it and Pat Meany let the ball slip by him. Runkle scored on the play. Drennen lifted one over the infield roof. Steelman lost consciousness for a second and thought he was a sprinter and started to score on Kirby's drive, but he was slaughtered at the plate by a city block. The ex-Dugs skipped the third inning and added three to the list in the fourth.

Umpire Brown called Runkle safe when he was clearly out at first. Spencer sacrificed him and Steelman singled and scored Runkle. Thielman was safe through a choice and Drennen walked. McCreedie singled and Parke Wilson's error let Drennen score. The story of Jake's three-bagger has been told. Butler was glad that he did not suspend him, so were the fans. He was told to sin no more, but to continue winning games. The score:

OVERALL LOSES HARD BATTLE

He Fans Ten Oakland Men, but Allows Two Runs in the Sixth.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The Oakland-Tacoma game, today, was a pitchers' contest. Each side scored three hits. Overall had the Oaklanders guessing badly and fanned out ten of them. Tacoma's one run was a four-bagger by Eagan. Oakland, however, won out in the sixth by getting a pair of hits that gave them a tally and the lead. Score:

Batteries—Overall and Graham; Jones and Stark.

Los Angeles Defeats Seattle.

SEATTLE, Oct. 20.—Los Angeles won by heavy hitting. In the latter part of the game Seattle commenced to find Newton and errors cropping out at critical points, helped Seattle to increase her score. Newton had much the better of the pitching. Score:

REFEREE STOPS THE MILL.

Rufe Turner Has Ches Levere at His Mercy for Three Rounds.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 20.—The referee prevented Rufe Turner from slaughtering Ches Levere here tonight by stopping in the third round what was to have been a 20-round match. The latter was so clearly outmatched that Turner only refrained from knocking him out in the first round through pity, and for the rest of the fiasco merely hit his man enough to keep him at a safe distance.

A good preliminary was put on between Kid Krant and Pat Maginnis, of Seattle, the former winning with two left punches to the jaw in the second round.

JEFF DRAWS COLOR LINE.

He Positively Refuses to Meet Johnson.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Jeffries declares he will not fight Ed Johnson, the colored champion heavyweight. Jeff is willing to meet only white men. He says:

"I do not care whether Johnson licks the Japanese army. I have repeatedly declared that as long as I am in the fighting business I will never make a match with a black man. The negroes may come and the negroes may go, and some of the negroes may be excellent fighting men. Just tell the public that James J. Jeffries has made up his mind that he will never put on boxing gloves to give battle to an Ethiopian."

PLAYERS RETURN TIRED

MULTNOMAH FOOTBALL TEAM IS BACK FROM CALIFORNIA.

Long List of Injuries Accounts for Big Score Rolled Up by Berkeley.

It would be hard to find a more beaten-up lot of fellows than the Multnomah football players who returned from California yesterday. They had gone up against two teams supposed to be the strongest on the Coast. They had outplayed the first Stanford team completely, and had done the same with the second, till there were only two or three men left who should have remained in the game, and then they were walloped all over the field. It was not a pleasant home-coming after those 20 points Berkeley made in the second half and the fellows limped, were covered with scratches and were generally knocked out. They were in an unusually bad condition, even for football players. The list of the worst injuries will account for those 20 fatal points scored against them.

Coates strained the ligaments of his leg and had water on the knee. Jordan twisted his neck so that he can not turn it. Pratt broke his nose so badly that he had to leave the game. Captain Dowling hurt both ankles. Johnson was snuffed out in the Berkeley game with a blow in the stomach, Dolph was wooden from the waist up after he was kicked in the back, and Kerrigan had the old trouble with his ankle.

This list is not given to put fear into the hearts of mothers, but to show why Multnomah suddenly caved in after holding Berkeley even for half the game. There was hardly a man on the team who should not have been taken out before the game was up. That was what Berkeley did, and, as it had a set of substitute backs equal to the regular men, it crumpled Multnomah's crippled line for two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play.

On the whole, Multnomah came out of the California game with a good deal of glory. It played excellent ball till it was in a condition a team should never be allowed to come to. If the team had been at home the injured men would have been replaced by substitutes, and there would not have been so many or so severe injuries, and the score would not have jumped as it did.

That is the trouble with sending a small squad away from home; a man has to play whether he is of any account or not. He is no good when injured, but there is no one to take his place. And it can be said to fearful mothers that the long list of injuries was caused by leaving tired men in the game. That was when they were hurt.

Berkeley caught Multnomah tired out and gave it a drubbing. Berkeley is going to come through here later on to line up against Washington. Wouldn't it be a square deal for Berkeley to give Multnomah a chance on even terms? The clubmen would do so if it were up to them under similar circumstances. And the game would draw here. But Berkeley says it won't. Manager Dacota refused a return game to Manager Watkins, of the Multnomah team. Berkeley will be in the pink of condition after that Washington practice game and ready to do something with football players. After the O. A. C. victory in Seattle, Washington will have to do something to meet Berkeley or any other first-rate team on equal terms. In fact, it is pretty sure to be weak all season. So, if Berkeley really wishes a game in these parts it had better play Oregon, the O. A. C. or Multnomah.

LEARN FROM THEIR DEFEAT.

University of Washington Will Be Greatly Strengthened.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—For the past week the football squad at the university has been doing more than the ordinary run of work. Every effort is being made by Coach Knight to get the men in shape for winning from the Utah Agricultural College on next Saturday. The defeat at the hands of the Oregon Agricultural College on the 15th has done many of the new men considerable good. They were made to realize for the first time that their knowledge of football was not complete. The halfbacks have been getting into the defense within the last few days and will not again let the entire work go to the ends, as they did in the Oregon game.

Zebarth, who played with the 'varsity two years ago at guard, has been turning out for the last three days, and while he may be used in the game Saturday unless it is necessary from that time on he will probably hold down his old place on the right side of the line. He is heavier than he was when he played before and will now tip the scales close to 200. With Zebarth and McDonald in the line-up again, the team will be about as strong as it was last year.

Tom McDonald arrived in Seattle Tuesday night from Nome, where he has been for the past four months. He will go to work immediately, but does not intend to get into the game Saturday, but from then on he will be playing a tackle position or one of the places back of the line. He is about 20 pounds heavier than at any time last year and just as fast, which should make him very valuable to Washington this season.

Billie Hill also returned from Alaska with McDonald, but is behind in his college work and does not desire to take up his time in an athletic way. Alex Ormond, who played one of the ends on the aggregation of last year, is also in Nome and will return about the first of next month.

The team Saturday will be far from being a light one, and after next week will be one of the heaviest in the Northwest instead of the lightest.

Butte Dogs Among Winners.

FRIEND, Neb., Oct. 20.—Sixty pairs of fast hounds faced Slipper James Noce, of Colorado, in the futurity of the Friend Coursing Club's meet today. Among the dogs entered were many of the best in the country. The purse of $3500 is the largest ever offered and the entry list the largest. The first round in the event had been postponed two days, and the pairs were sent out in quick succession today, in order to complete the round. The jacks were extra strong, but few of them failed to reach the escapes.

Fine weather greeted the large crowd and the sport was high class. Most of the poorer dogs were put out of the race with today's events. The second and third rounds will be run tomorrow with the semi-finals and finals Saturday.

Among the winners are dogs from Butte, Mont., and Denver.

TEAMSTERS THREATEN STRIKE

New York Trouble Involves 40,000 People, Directly or Indirectly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The truck and wagon drivers who signed in May last an agreement for a year with the New York Truck Owners' Association, by which a strike against the association was averted, are reported to be on the verge of quitting their jobs. From 40,000 to 50,000 people would be directly or indirectly affected.

Edwin Gould, first vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said in discussing the situation:

"The agreement which provided that there should be no discrimination against union men and also for a fixed wage schedule and abolition of Sunday work is being violated right and left. Not only is it violated in all essential particulars, but some employers are trying to get their drivers to sign individual agreements repudiating the union.

President McCarthy, of the Truck Owners' Association, admitted there may be employers paying less than the prescribed scale, but he asserted this showed that the union could not control its men.

A successful teamsters' strike would tie up all the wholesale dry goods business traffic, and all traffic to and from the piers, east and west, south of Twenty-third street. This takes in the district covered by the agreement.

IN HONOR OF HALLOWEEN.

Albany Business Men and Newspapers Will Give a Carnival.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Business men and newspapers here have united in planning a unique celebration to take place October 31 in honor of Halloween. Funds have been raised by popular subscription, which will be expended in a carnival lasting through the day and evening.

In the morning one of the prettiest girls the committee can find will be crowned. Queen Titania and over 500 persons in costume will take part in the ceremony on the broad stairway approach to the capitol. The queen and her retinue will then proceed to the city hall, where the keys of the city will be received from the Mayor, to be used in a symbolical unlocking of the four gates of the city. The evening will be devoted to a parade of floats and maskers, and an attempt will be made to reproduce the carnival scenes of New Orleans and Italy.

Ethel Barrymore in "Sunday."

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Ethel Barrymore appeared for the first time in the play "Sunday" at the Lyceum Theater tonight, under Charles Frohman's management, before a large audience. The cast is competent, the play handsomely staged, and Miss Barrymore received many curtain-calls.

BERKELEY MEN SCARED

SIX COACHES NOW AT WORK ON FOOTBALL TEAM.

Extra Talent Will Endeavor to Give Footballists Points to Defeat Oregon University Eleven.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The 18 men in the University of Oregon football squad rolled into town tonight and immediately went over to Berkeley, where they will be quartered until their game with the State University eleven Saturday. Then they will be guests of the Stanford men until the following Saturday, when they meet the Cardinal on the gridiron. The Oregon boys are lighter than the Californians, but are said to make up in speed what they lack in weight.

The University of California team has on previous occasions discounted the true worth of Oregon collegians and as a result have a defeat staring them still in the face which they desire to avenge. Early this week the Berkeley boys added two more coaches to the staff, making six in all. It was originally intended to secure those two men just two weeks prior to the Stanford game to put on finishing touches, but Head Coach Hopper argued that the extra coaches were needed to get the men into shape for the game with Oregon. As a result Albertson, captain of two years ago, and Hudson, end and field captain of last year, have been at work on the team helping the other four coaches.

BERKELEY WILL PLAY U. OF W.

California Team Plays Thanksgiving Day at Seattle.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—It has been decided by the executive committee of the associated students of the University of California that the football team shall accept the offer of the University of Washington for a Thanksgiving game at Seattle.

The University of Washington was invited to come here, but found this impossible. The Seattle boys, by some calculations which puzzle and vex the Californians, say they were the last season's champions of the Pacific Coast. They add that if the University of California team desires to play them it must come to them. So it has been decided to send a team North which shall try to quiet the claims of the Seattleites.

The Berkeley boys will go irrespective of the outcome of the game with Stanford.

Albany to Play the Indians.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Albany College football team will play its first game since its contest with the University of Oregon last week in this city Saturday afternoon with the Chemawa Indians. Albany defeated Chemawa in a practice game two weeks ago by a score of 17 to 0, but the Indians have strengthened their line-up since that time and a good game is expected Saturday.

Du Puis, Albany's right guard, has been compelled to leave school, having been called to his home in Weston because of the illness of his mother. His position will be filled either by Waite, who has been playing as substitute for the position, or by Butler, a new man. Butler, whose home is at Oakland, Or., and who entered college two weeks ago, is new at the game, but is a large, well-built man and is developing rapidly. He will probably play one of the guard positions during the remainder of the season.

With the exception of the guard positions, Albany will present the same line-up Saturday as in the Oregon game last week. All the men are in good condition except Morgan, left guard, who sustained an injury to his ankle in the game with the University of Oregon.

St. Louis Defeats Kentucky.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—St. Louis University today defeated Kentucky University at football by a score of 5 to 0.

McLeod Triumphs Over Indian Chief.

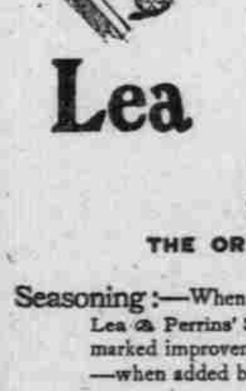
VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 20.—Dan S. McLeod won a handicap wrestling match at the Vancouver Opera-House tonight. His opponent was War Eagle, the big Blackfoot Indian chief, and the conditions of the match were that War Eagle was to throw McLeod three times in an hour. War Eagle failed to get a fall. McLeod nearly succeeded twice. The attendance at the match was small.

Linn County Sends Two Teams.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Linn County will have two rifle teams at the annual shoot of the Oregon National Guard in Portland next week. They will represent Company G, Third Infantry, of Albany, and Troop A, of Lebanon.

Physician Sent to Asylum.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—W. L. May, a physician residing at Ashland, was brought to the asylum today on a commitment from Jackson County. He is 45 years old.



Macaroni and Cheese.

MATERIALS:—Half pound macaroni, boiling salted water, two tablespoonfuls butter, half cupful grated cheese, salt and pepper, bread crumbs.

Lea & Perrins' Sauce

THE ORIGINAL WORCESTERSHIRE

Seasoning:—When this dish is served pass with it a bottle of Lea & Perrins' Sauce. A little sprinkled over it will give a marked improvement in flavor. It is equally good—if not better—when added before baking.
