Is Frequently Interrupted by Hearty Applause.

KUYKENDALL MAKES A HIT

Apt Illustration Puts His Audience in Very Good Humor—Hundred Cheer Republican Clubs in Parade Before Meeting.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—The most elaborate and enthusiastic political demonstration ever witnessed in Salem took place tonight when the Opera-House was crowded to the doors with citizens who gathered to listen to an address by United States Senator John H. Mitchell. If there is apathy among Republicans in Marion County there was no evidence of it tonight, for 500 members of the local Republican clubs were in line in the parade and hundreds more crowded the sidewalks cheering the procession as it passed along the streets.

In the ring of bombs, the flashing of torches, the music of bands and the shouts of the multitude, the Republicans expressed their loyalty to their party's principles and their earnest desire for the election of its candidates. Not even in the stirring campaigns of 1892 and 1900 did either political party hold a rally which equaled in enthusiasm that held tonight by Salem Republicans.

Speakers Heartily Cheered.

The demonstration, which began when the procession formed at the Willamette Hotel, continued until the meeting at the Opera-House closed, the people manifesting by repeated outbursts of cheers and applause their hearty approval of the sentiments voiced by the speakers. When the stalwart quartet, the Lanckey quartet and Professor K. M. Parvin sang songs which aptly presented the features of this campaign as viewed from a Republican standpoint the enthusiasm of the crowd was shown by renewed shouts and prolonged applause.

Never Such Unanimity.

State Chairman Frank C. Baker having decided not to participate in this, a purely local meeting, State Committee Chairman H. D. Patton presided, and in a few well-chosen words introduced State Senator W. Kuykendall, of Lane County, whom he praised as a man who has rendered efficient service for the Republican party.

Senator Kuykendall said that there never before had been such unanimity of sentiment in this beloved state of ours as exists at present, and this unanimity seems to have extended to the point where we shall be almost unanimous in favor of the election of Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States.

Story That Makes a Hit.

Senator Kuykendall made a good hit and won generous applause by his manner of indicating the probable result of attempting to destroy trusts by placing the Democratic party in power. The point was made in the story of a farmer who turned a herd of goats into a wheat field in order to kill the thistles. The thistles were destroyed, but so was the crop of wheat.

Senator Mitchell's Speech

First Made in Marion County Was Forty-Four Years Ago.

Yellow Chinese: Forty-four years ago this month I made my first political speech in this city and state. That was the campaign in which the candidate of the Republican party was the greatest American that has ever lived in this country since the days of Washington—the great Liberator, Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois. That campaign resulted in his election, and for four years that great man presided over the destinies of state through the rough storms of the Civil War, which tested the strength and durability of every plank of the grand old ship.

While I had the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with Abraham Lincoln, I had the honor of sitting in the Senate for a period of five years beside that grand old statesman who has his name on the wall. Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, and I shall never cease to be grateful for the many kindnesses shown me by him during the first years of my service in the Senate. When I first took my seat in the Senate I was given a seat in what was then called the "Amen Corner" of the chamber. It was on the extreme left of the presiding officer, the seat now occupied by my friend, Senator Nelson, of Minnesota. But, before a year had expired, by reason of the death of Senator Buckingham, of Connecticut, I was transferred to a seat on the main aisle directly in front of the presiding officer, the seat now occupied by Senator Hamlin. I shall never forget the hand and said, "Mitchell, I am glad for two reasons that you are coming over here to this seat." I thanked him and told him I would like to know the reasons he had in mind for me over there. "Well," he said, "in the first place, I think I will like you for a neighbor, and in the second place, you must from this time on do Conkling's bidding for him. I did not know what he meant, and on inquiry he said: "Why, Conkling can't spell two words right; I have been doing his spelling for the last number of years; I understand you are a good speaker and you must do it from this on, as you are a young man."

CODY, Wyo., Nov. 1.—A bold daylight raid by bandits from the mountain regions was made this afternoon upon the First National Bank at this place this afternoon. Cashier I. O. Middaugh was instantly killed. The outlaws fled without securing anything, and under a rain of bullets from the aroused citizens, who were attracted to the scene by the shooting of Cashier Middaugh, and the exchange of shots between the robbers and the bank officials.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 1.—Nearly 25 speeches were made today by Senator Fairbank, who addressed the cadets at Sturgis, and the Senator's addresses were well received by the citizens of his own State. He pointed out the fallacy of the idea of militarism, and his speeches were repeatedly punctuated with applause. During the day he dwelt mainly upon the preservation of property throughout the country, and the administration of the Government, and that its continuance was dependent upon Republican success next week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says: "The total campaign funds at the disposal of the National Republican Committee this year is considerably less than one-half what it amounted to four years ago, and less than one-third of the total of eight years ago, yet the assurance of a great Republican victory reach Washington from every part of the country. That success will be achieved under the most gratifying circumstances is shown by the fact that not a single pledge of any sort has been given by Chairman Cortelyou or any one authorized to represent him to any individual, corporation or interest.

Treaty is Regarded as Notable Extension of Delcasse's Peace Policy.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The news of the signing of the arbitration treaty between France and the United States in Washington today is received here with the warmest expressions of approval, particularly in Governmental circles. The treaty is regarded not only as a strong bond between the two Republics, but also as an important extension of Foreign Minister Delcasse's series of peace treaties. The British press, on the other hand, is disappointed that the treaty is not a sequel to a Franco-American entente. President Roosevelt expressed his hearty approval, saying Secretary Hay would take up the question in the meantime. Foreign Minister Delcasse and Ambassador Porter went over the subject here, and Secretary Hay and Ambassador Jusserand opened preliminary negotiations. The French official, however, is in a somewhat out and regretted postponement, owing to the question over Spanish ratification. When Ambassador Jusserand was in London, he was reported to have conferred with him on the subject. Since the Ambassador's return to Washington reports indicated that former difficulties had been cleared up, and the news of the signing of the treaty brings the realization of what the officials had long desired.
