LAW IS OPENLY VIOLATED

Senator Fulton Blames Washington Officer.

FAILED TO PUNISH OFFENDERS

Overfishing Has Curtailed Supply of Hatchery Fish-Senator Advocates Shortening of Open Flahing Season as a Remedy.

Senator Fulton advocates shortening the open fishing season on the Columbia River as a means of insuring a sufficient supply of eggs for hatcheries. The blamo supply of eggs for hatcherics. The blame for failure to enforce the closed season in the past he lays entirely on the Fish Commissioner of Washington, who, by arbitrary suspension of the law of that state, he says, has made it impossible for the Oregon Fish Warden to enforce the law in Oregon.

The Senator declared himself in no unterpretable to the commission of the co

The Senator declared himself in no uncertain terms yesterday in scoring the dereliction of the Washington officer. H. G. Van Pusen, the Oregon Warden, Mr. Fulton declares, would have closed the season up tight after August 15 of this year, had the Washington Commissioner co-operated with him to punish offenders. When the north shore of the Columbia is a nest for the lawbreakers, their depressions around the storned from the south a nest for the lawbreakers, their depre-dations cannot be stopped from the south side, averred Senator Fulkon, and the re-sult is that the season ordained closed by law is kept open by persons who have no respect for the logal power of either state. The late H. D. McGutre, who was oregon's Fish Warden up to nearly six years ago, and has been estmemed a high-ly efficient officer. Senator Fulton says, found it impossible to co-operate with the Washington authorities, just as Mr. Van

Washington authorities, just a push has done.

Senator Fulton accepts the theory that overfishing has curtailed the supply of hatchery fish as much as any other cause and perhaps more than any other. He says that, if salmon were allowed more opportunity to reach the hatcheries by opportunity to reach the hatcheries by means of a shorter open season, the supply of eggs for those plants would undoubtedly increase. Preservation of the industry therefore can be made certain through enforcement of an adequately long closed season. Fishing is now illegal between March 1 and April 15 and between August 15 and September 15.

Would Shorten Fishing Season. The long open season from April 15 to August 15 Senator Fulton would shorten

August 15 Senator Fulton would shorten so as to open a month later. That would allow the early fish, which are the best and biggest that enter the river, to proceed to the hatcheries.

"Those early fish," said he, "arrive in small schools and swim deeply. They are the genuine chinook, and the most vigorous that come to the Columbia. They are the ones that go farthest up the Columbia and its tributaries and the kind that reach he Ontario hatchery. At the season of the year when they are running that reach he Ontario intensity. At the season of the year when they are running in the lower river, the loss to fishing gear is very heavy; in fact, fishermen will agree with me when I say that the loss is more than the salmon are worth commercially. I say that the closed season should be continued until the middle of May. This would enable the hatcheries to get more fish and would be the most prac-ticable way to ward off the ruin that now threatens.

Senator Fulton added that the past season was not more destructive to salmon than others. Statistics of the pack show I to be no larger than last year's. That fact and the small catches at the hatch-eries ished to the inference that the run of salmon into the Columbia was smalle this year than usual.

States Must Act Together.

Emeriment of the closed Sunday Senator Fulton does not regard as practicable, because of the attitude of the Washington authorities. Oregon could less enforce a Sunday law of its own than the present closed season, which is common to both states. Close alliance of the two states to protect the salmon industry Sénator Fulton considers executive and precessary. ton considers essential and necessary.
Committees of the two Legislatures should get together this Winter, he says, to secure common legislation.

"It is not possible," he remarked, "for the National Government to assume juristhe National Government to assume juris-diction over Columbia River fishing in-terests. That could be accomplished only by a cession of jurisdiction by each state, and in all probability Congress would not be willing to accept it. The only feasible way for Oregon and Washington to pro-tect this great industry of theirs is by joint legislation and joint enforcement of the law."

Fishing Interests Alarmed.

Fishing Interests Alarmed.

The small supply of eggs at the hatcheries has alarmed fishing interests. A total of 100,000,000 eggs was expected at all the hatcheries this year, but the season will yield only about 15,000,000. Last year the number was 70,000,000. It has come to be the general opinion that an attempt will be made this Winter in the Oregon Legislature to change the present closed season, probably so as to shorten it. Two years ago Mr. Van Dusen advocated abelishing the closed season entirely. Sentiishing the closed season entirely. Senti-ment seems to have drawn away from that proposal, and events since then have modified Mr. Van Dusen's opinion. He advocates the closed Sunday, which would permit a small number of every school shing the closed season entirely. Senti the Columbia to make their way to the hatcheries. Though the number would be small, it would be sufficient, be says, for the perpetuation of the fish. Mr. Van Dusen says that the closed Sunday could not be enforced without an ex-pensive patrol maintained by the etate.

The semi-annual inspection of the Portland police force occurred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Armory, in the presence of Chief of Police Hunt and General Heebe and Sig Sichel, of the police committee. Every officer in the city. with the exception of a few left on duty at the central station, was present in full-dress uniform, and the spectacle was most awe-inspiring. The mounted offi-

"What we need is more officers, and we what we need is more officers, and we shall be compelled to have them in the near future, that they may be disciplined before the opening of the Lewis and Clark Fair, when police work will be greatly augmented in the city on account of the great crowds of strangers, and the numerous Eastern crooks who undoubtedly, visit Portland at that time. I honestly believe that, for the size of the force, Portland has the best force on the Pacific Coast."

Following the appropriation passed by the Council Wednesday, which authorized the expediture of 10,000, the excess received by the water office, the Water Board yesterday afternoon awarded bids which cut a big hole into the surplus. To the United States Cast Iron & Pipe Company went a contract for a quantity of water main pipe at $17,000. The Crane Company received the contract for stopcocks and valves amounting to nearly $200. The Board will soon order the construction of several large mains which have repeatedly been petitioned for, as well as many smaller service pipes. It was supposed that this work could not be done before next year, but the unprecedentedly large receipts made money plentiful.
