

TO HEAL THE BREACH

Prohis Seek to Conciliate Anti-Saloon League.

COMMITTEE TO ASK ITS AID

Cold-Water Advocates Desire to Present a Solid Front to the Enemy and Prevent Amendment of Local Option Law.

To strike terror into the hearts of liquor hosts, to exult over recent reverses of the rum demon, to spur officers of the law toward enforcement of the "dry" edict, and to smooth the way for rapprochement with the Anti-Saloon League and other local option forces which jumped the track in the election November 8, brought gems of the prohibition diadem in Oregon gathered into a cluster at the Y. M. C. A. Monday and shed their combined effluence on many matters and things.

Some 40 brethren were there, representing the counties of Linn, Yamhill, Benton, Clackamas, Multnomah, Sherman and Polk, while a dozen or more absent spirits were present by letter.

Yesterday morning the conference was resumed and financial matters were discussed. About $600 had been expended in the state and Presidential elections.

Had it been wise to force the issue of county prohibition? Yes, the gentlemen believed that action to have been "logical and consistent," hence they adopted a resolution to that effect with one of the loudest noises that they had emitted for many a day.

Should prohibition now be enforced in dry counties and precincts? Yes, indeed, the officers swore to enforce the law should not be suffered to forget their oath. Prohis in each county should see to it that the "dry" mandate was carried out wherever it was ordained.

The gentlemen thought it would be well for the political thought of the lawmakers to put on the brakes when approaching the question of amending the law at the next legislative session, for the reasons are not looking for trouble they would better give the law a fair trial as it stands, thought the brethren.

Not feeling themselves strong enough to defend the law against its enemies all alone, the cold-water advocates decided to invite to their aid other organizations such as the Anti-Saloon League. To that end a committee of seven members was appointed to draw the attention of the allies of prohibition and bridge the gulf that has yawned on the latter side of the latter's domain.

The Anti-Saloon League was charitably handled, for the gentlemen read the letter; they discussed the effect of the league's attitude on the party vote; the league's disposition in each county toward the law; and the proper attitude of individual prohis toward the league, and how that body might be induced again to jog along the Prohi road with them.

One of the most witty brethren compared the Prohi with a hornet's nest and said that after the Anti-Saloon League had been in politics as long as the Prohis they would learn the way to fight a nest of such horn-billed insects was not to sit on it.

RELEASED FROM CUSTODY.

Aged Soldier Found Not Guilty of Threatening to Kill.

"I believe him to be dangerous. He threatened to fill Harness full of lead. He has a gun."

This is the gist of the testimony of Mrs. J. D. Marshall against her father, J. W. Keller, who was tried yesterday afternoon in Justice Seton's court on the charge of threatening to kill J. B. Harness, with whom he had had some business dealings. Both parties live at Lenta, where Harness dug a well for Keller, and over which they had a desperate fight in August.

Since then there have been several verbal encounters, and Keller was alleged to have said that the "would fill Harness full of lead," and Harness caused his arrest.

Harness in his testimony admitted that he did not hear the threat direct from Keller, but was informed of it by having been uttered. He had dug a well for Keller, and they had a quarrel over it. Harness said he was very much afraid that Keller would carry out his threat.

Justice Seton, after reviewing the evidence, discharged Keller from custody. Mr. Keller is an old soldier and is about 90 years of age. Harness visited the District Attorney's office several times before a warrant was issued for Keller's arrest.

MRS. G. M. D. GRIGSBY DEAD.

Wife of Noted Railroad Man Passes Away in Hospital.

Mrs. George M. D. Grigsby, wife of President Grigsby, of the Texas, Sabine Valley & Missouri Railroad, died at the North Pacific Sanatorium Monday night at 11:30 from the effects of an operation. She had been in Portland since last August when she nursed her husband, who has been confined to the institution named with inflammatory rheumatism since that time.

Mrs. Grigsby was taken ill herself and was operated on Saturday for a chronic complaint, and did not survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby are very well-known citizens of Fort Worth, Tex., and were traveling through Portland last summer when Mr. Grigsby was taken ill with an attack of rheumatic fever, from which he has not yet recovered. Mrs. Grigsby's remains were sent home last night. F. J. Rembert, secretary and treasurer of the Texas, Sabine Valley & Missouri Railroad, who came to Portland yesterday, and W. C. McBride, of the Denver & Rio Grande, will accompany Mr. Grigsby South.

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION.

Ex-Policeman Johnson Appeals to Civil Service Commission.

J. F. Johnson, the policeman suspended by Chief Hunt on complaint of Dr. Edward Johnson, O. A. Koch, Dr. Arch Stewart and A. R. Rockwell, and afterwards discharged by the Executive Board, has filed with the Civil Service Commission a demand for a hearing of the charges against him.

The communication filed late yesterday afternoon does not state any defense.

Written examinations for positions in the Fire Department were held yesterday afternoon. Twelve drivers, 45 firemen, two stokers and one hydrant-man took the examinations. Today the examinations for captains and lieutenants will be given by Secretary McPherson.

SOLDIER'S FUNERAL TODAY.

Remains of Sergeant J. G. Lautenschlaeger Laid at Rest.

This afternoon the funeral of J. George Lautenschlaeger will be held at the Dunning Chapel on East Sixth and Alder streets.

The deceased was a Sergeant of Company G in the Philippines, and during his service in the islands contracted consumption. A short time after his return to his home, he went to Arizona in search of health.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lautenschlaeger, parents of the deceased, a brother, William Lautenschlaeger, and three sisters, Miss Anna Lautenschlaeger, Mrs. A. R. Biglow and Mrs. A. B. Kern, survive the dead soldier.

DEATH OF F. P. NEWELL.

Had Been Engineer and Conductor on O. R. & N. Eleven Years.

F. P. Newell, formerly a well-known engineer and conductor on the O. R. & N. Company's line, died yesterday at 8:40 at the age of 53 years.

For the past two years Mr. Newell had been an invalid, but for 11 years before his health gave out he was one of the most popular engineers and conductors operating trains out of La Grande, and there was genuine regret by the traveling public when falling health compelled him to give up active duties.

He was a member of Division 36, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Masonic order. The funeral will take place this afternoon from Finley's undertaking chapel, and Rev. S. E. Memminger, of Mount Tabor, will officiate. The body will then be shipped to Union, Or., for burial. A wife, who lives in Portland, and a son survive. A brother, Fred Newell, is auditor of the N. P. & K. Railway at St. Louis.

SAVAGE CASE IN JURY'S HANDS.

Fate of Indian Chief May Be Known in a Few Hours.

The fate of Louis Savage, the Indian charged with murder, is now in the hands of the Federal jury. The taking of testimony was completed yesterday afternoon, and after the arguments for prosecution and defense, Judge Bellinger delivered his instructions to the jury at 3:30 o'clock last night.

At a late hour there was no prospect of an early verdict. It is thought that the finding will either be for murder without capital punishment, or for manslaughter.

The murderer interposed by the defendant's attorney on Monday was overruled. The usual trouble with Indian witnesses was again met with in yesterday's hearing and it was with some embarrassment that United States District Attorney Hall had to explain to the court that some of the witnesses were unable to testify on account of being "disabled."

TO HELP THE UNEMPLOYED.

Municipal Employment May Be Suggested to the Council.

Findings jobs for the unemployed and workers for employers will be the scope of a municipal employment agency which will probably be soon suggested to the Council. It is suggested that the agency be attached to the license department, the expenses to be borne by the city.

The license committee of the Council has heard cases time and again in which a workman complained that he had been lilyed by one of the numerous employment agents in the city. In several cases the license of the agency has been revoked.

Meanwhile a steady procession of unemployed people go to Mayor Williams' office. He has discussed the subject with Chief Police Hunt, and a conference will probably be soon held with the mem-

ON THE CIGARETTE EVIL.

Rev. Wallace R. Struble Addresses Boys and Girls.

The Anti-Cigarette League, now being organized in this city, held a meeting last night in the First Norwegian Methodist Episcopal Church. A large audience of boys and girls, with an accompaniment of parents, listened to an interesting address by the organizer of the league, Rev. Wallace R. Struble. Following the speaker, Miss Elsie Larsen rendered a violin solo.

STOP FOR COLLINS HOT SPRINGS.

A covered platform has been erected by the O. R. & N. immediately opposite Collins Hot Springs for the accommodation of passengers who desire to visit this resort. The Spokane Paper, train 1 and 4, stop at this point on their way to or from the hot springs. A commodious launch meets and carries all passengers and baggage across the river to the hotel.

SALMON IS THE THEME.

FISH ARE BEING DISCUSSED BY STATE OFFICIALS.

Prolongation of Closed Season Advocated as Means of Increasing Egg Supply in Hatcheries.

Do salmon propagated at Ontario hatchery enter the Columbia River from the sea in May and June, or in June and July? Master Fish Warden Van Dusen says May and June; but strong evidence has been adduced to prove July and August.

The truth is of value in determining what best arrangement could be made for open and closed seasons. Prolongation of the closed season from April 15 to May 15 has been advocated as a means of increasing the supply of eggs at Ontario, but if the spawning ground is not come in from the sea until June and July that would evidently be futile.

This year one-sixth as many eggs will be taken at Ontario as were expected. In July the lower Columbia fishes unusually clean of salmon. Were the salmon needed at Ontario caught in July?

Mr. Van Dusen has contended that to reach spawning grounds at the customary time, Ontario salmon enter the Columbia in May and June. Senator Fulton, adopting this theory, has proposed that the open season begin May 15 and not April 15.

The Ontario hatchery, built by the State, is the largest of its kind in the world. It can receive 2,000,000 eggs every season. One of the fisheries have yielded in large measure for salvation of the industry. It was built to restore the early runs of salmon, for other hatcheries have been working on the late runs, with the result that salmon have been coming in from the sea later each season. If, therefore, the Ontario hatchery is propagating fish, the Columbia will be supplied with a serious disappointment is sure to result.

The Grand Ronde Station is 600 miles from the sea; Ontario 714. At the former, most of the eggs die every season. On 11 the fisheries have yielded in large measure for salvation of the industry. It was built to restore the early runs of salmon, for other hatcheries have been working on the late runs, with the result that salmon have been coming in from the sea later each season. If, therefore, the Ontario hatchery is propagating fish, the Columbia will be supplied with a serious disappointment is sure to result.

Mr. Van Dusen insists that the fish caught at these two hatcheries are from the same stock of fish, the salmon that enter the Columbia in May and June. But the evidence at Grand Ronde and vice versa, for the customary spawning times at the two places are a month apart.

Evidence tends to prove strongly that specified runs of salmon in a river have certain spawning months. Runs that occur in the Columbia River before August 10 bear out this assertion, for each has its own month for spawning. After that date in some years, many salmon come in with a marked development of the spawn. Sometimes the spawn is fully developed when they enter fresh water; consequently their spawning time is irregular.

It is well known that few salmon enter the Columbia until after February 15. During the ensuing two months many schools travel the Willamette and enter the Clackamas and are propagated at the upper hatchery. The spawning time at that station, as evidenced by the records, is during the month of August.

It is well known that few children salmon appear above Willamette Falls before May 1, and that they go over the falls in large numbers only in May and June. The Columbia enters the Columbia some time between April 15 and June 15; whereas, those going into the Clackamas come in from the sea as early as August.

The fish that pass over the falls in May and June are ready to spawn at the McKenzie River hatchery in the month of September, as shown on page 114 of the report of the Fish Commission. On the Jimenez River, fish enter the stream between April 15 and July 1 have their spawning time in September. At the Rogue River hatchery the spawning time of April, May, June and July fish is September and October.

The above facts prove that most of the salmon that come into the Columbia River between February 15 and April 15 spawn in August. The most of those that enter between April 15 and June 15 spawn in September. In no single case is it found that salmon which come into fresh water in May and June spawn in October and November, as Mr. Van Dusen believes they do at Ontario.

It is, therefore, logical to presume: First, that in all probability salmon which are taken at the Grand Ronde station enter the lower Columbia between the middle of April and the middle of June.

Second, that salmon caught at Ontario enter the lower Columbia between the middle of June and the middle of August.

The large take of eggs at Ontario early in November indicates that the fish are spawned in July and August salmon, not May and June.

The statement that salmon travel up stream at five or ten miles a day is not reliable in calculating the time that they require to reach Ontario, for it cannot be verified in a question of this kind. Salmon have been known to ascend rivers more than 20 miles a day for several consecutive days.

AT THE THEATERS.

What the Press Agents Say.

WHITE WHITTLEBEY TONIGHT.

Closes Engagement at the Marquam Grand in "Second in Command."

The final performance of White Whittlebey and company takes place this evening at the Marquam Grand when he will be seen in Captain Robert Marshall's delightful comedy-drama "The Second in Command." Mr. Whittlebey's performance of "Kix" is spoken of as the highest prize by the San Francisco and Los Angeles press. The production is elaborate in every detail which is a characteristic feature of all of Belasco & Mayer's attractions. The supporting company is exceptionally well adapted for this interesting play.

Comedy at the Columbia.

One of the most amusing scenes in "The Gay Parisians," but by no means the climax, occurs between George Bloomquist, who plays the unscrupulous agent, and Louise Brandt, who appears as the French maid. He is the drollest character, perhaps, in all farce comedy, and she one of the most winsome.

"Has no one ever told you you were good looking?" asks the maid.

"Only once," he replies. "That was the photographer. When I ordered a dozen pictures he said I ought to have a dozen more—because I was such a nice-looking fellow!"

The audience has scarcely recovered from its screams of laughter—due largely to the clever rendition of the speech by Bloomquist—when the maid begins to make love to him. He is seated upon a stool, studying the philosophy of love, by Plato, and she forces her eye attention upon him. Finally, with an impatient gesture that perfectly implies the stupidity of the character in worldly things, he waves her away and exclaims: "I cannot study the philosophy of love with a woman as fat as you!"

The Columbia company's present offering is brimming over with flashes of this type, which are unusual in translation, and it is a matter of congratulation that "The Gay Parisians" fell into the hands of Stage Director Bernard for reproduction. Since "What Happened to Jones" was written—the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

The Pills That Cure Sick Nerves

The Columbia company's present offering is brimming over with flashes of this type, which are unusual in translation, and it is a matter of congratulation that "The Gay Parisians" fell into the hands of Stage Director Bernard for reproduction. Since "What Happened to Jones" was written—the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

The Pills That Cure Sick Nerves

The Columbia company's present offering is brimming over with flashes of this type, which are unusual in translation, and it is a matter of congratulation that "The Gay Parisians" fell into the hands of Stage Director Bernard for reproduction. Since "What Happened to Jones" was written—the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate productions ever seen in this country. Positive assurance is given that we will see the original and only company presenting this remarkable success, which the shuberts expanded a vastly different type—there has been nothing in farce on the American stage to equal the exasperating story of Fingus's visit to the Mascotte Hotel and its incidental complications.

Although the farce is decidedly French, there is not a single line or situation that can be called offensive. Its translation is a masterpiece of the art.

"The Runaways" Tomorrow. Arthur Dunn, in the famous Shubert musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand Theater tomorrow afternoon and night, is one of the most elaborate