EXPERIENCED TRAY WAITREES WANTS

Jury disagreed. Over three years ago Trigg and Mrs. Taibert were married at Vancouve, Wash. Six months had not elapsed since Mrs. Talbert had been divorced in Portland from a former husband, and she was not legally qualified to take another. She says Trigg assured her it was proper while knowing to the contrary. She lived with him as his wife for several months, at 5 P. M., 29.83. and, ascortaining the union was invalid, sued to have the court declare the aup-tial ceremony vold. She dismissed the case, she alloges, on his promise to re-marry her, and went back to live with continuing to cohabit with him for a year. He declined to make her his legal life partner, consequently she sued him for $5000 damages and $1000 additional. the latter to compensate her for her services as his housekeeper. Trigg is an old man, and has had pre-vious matrimonial experience. He sets up as a defense that all Mrs. Talbert wants is some of his property. He admits he is is some of his property. He admits he is worth, in money, realty and notes and mortgagee, some thousands of dollars. Mrs. Talbert in her complaint says it is as much as $10,000, and Trigg avers his for-tune is considerable less. He has trans-ferred some of his property to his daugh-ter. Mrs. Talbert is about 39 years old. Ets is represented by William Reid, and

She is represented by William Reid, and N. H. Bioomfield and J. F. Boothe appear for Trigg. The jury selected to try the case is comprised of the following-named case is comprised of the following-named persons: R. N. Beynolds, Samuel H. Car-ter, John D. Kelly, August P. Non-Suit in Blust Case.

Negligence on the part of his fellowworkmen was the cause assigned by Judge Bears yesterday for granting a nonsult in the action of John Blust against the region Pacific States Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company for $25,000 damages for a fractured hipbone.

Blust was knocked off a pole by the falling of a cable which was being put up on Union avenue in October, 1903. He fell 25 feet to the ground and maintains that he was permanently crippled. Judge Stars held that where a number of men are employed to do a certain thing, and an accident happens because of the negligence of anyone of them, the employer cannot be held responsible. In this cause, while the cable was being strung one of the workmen removed a block. This caused the cable to come down, and, according to the views ex-pressed by the court, the company was not liable for this carelessness.

Court Notes.

In the suit of Rodney Berger against the Astoria & Columbia River Railway Company for damages, the jury in Judge Frazer's court yesterday returned a verdict in favor of Berger for $100. Berger was put off a train at John Day in July, 1902, the railway company refusing to recognize an O. R. & N. round-trip ticket between Portland and Ilwaco.

William Grimes, a Montavilla saloot keeper, was tried and convicted in Judge Sears' court of selling liquor without li-cense on December 13, 1905, to J. H. Dick-erson and C. H. Yarnell. Grimes made no defense, except that his attorney made the point in his argument that there was no evidence showing that Grimes was the owner of the place. The jury recom-mended Grimes to the mercy of the court. County Clerk Fields testified that Grimes had no license. The lowest penalty is a fine of $200.

Oliver Harrington, a hanger-on during the race season at irvington Park last August, was tried and convicted yester-day by a jury in Judge Sears' court of ling $10 from Roy Briggs, who live at Grant's Pass. Briggs attended the races, and Harrington took $10 away from him, estensibly to buy a poel with it, and, instead, kept the money. Briggs protested, saying he needed the $10, and asked Harrington to return it, which he returned to do refused to do. Henry Hiller and R. A. Jordon, who were with Briggs at the time, testified that Harrington deliberately took the money away from him. Briggs, for some reason failed to appear at the trial.

White Turkeys in the Park.

Four handsome turkeys with plumage of pure white, which have lately been added to the poulity department at the City Park, have attracted much attention and many inquiries have been made as to where they came from. Turkeys of buff or partially white plumage are occasion-ally seen, but seldom in flocks, being
