PROPLE AFTER THE PHEASANTS .- Those who had neglected to order Mongolian pheasants for yesterday's dinner, until reminded by a paragraph in The Oregon-ian that they would be on market yester-day morning, "got left." Several hun-dreds of pheasants arrived, but were all dreds of pheasants arrived, but were all sent out to fill orders before housekeepers started out to do their marketing. The price paid for them ranged from $1.25 to $1.50 per pair. A much larger number of pheasants will probably come in today, as it is not to be supposed that any would be shipped which were killed before November 15. As one dealer remarked, the farmers as a rule are very particular not to violate the game law, especially in regard to marketing pheasants. A man who thinks it no sin to place a joint of old stowepipe in the center of a box of apples would no more sell a pheasant shot before November 15, than to cut his head off. To those who have a desire to find out what Mongolian pheasant tastes like, it can those who have a desire to find out what Mongolian pheasant tastes like, it can only be said, "send in your orders to your market man early and often, between now and December 1."

To ATTEND GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.—County Judge Webster will go to Salem next week to attend the Good Roads Convention, and while there will probably make an address in favor of a thoroughfare from Protland to the California line and advise that the road authorities in and advise that the road authorities in California be asked to complete it to San Francisco. Judge Webster is much interested in good roads and has made road building considerable of a study. He first spoke of the desirability of a road to the California line last summer. The idea is to build a macadamized road of feet wide so that an automobilist, a bicyclist, or persons with teams may journey to the Golden Gate without having to travel on a railroad. Each county is to build a share of the road, so that the state at large will not have to pay for the same.

DIDN'T TAKE HIS HAT OFF.—"Hats off, gentlemen," observed a Third-street business man, as he stepped into a passenger elevator cage in a down town business block yesterday. It was noticed that he was accompanied by a young woman. Two men in the crowd did not doff their hats, and when the party had reached the ground floor, one elderly citizen turned around to the woman's escort and said: "Parlon me, but I want to explain why I arrand to the woman's escort and said:
"Pardon me, but I want to explain why I didn't take my hat off in that elevator cage. I do not want to suffer from a cold in my head, as a result of standing like an old fool in a draft, with my hat off.
It is not a question of gallantry at all.
It's a question of common sense. Never doff your hat in an elevator cage, young men. Better be free from pneumonia than a dead hero."

GER.—The funeral of Sergeant George Lautenschlaeger, of Company G. Second Cregon, was held yesterday at Dunning's chapel, it East Alder street. Rev. W. S. Gilbert, ex-chaplain, conducted a touching service. Many of the comrades of the dark distributions of the company of the dead volunteer were present, including the commander of the Second Oregon Regiment, Colonel Owen Sommers. Floral tributes from friends were beautiful, The casket was draped with an American flag. The interment was in Riverview Ceme-tery, where military honors were given. A father, brother and three sisters sur-vive him. He contracted consumption in the Philippine Islands.

STEWARDS HOLD MEETING .- There was a meeting of the Methodist stewards of the various churches in this district at the Taylor-street church yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of conferring with the newly appointed presiding eider, Rev. W. B. Hollingshead, and fixing upon the amount of his satary. There were also special prayer services held at the church last night and Tuesday night, and this evening the regular weekly prayer meeting will be held. The first Sunday in December is a day of communion in the Methodist Church, and it is a custom inaugurated by Dr. Short to prepare for that service by a week of prayer

GOES INSANE AGAIN.—E. L. Pietch, who has been running the restaurant in the Quimby House, was arrested on the street yesterday for insanity. He was released yesterday for insanity. He was released from the asylum recently, but apparently the cure was not permanent. His first fit of insanity was of a peculiar form. He hired an express wagon one morning, and drove around to all the news stands, buying up all the magazines in sight. After he had a good load he drove back to his restaurant and piled the magazines in the front of the room and as every customer left he handed him a couple.

MAY ABOLISH CIVIL SERVICE.

Charter Amendments May Put Laborers Off Civil Service Basis.

The probable result of proposed charter amendments is that city employes in the labor class will no longer be engaged on a civil service basis. The cases heard recently by the Civil Service Commiswherein a laborer discharged from his department appealed to the Commissioners for reinstatement has given fresh impetus to the movement to abolish the labor service, so that city employes of that class will no longer come under the civil service rules.

Mayor Williams a few days ago addressed letters to the various department heads asking whether, in their opinion, civil service had been a benefit. Chief Campbell replied that in the fire depart-Campbell replied that in the fire department it had proved a great benefit. City Engineer Elliott wrote that in the clerical branches of his department an improvement had been noted. It is held that laborers cannot be properly placed under civil service regulations, and it is probable that the Legislature will be asked to amend the charter so that no examination for such positions as street cleaners, reservoir workmen and similar

ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT.

Timberman Uses His Fists, and Is Promptly Taken Into Custody.

On information filed in the District Attorney's office yesterday, a warrant was issued in Justice Reid's court for the arrest of J. A. Buckley, a timberman, on the charge of assault and battery. Coming down on the boat from La Camas yesterday, L. L. Leadbetter, a brother of F. W. Leadbetter, between whom and Buckley there had existed some ill feeling, made a statement containing some remote reference as to the cause of the trouble. Buckley, however, took execution to this statement and took exception to this statement, and used his fists freely to show his dis-

DESIRE TO BUILD BRIDGE.

Structure May Be Erected Across Cowiltz River at Kelso.

A public bearing will be held next Friday, at 2 o'clock P. M., at room 221 Custom-house, Eighth and Davis streets, of an application by the Kelso Bridge Company, Kelso, Wash., to build a toll bridge across the Cowlitz River, between the towns of Kelso and Catlin. Mans of the proposed bridge can be seen at the office of Major W. C. Langfitt, Corps of Engineers. United States Army, stationed at the Custom-house. People interested in the improvement are asked to be present and submit their views as to whether or not the bridge should be built, the width of draw required, location of drawspan, etc. Additional verbal arguments may be submitted, if necessary. Persons unable to attend the meeting may send their views in writing to the United States Engineer's office, and their letters will be

FUNNIEST COMEDIANS IN TOWN Fern Comedy Four Are Making a Great Hit at the Arcade.

The funniest comedians in vaudeville are at the Arcade Theater this week. They are the Fern Comedy Four, and their fun is fresh fast and furious.
The four comedians have excellent voices, their jokes are fresh-coined and their act is the most original that Portland has ever seen.
You should hear the salvos of applause they get daily.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the friends of the late Horace McConaughey, especially to the members of the Bollermakers' Union and Iron Shipbullders of the city of Portland in White Whittlesey and his company appeared at the Marquam last night in John Drew's recent success, "The Second in Command." The play is a beautiful one, simple, full of heart and interest-compelling.

It is English and military, in that its action occurs at the period of the Boer war, the men are uniformed and the action takes place in and about the home station of a British regiment, but it is as far from the melodramatic as could be and war's wild alarms are but faintly suggested. The plot is drawn with much fidelity to fact and the dialogue is finely written.

with much fidelity to fact and the dialogue is finely written.

Mr. Whittlesey appears to even better advantage as Major Bingham than he did as Temple in "Heartsease." He seems to clutch the playwright's idea firmly and he gets the best possible results from his acting, chiefly because he never rants. His dignity of poise and repression in voice, and expression of face and gesture are admirable.

Other members of the cast are uni-

Other members ofthe cast are uni-formly good. Miss Lawton appearing to better advantage than in the former bill and Mis Brissac's handling of the ingenue role being particularly de-lightful. John Sampolis does very well as Colonel Anstruthers. Carl Yoho as the solicitor makes a great deal of a small part, and Henry Lewellyn and Harry Byers do their hits splendidly. The audience was larger than on the previous night, and a return engagement should fill the house.

LAYS IT TO CLOUDBURSTS.

Seiner Says They Are to Blame for Scarcity of Salmon.

Cloudbursts are cited as the true cause of scarcity of salmon in the Columbia, by a lower river seiner, who was in the city yesterday, but declined to let his name be used for publication. The seiner said that cloudbursts were so frequent on the upper streams that the river was "like ink" for weeks, impregnated with brick-clay and alkali and "few salmon would nose into such water at all."

"The fish would come up to the mouth of the Columbia on flood tide," said he, "but would go back on the ebb when the river water swept down on them. This was during the months of July and August and gillnetters made large catches at the mouth of the river as far as the salmon would come up, or as far as Sand Island. Above that point there were few fish."

The speaker went on to say that the reason alleged for few salmon at hatch-cries, namely, fishing past the closed season, is "all bosh." Said he:
"In my opinion those cloudbursts were the sole and only reason for scarcity of eggs at the Chinook and Kalama hatcher-les, which did as well as in former years, for the river cleared up about August 10 and the fish run fairly well up as far as for the river cleared up about August to and the fish run fairly well up as far as Kalama. But about September 1 another cloudburst occurred on the upper river and the fish were stopped again from reaching the hatcheries on the upper rivers. But for these cloudbursts I be-lieve there would have been plenty of fish for all and hatching purposes as well.

"I think there should be a closed sea son in the Spring, say to May 15, so we can propagate early spring fish as has been done with the summer run. If we make the closed season up to June I the fish that enter the river up to, say May IS will be all caught by the up-river gear as it takes the fish about fifteen days to reach the up-river gear.

"A dead line should be established near "A dead line should be established near the mouth of the river where there are several channels for the fish to enter and no fishing should be allowed below such dead line. As the pounding of the sand by the seas rolling in at the mouth of the river keeps the water rolled and gilinets fish day and night, and as there is only one channel for the fish to enter the river the fish are not allowed smouth the river the fish are not allowed enough chance to enter."
