Verdict of Simple Assault in Hold-Up Case.

NO ATTEMPT TO ROB SHOWN

Two Young Men Arrested by Officer Taylor at Twelfth and Morrison Streets in September May Get Off With Light Sentence.

"We met for the first time in Blazier's saloon, and as I rubbed against him I felt that he had a revolver in his pocket. I that he had a revolver in his pocket. I said: 'You are a hold-up man. I dare you to go out and hold up somebody'. He said: 'I dare you to go.' I took him up, and so we started out. On Sixth street he picked up a piece of cloth and cut holes in it and make a mask."

Thus testified John Morgan, who was jointly charged with William Bowen with attempted robbery, in Judge Cicland's court yeaterday.

The two young men endeavored to hold

The two young men endeavored to hold up T. W. Taylor, a policeman, on the night of September E, at Twelfth and Morrison streets. Instead they were made to throw up their hands by the officer, who covered them with his revolver, and after he had called for assistance he summered a nativel waron and conveyed the moned a patrol wagon and conveyed the would-be highwaymen to the police sta-tion. Bowen had a revolver and wore a mask, and Morgan had used a bandker-chief to conceal his features. After Morgan had admitted that he and

After Morgan had admitted that he and Bowen had started out together from Biazier's saloon, his attorney, continuing the examination, said:
"Did you meet anybody?"
"Yes, hundrede of people."
"Why didn't you hold any of them up?"
I didn't have the nerve, but I didn't like to tell Bowen so, I guess he didn't have the nerve, either, and he didn't care to admit it to me." to admit it to me." Testifying further, Morgan said: "When Bowen has lived here several years and engaged in catching crawfish for a living. He lived with his wife and child, only a few months old, on Montana avenue. Mrs. Bowen, with the baby in her arms, was present in the courtroom.

Bowen told a story similar to that related by Morgan. He said they had both been drinking considerably. They were afraid to hold anybody up, and it was merely a case of one challenging the other. They had abandored any such idea, and were about to start for home when they were arrested.

Bowen admitted that at the police station he said "What is a man going to do pointed at him.

Captain Moore and Captain Bailey, of the Police Department, and other witnesses testified that Morgan and Bowen immediately after their arrest made the remark "We are up against it."

Otto Pawioski testified that Bowen invited him to go out with him and make some easy money, and he declined to do go. A witness testified to having seen Bowen with a mask.

John Ditchburn and John F. Watts argued to the jury that the evidence did not show the accused attempted to rob the policeman, and if they had ever intended to rob anybody they had abandoned the stention at the time of their arrest. The dury returned a verdict finding the young men guilty of simple asseult.

AT THE THEATERS

What the Press Agents Say. SHAKESPEAREAN MATINEE.

Florence Gale in "As You Like It" at the Marquam Grand Theater.

A special matinee will be given this afternoon at the Marquam Grand The-ater when Florence Gale, supported by an excellent company of players, will present Shakespeare's delightful edy, "As You Like It." This wil This will give the indies and children an opportunity of seeing this charming actress in a comedy that is both comical and in-structive; as the Shakespearean offerings are few and far between, theater goers who like the best in dramatic art will take advantage of. The last performance will be given tonight.

Pleases the Crowds.

The final performances of "The Gay Parisians" will be given this afternoon and tonight by the Columbia Theater Stock Company. The capacity of the house at each performance is assured by the advance sale. The French farce has proven so triumphantly successful that the management is looking for a similar one to produce several weeks hence.

The laughter begins with the rise of the curtain in "The Gay Parisians" and becomes a hilarious demonstration when Pinglet, early in the act, begins to make love to his partner's wife.

"Marcelle," he cries, "I am in the clouds

—I am swimming in ethereal atmosphere."

At which, his wife's shrewish voice being heard in an adjoining room, he mutters ### ternoon at 2:15. Just Two More Left.

Two performances, this afternoon and tonight, will see the end of the marvelously successful run of "Finnigan's Ball" at Cordray's and also the termination of the famous old theater as a combination house. Even its name will be changed and after tonight the Cordray-Russell management of the Cordray-Russell management of the popular place of amusement will be but a memory. Aside from the fact that "Finnigan's Ball" is better this year than ever before in its history and that the cleverest people in the ranks of musical comedians are in the big or-ganization, hundreds of people will de-sire to attend either this afternoon's matines or the night performance as a sort of good-by to a theatrical land-Hall' and the passing of Cordray's.

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS.

Next Thursday Afternoon and Night, Thanksgiving Day.

W. E. Nankeville will present Haver-ly's Minstrels, and that this organiza-tion will be greeted by a packed house at the Marquam Grand Theater is a foregone conclusion. This season's company, numbering hearly half a hundred, is on the usual high grade of excellence which marked previous hundred, is on the usual high grade of cocur the grand opening of Portland's visits of the great Haverly show. Of "Candida," the comedy due at the Marquam Grand Theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, November 21, 22, 23, he wrote: "It was one of the most delectable offers of the season and it was not one of those abnormal, far-fetched things that one cannot appre-ciate without long hair. 'Candida' cems like an oasis in the desert. We leave the theater murmur 'charming.' The cast calls for cle-players and the company that will seen in it here promises to meet the most sanguine expectations. Sale of

WIII AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS

The Star's Great Acts.

Two of the greatest acts in vaudeville are presented this week at the Star Theater, and today and tomorrow are the last opportunities of seeing them. The most opportunities of seeing them. The most marvelous acrobats ever seen in Portland, the three Avolas, head the bill, with the Yale Duo occupying a place of equal honor on the programme. The Avolas are a father and his two sons, and their acropatic feats have never been excelled. The Yale Duo are club jugglers of the first rank, too, for they do their work with the most admirable neatness and dex-terity. The Musical Harts also make a hit with their novelty musical act, which is entitled a "Bit of Blarney." The other acts are worthy of a place on this high-class programme.

She Won Bijou Watch.

One day this week a little girl at-tended a Bijou matinee and was offered one of the customary gold-watch coupons. "I'm never lucky," she said, bu she took the coupon. At the drawing last evening she won the 15-jeweled watch. She is Emily Bowman, 268 Co-

Portland's real bargain show shop is the Baker, for the price charged is the same as at other vaudeville theaters, yet the acts offered are in a class far above those presented elsewhere. The house is a new one but it has already proven itself to be the best of all and its patrons are numbered by the thouits patrons are numbered by the thou sand. It will never do to let the week go by without having seen the big bill which is now on. You haven't muth time so you'd better go this afternoon or tonight. O'Brien, Mann and Franks are setting the town wild with their tabloid musical comedy "Our Uncle," and the cat and dog circus is the marvel of the season.

The Fern Comedy Four.

Hended by the famous Pern Comedy Four, the Arcade's bill has leaped into popular favor. Today and tomorrow are the last chances to see it. This is the most expensive act ever presented in Portland. The theater-going public wants to laugh. No one can help laughing at the Fern Comedy Four. The fun puts even the most morose in good humor, and five en-cores daily are the reward of these expert merrymakers. The acrobatic dancing of the Adams Brothers and the singing and dancing of Divine Dodson, the female im-personator, are adding variety to the Arcade's entertaining programme. The Grand Opens Tomorrow.

"The Grand" (formerly Cordray's), and a large force of workmen is busy at work on the alterations and improve ments now being made on the famous house which has been catering to the local public for many years as a popular-price combination theater. From now on it will be devoted strictly to top-notch polite vaudeville, although the prices will be no higher than other vaudeville houses in the city. The premier bill which was engaged in New York by Manager Liquelin two weeks York by Manager Lincoln two weeks ago, is without doubt the finest array of talent ever seen on any stage west of Chicago. The particular topline special will be Musilner's trained sheep. beyond question the most marvelous exhibition of trained animals on this earth. Remember the opening tomorearth. Reme

The Lyric's Best Bill.

The proper way to round out the week is to attend the Lyric this afterweek is to attend the Lyric this afternoon or tonight. You will enjoy yourself more in that way than in any other. It will rest you and make you grateful that you live in a community whore for the trifling sum asked by the Lyric you can buy so much solid enjoyment. The bill this week is one of the best of the senson and the public has not been slow in recognizing its merit. You have lost something out of your life if you have not attended the Lyric show this week, It is not too late yet. Go tonight and make yourself glad.
